Entertainment by Members of St. Margaret's Sunday School

A more appreciative audience has scarcely filled Neighbor's hall than that which thronged the hall Monday evening, when the entertainment for which the members of St. Margaret's church Sunday school have been preparing for several weeks past was given. The program was an excellent one throughout, and every number was given in a most complimentary manner. Following is the program:

Opening chorus..... "Wild Ash Deer"
..... Children of the Sunday School
Piano duet... Margaret & Prudence Connolly Recitation, "First Christmas Eve"
..... Edward Ober
Lullaby..... Catherine Murray
Recitation..... Emily McDonnell
Minuet... Misses Emily McDonnell, Eleanor Connolly, Grace Quirk, Prudence Connolly, May Neville, Florence McDonald, Abbie Williams, Catherine McDonnell Introducing solo, fancy skirt dance by ..... Miss Margaret Connolly
Recitation, "Joy, love, hope and peace"
Masters Frank Brady, Edward McDonnell, Stephen Cusack, John Keegan
Piano solo..... Miss Annie Connolly
Recitation, "As Joseph was a walking"
..... Miss Mary Toomey
Recitation, "Christmas Joys"... Mary Nolan
Sailor's Hornpipe... Miss Prudence Connolly

Cantata

"THE REVOLT OF THE TOYS"

Alfred..... Michael Cadigan
Mother of Alfred, Miss Catherine McDonnell
The captain..... Miss Abbie Williams
The drum..... Miss Eliza Denno
The sled..... Miss Florence McDonald
The doll..... Miss Grace Quirk
Faith..... Miss Agnes Murray
Hope..... Miss Margaret Murray
Charity..... Miss Mary Neville
Santa Claus..... Col. John H. Watson
Tin soldiers—Miss Catherine Murray, Margaret McCarthy, Nora Murray, Catherine Nolan, Jennie Twitchell, Annie Nolan.

The whole affair was under the direction of Fr. Maguire, and he was assisted by Miss Lydia Hayes, who had charge of the music, and Miss Jane Watson, who directed the dancers.

A pleasant feature of the evening was the awarding of the prizes for excellence in studies and first place in examinations to the members of the Sunday school. This was done by Rev. Fr. Walsh, who supplemented his remarks with a most appropriate short speech, thanking all who had helped to make the affair a success, and wishing all a happy New Year. The prizes were awarded as follows:

Below highest grade, Mary Toomey and Margaret Brady; Nellie Collins and Gertrude Sullivan; Grace Miller and Christine Murray; Agnes Ordway and George Twitchell; Joseph Rourke and John Keigan. The most coveted prize, the gold medal, which goes to the one who has passed the best examination, was declared to be a tie between Abbie Williams and Nora Murray, who had been found equally perfect, consequently a beautiful gold medal was awarded each.

S. of V. Installation

The recently elected and appointed officers of Camp 145, S. of V., were installed Tuesday evening as follows: Ernest R. Sargent, camp commander; Wm. D. Goodwin, senior vice-comm.; Walter R. Bell, junior vice; L. W. Floyd, Orrin A. Martin and J. L. Prest, camp council; Ralph Tredick, secretary; C. H. Dennis, treasurer; L. W. Floyd, chaplain; John L. Prest, sergt. of G.; Charles H. Morse, corp. of G.; Arthur E. Smothers, I. G.; Fred W. Martin, O.G.; R. J. Baker, Rev. E. H. Brewster and C. H. Dennis, delegates; Ralph Tredick, O. A. Martin and C. H. Morse, alternates.

The installing officer was Frank L. Kirchgassner of Jamaica Plain, assisted by Sergeant-of-the-guard Frank O. Howard of Camp 98, South Boston, who performed their work in a very complimentary manner.

Taps were not sounded till 12 o'clock, and in the interim the members, with their invited guests—members of the post and associates—enjoyed one of Bullock's oyster suppers with all the fixings, cold turkey, ice cream, cake, etc. In the smoke talk which followed the gathering were entertained by all the latest phonographic selections by A. S. Dow.

LOW DEATH RATE

Manchester Shows Slight Increase Over Last Year, While Birth Rate Increases and Marriage Remains About the Same

We publish today a complete list of the births, deaths and marriages recorded in the town of Manchester for the year 1905. It is interesting to note that the death rate of the town remains practically the same,—35 deaths being recorded, and some of these were non-residents of the town. Of that number eleven were over 80 years of age, and 24 were over 50, and as five were children, there remains but six deaths of persons in middle life, which is a remarkable low rate for a town with a population of 2500. Of the total number of deaths 19 were males and 16 females. There were 27 marriages recorded during the year, the same as in 1904. The birth rate which had not changed materially for three years back, shows an increase the past year of seven. The figures for the past four years are:

Births	61	54	55	55
Deaths	35	33	38	25
Marriages	27	27	29	11

The complete list of births, deaths and marriages for 1905 follows:

DEATHS

Jan. 1. Mary J. Bingham, 88 yrs., 11 mos., 7 dys.
Jan. 20. Lucy A. Kitfield, 87 yrs., 10 mos., 11 dys.

Misses Grace and Jessie Macgregor entertained a merry party of young people at their home, West Manchester, Saturday evening. A feature of the evening was a Christmas tree, on which were gifts for all present, some of the "hits" being quite fetching, indeed, it is said.

Mr. and Mrs. Sewell Stetson and infant daughter left Monday for Mechanic Falls, Me., Mrs. Stetson's home, where they will live in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Jackson and family have moved from Pleasant street to the Head house, of which Mr. Jackson is caretaker, for the balance of the winter.

Reclining peacefully beside the railroad tracks near the Hopkins barn, Monday afternoon, and kept warm only by the contents of a pint bottle, Chief Peabody found two Beverly Farms workmen. In Court Tuesday, a fine of $5 was imposed on each. Not being able to pay that amount, one was given two weeks' free board at Salem jail, and the other was given a fortnight to raise $5.

Born, Tuesday, Jan. 2, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Byron Bullock.

Mrs. Jacob Kitfield of the Cove has closed her house for the balance of the winter and is living with her daughter, Mrs. Philemon Sanborn, at Coolidge's Point.

Mrs. George Hildreth was a guest of her sister, Mrs. Epes Sargent, in Essex, the first of the week.

Mrs. Alfred E. Hersey started Tuesday for a visit with friends in Syracuse, N.Y.

Walter Knight returned the first of the week from Boston, where he was successfully operated on at the Mass. General hospital for appendicitis.

Mrs. Douglas Moody returned Monday to her home in Bridgeport, Conn., after spending the holidays with her daughter, Mrs. A. S. Peabody, at Dexter Farm.

It was a merry crowd of young people that held forth at the Town hall last Saturday evening and enjoyed one of those delicious cock stews for which Manchester has been famous. It was a semi-masquerade affair, a number appearing in costume. Bert Floyd, who has since returned to his studies at Dartmouth, was the chef. After the supper dancing was enjoyed. There were ten couples. Long's orchestra furnished music.

Mrs. Isaac Holmes of Essex Falls has been spending part of the week with her daughter, Mrs. Solomon Parsons, School street.

Ernest and Mary Morey of Boston have been visiting their aunt, Mrs. William E. Kitfield, at the Cove.

Mrs. Lewis Foster, who has been living with her daughter, Mrs. Oliver Gilman, has moved back to her home in Boston for the winter. Mr. Gilman spent the first of the week in Beverly.

Miss Edith Sweet was the victim of a surprise party Wednesday evening, when some twenty of her friends gave her a kitchen shower at her home on Central street. She had been out in the early evening, and when she returned, about 8 o'clock, she found a room full of guests awaiting her. Though completely surprised, she grasped the situation and proved herself a good hostess. The evening was passed very pleasantly playing games, etc. Refreshments, which had been brought along, were served during the evening.

The BREEZE sent by mail to any part of the U.S.—1 year 1 dollar. *

Miss Carrie Dunbar has been spending the week in Chelsea, a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ernst.

James Scott and family, who have been occupying the Knowles cottage, off the West Gloucester road, have moved into the house just vacated by the Fuller Andrews.

A number of young ladies from here formed a theatre party and attended the Union Hill theatre, Gloucester, New Year's night.

Lyman Butler spent the first of the week in Boston, visiting friends.

A sign which has been attracting considerable attention is that displayed at Hunt's meat market. It was found in the garret of the old Willow cottage, being demolished, and bears the inscription, "Ptilota Café." It is said to be the first sign ever hung out from the historic landmark.

The Capering society met last Friday afternoon with Mrs. Henry Brown, when plans were made as to the making and buying of articles to be sold next season at the Oceanside for the benefit of the church.

The fire engine company will hold a meeting next Tuesday evening for the election of officers.

Samuel Lycett of Cambridge spent Tuesday in town.

Mrs. John Knight has moved into her cottage on the West Gloucester road the past week.

Miss Alice Bushee returned home Tuesday from a visit with friends at Mt. Auburn.

Mrs. Dennis Ballou has been entertaining her mother, Mrs. Manuel Silva of Gloucester, this week.

The singing school meets next Tuesday evening. As there are only five more rehearsals before the public concert, it is urged that every member be at every rehearsal. It is expected there will be two soloists from Boston to supplement the chorus.

The Lord's Supper will be celebrated at the church tomorrow.

Edward Ballou spent the early part of the week in Gloucester visiting friends.

School opened Tuesday after a short recess, Miss Harvey still substituting for Miss Woodbury who is reported much improved. She is expected back next week.

There will be a dancing party in Donchian's hall next Monday evening.

Mrs. Sarah Burnham, accompanied by her niece, Miss Amy Lycett, paid a visit to Gloucester, Monday. It is the first time Mrs. Burnham has been out since her long illness.

Miss Alice Story has been spending a few days in Boston with her sister, Miss Grace Story.

Miss Helen Lycett, Miss Catherine McAuley and Gilbert Crispin were among those from here who attended the New Year's dance in Gloucester Monday evening.

John Lycett

Captain John Lycett passed away at his home off Magnolia avenue, Magnolia, early Thursday morning at the age of 77 years, 6 months, after an illness of five weeks.

Few people at Magnolia were better known among the summer residents and hotel guests than Captain Lycett, he having been engaged for the past 25 years in the yachting and boat business, taking out parties and letting sail and row boats. He will be greatly missed by these people, many of whom have known him for the last 25 years.

John Lycett was born on July 4, 1828, on a ship in Boston harbor. The first 22 years of his life he lived in Yarmouth, N.S., but 55 years ago he moved to Magnolia and has lived there since. In fact, he was one of the oldest inhabitants of Magnolia and grew up with the place as it developed into one of the most popular resorts in New England. During the first 20 years of his stay in Magnolia he was engaged in the fishing business.

He is survived by a widow, three sons, Samuel G., of Cambridge, John C. and Arthur M., of Magnolia, and one daughter, Mrs. Frank Locke of Lynn. Funeral services will be held at Magnolia chapel tomorrow afternoon and burial will be in Magnolia cemetery.

The wedding of Maud Smith This-sell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Thissell of this city to William Horace Mason of Winchester, N.H., is announced to take place on January 15 at Winchester.

Asa P. Smith, a well known New York lawyer, spent Sunday and New Year's with his sister, Miss Elizabeth H. Smith, of Cabot street.

Miss Frances C. Roundy of Paw-tucket, R.I., has been the recent guest of relatives in town.

Miss Ethel Roberts of Neptune street, entertained a number of friends at her home on New Year's evening, giving the party in honor of her friend, Miss Alma Puttuck, of Rox-bury.

Rev. Gorham Estabrook of Melrose will occupy the pulpit of the First Baptist church on Sunday. It is expected that the acceptance of the call recently extended to Rev. Carey W. Chamberlain, D.D., of Toledo, Ohio, will be read at the morning service. A telegram was received in the city announcing that he has resigned his western pastorate.

The engagement of Walter Murray Eaton to Miss Alice Valpey Gould of North Reading has been announced.

The "King of Siam" for the benefit of the Old Ladies' home will be the attraction at City hall on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. For many weeks the rehearsals for the production have been in progress and large crowds will no doubt be present on the two evenings. The object is a worthy one and deserving of patronage.

The members of the Junior Christian Endeavor society of the Dane Street church enjoyed their annual supper at the church vestry on Thursday evening.

News has been received in the city from Riverside, Cal., of the death on Sunday last of Mrs. Ethel Whitney of Brookline, who will be better remembered by Beverly people as Miss Ethel Sargent, daughter of the late Edward P. Sargent. Mrs. Whitney succumbed to the ravages of bronchial tuberculosis after a long illness. The interment was in Riverside.

The Prospect Hill Whist club was entertained by Mrs. Edmund Pedrick at her Harrison avenue home on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Woodbury of Hale street, have been the recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen E. Woodbury of Cambridge.

John S. Crowley and Clarence H. Lunt left yesterday for a two weeks' vacation trip to Asheville, N.C.

Post office affairs have taken another turn and on Monday Assistant Postmaster Smith tendered his resignation to take effect at once, thus giving way to Calvin P. Pierce, whom Postmaster Norwood had hitherto appointed but who declined the appointment. Mr. Pierce at the request of many friends reconsidered his action and so notified the postmaster with the aforementioned result. Mr. Smith has accepted a position with John Girdler, the Water street coal dealer, and will later take a place in the post office inspection department.

Walter L. Alley has entered the Salem Commercial school.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodbury Fielder of Lothrop street are entertaining their daughter, Mrs. George W. Bryant of New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Sawyer have been entertaining Mrs. James Wallis and Miss Ruth Wallis of Fall River.

Past Commander William H. Morgan installed the officers of O. H. P. Sargent Post of Essex on Monday evening.

Benjamin A. Cleaves has removed from the house on Lovett street which he has occupied for a number of years to his new home on Bisson street.

It is thought there may be a special town meeting several weeks hence, though nothing definite can be said on the matter now. One of the things that will come up will be the question of transferring of appropriations from one department to another. It is thought advisable to keep the stone crushing plant running all winter, and inasmuch as the original appropriation was only $800, it will be necessary to have more money to carry on the work.

Matters pertaining to the moth pest may also come up.

There is to be a hearing at the selectmen's office next Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, on petition of the telephone company to set poles on Ashland avenue.

Willis H. Bell, formerly at Legg's market, opens a meat market in one of A. S. Dow's stores on Beach street tonight. We wish Mr. Bell success in his new venture. He will have for sale meats, vegetables and canned goods.

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Morrison of Glace Bay, Cape Breton, have been guests the past fortnight of the latter's sister, Mrs. Charles Morgan, Lincoln street. Mrs. Morrison formerly lived here, and Mr. Morrison is a civil engineer employed by the Dominion Coal company.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Knight plan on leaving next week for California where they will spend the balance of the winter.

The officers of Liberty lodge of Rebekahs will be installed next Friday evening.

The engagement is announced of Rev. F. C. Briggs, former pastor of the Baptist church, but now of Japan, and Miss Harriet Wetherbee of Kobe, Japan.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 6, 1906.

Winter, where art thou?

Warm winter;

No ice.

Next summer;

High price.

In its special financial and commercial section last Sunday the Boston Herald included two North Shore concerns among the four mentioned in the article on "The Modern Contracts"—Connolly Bros. of Beverly Farms heading the list.

Auto enthusiasts are now watching for some new auto laws, and are wondering if the suggestion of Major Higginson and his associates, that the matter of speed regulations be left in the hands of the highway commissioners, will be recognized. We are inclined to think this will be a step in the right direction.

Mistakes! We are all apt to make them; but no one is quite so apt as the editor. Few persons realize the difficulty met in conducting a newspaper and the ease with which items find their way into a paper which are without the least semblance of truth. If an editor had to "look up" and verify every item of news before printing he probably never would half fill his columns. The result is that he has to take a great many things by hearsay and trust a deal to luck that they come from a truthful source. But sometimes the item that one supposes comes from a most reliable source proves utterly unfounded. One such item found its way into our columns last week, announcing the death of a child in Gloucester. The item came to us at the last minute, and not having time to verify it, and thinking the source from which it came the most reliable under the circumstances, we printed the news only to find we were entirely wrong. It was an unfortunate error.

Destroying Moth Nests

Several complaints have come to State Superintendent Kirkland concerning persons who have made exorbitant charges for destroying brown-tail moth nests on private estates, and more particularly concerning those individuals who have done poor work against the moths on such estates. Numerous cases have been reported to the state office where contractors who cleared trees of brown-tail moths neglected to destroy the gypsy moths; in other cases brown-tail moth webs have been left in large numbers on the ground without burning them. To prevent such impositions on the public, Superintendent Kirkland suggests that, in cases of doubt as to the cost or quality of work done, it will be well to withhold payment until the work has been examined by a state inspector, or preferably by the local superintendent in charge of the town work. There are numerous reputable contractors doing work against the moths and a list of the same may be obtained by applying to the office of the State Superintendent at 6 Beacon street, Boston. Any payment of money obtained under false pretences in connection with moth work should be promptly reported to the State Superintendent, who will assist in prosecuting the case where sufficient evidence can be obtained.

North Shore Roads

Mayor Wallis said in his inaugural address Monday that Beverly had spent more money on roads the past year than ever before. The interest which the summer residents have in good roads may be seen from his figures. He said in part:

"The summer residents have been most liberal in helping Beverly in road construction the past year; they have paid $25,742 of the expense of building the State highway from Chapman's Corner to the Manchester line, which has already cost $30,249, the State paying the balance. They have also paid $1,800 for the widening of Brower's Corner; bonuses for early completion and patching up of roads to be completed next year; for macadamizing 1,100 feet on Haskell street, $513.30, the city furnishing the stone; for repairs and improvements on Common lane, $398; Thissell street, $60; Greenwood avenue, $143; Boyles and Standley streets, $373; Essex street, $63, and for signs, $308. They have also paid $636.13 toward the cost of widening Hart street in front of the Murray, Fenno and Bennett properties, the balance of the cost being paid as follows: the county paying $818 and the city $1,000. This makes a total of over $2,000 paid by the summer residents on other roads than the State highway. I am also informed that they have subscribed and paid for repairs on private wood roads $890. They have also agreed to pay $700 towards repairing Brimbal avenue.

"The city has expended on street construction and repairs $53,654, which sum includes $14,272 for city teams, $2,600 for bridges and $2,800 for street watering. The sum of $18,362 has also been paid for special work, making a total of $72,016 paid on street construction. More work has been done by this department than in any previous year of its history. It is recommended that during the coming year work be done on Hart, Oak, Everett, Hale, Hull, Dane, Central, Abbott, Park, Elliott, Colon, Essex and Bridge streets."

WHISPERINGS.

From what I observe and hear whisperings of I conclude the number of males on Norwood avenue has greatly increased in numbers the past week or two, and the number of the opposite sex has diminished. But then, one's own eyes sometimes lead to wrong conclusions. The camera, though, never fabricates. The masquerade fever started with some of the younger girls, but it was caught by some of the older ones who concealed their "manliness" by long cloaks last Sunday long enough to venture out behind one of the houses to have their pictures "took."

The Tam O'Shanter Maid

With eyes as blue as azure sky
My Tam O'Shanter maid,
Through storm and shine goes tripping by;
By cold she's ne'er dismayed.

Cheeks as red as the new blown rose,
Her hair a golden brown,
Waving in winter's wind it glows
Like the sky when the sun goes down.

Her lips are set with shining pearls
That grace bewitching smiles;
I see no face like that dear girl's,
Though I've journeyed many miles.

Her form, her figure, speak of grace,
Voice like the robin's first call;
And in her hands such lines I trace,
The blending of them all.

Yet my sweet Tam O'Shanter maid,
Who fills my life with joy,
Disdains my smile and spurns my aid;
She makes my love her toy.

But why she never smiles on me
I've never yet been told;
But this I know, my love for her
Is all that I can hold.

Perhaps some day she'll learn to love,
Then maybe she'll love me;
And when she does I ne'er will rove,
I at her side will be.

W. R. C. Installation

Grand Army hall was crowded Thursday evening by the members of Allen Relief corps, and their guests, on the occasion of the installation of the officers of the corps for the ensuing term. Mrs. Eva T. Cook of Gloucester, who is so popular with the local corps, was the installing officer and she performed the work very successfully. She was assisted by Mrs. Lizzie Richardson of Gloucester, as conductor.

Previous to the installation, at 6 o'clock, a New England supper was served and after the work speech making was in order. A very pleasant feature was the presentation to the installing officer by the president of some souvenirs of Manchester, to which Mrs. Cook replied in her characteristic manner. After she had concluded Mrs. Tappan stepped forward and in appropriate words presented the retiring president, Mrs. Horton, with a pretty opal ring, set in pearls.

Among the speakers were Com. E. P. Stanley of the post, Com. E. R. Sargent of the camp and Mrs. Enock Crombie. The meeting closed with all singing "America." The officers installed were: Mrs. Mary Lane, president; Mrs. J. S. Reed, senior vice pres.; Miss Rita Crombie, junior vice; Mrs. Frank Dennis, secretary;

Mrs. Hannah Tappan, treasurer; Mrs. George Willmonton, chaplain; Mrs. Alfred E. Hersey, conductor; Mrs. Eliza Crombie, inside guard; Mrs. C. T. Loomis, outside guard; Mrs. M. C. Horton, patriotic instructor; Mrs. George Jones, press correspondent; Mrs. Alice Preston, Mrs. Fannie Babcock, Mrs. Chas. O. Howe and Mrs. Effie Morgan, color bearers.

Established in 1824 by Samuel Bowles

DAILY (Morning); SUNDAY; WEEKLY:

For New England readers The Daily and Sunday Republican offer unsurpassed facilities for prompt, reliable and comprehensive information of the world's affairs. New England news is presented with special thoroughness, and all of the news is carefully sifted and arranged for the convenience and enlightenment of the reader.

The Republican is famous for the strength and ability and democratic spirit of its Editorials, and for the excellence and wealth of its Literary Features. It gives special attention also to Business and Agricultural Interests; to Outdoor Sports and Pastimes, to Theatrical and Musical Matters, to the Distinctive Concerns of Women.

Improved railroad service enables THE DAILY REPUBLICAN to reach subscribers in most of the New England towns early in the day, and the rural mail delivery carries it to the doors of dwellers in the country throughout a wide section, within a few hours after publication.

THE SUNDAY REPUBLICAN is an Illustrated Weekly Magazine of great excellence, as well as a first-class newspaper.

THE WEEKLY REPUBLICAN, now a 16-page sheet regularly, presents a careful Review of the News, with an abundant selection of the best Editorials. Literary and other Features of the Daily and Sunday editions.

DAILY, $8 a year, $2 a quarter, 70 cents a month, 3 cents a copy.

SUNDAY, $2 a year, 50 cents a quarter, 5 cents a copy.

WEEKLY, $1 a year, 25 cents a quarter, 10 cents a month, 3 cents a copy.

Horticultural Society

The election of officers of the N. S. Hort. society, last evening, resulted in the following choice: President, James McGregor; vice-president, W. B. Jackson; secretary, James Salter; financial secretary, Herbert Shaw; treasurer, John Baker, librarian, Herbert W. Clark; executive committee, F. B. Rust, Thomas Jack, Robert Mitchell, John Desmond and Joseph Clark.

A committee was appointed to arrange for the annual banquet to be held at an early date in the Town hall, with W. B. Jackson as chairman. The reports of the various officers last night showed the society to be in a healthy condition, both as regards increase in membership, finances and in the influences which benefit a society of this kind.

Deputy Great Sachem Allen S. Peabody and suite composed of G. M. Geo. S. Sinnicks, G. Prophet F. K. Swett, G. S. S. Leonard Andrews, G. J. S. William Spry, G. Coll. of W. Chas. T. Loomis, G. K. of W. J. A. Lodge, G. K. of R. E. F. Preston, G. Sannap Manuel Lopes, G. G. of W. Lyman W. Floyd, G. G. of F. Chester L. Crafts, and W. R. Bell, Harry Tappan, James Salter and D. E. Butler as leaders, installed the officers of Poquanum tribe, 105, Red Men, in Lynn, last evening. The work was well performed and Deputy Peabody and his staff were highly praised and were given a rousing reception by the Lynn tribe. The theatre train stopped at Lynn to take the party home.

Perfectly right to look back over the past, but to linger over it only long enough to get from it such experiences as will tend to better the conditions of the future.

1905 has been our banner year. We have, during it, sold you more goods, a very much more satisfactory grade of goods and so far as we can remember have served you with more general satisfaction than in the several previous years we have been here with you.

We have during the months just fleeting made some mistakes, "to err is human," and we have not forgotten them. We remember them only to profit by them, and we trust that they will not revert against us in your feeling toward us in the future. We shall at once adopt rather radical measures to the end of making this store the ideal store, the store that you would have, the store above all stores in Essex County, that you will point out with pride to, the store where your every whim and fancy shall be administered unto as though they were the law. Our stocks shall be enlarged, your very presence will be with us to guide us in our choosing, and untiring will be our efforts in withholding price advances and procuring your entire home interior furnishings at a cost less—we will make our boasts—than you can find them anywhere else. Car Fares will be paid, to and fro, all the surrounding towns to bring us closer to your homes—daily trips to Beverly, Peabody, Danvers and Marblehead will be made by our own teams. Other towns lying farther distant will be reached at our customers' convenience. We hope to bring this business to the very forefront of all retail establishments hereabouts this very year—

AND URGE YOUR AID TO THIS END.

BEVERLY FARMS

Patrolman Charles Mitchell, who has been doing night duty on the Pride's Crossing beat for several years, has been transferred to the new position at the Beverly police station, made by the city council recently, of house officer. He assumed his new duties for the first time Monday night. John A. Stone has been appointed to fill the vacancy.

The marriage of Miss Maud Smith Thissell of Preston place, Beverly Farms, to Mr. William Horace Mason of Winchester, N.H., is announced to take place at Winchester on January 15. Miss Thissell has for several years been a teacher in the public schools of that place, and her many friends here extend their hearty congratulations and best wishes upon the coming event.

Mr. Benj. Frank Williams of Los Gatos, Cal., is visiting relatives and friends at Beverly Farms and Beverly. Mr. Williams usually pays this vicinity a visit once each year, but comes generally during the summer season.

The election of officers for the ensuing year of the Second Baptist church Sunday school took place last Monday evening and these were elected: Willis A. Pride, superintendent; Miss M. Lizzie Hull, assistant supt.; Miss Elsie Preston, secretary; Elmer Standley, treasurer; Harry Cole, librarian. After the election, refreshments were served and an hour passed sociably. A feature which furnished considerable amusement was the New Year resolutions made.

Patrolman Chas. W. Mitchell has moved from Pride's Crossing to Beverly this week, much to the regret of his many friends here.

The Gypsy Moth State Inspector and Div. Engineer of the highway commission were at the Farms Thursday, making an inspection preparatory to commencing operations against the pest.

No progress is reported as being made the past week by the further acquiring of land for the play ground, it being understood that the abutters are holding out for a rate of valuation as compared to that paid by the city for the land already taken, but which is as yet not agreed to by the "powers that be." A new argument for the further purchase of this land, is that its an excellent fishing pond, and no doubt is a good one judging by the vast quantities of water which have to be taken care of there.

Miss May D. Connolly and her guest, Miss Mary Hill of Brookline, returned to the Sargent School, Cambridge, Wednesday.

Howard Doane, who lately started in the carpentering business for himself, has secured the contract for additions and alterations on the Frederick T. Bradbury house, Smith's Point, Manchester, as we announced in our real estate column recently. Mr. Doane is having under construction quite a good-sized carpenter shop at Pride's Crossing, upon land of Mr. Stephen Eldridge.

Fred G. Haynes has closed the "North Shore Drug store" until spring.

St. Margaret's Court of Foresters held their annual installation of officers at Marshall hall, Wednesday evening, the installing staff from the Gov. Washington Court of Lynn, performing the duty. At the close speech making and refreshments were in order until a late hour. Guests were present from Manchester, Gloucester and Beverly.

The lady friends of the Beverly Farms firemen are soliciting articles to be used at the coming fair at City hall, Beverly, in aid of the Firemen's Relief Association fund.

The associate membership to Preston post, 188, is making good progress, some 20 or more applications having been received and favorably acted upon. Next Monday evening those who have applied will meet at the G.A.R. hall with the veterans and a social hour will be spent.

The Mass. State Highway commission are soon to commence the extermination of the gypsy and brown-tail moth pests to be found in trees along the State road, from Chapman's corner to the Manchester line.

At the reunion of the "Indian club," held at the Farms on New-Years, several new members were made to ride the "goat," and a full program for next season's "good old summer time" was mapped out, the principal place for the events decided upon being West Beach.

Monday afternoon, when vacation was about over and the young people were thinking of returning to school, the skating at Chebacco lake was fair for the first time during the vacation, and a party of Farms young people took advantage of the opportunity to indulge in the sport. Some winter enthusiast remarked that this was a Christmas in the middle of summer, the weather being so remarkably warm. The "cranks" on sleighing, ice yachting, coasting and skating, who are always evident in this section, were surely disappointed this time.

Everyone at the Farms is anxious to join the new fraternity, "The Dark Secret." At present the membership is very large.

New Club at the Farms

A number of young men of the Farms met Thursday evening and formed a social and athletic club and have hired the room of D. T. Hardy on High street over the painting establishment of H. M. and R. E. Hodgkins. They will fix up the rooms at once. The purpose of the club is to bring the young men of the place together for the purpose of promoting sociability and athletics.

A committee of five consisting of Chas. McCarthy, Jerry Toomey, John Watts, John McKeigue and S. John Connolly were appointed to bring to the next meeting a list of names from which the officers are to be chosen.

Those desirous of becoming members should pass their names to the above committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Watson entertained Miss Margaret Good and John Webber during the past week.

During the holidays Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Watson entertained Miss Louise Murnane, William Murray, Elias Fields, Boston; Miss Emma Grimes, Providence, R.I.; Miss Alice Clarke, Newton; D. J. Hurley, Charlestown.

Mr. Chester Burgess of Dorchester was the guest of Stephen J. Connolly during the holidays.

The event of the coming week, and one looked forward to with considerable interest, is the costume party to be held in Marshall's hall next Tuesday evening, January 9. The committee in charge is working hard to make the affair a complete success, and it will no doubt prove to be in excess of the successful like occasions in the past. Long's orchestra of five pieces will furnish the music, and refreshments of ice cream, cake, hot coffee and lunch may be had through the evening at Parker's. Those who have not already secured costumes may be aided by making an early application to the management, as it is the intention that only those who appear in costume will be invited to dance during the early part of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis H. Luke have presented the firemen of the Beverly Farms department with a set of books—20 volumes—making a valuable addition to their library.

Capt. J. Frank Blaney has decided that his fish wire located off Chubb's Island is for the next two months safer on shore than in the briny deep and is accordingly taking it up until after the winter storms are over. Much to the regret of his many friends here the captain expects after the completion of his work to sail away to the westward for an absence of several weeks.

Mrs. Lewis G. Williams has as her guest over Sunday Miss Bean, supervisor of drawing in the Hartford, Conn., schools, and a former classmate of Mrs. Williams at the Normal Art school, Boston.

Monday evening was spent in gala fashion by the members of the fire companies at the local station, for it was on that night that the annual New Year's supper was held, heaping dishes of steamed clams forming the principal feature of the occasion; other refreshments were also served.

Miss Irene Fay returned to Boston Monday morning, after a pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Morgan, West street.

A week ago Thursday night Frank and John Trowt gave a dinner to 16 of their young friends at their Pride's home.

Miss Alice Duffy and Lawrence Duffy, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Connolly, returned to Boston Wednesday, the latter to resume his studies at Dartmouth.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. D. Connolly, Oak street, was the scene of a merry New Year's house party of young people, the guests arriving Friday and remaining over to Monday. Saturday evening the young people enjoyed dancing, whist, and during the evening a delicious oyster supper was served. A feature of the occasion was a small Christmas tree, containing comic gifts in the shape of "hits" on each of the guests. The guests were: Miss Grace Frye and Arthur Frye, Montreal; Miss Rose Mary Walsh, Miss Julia McCarthy and Charles McCarthy, Boston; Miss Mary Hill, Hugh Blanchard, Brookline; Andrew Loftus, San Francisco, Cal.; Miss Mary Casey, Miss Nora McGuire, Charles Casey, Providence, R., I.

The grand fair and ball to be held in Beverly on the evenings of January 16, 17, 18 and 19, under the auspices and for the benefit of the Beverly Firemen's Relief association, is already attracting considerable interest here. Tickets are being sold, and it would be well to remember that the possessor of the lucky number printed on the ticket will receive as prize a fine piano.

C. Frank Trowt returned to the Clarke school, Northampton, Tuesday.

O'Connor—Wiseman

The marriage of Michael O'Connor and Miss Mary Wiseman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wiseman, Haskell street, was solemnized at the parochial residence, Beverly Farms, New Year's evening, Rev. Nicholas R. Walsh officiating. George Wiseman, brother of the bride, was best man, and Miss Annie Wiseman, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, at which were present the family and near relatives of the contracting parties. After the reception the happy couple departed for a short wedding trip, and upon their return will start housekeeping at the Lewis Larson house on Haskell street.

FREE THEATRES FOR ALL

A Beautiful Series on Heavy Card-board to be Given Away with the Boston Sunday Globe—Uncle Tom's Cabin Next Sunday.

Free theatres are announced for all the readers of the Boston Sunday Globe. This remarkable series of beautiful cut-outs will open next Sunday, when with every copy of the Boston Sunday Globe a complete theatre will be given, and all the famous characters in the play of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Each Sunday following, while the series continues, the Globe will give its readers a new theatre on heavy card-board, with the leading characters in some great play or story.

Nothing could bring more pleasure to the children than these colored theatres, which they can set up and arrange to suit their several tastes. Everyone should begin with "Uncle Tom's Cabin" next Sunday, and thus get the entire series. The surest way to do this is to order the Boston Sunday Globe from the newsdealer at once.

John Drew at the Hollis

"De Lancey," John Drew's greatest comedy success, which had such an auspicious opening at the Hollis Street theatre last Monday evening, and has played to packed houses at every performance since, will enjoy another week's run at that fashionable play-house, beginning Monday evening, Jan. 8.

If the great demand for seats can be taken as a token, it is safe to say that the play during its Boston engagement will be greeted at each performance by an audience as great, as appreciative and as enthusiastic as that which welcomed this perennial favorite at his opening performance at the Hollis.

Mr. Drew's popularity has a very solid basis in the appreciation of fine dramatic art. It is undoubtedly true that in all his creations the striking personality of Mr. Drew appears and compels recognition; but the art of this admirable actor so adopts and harmonizes his peculiar talents to the matter in hand that in each new personification he seems the most excellent interpreter.

As the Boston Post says: "Those who wish to see John Drew at his best will see him in 'De Lancey.'"

The company which Mr. Charles Frohman has assembled for the production of Mr. Augustus Thomas' comedy, which has held the stage in New York for four months, and which is shortly to be taken to the Duke of York's theatre in London, is admirably selected. There will be Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mitchell entertained at luncheon, New Year's day, at Manchester Cove, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Head, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Whitehouse, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Seabury, Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Spaulding, Mrs. L. A. Shaw, Mr. Quincy Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Walker, and Mr. Chas. Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. John Caswell and family sailed this week for a winter's stay in Europe, where they expect to do considerable automobiling, taking with them their chauffeur, J. Henry Trow, a Beverly Farms young man.

Edwin C. Swift is reported to be quite ill at his Pride's home with pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Bigelow and family were down from Boston and spent New Years at their cottage in Manchester Cove.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Whitehouse of Manchester Cove gave a Christmas party for the children of the Cove last Saturday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock. There was a Christmas tree beautifully decorated, and Santa Claus was there. Each child was presented with a number of presents. A supper was served, after which the children played games, and Mr. Whitehouse played the pianola and graphophone for their amusement. At half past seven the children went to their homes, well pleased with the kindness shown them by Mr. and Mrs. Whitehouse.

Junius Aldrich of Boston has been spending the holidays with Meredith Whitehouse.

Mr. John T. Morse, jr., of Pride's Crossing and Boston has just returned from Canada with a pair of brown mares, said by good judges to be the finest pair of carriage horses that ever came to Boston. They have won all the prizes offered in all the horse shows in Canada recently. In addition to these Mr. Morse has at his farm in Needham some prized high-bred trotters, including Geraldine (2.10), sired by Dark Night, who was sired by the world's champion for four-year-olds — Searchlight (2.03½). He also has a brown mare by Alfred G., sire of Charles Herr (2.07), the champion five-year-old. In fact, Mr. Morse has as fine a lot of trotters and high steppers as can be found on any farm in New England.

CHURCH NOTES

Manchester

Congregational church, Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln, pastor. Morning worship at 10.45; evening service at 7 o'clock. Sermons by the pastor.

Baptist church, Rev. Edward Hersey Brewster, pastor. Morning worship at 10.45. People's evening service of song and praise at 7 o'clock.

Church of the Sacred Heart, Rev. William F. Powers, pastor. Mass daily at 7.30 a.m. Sundays: Mass at 9 and 10.30 o'clock a.m.; Sunday school 2 p.m.; Vespers at 7.30 p.m.

"New Relations" will be the subject of Rev. E. H. Brewster's sermon tomorrow morning. In the evening he will give the fifth in the series of sermons on Elijah—"In the Shade of the Junipers."

Mr. Brewster, with his mother, has been spending the week in Taunton with relatives. Very much fatigued in general and subject to frequent attacks of pleurisy, his health has not been of the best recently. Last Sunday evening he was unable to attend the services and he left Monday for a week's respite from his duties. Mr. Brewster writes he is feeling better and will preach as usual tomorrow.

Rev. Fr. Powers will move into the parochial residence on Central street next week. The house has been equipped with heat and with electric lights, and will be quite well suited for the purpose for which it is to be used.

There will be a union young people's service at the Baptist church tomorrow evening, to be led by Miss Gertrude B. Goldsmith. Topic: "How Finding Christ Changes the Life." Ref.: Matt. 13:44-46.

The Ladies' sodality of the Sacred Heart church are to give a series of whist parties, Tuesday evenings, in Carpenters' hall, beginning next Tuesday, Jan. 9. Admission, 10 and 15 cents for ladies and gents, respectively.

Owing to various reasons the date of the annual social reunion and roll-call of the Congregational church, announced for next week, has been postponed. It will probably be held the latter part of this month.

The annual business meeting of the Baptist church, called for last Wednesday evening, was postponed till two weeks from last night, after transacting a little business. These officers were elected: J. Davis Baker, clerk; Robert Baker, auditor; T. B. Stone, treasurer, and Mrs. Levi A. Dunn, registrar. The matter of supper and roll-call will be decided later.

Rev. C. A. Lincoln preached at the Baptist church last Sunday evening, at a union meeting, taking his text from Isa. 64:6—"We all fade as a leaf." The watch night services which followed were in charge of the young people and deacons, and Mr. Lincoln had charge of the consecration service from 11 to 12 o'clock.

The ladies of the Baptist church held a quilting bee in the vestry Wednesday.

Raymond Hitchcock's Second Successful Week at the Tremont Theatre

The second week of "The Galloper" at the Tremont theatre started off auspiciously on Monday night. The success of Raymond Hitchcock in the new Richard Harding Davis farce is a certainty. The audiences have well-nigh tested the capacity of the theatre at every performance. Both star and principals receive repeated curtain calls after each act, and Mr. Hitchcock has been obliged to address his audience at every performance. A Hitchcock curtain speech is in itself almost worth the price of admission. The Boston press has enthusiastically endorsed the play, the star, the company and the production, and it is doubtful if a more generally successful farce has been presented in a Boston theatre in years. For a genuine evening's entertainment the admonition is go see Hitchcock in "The Galloper." Only this week and next remain.

ENGLISH ESSAYISTS

By D. F. LAMSON

The Essay, as distinct from the Narrative and Dissertation, occupies an important place in English literature. It is properly, as its name implies, a comparatively brief production with a certain lightness of touch as a form of literary art. Bacon's essays are too learned and formal rightly to deserve the name. Sir Philip Sidney among Elizabethan writers came nearer achieving success in this particular department of literature. But to Dryden (1631-1700) has been given the praise of being the first who used the language in the essay form.

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING

Called for Next Monday Evening to Take Action on Moth Pest, to Hear Report of Committee on Town Hall Rental Rates, etc.

A special town meeting has been called in Manchester for next Monday evening, Jan. 15, at 7.30 o'clock, to take action with reference to the stone-crushing plant. The articles of the warrant are:

Art. 1. To choose a moderator.

Art. 2. To see what action the town will take in the suppression of the gypsy and brown-tail moths and appropriate money for the same, agreeable to section 5, chap. 381, R.L.

Art. 3. To see if the town will authorize the selectmen to transfer the unexpended balances of the appropriation for Beach and Masconomo streets, also Elm street, to the appropriation for crushing stone.

Art. 4. To hear the report of the committee on Town hall rental rates.

Art. 5. To see if the town will appropriate the sum of $350 for the use of the park department.

Art. 6. To see if the town will authorize the selectmen to settle the suit of "Small vs. Town of Manchester" and appropriate money for the same.

Art. 7. To act upon any business that may legally come before the meeting.

MANCHESTER

Rev. George L. Gleason, former pastor of the Congregational church, and who is still pleasantly remembered here, has resigned his pastorate of the Riverside church, Haverhill, the reasons assigned being his increasing age (he will enter his 72nd year next month) and his belief that the interests of the growing church had better be committed to younger hands. "He is the oldest pastor and has held the longest pastorate of any minister in the association, nearly 18 years" says the Haverhill Gazette. "The resignation was accepted by the church with the request that he continue in the pastoral office until a successor is secured, that he then become pastor emeritus. The Riverside church is now stronger and in better spiritual and financial condition than it has ever been. It has a property valued at $15,000 and is practically out of debt." Rev. Mr. Gleason was installed pastor of the Manchester church, April 7, 1869, succeeding Rev. E. P. Tenney, and he was dismissed by council at his own request, Sept. 21, 1881.

Miss Anna B. McDiarmid, who has been teaching in East Providence, R. I., is now teaching in Waltham.

A hearing was given before the selectmen Wednesday afternoon on petition of the telephone company to place poles on Ashland avenue to the residence of Geo. S. Sinnicks. A number of the residents of that street were present and protested against any such action, holding that the street was too narrow. The company was given leave to withdraw. Arrangements have since been made with property owners to reach Mr. Sinnicks, house by placing poles on private property.

MANCHESTER

The officers of Liberty lodge of Rebekah's, Manchester, were installed last evening by Mrs. Hattie Clayton and suite of Beverly. The officers installed were: Miss Jennie Sargent, noble grand; Mrs. H. Mabel Johnson, vice-grand; Mrs. Alice A. Hersey, rec. sec.; Miss Alice J. Haraden, fin. sec.; Miss Annabelle Haraden, treasurer; Mrs. Annie Sin-nics, R.S.N.G.; Miss Clara Sargent, L.S.N.G.; Miss Ethel McDiarmid, warden; Miss Edith Swett, conductor; Mrs. Susan Andrews, chaplain; Mrs. Lewis Latons, I.G.; Mrs. Martha Kimball, R.S.V.G.; Mrs. Alice Lee, L.S.V.G.; Mrs. Fannie Stanley, O.G. A turkey supper was served after the installation ceremony, a most delightful social hour resulting.

As a closing feature of the dancing school being conducted by Mrs. Long there will be a reception in the Town hall on Wednesday evening, Jan. 24. The time from 7 to 9 will be devoted to the children and there will be dancing for all from 9 to 12.

Michael Kane returned last week from the Mass. Gen. Hospital where he underwent a successful operation for hernia.

Miss Amy Lucas of Essex spent a few days at the Cove this week, guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sargent.

Miss Alice Mason has been home from Boston a few days this week, a guest of Miss Mollie Sullivan, Tappan street.

Joseph Vanconcellos started Thursday for the Azores, his native home. When he returns in the spring he will probably bring a bride with him.

M. A. McInnis, Wm. Swanson, John G. Gillis and Wm. McEachern, delegates to the N. S. District council, Carpenters, attended the council meeting in Salem Tuesday evening. Business Agent Swanson reported that 443 members had joined the various locals through his efforts during the year just closed.

HOARE--PULSIFER

Pretty Wedding of Manchester Couple
Thursday Evening

The wedding of Miss Ruth Alden Pulsifer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Knight Pulsifer, and Mr. William Warick Hoare, was solemnized at the home of the bride, off School street, Manchester, Thursday evening, Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln, pastor of the Congregational church, officiating.

The ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock and was attended by the families and relatives of the couple and intimate friends, a number of whom came from Cambridge, Gloucester and Beverly; but for the reception which followed 400 invitations were sent out. The whole affair is said to be one of the prettiest which has ever occurred in Manchester.

The bridal party marched into the room where the ceremony was performed, to the music of Mendelssohn's wedding march, and after the ceremony the orchestra played a selection from Fantana.

The bride was very prettily gowned in white crepe de chine over white taffeta, and her veil was caught up with lilies of the valley. She carried a bouquet of the same flower. The bridesmaid was Miss Nellie E. Aldrich of Cambridge, a classmate of the bride at Boston University. Mr. Abbott H. Hoare, brother of the groom, was the best man.

The ushers were Hollis L. Roberts, Alfred Hooper and Richard Cheever; Misses Jennie B. Allyn of Cambridge, Grace Macgregor, Eleanor J. Morgan and Edith Swett served, and Mr. and Mrs. Leon W. Carter presided at the punch bowls.

There was a beautiful collection of presents, including cut glass and silver, hand-painted china and embroidery. Among the presents was a beautiful carbon picture "The storm," from the class of 1900, Story High school, of which the bride was a member; half a dozen pearl handle fruit knives from her Sunday School class, a handsome den couch and arm chair

The wedding of Rev. Everard Walker Snow, pastor of the Washington Street church, to Miss Ruth Caroline Barry of Roxbury, took place at the Walnut Avenue Congregational church of Roxbury on Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Albert H. Plumb, d.d., officiating. A reception followed the ceremony. Rev. and Mrs. Snow will reside at 35 Abbott street, after their return from the honeymoon. The popular pastor's parishioners gave him $100 in gold as a mark of their love and esteem as their wedding gift.

A number of people enjoyed the whist party at Hose Two's house on Rantoul street on Tuesday evening. The affair is in aid of the coming fair of the Beverly firemen, and was under the direction of Mrs. William J. Rich.

William T. Pepper has been entertaining Reynold Blakeley of Moncton, n.b., the past week.

Harry P. Shepard opened his new periodical and stationery store on lower Broadway Monday, and a full line of papers and cigars, besides periodicals and the like will be carried in stock. Mr. Shepard is a hustling young man, and during the past few years has built up a large paper trade in the city.

The assessors have organized with the choice of John M. Murney as chairman and Hervey Lunt, clerk.

The letter accepting the call of the First Baptist Church from Rev. Carey W. Chamberlain of Toledo, Ohio, was read in the church Sunday morning. Rev. Mr. Chamberlain will come to Beverly, February.

Supt. Adelbert L. Safford has removed to Prospect Hill.

Mrs. E. N. Preble of McKay street has been entertaining her sister, Miss Ella V. Gay of Lynn the past week.

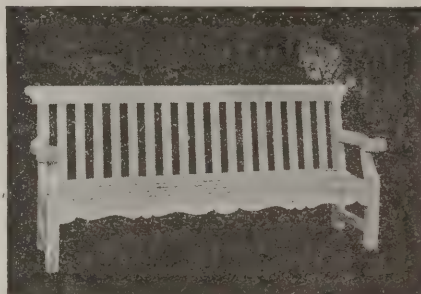

Mrs. D. W. Quill has been elected president of The Ladies Catholic Charitable Society.

Starr C. Hewitt, Jr., is at Muschopague, Mass., for the benefit of his health.

William E. Barter served on the grand jury at Salem this week.

Rev. Arthur P. Adams is on a tour through Virginia and Georgia in the interest of "The Spirit of the Word" which he publishes. He will be gone for the remainder of the month.

The new lodge of the Eastern Star, (Masonic) will be instituted on January 17. Mrs. J. H. Morley is the enthusiast who is bringing this new lodge to its inception.

William G. McKay is moving into the Davenport house on Atlantic avenue.

The annual banquet of the football team of the Beverly High School at the Hotel Trafton on Monday evening was the scene of much jollity and interest. The squad sat down to a well laden board and after the inner man had been satisfied, listened to the toasts by the present and past members of the school. Principal Hurd presided at the post-prandials. Dr. F. G. Stanley, the coach, entertained with banjo selections and Chester G. Willard sang some coon songs. Richard H. Fullerton was unanimously elected captain for the ensuing year.

Preston Post

G.A.R. hall, in Beverly Farms, was filled to overflowing, as were also the veterans and their friends with good cheer, last Monday evening, when the members of Preston post and the associate members recently affiliated and fraternized with the post met for a "social evening." It was the occasion of a very merry time. Comm. Chas. H. Day called the gathering to order with one of his characteristic little speeches, at 8 o'clock, and welcomed all to the ranks of Preston post. He spoke of the high aims, the ideals and hopes of the G.A.R. and reviewed in brief their work. He was followed by Adj. Eben Day and Theo. A. Holmes, and then by members of the associate body. Among the latter who were present were: Col. John Henry Watson, Rep. W. R. Brooks, Ald. Robt. E. Hodgkins, Chas. H. Trowt, Howard E. Morgan, Chas. H. Hall, S. J.

Connolly, James B. Dow, John C. McCarthy, G. P. Connolly and others.

A Grand Army gathering is not complete without its camp-fire and mess. This was very much in evidence after the speechmaking was concluded and the comrades had adjourned to the lower hall. Comrade D. W. Preston was the chef, and an enticing spread was prepared. An hour of sociability followed this, interspersed with songs, both patriotic and popular, and stories.

The wedding of Miss Elizabeth Gould Torrey, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Torrey to Peer Prescott Johnson, m.d., of this city was solemnized at the home of the bride, 106 Cabot street, on Monday evening, Rev. Everard W. Snow tying the knot. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret R. Torrey, and George W. Coggeshall of Dedham officiated as groomsmen. The ushers were Dr. Irving Fisher of West Newton, Dr. Lyman Allen of Burlington, Vt., Dr. John H. Cunningham, Jr., of Boston and Harris H. Walker of this city. A reception was held at the close of the ceremony to which a host of friends of both were invited. After a wedding tour Dr. and Mrs. Johnson will reside at 15 Washington street.

Rev. E. L. Steeves of Middle Sackville, N. B., will occupy the pulpit of the First Baptist church on Sunday.

Miss Eleanor H. Brown has been the recent guest of Miss Mary P. Story at Fairhaven, Mass.

Rev. William E. Noyes, of the Wanderer's Home in Boston, assisted by a band of children from the Home will conduct the morning service at the Washington Street church on Sunday.

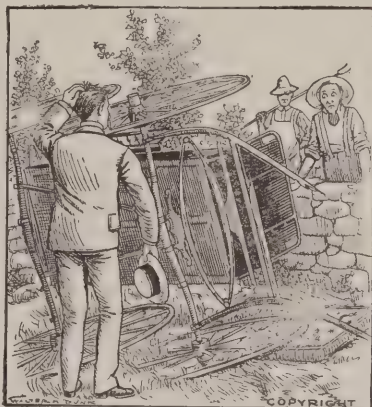

Ozra M. Field of Field & Kennedy has returned from a purchasing tour to New York City.

The annual banquet of the Cabot Club was held on Tuesday evening in Burnham hall. One hundred and two members and friends enjoyed the hospitality of the club and passed a pleasant evening.

Mrs. Alice Creesy of Judson street entertained a dozen or more friends on Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. Anna Wiggin of Waterloo, Me.

Representative William R. Brooks has been elected secretary of the committee on Harbors and Public Lands.

Dr. E. C. Steeves has removed his office to the A. F. Place house on Rantoul street where he will be glad to receive his many patients.

City Hall was the scene of gayety on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings when crowded houses were rapt with enthusiasm at the presentation of "The King of Siam" by local talent in aid of the Old Ladies Home. The affair was under the direction of Mrs. Carolyn Wesson Bongartz and her efforts were well repaid by the very favorable impression made upon the audiences. The cast was a selected one and it would hardly seem out of place to say that E. Mark Sullivan, as Chou-Faa, and Dr. Adelbert M. Bruce, as the King, were evenly matched so far as rendition was concerned; both were overflowing with spontaneity and made a most pleasing impression; their solo work was most pleasing, as also was that of Samuel P. Bell and Miss Minnie L. Donkin. The chorus work was catchy and the dancing exquisite and much appreciated. Whitaker's orchestra lent not a little to the success of the production.

Tickets are out and the attention of Beverly people is being drawn in a variety of ways toward the "Maw-sim" which the young people of the Ballou Club are to give in the City Hall the last of the month, Jan. 29 to Feb. 3. As is usual, the fair will be a drawing card.

The engagement of Miss Kate E. Bailey of this city and William R. Jameson of Salem is announced.

Oscar E. Hues of Tewksbury was the guest of his mother, Mrs. Sarah Huse of Pond street, Sunday.

Society Notes

The date of the wedding of Miss Margaret Head and Mr. Philip Stockton has been set for Saturday, Feb. 3, and the event has promise of being among the smartest events of the winter in Boston. The ceremony will be in church, with a breakfast afterward at the Head mansion on Beacon street. Miss Head will have but three attendants, half as many as did her sister, Mrs. Russell, at Manchester in September. Mr. Stockton has hired the cottage of Mrs. Robert de W. Sampson at Manchester Cove for next season.

Prominent among the North Shore debutantes this winter is Miss Mary Josephine Amory of Beverly Cove, for whom her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Amory, gave a ball in Boston last night.

Mrs. Robert C. Heaton of Beverly Farms and Boston started last week for the South for the balance of the winter.

The Misses Curtis of Boston were at their Manchester Cove cottage over Sunday.

The latest engagement to interest Boston and North Shore folk is that of Miss Annie Amory of Pride's Crossing and Col. Gordon Dexter, also of Pride's. Miss Amory is a daughter of Mrs. Charles Amory and a sister of Miss Susan Amory, who were at the Abbott cottage, Pride's, again last season. Their town house is at 233 Marlboro street. Mr. Dexter lives at 55 Beacon street.

The initial in a series of musicales, which are destined to be very fashionable affairs, much after the nature of the series given on Friday afternoons along the North Shore last season, was given Monday evening at the Commonwealth avenue (Boston) residence of Mrs. Robert S. Bradley of Pride's Crossing. A few of the many subscribers for these events are Mrs. Frances L. Higginson, Mrs. Gordon Prince, Mrs. Charles Head, Mrs. Wm. C. Endicott, jr., Mrs. George Lee and Mrs. W. Scott Fitz.

G. A. R. Installation

The installation of the officers of Post 67, G.A.R., in the town hall last Friday night was an occasion of much interest to the Grand Army veterans and their many friends, a large number of whom attended the exercises. Captain C. D. Fiske, commander of Post 95, Saugus, was the installing officer. The officers installed were: E. P. Stanley, commander; Enock Crombie, senior vice-comm.; A. S. Jewett, junior vice; James H. Rivers, adjutant; John G. Haskell, quartermaster; James W. Widger, surgeon; George Willmonton, chaplain; Chas. H. Stone, officer of the day; Geo. A. Jones, officer of guard; William J. Pert, sergeant major; Jeffrey T. Stanley, Q.M.S.; Dennis Sullivan, color bearer.

There was a large delegation of visiting comrades from the Saugus post. Comrade Hunkins of Merrimac was also a guest. One of Bullock's suppers was served.

The speechmaking proved a most pleasant feature of the occasion. Commander E. P. Stanley starting the ball rolling in that direction with one of his characteristic speeches. He was followed by the mustering officers and by Rev. W. F. Powers, the remarks of the latter being especially well received. The bass solos by Comrade Pert were also well received.

A Winter Tornado

A tornado in winter is not a common thing here on the North Shore, but such a thing did occur Saturday, and it would have done credit to mid-summer. About 3 o'clock in the afternoon a huge black cloud appeared in the west and proceeded to move over the clear blue sky. In a very few minutes the heavens were covered and it was almost inky black. One could scarcely see across the street in the midst of it, and lights had to be resorted to. With it came a blast of wind and a heavy snow squall which lasted about 10 minutes, and was of sufficient quantity to cover the ground with almost half an inch. In a few minutes the sky was clear again and the sun was shining brightly, but the temperature had fallen some.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 13, 1906.

There is much conjecture as to the redistricting of the representative districts under the new conditions produced by the State census of 1905. For the next ten years the basis will be one representative to each 2,809 voters. The Newburyport correspondent of the Boston Herald places Manchester in a district with wards 4, 5 and 8, Gloucester, making a total vote of 2,768.

The legislators from this district fared well in the list of committee assignments given out at the State House last week. Rep. Vittum was given a place on the committee on railroads, one of the most important joint committees; Rep. Brooks of Beverly Farms was again placed on the committee on harbors and public lands, and Senator Schofield of Ipswich is on the ways and means, and prisons.

Governor Guild, in his inaugural address last week, brought forward a new point relative to automobile fines, and is somewhat in line with the recommendations of Major Higginson of the Safe Roads association. He says that the machines are particularly destructive to the surface of the roads, and as the State highways are largely a gift from the commonwealth to the town or the city, he suggests that for the damage done to the highways by the automobiles, if for no other, all fines for overspeeding should be paid to the State and applied to the repairs of highways.

We are of the opinion that the suggestion offered by our contemporary, the Cricket, last week, that the name for the new primary school building be the "A. E. Lowe school" is good. It is the name which we favor, and which we think the town should decide upon. Whom could we better commemorate than that great good soul! He has served the town on the school board and in his almost 100 years of life in Manchester he has always worked for her best educational and spiritual as well as material welfare. A communication in another column suggesting that the school be called "The Russell Sturgis school," and we have also heard suggested "The John Price school." The matter will be decided at the annual town meeting in March.

At the special town meeting in Manchester next Monday evening, the matter of more money for the suppression of the brown-tail and gypsy moths will come up. This is a matter which should be of vital interest to every Manchester voter. True it is, the town has spent a $1000 the past year in fighting this pest, as that amount was appropriated at the March meeting for the destruction of "brown-tails." It has since appeared there are gypsy nests in abundance, also, and it should not be a question of several hundred dollars. Manchester being a summer resort, depends to a large extent on its natural beauty for attractions, and we cannot afford to have these trees defoliated. We cannot afford, either, to subject our summer visitors or our own families to the pain and suffering caused by brown-tail itch. The work of destroying nests, on parks, streets and cemeteries has been completed and the work will henceforth be directed toward private property.

An appropriation of $2000 ought to cover the present needs.

Road Improvements

"We are very glad to have these summer people come here but they are by no means essential to the welfare of the city."

The Cape Ann News, we are afraid, is a little off in making such a statement as this. The city of Gloucester owes a great deal to the summer people, so-called, the same as we do in Manchester and all along the North Shore, and to throw cold water on "the goose that lays the golden eggs" is mighty poor policy. Ask the merchants what they think of it! They say, one and all, they long for the return of the summer season. It is then they make their money. The wealth of the land pours in and hundreds—yes, thousands of people crowd the picturesque shores,—at Bass Rocks, East Gloucester, Annisquam, and at beautiful and popular Magnolia. Ask your storekeepers in Gloucester if the people aren't "essential to the welfare of the city."

The News may be right in saying "the common council certainly did a very sensible thing at its meeting Tuesday night in turning down the proposed loan of $75,000 for highway improvements," and that "the expenditure of $25,000 in Magnolia is uncalled for and unnecessary," but we do think it is high time to do something in the line of improvements in Magnolia. The resort is a little paradise in the summer season, but it certainly lacks what can be called good roads.

"To be sure," admits the News, "these people pay taxes and are entitled to all the conveniences that Gloucester can afford to give them, but why we should saddle a debt of $25,000 upon the people of Annisquam, Lanesville, East Gloucester and the city proper to give these people more than we have ourselves passes the comprehension of the ordinary tax payer and property owner."

And, on the other hand, may we ask, why should Magnolia furnish such a large proportion of Gloucester's taxes and get practically nothing in return?

The Magnolia residents, like those all along the shore, want good roads, and they should have them. Good roads is a good stock in trade. Manchester has found it so.

WHISPERINGS.

Each year the town of Manchester appropriates money for the purpose of cleaning the snow off the "channel" so that the children might enjoy what little skating can be offered here. Very few of the children appreciate the act of the town in doing this. It should not be expected of the superintendent of streets to have his men attend to this first, and let the side-walks go. Tuesday, after the snow of Monday night, the children crowded to the channel early in the morning and when the workmen reached there later in the forenoon to clean it, the pond had been walked over and the snow was sticking to the ice like mucilage, with the result that very little could be removed and skating has therefore been poor. The young folk should be mindful of this in the future.

A Communication

To Editor of North Shore Breeze:

Reference was made in last week's Cricket to the matter of a name for the new school. As this is an open question and is to be decided by the voters, I venture to offer a name for the consideration of the readers of the BREEZE.

The town of Manchester, I think, owes considerable to its summer residents for what they have done to make the town what it is. The name which I have in mind and would like to see given to our new school building is that of Russell Sturgis. He was identified with the early interests of the town as a summer resort, and was the means of bringing many of our summer families here. Many of our fathers and sons did service in the Civil war under him. I think the town would do well to honor him in this manner.

A VOTER.

MANCHESTER, Jan. 10, 1906.

Real Estate And Improvements

The magnificent summer residence of Frederick H. Prince, at "Princemere," is to have quite an extensive addition made to it before next season, and will, when completed, be one of the prettiest as well as quaintest summer estates on the shore. Brick and stone, with granite foundations, will figure chiefly in the addition, and this will add a more castle-like air than ever to the estate. Considerable landscape work will be done and new driveways made before the season opens.

Town Committee Organizes

The Manchester Republican town committee met in the small caucus room, town hall, Monday evening and organized for the year with the following choice of officers: Jeffrey T. Stanley, chairman; W. W. Hoare, secretary, and Walter R. Bell, treasurer. The fall campaign this year has promise of being an interesting one, as there will be among other things a congressman to elect, and from indications there may be several candidates for Congressman Gardner's berth.

Manchester Club Elects

At the business meeting of the Manchester club Friday night the old board of officers were re-elected for the year, as follows: Fred J. Merrill, president; Horace Standley, vice-president; Percy A. Wheaton, secretary; Oscar B. Wing, treasurer; Frank G. Cheever, auditor; Geo. A. Kitfield, R. C. Allen, James Hoare, F. J. Merrill and F. K. Hooper, executive committee; Geo. E. Willmont, J. A. Lodge and I. M. Marshall, committee on literature. The first application for non-resident membership was received and will be acted upon next Friday night.

Marie Cahill at the Tremont

Marie Cahill, star of "Molly Moonshine," the Royle-Hobart Hein musical play, which will be seen at the Tremont theatre, Boston, commencing Monday, Jan. 15, after a ten weeks' run in New York City, and who has earned the expression, "The quiet comedienne," was born in Brooklyn, N.Y. Shortly after her "baby-carriage days" she went upon the stage in a little Brooklyn theatre where Harley Merry, the famous scenic artist, was conducting a stock company. Her first appearance was in a small soubrette role which she played in "Kathleen Mavourneen," an Irish romantic drama. The first musical play in which Miss Cahill took part was Charles Hoyt's "A tin soldier." She played the part of Patsy. Under the management of Daniel V. Arthur she made her first appearance as a star in the musical comedy, named "Nancy Brown," and after a long session at the Bijou theatre, New York City, she spent the following season touring the country in the same play, in this she made popular the songs, "The Congo love song," and "Navajo." Miss Cahill is responsible for the success of the song "Under the bamboo tree." At the commencement of this season she became the star of the musical play, "Molly Moonshine" by George V. Hobart, Milton Royle, and Silvio Hein.

THE MANCHESTER OF THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Correspondent sends in Communication Printed in Boston Paper—also Copy of Famous "Blue Laws" of Connecticut for Perusal of Breeze Readers.

MANCHESTER, Jan. 8, 1906.

Dear Mr. Lodge: It has been a habit of mine to cut out and save articles that appeal to or in an especial way interest me. Occasionally I indulge in a pastime that usually occurs a little later with the ladies; they call it cleaning up. With me it is more like cleaning out, as most of my collection finds its appropriate place in the waste basket. I have just had an attack of this kind, perhaps not as violent as sometimes, and have saved two articles which I thought might interest your readers—one a letter written 35 years ago, and appearing in one of the Boston papers. Most of the people referred to and the incidents related will come to the mind by way of remembrance, as the older citizens of the town read the letter which I enclose.

I also send you a copy of the famous Connecticut "Blue Laws,"—not that I would advocate in our day and generation anything quite as stringent. I have a feeling, however, there is a path somewhere, between the lax moral sentiment and weak enforcement of law as we see it today, and those old "Blue Laws" that we as a people should speedily find, and having found—walk in it.

Yours truly,

O. T. ROBERTS.

MANCHESTER, Mass., Aug. 2, 1870.

This seaboard town, dear Traveller, makes no great figure on the map; is hardly ever named among the watering places, yet it has, in my opinion, beauty and variety enough for five-and-twenty of them. Broken into hill and valley, woodland and meadow, ravine and glade, it presents at almost every point some fresh and charming prospect; some picturesque and peculiar view which the beholder wishes ever to remember. The town, or village itself, is in a rich green valley, walled in from the ocean by a bold and craggy line of primitive rock.

It is almost entirely surrounded by wooded eminences, and is intersected by a pretty little streamlet, which after turning "a busy mill," spreads out into a beautiful bay communicating, by a channel flanked upon the right and left by precipitous buttresses of granite, with the ocean. This brook from which the speckled trout is sometimes taken, is denominated "Jeffrey's Creek," and thus perpetuates the name of the original settler of the town. On one of the rocky eminences rising from the right bank of this stream, stands out in fine relief the old revolutionary powder-house, now empty as a drum, yet still enhancing in no small degree the picturesqueness of the landscape.

THE PEOPLE OF MANCHESTER

The people of this unique and granite-guarded town are wide awake, progressive, temperate, frugal, hospitable and above-board. They make the very best cabinet furniture in the world, and raise the very fairest—please not spell this sourest—strawberries. In political discussion and in vocal music they have few superiors—and will sing for you "Jerusalem, my happy home," or unfold the plans of Napoleon III. with equal skill and cleverness. The postmaster is a Frenchman, who for gallant service in the war, was called to run this institution. He is earnest, affable, patriotic, prononce, and well deserving a good slice of "Uncle Samuel's bread."

The hotel is of the old regime; but mine host is genial, sensible and obliging; and if you fancy comfort more than long bills, or senseless ceremony, why then stop here.

ABOUT MANCHESTER

Manchester has but two churches, Congregational and Baptist, now respectively and effectively directed by the Rev. Mr. Gleason and the Rev. Mr. Miller. The educational interests of the town are safely in the hands of Mr. Sargent; and the sanitary, in those of the modest yet skilful Dr. Priest.

The "stern and rockbound coast" of Mrs. Hemans applies to Manchester more pertinently than to any other of our seaboard towns—a wall of granite rock, rifted and jagged, with here and there a seam of slate, and rising up from ten to fifty feet, sometimes jutting out into the wildest and boldest promontories of naked rock, as "Eagle Head"; sometimes falling back a little from the sea to make room for a sandy beach, runs along to form the southeastern barrier of the town; and upon the headlands and the slopes between, or plateaus in the rear, the summer residents have erected mansions varying as to size and architectural style according to the taste and means of the proprietors. From the sea, these residences, crowning the heights or nestled in among the groves which in some places seem to meet the ocean wave, appear to very great advantage, and with the wooded hills in the interior, form a panorama which is without a parallel on our coast. Among these mansions, those of the Messrs. Curtis, that of

Mr. R. H. Dana, Mr. Towne, Tappan, Sturgis, of the actors, J. B. Booth and Conway, make a very fine appearance. The mansion of the latter gentleman rises up prominently from a kind of central eminence, forms a striking picture in the landscape, and seen either from the bay, or distant hills, it awakens admiration and reflects much honor on the genius of the builder.

The owner had a narrow escape from the performance of "a tragic part" on Saturday, but "All is well that ends well." He was in a dory with his son and servant off some distance from the shore, when suddenly the boat upset and over they went into the "vasty deep." A boat came up, but Mr. C., immense in weight, was floundering about—as I had the story—like a whale harpooned and hampered "swilled with wild and wasteful ocean." He "blew" at last—the actor was the father here—and out of the engulfing brine the gurgling cry came up as from the cave of Æolus: "Save the boys, the boys; I'll shift it for myself!" The boat took up the boys—the father would have swamped it in an instant—and he had the presence of mind to see it. So resting his right hand lightly on the bow, he was towed, still floundering through the water like a captured whale, or huge leviathan, in safety to the shore, and amid the acclamations of the audience the curtain fell. Mr. C. is, by the by, very much of a gentleman, and highly respected by the citizens of Manchester. The house of Mr. Booth, though less imposing, is still unique and beautiful. The Stars and Stripes are floating over it and a

THE BEACH

The sandy beach that runs along below the house of Mr. Booth is remarkable for its "musical tone." As you step briskly over it, a distinct and somewhat clear, shrill note is heard, which seems to be upon the key of C of the treble scale. By scraping or shuffling the foot over the sand, the tone may be prolonged; and it is loudest, I have noticed, where the sand is dryest. Hugh Miller mentions a similar phenomenon on a beach upon the coast of Scotland. Will some of the savans of the Essex Institute be pleased to favor us with an explanation of this "mineral music"?

DISTINGUISHED MEN

Among the distinguished men here this season is James T. Fields, Esq., the leading publisher of elegant literature in this country; a writer of no mean ability himself, and an intimate friend of the late Charles Dickens, Esq. But there is the boat with my philosopher K. and story-telling Capt. F. to take me down the bay; and there is Dr. Bartol tugging lustily at the oar; and there is another party of the "hubbists" getting under weigh; and so without stopping to tell you of our great "Umbrella Tree," or "Millstone Hill," "Ram's Head," or "Misery," or of our far-famed Magnolia now in bloom (we hope sometime to raise a poet for the bay), or of a thousand other things you and your readers ought to know, I promise you another letter when the mood comes over me, and hasten out "to view the ground" where all the fish stood up with moistened eyes to see an actor play his part among the porpoises, Cape Ann sea serpents, hippopotami, mermaids, walruses, and other monsters of the deep,—and so remain,

THE BLUE LAWS.—The famous blue laws of Connecticut, about which so much is heard, are as follows. They were enacted by the people of the "Dominion of New Haven," and became known as the blue laws because they were printed on blue paper:

The governor and magistrates convened in general assembly are the supreme power under God, of this independent dominion. From the determination of the assembly no appeal shall be made.

No one shall be a free man or give a vote unless he is converted and a member of one of the churches allowed in the dominion.

Each freeman shall swear by the blessed God to bear true allegiance to this dominion, and that Jesus is the only king.

No dissenter from the established worship of this dominion shall be allowed to give a vote for electing of magistrates or any officer.

No food or lodging shall be offered to a heretic.

No one to cross a river on the Sabbath but authorized clergymen.

No one shall travel, cook vituals, make beds, sweep house, cut hair, or shave on the Sabbath day.

No one shall kiss his or her children on the Sabbath or fasting days.

The Sabbath day shall begin at sunset Saturday.

Whoever wears clothes trimmed with gold, silver or bone lace, above one shilling per yard, shall be presented by the grand jurors, and the selectmen shall tax the estate three hundred pounds.

No one shall eat mince pies, dance, play cards or play any instrument of music except the drum, trumpet and jewsharp.

Whoever brings cards or dice into the dominion shall pay a fine of five pounds.

Every ratable person who refuses to pay his proportion to support the minister of town or parish, shall be fined five pounds and five shillings every quarter.

No gospel minister shall join people in marriage. The magistrate shall join them in marriage, as he may do it with less scandal to Christ's church.

When parents refuse their children convenient marriages, the magistrate shall determine the point.

Adultery shall be punished with death.

A man who strikes his wife shall be fined ten pounds.

A woman who strikes her husband shall be punished as the law directs.

No man shall court a maid in person or by letter without obtaining the consent of her parents; five pounds penalty for the first offence, ten for the second, and for the third imprisonment during the pleasure of the court.

BEVERLY FARMS

Station Agent Frank Rand is again at his duties at the local station, after several days confinement to his home, due to injuries sustained while on his late gunning trip in the Maine woods.

The marriage of Lawrence W. King and Mrs. Elizabeth S. Dix, which came rather in the nature of a surprise to their many friends, was solemnized last Saturday evening at the parochial residence by the Rev. Fr. Maguire. The couple are now on a wedding trip to New York, and upon their return they will reside at Pride's.

Miss Anna Connolly left Tuesday morning for South Bend, Ind., to resume her duties as physical culture instructor at the Notre Dame university. Miss Connolly came home just before Christmas to spend the holidays with her family and friends.

The famous lecture on "Fools," by Dr. P. S. Henson, pastor of Tremont Temple, to be given at the Baptist church, Thursday evening, Jan. 25, has promise of attracting a large audience, as the tickets are selling fast.

A. P. Loring had a party of friends at his camp, at Chebacco, over Sunday.

Mrs. Washington B. Thomas and Miss Helen Thomas were down from Boston Monday by auto.

Many of the Farms' young people have taken advantage of the fine moonlight evenings of the past week, enjoying the skating and ice boating at the Chebacco and Gravelly lakes.

An interesting pool tournament has been going on for the past week at the Marshall pool parlor, the contest having now narrowed down to several of the expert players, and the outcome of the match games, which are to be run off shortly, are of much interest to the local enthusiasts.

Through the generosity of Assistant Eng. Eli R. Hodgkins and some of the Farms firemen the children have been enjoying this week a few days' skating on the mill pond, a hose having been attached to a near-by hydrant, and although unable to flood the whole area, sufficient has been done to afford considerable winter sport.

J. Henry Trow, a Beverly Farms young man in the employ of Mr. John Caswell, departed last Saturday with Mr. Caswell on his European trip, which no doubt will be a source of much pleasure and edification to Mr. Trow, and his many friends will wish him much enjoyment and a safe return. Mr. Trow's family remains at the Farms during his absence.

The directors of the West Beach corporation held a business meeting Friday afternoon.

The marriage of Miss Maud Smith Thissell of Preston place and Mr. William Harris Mason of Winchester, N. H., will occur at the latter place next Monday. After a wedding trip the couple will reside at Winchester.

The good time afforded those who attended the costume party Tuesday evening has induced the management to plan upon a "sheet and pillow-case" party, to take place at Marshall's hall in the near future.

Commence the new year by subscribing for the North Shore BREEZE and keep posted on all the local happenings. It is not too late to begin now.

G. P. Connolly is on a week's business trip to New York, where his firm has several contracts in operation.

At the meeting of the stockholders of the Mercantile National bank of Salem held last Tuesday, Stephen J. Connolly of the firm of Messrs. Connolly Bros. of this place was made a director.

Mr. and Mrs. John Caswell of Round Plain farm sailed from New York last Saturday on the Celtic and will spend the remainder of the winter abroad. They go first to Egypt via the Azores and Italy.

Representative William R. Brooks has not only been made a member of the committee on harbors and public lands, but also has been made the clerk of said committee which carries with it an extra financial consideration. Mr. Brooks was, upon his previous membership to the house two years ago, made a member of this committee, which is an important one, and carries with it the work which Representative Brooks is much interested in.

The members of the local order, Knights of Columbus, have been busily engaged this week in attending the workings of third degrees and installations of the order out of town, large delegations going to Salem Wednesday, and Beverly Thursday evening.

The members of the Beverly Farms fire department and lady friends are busily engaged in preparations for the coming fair at City hall in aid of the Firemen's Relief association. Those who wish to aid in the good work may do so, and the donation of any articles would be thankfully received, on or before January 15th, and may be left at the fire station or the residence of Lewis G. Williams, Hart street.

Miss Jane Watson, Thursday evening, commenced a new term for advanced classes in æsthetics and dancing.

The annual meeting of the members of the West Beach corporation will be held in Marshall's hall the third Monday of next month, February 19.

Club and Lodge

Manchester

An interesting program has been arranged for the Wednesday evening club meeting next week.

Next week will be a busy one in lodge circles. Tuesday night, Cabot lodge of Beverly will pay a fraternal visit to the Workmen; Wednesday evening, the recently elected Chiefs of Conomo tribe will be raised to their respective stumps by Deputy Paton and suite of Danvers, and on Thursday evening Dist. Dep. G. M. Henry Wilson of Gloucester will install the officers of Magnolia lodge, Odd Fellows. A gala evening is being planned for each event. The Red Men will have a feast of corn and venison at the close of their meeting and a great spread will be provided by the Odd Fellows. The members of each order are admonished to be present at the various gatherings.

The Lynn papers spoke very complimentary of the excellency of the work by Deputy A. S. Peabody and staff at Lynn last Friday night.

Charles S. Hanks will be the speaker at the meeting of the N. S. Horticultural society next Friday evening, and will take for his subject the much mooted question of railroad rebates.

Mrs. William J. Johnson entertained the Friday afternoon whist yesterday afternoon.

The Haphazard club will meet next Monday evening with Dr. R. T. Glendenning.

The Beverly Farms Club

The members of the new social and athletic club held a meeting Thursday evening at their rooms in the Hardy building on High street, and transacted considerable business. The following officers were elected: President, Jeremiah Toomey; Vice-Pres., John Watt; Rec. Secy., Chas. McCarthy; Fin. Secy. and Treas., S. John Connolly; Executive committee: James E. McDonnell, John Trowt, John McKenzie and John Watt; Auditing committee: Cornelius Donovan, Howard Preston. The club starts in a promising condition having now a membership of 43. The rooms are fitted in a pleasing and comfortable manner to which will be added as time goes on all that taste of the members desires. The fee for membership until Feb. 1st is $2 after which time the price will be increased. The business meetings of the club are to be the first Thursday evening of each month.

BEVERLY FARMS

We regret exceedingly the late arrival of the BREEZE last week, and must acknowledge the tardiness was something over which we have no power. The papers were left at the Manchester post office at noon, as usual, and should have reached here on the 1.40 train. We have taken the matter up with the department, and trust our subscribers here will not be forced to wait till Monday for their papers again.

After a period of inactivity the lawsuit of the Preston heirs vs. West Beach corporation, in which the contention is over the ownership of the land on the western end of the beach, is again to be resumed at Boston on January 16, before a jury. All previous litigation has been before an auditor.

John Bailey, after several years of travel and wanderings, Tuesday evening unexpectedly returned to the Farms and joined his family at Pickett's court.

Mrs. Edwin F. Mitchell and children of Warren, Me., and formerly of Beverly Farms, are visiting relatives and friends in this vicinity before settlement in their new home at Becket, Me., where the Rev. Mr. Mitchell has lately been appointed pastor of the Baptist church.

The costume party held in Marshall's hall last Tuesday evening was undoubtedly the hit of the season, the event being out of the ordinary and furnishing pleasure and enjoyment to the large gathering who were present, and jollity reigned until a late hour. Long's orchestra furnished the music, which was fully appreciated, having as usual the newest selections. The costumes worn by the dancers were all good, and some were especially funny. During the evening refreshments were served at Parker's restaurant.

Another social and dance is to take place on January 23, at Marshall's hall. Music by Long's orchestra.

Mr. George A. Breed, who has for several years been the superintendent and caretaker of the estate of Henry Clay Pierce at Pride's Crossing, has resigned. His successor has already been appointed. He comes from New York.

Oliver Wendell Holmes council, K. of C., held their annual installation of officers at Marshall's hall last Sunday afternoon. District Deputy Lawrence A. Ford and suite were present and conducted the work. A large delegation from the Beverly council and other neighboring councils were present. Several new members were initiated.

Preston W. R. C. Installation

Tuesday evening the officers of Preston W. R. C. 93, at Beverly Farms were installed by Mrs. Geo. Wood, a past president. The new officers are: Pres. Mrs. Alice L. Preston; S. V. Pres. Mrs. Lydia E. Williams; J. V. Pres. Mrs. M. A. Larcom; Treas. Mrs. A. P. Collamore; Sec'y. M. L. Hull; Con. Mrs. C. A. May; Guard, Mrs. Maria Publicover; Asst. Con. Mrs. Benj. Osborne, Asst. Guard, Mrs. Fred Bennett; Press Cor. Mrs. Lizzie Williams; Patriotic Instructor, Mrs. Geo. Wood; Musician, Mrs. Hodgkins; Color Bearers, Martha Blanchard, Nellie Preston, Lois May, Mrs. Mabel Blanchard. A turkey supper was served at 6 o'clock. A social was held after the meeting, when two Mellin's Food children were present and two young ladies gave a very entertaining cake walk. Mrs. Horton, Mrs. Preston and Mrs. Dennis from Manchester were present.

A pleasant feature of the evening was the presentation by the corps of a beautiful set of silver knives and forks to the retiring president, Mrs. Gauld.

whom went beyond their leader. The field was an attractive one, and was cultivated by many writers with great painstaking and assiduity. The essay became the fashionable form of composition and of interesting the reading public.

The prince of English essayists was no doubt Addison (1672-1719) as Montaigne held the same rank incontestably in France. But Addison was one of a distinguished group, of which he was the bright, particular star. Among these, though they were not all contemporaries, were Sir William Temple, Defoe, Steele, Sterne, Swift, Pope and Johnson. Some of these writers were scarcely the inferiors of Addison in literary power, some of them even surpassed him in certain directions; but Time that tests all has pronounced in favor of Addison as the essayist, par excellence, of the English tongue. We do not disparage others when we say that Addison carried the essay in the Spectator to a height of perfection never before reached. He has been succeeded, it is true, by others in the same prolific field who have won enduring fame. Coleridge, Lamb, Froude, Carlyle, Freeman and many others, including writers for the reviews and magazines, have attained various degrees of excellence in this department, and added flexibility and copiousness to the language. Macaulay's essays, which have been famed for half a century and more wherever the English language is known, are too grave and stately to be ranked in the same category with the Idler and Spectator; some of them are brief biographies, some are historical monographs, and some political disquisitions; but they lack that easy flow and light handling which belong to the essay proper. The essay on Milton, written in student days, with its affluence of learning and wealth and splendor of diction, will live as a monument of English prose until the New Zealander sits on the ruins of London bridge, surveying the decay of the British empire. It is on these essays more than on his history, fascinating as that is, that Macaulay's permanent fame will rest.

Among later English essayists, Charles Lamb, the gentle Elia, has the warmest place in the hearts of Englishmen. Always smooth, he is never dull or prosy; never shallow, he is always clear; he is vivacious without frivolity; serious, yet humorous; by turns lively and pensive, grave and gay. Nothing is more beautiful than the loyal affection between him and his sister Mary, his life-long companion and sympathetic helper; nothing is more pathetic than the darkening of the cloud of mild but hopeless insanity about the happy home.

In the last century some of the best literary talent in England has found place in the pages of the periodical press, from the palmy days of the Edinburgh and Blackwood down to the Saturday Review; a kind of rehabilitation of the times of the Spectator and Tatler, with larger view, broader scope and ampler learning. One must now look to the reviews and magazines for the best samples of the essay style on both sides of the Atlantic. Among ourselves we have papers, like the Nation, which, so far as good writing is concerned, compare well with the best English periodicals.

But literary history must recognize the fact that there was something in the intellectual and social atmosphere of England in the 18th century that seemed specially favorable to the development of the essay as a form of literary art. And a school of writers who possessed the undefinable grace that belongs to the make-up of the essay sprang up almost simultaneously, making the 18th century the sententious age of English literature, as distinguished from the serious age, the age of Milton and Bacon, of Taylor and Barrow and Browne, which preceded it, and the sympathetic age of Landor and De Quincey, of Hallorn and Ruskin, which followed it. It was emphatically an age of belle-letters, an age in which the essay found a congenial soil and attained a rapid and luxuriant growth. It was an age of conversation and gossip, of refinement in literature and conventional taste. Less rich and varied than the age of Elizabeth or Victoria, it had a piquancy and picturesqueness all its own.

SOROSIS RUNS ANNEX FOR ITS WOMEN EMPLOYEES

Hundreds Use Unique Club House for Rest and Sociability

As the outcome of America's enormous industrialism, where immense aggregations of feminine workers follow, necessarily, the product of the great labor-saving inventions, comes the problem of a proper and suitable social surrounding for the girls and women, and especially those whose home life is far removed from their places of business.

One of the most conspicuous examples of the manner in which this enormous social problem has been successfully handled, with an energy and acumen typical of the American manufacturer, is the establishment of the Sorosis Annex by the Sorosis Shoe company of Lynn, Mass., one of the largest and most prominent business houses in the country.

The Annex is a club, a resting place, a home for leisure hours for the many hundreds of women employed by Alexander E. Little & Co. in their Lynn factories, where entertaining and instructive lectures and classes in dress-making, millinery and embroidery will create not only a healthier atmosphere, but offer unusual opportunity for the self-advancement of the members.

That the club might not appear in the light of a philanthropic movement it has been placed on a sort of self-supporting basis, the members paying a nominal fee of 5 cents a week, while in the beautifully appointed dining room a luncheon is served at its exact cost.

The club house was originally a massive colonial mansion, and has been remodeled at an immense cost by the company, and a glimpse into its spacious rooms is a revelation in their model modern artistic simplicity.

The whole project is unusual in its conception and arrangement, and has served to extend the pleasant relations that exist between the firm and those faithful women employees who aid them by their application and industry.

This wonderful work by A. E. Little & Co., known throughout the business world for their genius for organization and power of execution, and the great good they have accomplished, should serve to give a wider meaning and a more extensive familiarity to the name Sorosis.

THE CAUSES FOR RATE LEGISLATION

Charles Stedman Hanks tells Why the Railroads Oppose it, in an Interesting Address before the North Shore Horticultural Society last night.

Charles Stedman Hanks of Manchester and Brookline, spoke before the members of the North Shore Horticultural society in their hall last evening on rate legislation, one of the most important of the national issues now before the people. Mr. Hanks said in part: "The object of rate legislation now before Congress has not to do primarily with rebates and discriminations to favored shippers, or with the right of the railroads to charge more for short hauls than for long hauls, or with their right to give preferences to special localities by making lower freight rates to those places, or with their right to make differential rates, so called, by which any particular class of goods shall have lower rates.

"These are phases of the questions concerning which laws have already been made prohibiting such practices, — the purpose of the present legislation being, first, to enact a law so that passenger and freight rates must be just and reasonable not only to the public but to the owners of the roads and second, a law which shall be so framed that when a rate is declared to be unreasonable a new rate can be substituted which will go into effect at once without the cost and delay of legal proceedings which prohibits to small shippers recourse to our Courts. It is not, however, the purpose of the legislation to have the government, or a commission appointed by the government, fix definite rates but to determine through a commission whether a rate made by

BIG FIRE IN MANCHESTER

Pulsifer's Block, the Finest Building in Town, destroyed by Fire Thursday Night. Post Office and Telephone Exchange and Several Business Concerns Burned Out. Total Loss estimated at about $50,000.

The most disastrous fire that has visited Manchester in the last 25 years was that of Thursday night when Pulsifer's block, one of the newest and finest buildings in town, was burned. The total loss to the building and various concerns, at first estimated at about $70,000, is now conservatively estimated at $45,000 to $50,000.

In the building was located the postoffice, the New England telephone exchange, the Red Men's club, the NORTH SHORE BREEZE, Manchester Cricket, Geo. E. Willmonton, all of which suffered a total loss as far as quarters are concerned. There were also Smith's Express Co.'s office; Bullock Bros., grocers; James Nazarro, barber; Harry S. Tappan, dry goods; Semons & Campbell, provisions, all of whom suffered loss, all but the last named being forced out of the building.

The fire was the most disastrous and stubborn to fight the firemen have been called upon to battle for many years. Starting a little before 9 o'clock it was not subdued till after 2 o'clock and the firemen worked on it till daylight next morning. In fact, at 6 o'clock it broke out again, but the blaze was quickly put down.

The origin of the fire is a mystery, though it is thought to have started in the boiler room which is located in the very heart of the structure, and around which the fire seemed to center. It was discovered by Frank Martin, who was in the Red Men's club room at the time, with Ralph Stanley, Herbert Shaw and Thomas

PULSIFER'S BLOCK, MANCHESTER, DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Wiggins. Mr. Martin went to the toilet room at the top of the stairs and at once smelled smoke, which had evidently come from the back stairway over the boiler.

Miss Annabelle Haraden, chief operator in the telephone exchange, and Miss Alice Haraden, who were at the office in the absence of the regular operator, Louis Manchester, smelled smoke at the same time and it is through the presence of mind of these young ladies that the alarm was given as soon as it was. The former young lady called the engine house and called for the chemical and then called the manager of the company in Beverly, saying the office was on fire. Meanwhile, the smoke was coming so fast the room and halls were filled and the air was stifling. Mr. Martin ran into the room and told Miss Haraden to ring the alarm and she rang in No. 33. It was with difficulty she got out of the building with Mr. Martin's assistance, her sister having preceded her.

At this time a great many of the firemen were at Odd Fellows' hall, attending the installation. Somebody ran to the hall and called for Chief Hoare, who was quickly on the scene followed by well nigh the whole gathering. Even then the fire was well under way, the heavens being lighted up. The fire seemed to be in the rear of the block, and flames soon burned through into the post office, the telephone exchange and into Tappan's. The crowd took most of the goods and fixtures from the latter place to the garage nearby.

As the firemen entered the building with the first line of hose, the flames were eating their way through the top of the stairs and it was almost impossible to stand the smoke, the boys being forced to retreat to the street several times.

There were seven lines of hose on the building, besides that from the chemical, and toward 10 o'clock, an hour after it started, the fire appeared to be fairly under control. But the flames were eating their way along the woodwork between the ceilings and all at once broke out again. Even after that it appeared the front offices of the building—those occupied by the BREEZE, Cricket and Geo. E. Willmonton, might not suffer any damage. The fire, however, ate its way along the ceilings and before midnight the front of the building had succumbed to the ravages of the flames.

It was after 2 o'clock before the department had the flames under control and even after that fire started up here and there and kept the boys left on for all night, on the jump till morning.

At one time about midnight the flames threatened adjoining buildings, including the residence of Dr. Geo. W. Blaisdell.

The conditions were the best that could be hoped for to prevent a spread of fire. There was no wind and it was not cold enough to freeze the water.

Crowds thronged the streets from the time the alarm was sounded until long after midnight, a number coming from Beverly and Beverly Farms.

The building was one of the newest blocks in town and occupies a site on the corner of Beach and Union streets. It was the finest looking structure in town, being built in 1903 by James K. Pulsifer, and was valued at $40,000. Mr. Pulsifer carries an insurance of a little over $30,000. The building was of two stories, of colonial design and very attractive, being finished in slapdash.

The loss to the telephone exchange, which is fully insured, will probably be $10,000. James Nazarro, the barber, carries an insurance of $700, but the loss will not amount to that. Mr. Tappan's stock and fixtures are valued at about $4000, insured for $350. Mr. Tappan was out of town and when he arrived on the 9 30 train, saw his store in ruins, he collapsed. Jos. Pink & Co., harness makers, were insured; Semons & Campbell, at whose store the fire, crawling down the line of stores on Beach street, was stopped, will not be among the heavy losers. The Red Men's club lose everything, including pool table, and fixtures worth about $500. Bullock Bros. suffered mostly from smoke and water. They carried $7000 insurance with G. E. Willmonton's agency, and their loss will be in the vicinity of $5000. Only the day of the fire they put in about $1000 worth of goods, including half a car of sugar. The loss in the post office will be about $2500, covered. The fixtures were owned by Mr. Pulsifer. M. G. Revelas was the only dealer in the block that did not suffer any loss.

Of the offices on the second floor, the NORTH SHORE BREEZE loss will amount to about $150 in fixtures and files, fully covered; the Manchester Cricket about $100, uninsured, and Geo. E. Willmonton $500, also uninsured.

Bullock Bros. announce in another column that they will be open for business for the present in the Allen building on Washington street, at one time occupied by F. B. Rust, grocer.

The telephone company is opening an office in the Blaisdell block.

Smith's express are also moving into the Blaisdell block and the BREEZE will be in with them for the present.

CAUSES FOR RATE LEGISLATION

the railroads is just and reasonable and if not to substitute one which will be.

"The enactment by Congress of such a law, of course, affects us all alike—the laboring man who seldom travels on the cars or sends goods by freight as much as it does the producer or the shipper for passenger rates affect the pocket-books of the rich and poor in the same way, whatever law is passed, and although the shipper pays the freight bills this freight charge becomes eventually a part of the cost of the goods to the consumer. Freight rates, therefore, have to do with what we eat or wear or use, whatever our occupation is."

In a general way Mr. Hanks spoke of the rate law of today and the bill now before Congress to make these laws effective. He then said:

"Let us see what is the position of the railroads today. We know, for instance, that they control about one-sixth of the entire wealth of the country; that they aggregate nearly one-third of the railroads of the world; that their total capital is over thirteen billions of dollars or ten times that of the combined banks and trusts companies of the country; that one million six hundred thousand men are in their employ; that they kill annually 10,000 people and injure nearly 80,000; that by combinations with trusts they have now under their control such fundamental necessities of life, as beef, coal, sugar, coffee, salt, oil and iron ore; that they receive annually from the government nearly $70,000,000.00 for the transportation of the mails, an amount conceded to be far in excess of what it should be; that the difference in freight charges over what they were five years ago on a similar amount of goods is over a hundred million dollars annually; that by combinations among themselves they have eliminated competition and created such gigantic monopolies that the entire traffic of our country is now practically in the control of a dozen men.

"We know that the great trunk lines engaged in transportation between the interior and the seaboard are able by charging lower rates to divert trade to inferior ports.

"These rebates are given in various ways. A favored shipper is given a so called commission on his business as though he were an agent of the railroad. Another subterfuge used is to pay a freight traffic agent a large salary, a part of which he pays out to certain shippers; under billing and under weighing of freight are other ways. Allowances for cartage and switching charges are other ways. The most modern method, however, is for the shipper to put in a claim for damages.

"Very properly the question arises who pays these tremendous rebates? It does not come out of the pockets of the railroads—that we may be sure of, for when we analyze it we find that the railroads get it back in higher rates on the farmers' product, on our clothes, our food and our coal, and that the consumers are the ones who pay it. Do you think the railroads would give these rebates, which total such vast sums, if these goods were being carried at a loss? The answer which the railroads make is that they are willing to carry certain merchandise at a loss in order to get other business. If this is so then those shippers who do not get rebates pay a portion of the freight charges of those who do. This answer of the railroads, however, is not a fair one for when the receipt and disbursements of any of our railroads are analyzed we find that they make a profit on the freight upon which these rebates are given.

"In the natural sequence of events, however, railroad control is now reaching the limits of individual control and the next railroad period must necessarily be the government supervision of our railroads because competition, which is the basis of any lasting prosperity in any community, is a right given to us by our Constitution.

"If the railroads are making such large profits a pertinent question comes up, whether the profits of a quasi public corporations do not belong to the public after paying its legitimate expenses and a fair dividend to its bondholders and stockholders. In considering this question we must keep in mind that railroads are public highways; that they cannot be moved but are there to stay even if bankrupt; that a railroad corporation is unlike any other industry as its only function is to perform a service for the producer and the consumer. Such a corporation is created for public purposes.

"So much for the position of the railroads today. We have seen what a grasp they have on the destiny of our country; the power which they wield and the incentives which they have to prevent rate legislation. The solution of the question is in the hands of our congressmen and senators. It is now for them to decide whether the rich shall grow richer and the poor poorer. Our passenger and freight rates show the pulse of the country, and what these rates shall be is of more importance than the tariff, or any other national question. The object of the legislation is not that a commission shall decide in dollars and cents what the rates shall be, but that congress shall establish a standard by which fair and reasonable rates can be determined and illegal methods of rate-making prohibited, and that when a railroad refuses to make a fair and reasonable rate a commission shall have the authority to make a maximum rate.

"The intelligence of the public is now forcing Congress to regulate our freight and passenger rates, and because the rates charged by the railroads affect all classes of the community; because these rates determine very largely the outcome of all private enterprises; that upon them hinges not only the national well being, but the very existence of our towns, cities and every section of our country, the President of the United States is determined that it shall not be left to railroad corporations to decide our destiny.

"A bill, to meet the conditions which now exist, should neither impose a hardship on the carrier nor harass the shipper in getting redress, and should be so drawn that the freight and passenger rates should be sufficient to pay the legitimate expenses of operating the road and a fair dividend to the bondholders and stockholders.

"The board established to fix the rates should be a board of administration, without executive power, but with the power to prosecute. From the decision of this board an appeal should be allowed by either party to the circuit court.

"All present rates should be declared fair and reasonable until a change is recommended by the board of recommendation.

"The bill should declare that when a rate is changed it should be based on the capitalization and market value of the road affected.

"Every common carrier on 60 days' notice to the board of administration should be allowed to increase any rate and demand from the board a declaration of its fairness. Pending the decision of the board, or the decision of the court when an appeal is taken, the common carrier should be allowed to collect this new rate, the excess amount over and above the old rate to be kept as an excess rate fund in its treasury."

The society voted on motion of Mr. Albert Cunningham that the secretary be instructed to send a committee to Senators Lodge and Crane requesting them to support the provision of the Hepburn bill when it comes to them from the House.

Workmen Installed

Tuesday night was branded as a red letter one in the history of North Shore lodge, A. O. U. W., of Manchester, and will long be remembered by the members and their guests as one of the most enjoyable in the life of the lodge. Not only because of the success of the installation, but because of the rousing good time which followed.

District Deputy Grand Master S. S. Symonds and suite of Salem installed the following: Past Master Workman, Manuel T. Lopes; M. W., E. Wallace Stanley; F., Lewis Kilham; O., Wm. F. Spry; Fin., Chas. W. Sawyer; Treas., Horace Standley; Rec., T. B. Stone; I. W., Henry A. Porter; O. W., Manuel Travers. The work was done in a most exemplary manner.

Among the guests of the lodge were: Cabot lodge of Beverly, which had a premonition of what was in store for them, and came over the road, and members of John Endicott lodge of Salem, Archimedes lodge of Boston, and the Danvers lodge. Speech-making formed a pleasant feature of the occasion, but the spread which was prepared in the banquet hall, consisting of cold meats, cocoa, fruit, ice cream, etc., proved a most tempting feature. The evening was a most pleasant one, indeed.

William Cleveland Lynn

William Cleveland Lynn, a native of Manchester, passed away last Friday afternoon at his home, Hale street, Beverly, after a long illness, at the age of 68 years. He suffered a shock late in 1904 from which he never fully recovered.

Though born in Manchester, a son of William and Elizabeth A. (Pillsbury) Lynn, he spent only his younger days here, though he has always held his native town dear to his heart. His father was a cabinet maker, employed by Allen & Decker, and when that concern moved to Beverly, he moved there with his family also. His death removes one of Beverly's most respected citizens. He was one of the best known pension agents in Essex county and was prominent in Grand Army and fraternal circles.

Aaron B. Palmer, former principal of the Story High school and later of the G. A. Priest school, is evoking much favorable comment from the press of Boston on the success of his work at Somerville where he has organized an orchestra similar to that at the Tracey grammar school at Lynn which was heard at one of the Wednesday evening club meetings last year. The Herald, Sunday, said in a special article illustrated with several pictures:

"Aaron B. Palmer, who last September succeeded the late George A. Nichols as master of the Highland grammar school, West Somerville, appears to be meeting with remarkable success at his new post of duty, where there are at present 550 pupils. It is doubtful if the excellent discipline and esprit de corps that exists between teachers and scholars is excelled in any school in Somerville. Master Palmer enjoys his work. At all times he is devising innovations that cause the pupils to evince more than the usual amount of interest in their school life, increasing, too, the feeling of loyalty toward their school, master and teachers. The master's 'hobby' is music, and an abundance of good music is one of the innovations that he has introduced."

Alexander Henderson sailed from Boston on the Cymric last Saturday for Liverpool and from thence he will go to Glasgow to join his family who preceded him last summer.

Miss Susan C. Leach was in Boston over Sunday and the first of the week visiting relatives.

Mrs. John Dillon was the guest of her son, W. J. Dillon of Roxbury, the first of the week.

Miss Margaret Fox of Warren, R. I., has been spending the past week with the Misses O'Neil.

Mrs. Charles E. Bell was called to Merrimac Monday on account of the illness of her mother, Mrs. Hunkins.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 20, 1906.

The high run of tides and the surf caused by the strong easterly gale of Sunday drew quite a number of lovers of angry old Neptune to the beaches Monday. The surf at Magnolia, Singing Beach and off West Manchester, between the islands, was fine to look upon.

In his annual report E. C. Hutchinson, commissioner of public roads in New Jersey, suggests a novel plan for dealing with automobiles, which, we think might well be adopted here in Massachusetts also. In fact, Gov. Guild did hint at this in his inaugural. The commissioner urges the taxing of automobiles on the basis of their destructive power to the public highways, the measure of which he thinks should be the maximum speed of which each machine is capable. The justification for such a method of taxation is that owners of automobiles should be charged, as nearly as possible, for the actual damage they do to the roads. Unless some limitation is enforced the commissioner believes that much of the money which has been spent by the state in the improvement of roads will be wasted. The report further recommends the licensing of chauffeurs and the passage of a law prohibiting the use of armored tires, chain tires and blowers, all of which add to the destructive forces of the automobile.

WHISPERINGS.

Those of our North Shore auto enthusiasts who are contemplating a journey in Holland ought to carry along with them an extra grip with the Dutch name for automobile securely locked therein. It is "snell-paardelooszoonderspoorwegpit roolrijtung," a word of forty letters thus compounded: "Snell," rapid; "paardeloos," horseless; "zoondelspoorweg," without rails; "pitroolrijtung," driven by petroleum.

The "N. B. Sargent School."

Editor of the North Shore Breeze:

At this time when names are being suggested for the new school house now nearing completion, it seems fitting and proper that one be chosen which would be an honor to the building and to the town. In addition to the several names already mentioned in the BREEZE, which are well deserving, I would suggest the name of one who for years was a faithful teacher among us; much beloved by all his pupils; a co-worker in all that was for the educational welfare of the town, and one that is as dear today in the hearts of the people of Manchester as in the days when he dwelt among us. And from a moral, religious and educational stand-point I would suggest a name which is paramount to all others — Prof. N. B. Sargent — Let it be the "N. B. Sargent School."

ONE OF HIS PUPILS.

"Veronique" Coming to the

Hollis Street Theatre

Klaw & Erlanger announce the engagement of Mr. George Edwardes' London company in the comic opera, "Veronique," at the Hollis Street theatre beginning Monday evening, January 22nd. "Veronique" has the distinction of having had a run of 500 consecutive nights at the Apollo theatre, London, and was brought to this country in October where it has been running at the Broadway theatre, New York, ever since. The piece was adopted from the French by Henry Hamilton, and the music is by that distinguished composer, Andre Messenger, conductor at the Convent Garden, London. Miss Ruth Vincent, the star, who was seen in this country last season with "The Medal and the Maid" will enact the title-role, that of "Veronique." Mr. Edwardes has surrounded Miss Vincent with a strong and capable cast including Miss Kitty Gordon, Miss Valli Valli, Miss Lena Maitland, Miss Emmie Santer, Mr. Lawrence Res, Mr. Aubrey Fitzgerald, Mr. Ralph Nairn, Mr. John Malcolm and Mr. John Le Hay.

The great charm of "Veronique" is the daintiness of the story, the exquisite artistic beauty of the mounting, and the music which has been wedded to this interesting story is the best that the noted composer Messager, has ever given us.

Matinees will be given Saturday of each week at which performance the curtain will rise at 2 o'clock sharp.

The curtain at the evening performances will rise at 8 o'clock sharp.

Society Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Meredyth Whitehouse are away from their Manchester Cove estate for a fortnight or more. They started a week ago yesterday, going to New York over Sunday, thence to Chicago the first of this week. They think of returning by way of Quebec, if the weather is propitious. Meredyth, jr., returned last week to his school duties at Westminster, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Moore and Mr. Edwin C. Swift left Pride's the first of the week, Mr. Swift for Atlantic City and Mr. and Mrs. Moore for Florida, where they will spend most of the balance of the winter. Mr. Moore, being somewhat of an auto enthusiast, will no doubt take in the races at Ormond.

Prominent among the fiancées at the ball which Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Amory gave at the Somerset last Friday night to introduce their daughter, Miss Mary Josephine Amory, was Miss Naneen Mitchell, who is still at Manchester with her parents. Miss Mitchell wore pale blue satin covered with tulle.

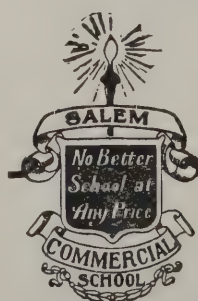

Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, jr., and Master Q. A. Shaw, 3d, of Pride's and Boston, are registered at the Chalfonte, Atlantic City, N.J.

Conomo Tribe, I.O.R.M.

The recently-elected chiefs of Conomo tribe, Red Men, of Manchester, were raised to the respective stumps Wednesday evening by Deputy Great Sachem Andrew H. Paton and suite of Agawam tribe, No. 5, of Danvers. The officers installed were: M. A. McInnis, sachem; George Gould, senior sagamore; J. A. Lodge, junior sag.; Leonard Andrews, keeper of wampum; Chas. T. Loomis, collector; E. F. Preston, keeper of records; William J. Lethbridge, 1st sannap; Wm. F. Spry, 2d sannap; Ernest Andrews, guard of the wigwam; Wm. F. Mitchell, guard of forest; Wade Brooks, Ralph Tredick, Edmund Lethbridge, Michael Revelas, warriors; Harry Tappan, Harry Gay, Frederick Brasch, D. E. Butler, braves; Manuel Thomas, prophet.

The great sachem, who, by the way, is a past great inchoonee, was assisted by great mechinewa, Alfred H. Cook; great prophet, A. Harris Paton; S.S., George W. Battye; J. S., Rufus A. Runlette; K. of R., E. Beecher Williams; K. of W., Arthur Harrigan, and sannap, Thos. J. Kelly.

After the installation ceremony, which was very well performed, remarks were in order, and an adjournment was soon made to the banquet hall, where the chiefs partook of a feast of corn and venison.

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING

More Money Appropriated for Moth Suppression—New Rental Rates for Town Hall—$2,000 for Crushing Stone.

The business of the special town meeting in Manchester Monday evening was hustled through with great dispatch, with nothing of excitement to cast a ripple on the quiet waters.

Another thousand dollars was appropriated to carry on the work of suppression of brown-tail and gypsy moths, half of which, however, has already been spent. It was considered that $500 would be sufficient to carry on the work till the March meeting, when the matter will no doubt come forward again.

The unexpended balances of the appropriations for improvements on Beach and Masconomo streets, which amounts to more than $2,000, was transferred to the appropriation for crushing stone.

The committee appointed at the annual meeting to arrange a new schedule of rates for the rental of town hall reported. They recommend there be a police officer at all dances between July 1 and Oct. 1, and that for dances from Oct. 1 to July 1 the matter be left to the discretion of the selectmen. These recommendations were adopted.

What was Said and Done at Special Town Meeting.

Franklin K. Hooper as usual, was unanimously elected moderator and after being sworn in by the clerk, he thanked the voters in a few appropriate words.

Art. 2. To see what action the town will take in the suppression of the gypsy and brown-tail moths and appropriate money for the same, agreeable to section 5, chap. 381, R.L.

The committee on appropriations reported that inasmuch as they had found that this work is now made compulsory by the state, and as the appropriation had been overrun by about $500, they recommended that $1000 be appropriated to cover the deficit and carry on the work till the March meeting.

Selectman Swett moved that $1000 further be appropriated to cover the deficit and carry on the destruction of brown-tail and gypsy moths till the March meeting.

Art. 3. To see if the town will authorize the selectmen to transfer the unexpended balances of the appropriation for Beach and Masconomo streets, also Elm street, to the appropriation for crushing stone.

Chairman Swett stated that at the annual meeting in March there was an unexpended balance of $819 of the previous year for crushing stone and as the plant was in a bad condition at that time and has not been rebuilt only the unexpended balance was appropriated. The unexpended appropriations for Beach and Masconomo streets amounted to $2120.20, and of Elm street, $587.14—a total of $2707.34, and he thought that this might be turned over to the stone crushing plant, as it was thought advisable to keep the plant running all winter.

O. T. Roberts thought in main the provision was all right, but the matter of Elm street needed some explanation. There were several layouts, he said, and finally one was agreed on. We said we were willing to give all the land necessary by the move but when the building was moved it was practically agreed the town should bear that expense. The cost was approximately $200. I think the matter should be adjusted and inasmuch as we gave the land, more in fact than any of the others, we think the town should bear the expense of moving. This is simply a statement of fact.

Geo. S. Sinnicks: "I was at the hearing and can remember remarks to that effect. Inasmuch as we have an unexpended balance it seems right the town should consider this." The matter was left with the selectmen and the firm will be reimbursed for the expense in moving the building.

E. P. Stanley said while he was not at the hearing he understood the firm was to be reimbursed.

Voted, on motion of E. P. Stanley, that the unexpended balance of Beach and Masconomo streets appropriations—$2120.20—be transferred to the stone crushing appropriations.

Art. 4. To hear the report of the committee on Town hall rental rates.

The report was read by Chester L. Crafts and was as follows:

Report of Committee on Rules and Regulation
Prices of Town Hall

Dances—$6.00 will be charged to 12 p.m. For every hour or fraction thereof following to be at the rate of $1.00 per hour. A dance following an entertainment, for which purpose the seats are to be moved, will add $1.00 to the price of the hall for such entertainment. If extended beyond 12 p.m. $1.00 additional for every hour or fraction thereof.

Entertainments—A charge of $5.00 for an evening and $3.50 for an afternoon. The use of piano, stage and stage lights will be charged for at the rate of 50 cts. per hour or any fraction thereof for all rehearsals, unless otherwise engaged.

Fairs—A charge of $6.00 per day to 12 p.m. $1.00 extra for every hour or fraction of an hour after 12 p.m. These prices apply to residents only and in case the hall is engaged for the use of non-residents the prices are to be doubled.

In case the hall is engaged by a resident for the use or benefit of a party or parties who are non-residents the charges shall be the same as those applying to non-residents. The janitor will personally superintend the moving of seats and piano and will be present in the hall during performances of any kind. He shall rent the hall and be responsible for all money received for the same, also make return of receipts to the selectmen every month, and pay all money received for rental of hall to the town treasurer every month, accepting his receipt for the same.

Your committee would recommend the following: That a police officer shall be present at all entertainments and be furnished at the expense of the town. That an officer shall be present at all dances held between July 1 and Oct. 1, and his services shall be paid for by the person or persons hiring the hall.

That his attendance at dances held between Oct. 1 and July 1 shall be at the discretion of the selectmen and paid for by the town.

That the hall shall not be let for dances on Saturday night.

(Signed) CHESTER L. CRAFTS,
GEO. A. KITFIELD,
T. W. LONG.

E. P. Stanley moved the report of the committee be accepted and the recommendations adopted.

J. H. Rivers said that it had been the custom when no admission was charged to let the hall at a reduction, and asked if provision had been made for this.

C. L. Crafts explained that the committee thought best to have the prices the same for all parties and the town could reimburse if it saw fit.

J. S. Reed thought the length of period in which a police officer should be at dances ought to be extended.

C. M. Dodge wanted to know how much of an increase this was over that now prevailing.

C. C. Dodge thought some provision should be made for such classes of entertainments as lectures, etc., given for educational purposes.

Albert Cunningham said he noticed the price of hall for fairs was to be $6 per day and asked if this was an 8 hour day, or how it was to be construed.

The motion for acceptance and adoption was carried unanimously.

Art. 5. To see if the town will appropriate the sum of $350 for the use of the park department.

Commissioner D. T. Beaton stated they asked for this amount to cover bills which had got by the chairman of the board, in part, and had been paid; also, that the street department had put in a couple of bills amounting to over $100 for work done. In other words they had exceeded the appropriation.

Mr. Roberts moved $350 be appropriated. Carried.

Art. 6. To see if the town will authorize the selectmen to settle the suit of "Small vs. Town of Manchester" and appropriate money for the same.

The committee on appropriations reported that, finding the town counsel recommended a settlement of this claim for $350, they recommended this amount be appropriated.

Chairman Swett explained the case, saying in brief that in August of 1904, Frank E. Small of Hamilton, a horse dealer, was driving along Masconomo street, his horse shied at the junction of Proctor street, and went over the embankment, there being no guard rail at this point. In September he sued the town for $1000. Counsel for the town and Mr. Small's lawyer some weeks ago decided $350 would pay the bill and agreed on this amount as settlement.

C. C. Dodge asked if Mr. Swett considered the town was to blame, to which the latter replied, that there should be a guard rail at this point but none had ever been put there.

A motion by Mr. Swett for a settlement of the claim and an appropriation of $350, was put and carried.

Meeting adjourned at 8.30.

Marie Cahill's Great Success

Marie Cahill opened her regular Boston season at the Tremont Theatre last Monday in the "smart" musical play "Molly Moonshine," which had such a successful run in New York city. One of the largest audiences that ever greeted a popular star was present to receive "Nancy Brown" in her new offering by Edwin Milton Royle and George V. Hobart, with music by Silvio Hein. Miss Cahill has even improved her well-known method of propelling effectively but quietly the laughable epigrams given her by Mr. Hobart, and her songs are the best she has ever had. One of the features which adds greatly to the totally complete prettiness of "Molly Moonshine" is the much written about beauty chorus. With their long skirts and dainty laces, the pretty girls in Miss Cahill's company make themselves much more interesting than does the bold type of chorus girl to which the American public has been willingly or otherwise accustomed. Miss Cahill will be at the Tremont for two weeks more.

Solo, "Hedge Roses," Schubert
..... Miss Goldsmith
Piano solo, "Nocturne," Sgambati.....
..... Mr. Dustin
Solo, "The Miller," Petrie..... Mr. Swett Selection, "Manhattan Beach March".....
..... Orchestra

The feature of the evening was the informal talk by Rev. W. H. Rider of Gloucester who selected for his subject "The whole man." His remarks were satiated with humor and funny stories that kept the audience in a constant roar of laughter.

He said that in speaking of the whole man he knew of no better example than Benjamin Franklin. He was a great statesman, politician and writer. He paid great tribute to the late Secretary Hay describing him as "one grand, noble man, and may he be a living example to us."

President Roosevelt, he said, was not a whole man. He is a one-sided man and does not always have the dignity that becomes his position, as he is frequently one of the 'boys' again." His account of an experience with a book agent was full of fun. And society, he claimed, is killing men

He spoke of Lincoln as "that tall, slim, gaunt, looking fellow," and said he was a good example of the whole man.

The committee appointed for the next meeting is: Oliver T. Roberts (chairman), Alex. Robertson, Frank P. Knight, Miss Lila Goldsmith, Miss Grace Macgregor, Miss Ina Eldridge.

After Glimpes of the

Pulsifer Block Fire

It is the opinion of those who looked into the matter yesterday that the fire resulted from a defective gas machine. Frank Martin says when he came into the hall Thursday night just before discovering the fire the lights were out. Chief James Hoare, who, by the way, is deserving of much credit, for the manner in which he handled the fire, and directed the men, says the fire started from the gas machine, in his opinion. Yesterday on examination, he found the fire seemed to center around the gas machine, and that the part of the basement nearest the boiler did not

The new social and athletic club held a business meeting on Thursday evening at their rooms in the Hardy building, on High street, at which several new members were added to the membership of the club, and Benjamin F. Hawkins, jr., was elected a member of the executive committee. Considerable interest has already developed in the several contests now going on in checkers and whist. Already several features have been mapped out, in which the Farms people will be invited to partake, a near event being the whist party and dance to be held at Marshall's hall. The club has already made a move to put in the field two well-balanced baseball nines, and as soon as spring opens a convenient field is to be secured for this purpose.

Winthrop F. Low, in looking over some more effects of the old Low homestead at Essex recently, came across several old-time documents and indentures of exceeding interest to the reader of these modern times, the papers being those of the times of 1765 and are yellow with age. It will be remembered that a short time ago the BREEZE printed a copy of some old documents found by Mr. Low, and these are a new find by him in addition to those printed by the BREEZE.

An object of interest to many was a dead seal that came ashore at West beach one day this week.

Rev. Mr. Pond will speak tomorrow night on "Noah and the flood." Mr. Pond is now preaching a series of Sunday morning sermons on the Lord's Prayer. A week hence his topic will be "Kingdom of God," "Guidance of God," "Love of God" and "Majesty of God."

Mr. Winthrop F. Low of Low's lively stable goes to New York city next week on business and pleasure combined.

The mild weather has been an inducement to the owners of cottages on the shores of Gravelly and Chebacco lakes to keep them open, and frequent parties for a day at a time are quite the vogue.

The Firemen's Relief Fair

The fair of the Firemen's Relief association, held in city hall all this week, has been an attraction for many Farms' people, large delegations going to Beverly each evening, and not only had the pleasure of aiding the good cause by their presence and pocket-books, but the entertainments were a source of enjoyment for all.

The tables representing the department from the Farms occupied conspicuous places in the hall and received splendid patronage, a generous sum being added to the proceeds of the fair. Mrs. Eli R. Hodgkins was one of the ladies who presided at the attraction offered by the engineer's department called "Ye old town pump," representing an old-fashioned pump from which "buckets full" of articles of all kinds and descriptions were drawn.

Engine 3 of the Farms had a "wonder table," where all sorts of nice things were done up in packages and sold to customers. Mrs. W. B. Publicover had charge of this and was assisted by Mrs. Wm. E. Elliott, Mrs. J. Fred Bennett, Mrs. Marshall T. Larcom, Mrs. J. M. Publicover and Mrs. Alice Williams.

The West Street Ladder 2 company had a table upon which was displayed a large assortment of aprons and many other useful articles and presided over by Mrs. Lewis G. Williams, assisted by Mrs. Wm. S. Pike, Mrs. Geo. F. Wood and Miss Ethel Davis.

Hose 4, the Centreville company, had a unique and attractive showing of farm products, all raised at the agricultural end of ward 6, together with glasses of refreshing sweet, home-made cider. An appreciative feature of this table was the line of 15 red fox skins. Capt. John H. Foster was in command, and his company was made up of Lieut. George W. Standley, Stephen D. Edwards, Albert Standley and Horace E. Elliott.

The hose-laying contest, which furnished the entertainment on Wednesday evening, was participated in by representatives from the Centreville company, which made an excellent showing, doing the trick in 14 4-5 seconds.

The West Beach Corporation and Preston Heirs law suit, which has been in litigation for quite a number of years, the contention being over the ownership of the land on the Western end of the beach, assumed a decidedly progressive stage this week and the residents of the Farms are decidedly interested in its progress and will watch the outcome with much concern. Tuesday the jury of 12 men were impanelled to hear the testimony and Judge Flaherty has been selected to try the case. On Wednesday the jury, together with the counsels of both sides, came to Beverly Farms on the 10.45 train from Boston and, taking carriages were driven to West Beach. They viewed the property, after which a short drive was taken about the Farms, lunch being served at Parker's. They returned to Boston on the 1.41 train. On Thursday morning at the 7th session of the Superior Court, Boston, the case was opened and the time has since been devoted for that purpose. The directors of the West Beach Corp. have been in attendance as has several of the old time residents who have been summoned for witnesses.

A pleasing evening's entertainment is in store for those who attend the Combination party to be given next Friday evening at Marshall's hall under the management of John West Colony of Pilgrim Fathers. Whist will be played from 8 to 10, after which dancing is to be indulged in until a late hour. The parties of a similar nature held in the past by this order have been very popular, and no doubt the coming event will prove equally successful.

Mrs. W. B. Publicover has been entertaining her sister, Mrs. Ernest Robinson of Gloucester part of this week.

The young people are looking forward to next Tuesday, January 23, when another social and dance will be held in Marshall's hall. Long's Orchestra will furnish the music, and refreshments will be served at Parker's restaurant.

A committee, consisting of members of Preston Post, 188, and the associates, has been appointed to arrange for an evening's entertainment, to conclude with a banquet, to take place at an early date.

It may be of interest to the many friends of Rev. Mr. Pond to know that he has recently declined a call to a suburb of Boston, in a growing, prosperous church.

Thomas D. Connolly, Eben Day, James Dow and Andrew Standley were present at the opening of the West Beach vs. Preston case in court on Thursday, and in the evening took in the musical concert of the G.A.R. at Tremont Temple.

Capt. Brigham of Orr's island, Me., is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Younger at their Hale street home.

Passengers who took the 11.40 train from the Farms one day this week were much amused at a highly decorated trunk which stood on a baggage truck, the same being profusely tied up with bunting, rags, old shoes, etc., and which was the property of a newly married couple just starting on their honeymoon.

The automobile show at New York city has been an attraction to quite a number of owners of machines and others interested, and it is expected that the Beverly Farms auto enthusiasts will appear next season with the latest designs.

Don't forget the famous lecture on "Fools," by the Rev. Dr. P. S. Henson, pastor of Tremont Temple church, Boston, to take place at the Beverly Farms Baptist church next Thursday evening, January 25.

Real Estate

And Improvements

To Publicover Bros. of Beverly Farms has just been given the contract for building a house in Lynn, at the corner of Lynn shore boulevard and Walcott road, for Miss Mary Robbins of Boston, formerly of Pride's. The building is to be a modern wooden two-story structure. Work is to be started at once and the house will be ready for occupancy August 1. The firm has the contract for the whole job, including foundations, brick work, painting etc. Chas. K. Cummings of Boston is the architect.

Few people who have not seen the work now in progress at the H. C. Frick estate realize the magnitude of the job. It is of interest to note that there has been brought to Pride's almost 100,000 cubic yards of filling in connection with this work. This has kept 40 double teams busy every day

Simplicity Bed

The name applied to the mechanism and not to looks. You'd never mistrust for a minute it was anything but a Davenport sofa from its elegance, but your little daughter, with no more strength than she has got, can easily convert it into a full sized bed, six feet long and four feet wide, that's as comfortable to sleep on as any mattress in your house.

It has a solid oak frame, with those great high arms and claw feet that make it look distinguished and costly.

It is upholstered in a deep green verona velour, that would match that handsome carpet you bought last fall.

It would grace anyone's home and help you out of an over-crowded house.

Three Cents

Notes Divine Lectures At Beverly Farms

REV. DR. P. S. HENSON

Rev. Dr. P. S. Henson, pastor of Tremont Temple, Boston, gave his famous lecture, "Fools," at the Baptist church, Beverly Farms, Thursday evening. The auditorium was crowded, many coming from out of town to hear the noted divine. A large delegation attended from Manchester. The lecture was given under the auspices of the young men of the church, who have arranged a lecture course for the winter. Dr. Henson's lecture was overflowing with wit and good humor, and sound sense.

THE PULSIFER BLOCK FIRE

The Greatest Loss Manchester has Ever Experienced from the Fire Fiend—Most of the Concerns Burned Out now Re-established—Mr. Pulsifer has not yet Decided to Rebuild

Mr. James K. Pulsifer, owner of the big block burned almost to the ground in Manchester a week ago Thursday night, said yesterday he had not yet decided on his course as regards rebuilding the block, though it can be stated the structure will be rebuilt, and that work will be started before long by somebody.

The week has been a busy one for the concerns burned out, but the insurance claims have about all been adjusted now, and with the greatest satisfaction in most all cases.

The losses resulting from the fire are the greatest resulting from any one fire in the town within the memory of the present generation; not so

ROLL-CALL AND SUPPER

Congregationalists Held Annual Event in Chapel at Manchester Thursday Evening —Letters from Former Residents

The annual roll-call and supper of the Orthodox Congregational church, Manchester, was held Thursday evening in the chapel, and like these occasions in the past proved very successful. The gathering was honored by the presence of its oldest living member, Deacon Albert E. Lowe, who has rounded out almost a century of years.

It was 6.30 o'clock when Rev. C. A. Lincoln asked blessing and the members of the church and guests sat down, to the number of 135. A supper of cold meats and other dishes was served.

After the inner man had been satisfied, Rev. Mr. Lincoln called the gathering to order and after a few introductory remarks proceeded to call the roll. Deacon Lowe's name was the first called and it was hoped he would respond with a few words, but he begged to be excused.

Deacon F. A. P. Killam was next called upon, and he made a few remarks about the great strides that has been made since his youth. "We used to sing: 'Fly swift around, ye wheels of time,'" he said, "but now I don't have to say that. Things fly swift enough for me now." He spoke of the importance attached to the discovery of matches and told how fires were lighted when he was a boy. It was 1825 when he saw the first match, and they had to use sand paper to light them then. He spoke too of the improvement of farming utensils.

Ninety-two responded to their names when called and letters were read from the following: Mrs. Mary B. Allen, Salem; Mrs. Mary R. Towne, Beverly; Mrs. Martha C. Roberts, Waltham; Miss Helen R. Stanley, Roxbury; Miss Annie L. Lane, Smith's college; Rev. Geo. L. Gleason, Haverhill; and Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Sargent, West Boxford.

NOTICE

All persons indebted to the town of Manchester are requested to pay same to the Town Treasurer on or before January 31; also all bills and claims against the town must be presented to the Selectmen on or before the same date. The financial year ends February 1, 1906.

Per order,
BOARD OF SELECTMEN,
Town of Manchester.

MANCHESTER

Messrs. Swett, Knight and Kitfield of the Board of Selectmen, with their wives, were included among those who were yesterday guests of Governor and Mrs. Guild at the Hotel Somerset, Boston. Instead of going around visiting the various officials this year, Governor Guild is giving three receptions at the Somerset. The first of these was given Thursday when he met the state officials, judges of the supreme and superior courts. Yesterday the city and town officials were his guests, and Monday he will meet the commanders of the G. A. R. posts, department commanders and the various officers of the military organizations.

Mrs. Arthur Toppon was on from Hanover, Mass., and Mrs. Susie M. Charlesworth from Winter Hill for the supper and roll call of the Congregational church Thursday evening.

Mrs. William J. Johnson entertained a party of Rebekahs at whist Monday evening, at her Bridge street home. There were five tables. Mrs. Frank B. Rust won the ladies' prize, and Herbert Stanley was the winner of the gents' prize.

Miss Gertrude Appleton of Hamilton was in town the middle of the week a guest of John L. Prest.

These are hard times on the ice men. Last Saturday afternoon Edmunds & Crocker began harvesting their crop and by Monday noon they had completed the big pond, filling only two sheds and part of one division of the large house. The ice was only 8 inches thick. Last year, at this time, they had housed their second crop.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cooney and family wish to express their sincere thanks to their many friends for their kindness during the late illness and death of their daughter, Catherine E. Cooney, and also for the many floral tributes.

Manchester, Jan. 25, 1906.

After a delightful trip to New York and Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. W. Hoare returned a week ago today from their wedding trip, and are now with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Pulsifer, off School street.

Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Crombie wish to announce the engagement of their second daughter, Miss Rita Frances Crombie, to Robert Ambrose Mitchell of Manchester, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Knoerr and daughter, Doris, were in Boston over Saturday and Sunday, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kendrick.

The work at the new primary school has been progressing quite favorably. The plastering is practically completed. The fires have been started and Janitor Pert of the High school is taking care of the fires at the new school temporarily.

It is the purpose of the school board to introduce paper sloyd work into the three lower grades of the Priest school at once,—a step in line with the general scheme laid out by the superintendent, beginning with the primary grades. Culinary, or domestic art, is one of the propositions of the near future, and this department may be in operation before next year.

Manuel Lopes, while working at Coolidge's Point, a week ago today, had the misfortune to step on a nail, making an ugly wound, but the injury sustained was not as serious as at first thought.

MAGNOLIA

Proprietor George A. Upton of the Oceanside started Tuesday on a six weeks' tour of the South and Florida.

Virgil DeWitt Harrington, who is to succeed Mr. Priest as manager of the Hesperus, was in town Tuesday looking over the property. Mr. Harrington is a young man but he is thoroughly capable in hotel management. Last season he was one of the proprietors of the Oceanic at the Isle of Shoals, N.H. He is now in charge of the large dining hall at Phillip's academy, Andover, Mass.

The Travel class met with Mrs. Elbridge Foster Thursday evening and began the tour in Italy with some papers on its history.

Indications of spring! William Homans, jr., found four or five trailing arbutus buds, partially opened, and almost in bloom, near the ice pond back of Rowe's stable, the first of the week. Henry Brown, while walking along Magnolia avenue, a few days ago, near the schoolhouse, saw a cat stealing along with a live snake in its mouth. This is what the warm rays of the sun will do.

The Christian Endeavor society last week elected these officers for the next six months: Miss Amy Lycett, president; Miss Alice Story, vice-president; Mrs. Michael Kehoe, secretary; Miss Alice Sanborn, treasurer. The interest in the meetings is increasing under the new plan of conducting them. Mrs. Harry Foster was in charge of the meeting last week, the subject being "An evening with Tennyson." A feature of the evening was a violin solo by Arthur Kehoe, with Miss Alice Rainville of Manchester, accompanist.

An event of interest which we could not print last week, was the chafing dish party in Donchian's hall, Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society. The event was one of the prettiest and most popular of the winter. In the menu was to be found chicken, in all forms; Welsh rarebit, creamed lobster, creamed chicken, jellies, dessert dishes, etc. The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion with boughs and the seven tables with flowers and colored candles. Mrs. Harry Foster, Miss Alice Story and Miss Ethel May was the committee in charge. Those who served were: Misses Alice Sanborn, Helen Lycett, Sadie Abbott, Addie Stanley and Mrs. Grace Hunt. The matrons were: Mrs. Susan Libby, Mrs. Joseph Crispin, Mrs. Arthur Lycett, Mrs. Jonathan May, Mrs. Hannaford, and Mrs. Frank Story. After the supper dancing was enjoyed till 11 o'clock, music being furnished by Mrs. John Chane and James Chane.

The Misses Williams, daughters of W. B. Williams of Boston, were down to the cottage Tuesday.

F. L. Hunt has bought from Frank Stanwood the piece of land on which his market is located, corner of Raymond street and Magnolia avenue, with 110 feet on the former and 90 feet on the latter street. It was on this site that Mr. Stanwood last fall intended to erect a block.

Fred White left Monday for Granville, N.S., where he intends to spend a few weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James White.

Mrs. Dennis Ballou and daughter Elinor arrived home Wednesday, after spending three weeks in Gloucester with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Silver.

Mrs. Roy French and her sons Edward and Stanley of Charlestown have been spending the week in town with Mrs. French's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Symonds.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil McCatherine of Gloucester spent the first of the week in town, guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sargent.

The date of the concert which is to conclude the Singing school has been fixed for Thursday, Feb. 8. It will be a grand affair. The chorus will furnish five numbers, among which is the "Soldiers' chorus" from Gounod's Faust, sung at the Gloucester musical festival last year. Mr. Stevens of Gloucester will be pianist for the occasion and will, with Mr. Wonson as cornetist, and a violinist and a 'cellist to be announced later, make up a small orchestra which will render at least three numbers. In addition to this, two soloists from Boston are looked for, a tenor and a contralto. If they are both secured, the concert will be a fitting climax to a successful season of hard work on the part of Mr. Wonson and his class.

The Singing school is to meet next week on Wednesday.

Mrs. Harry Foster is away for a few days, keeping her sister, Mrs. Edward Foster, company during the absence of her husband in the West.

Mrs. Susan Libby went to Boston Monday for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. James Kehoe entertained as their guests Sunday Mrs. William Hunter and daughter Margaret of Melrose.

Mr. and Mrs. Jabbeth Dunbar had as their guests Sunday their son Fred of Boston and Miss Delia Brown of Gloucester.

William Symonds is able to be out again, after a severe attack of la grippe.

A supper was served by the ladies of Freshwater Cove, Wednesday evening. The children who have been regular in their attendance at Sunday school during the last months of 1905 were regaled with their supper free, while the rest paid for theirs.

Miss Mattie Burke was compelled to be absent from her school on Monday and Tuesday of this week, and her place was supplied by Miss Dennett of Gloucester.

Skating Rink and Garage

A skating rink, with all the up-to-date appurtenances, is the latest proposition for attractions at Magnolia next season. The Gloucester Times is authority for the statement that:

"Mr. Frank Stanwood, the Fort wharf fish dealer, is having plans made by Mr. Edward S. Griffin, the local builder and contractor, for the erection of an up-to-date skating rink at Magnolia, fronting on Norman avenue, in the rear of the Magnolia and Oceanside hotels. The plans show space for a large plaza and orchestra building and will contain all the modern improvements. A commodious and well appointed garage will be erected on the rear of the structure."

Though the stars shone brightly Wednesday evening in Manchester and fair weather was much in evidence, there were two heavy showers in quick succession in the vicinity of School street, and, sad to relate, Miss Rita F. Crombie was caught by a complete surprise in the showers, while some three score friends stood around her and enjoyed the fun. It was one big "tin shower" for the most part, the two parties by chance being arranged for the same evening, one arriving about 7.30 and the other about 8 o'clock. Miss Crombie, whose engagement to Mr. Robert A. Mitchell has just been announced, though taken wholly by surprise, proved good for the occasion and made a willing hostess. She read the verses accompanying the "drops" in the shower, and some were very well written, indeed. The recipe, "How to cook a husband," read to Miss Crombie by a dozen or more of the married ladies present, who encircled her, was a hit of the evening. Refreshments were served during the evening, and games were played in which all the 60 or more present heartily engaged. The party held forth at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Crowell, where Miss Crombie lives.

People who are fond of candy and the delicious sweetmeats such as the girls of the Story High school have the name of making, should not miss the sale in Rowe's block next Wednesday, under the auspices of the class of 1906.

The dancing party in the town hall Thursday evening proved a most enjoyable close to Mrs. Long's dancing classes, and was well attended, the affair being withal one of the prettiest of the year. The younger folk held the floor till 9 o'clock, when the hall was open to all. The grand march for the children was led by Master Rufus Long and Miss Dorothy Blaisdell and was very pretty. The matrons of the evening were Mrs. Fish, Mrs. Blaisdell, Mrs. Wing and Mrs. Andrews. Long's orchestra discoursed excellent music during the evening.

The selectmen made their annual inventory at the almshouse Thursday and report everything in good working condition. There are at present eight inmates—four males and four females. Keeper Haskell is still confined to the house.

Friends of William W. Lundgren of Salem recalled that Tuesday was his birthday, so planned a surprise for him at the home of Miss Florence D. Parsons on Dodge street. Mr. Lundgren was made the recipient of a silver pencil and a hall tree. Music and refreshments helped to pass away a pleasant evening.

The annual meeting of the Beverly Improvement society was held in the Washington Street chapel on Wednesday evening, and took the form of a reception. The affair was one of more than passing notice, and was largely attended.

Mrs. Benjamin Reynolds Bulkeley entertained the members of the Parish Aid Alliance at her home on Hale street Wednesday afternoon.

Boston Bows to Marie Cahill

One of the most signal successes in Boston in many seasons is the "smart" musical play "Molly Moonshine," which is Marie Cahill's starring vehicle for the present season, and which is eclipsing even its wonderful success in New York City by its phenomenal business in the present engagement. There remains only one week more in which to see Miss Cahill, as she will not play in New England any more this year. Her return to Boston has been the greatest triumph of her career. Although her reception at the Hollis in "Nancy Brown" was flattering two seasons ago, it could not compare with the emphatic character of this one. Standing room only has been the sign hung out at every performance, and the advance sale is such that the same is indicated for the rest of the engagement. Miss Cahill's art has proved itself even more magnetic than ever and the triumph of the quiet and, worth-while method of America's most popular comedienne over that of the conventional noisy kind has been scored to the credit of Boston. Miss Cahill demonstrates her ability to amuse most decidedly in "Molly Moonshine," and also indicates more strongly than ever a versatility that promises much for the future. It will not always be songs and comedy with Miss Cahill if she yields to the suggestions of her friends and admirers.

much in a financial way, as the great inconvenience to business in general. The post office, telephone, a grocery store, dry goods store, barber shop, express office, harness shop, two newspaper offices and an insurance office have been driven to new quarters.

The total loss, which has been variously estimated at from $40,000 to $70,000, now appears to be in the vicinity of the former figure, according to the basis of insurance claims settled. The loss to the building was about $24,000.

Those who have examined into the cause of the fire are of the opinion it originated from gas, probably from a leaking pipe, as we stated last week.

It is wonderful, in looking at the ruins from the inside of the building, to note the way the cement shell has hung together. The woodwork is all burnt, especially above the first story, and yet to look at the ruins from the outside one would think the walls were almost intact.

Sparks from the Fire

Postmaster Wheaton and his assistants—Miss Johnson and Miss Burnham—are to be praised for the manner in which they coped with the business this week. Situated in the office of the selectmen, under the most trying circumstances, they have been able to handle the mail about as quickly as in the postoffice. The postoffice will be located in the store formerly occupied by Tappan.

Tappan will locate shortly in the store formerly used by Smith's Express Co.

Geo. E. Willmonton has been much in demand all the week assisting in adjusting insurance claims, and incidentally in writing a number of new policies. He has taken an office in Lee's block.

Big crowds were here from out of town the few days following the fire, especially on Sunday, when many drove here from Beverly, Beverly Farms, Gloucester, etc., to view the ruins. The place has been roped off since the fire and special officers guarded the building until Wednesday, night and day. Wednesday it looked very much as though the walls would fall over, but workmen propped up the shell and it is now considered safe.

The entire damaged stock of Bullock Bros., through the agency of Geo. E. Willmonton, has been sold to the Underwriters' Salvage company of Boston, including flour, sugar, package and can goods, and also all goods in bulk that were damaged in any way by fire or smoke.

The telephone company resumed their service with quick despatch. A big gang of men started the day of the fire, and many of the lines were working Saturday night, while most of the lines were ready for business Monday morning.

"Beverly Farms firemen were waiting for a call to Manchester for the fire last evening. Many of the boys stayed at the West street engine house until after midnight in anticipation of a call, but Chief James Hoare of the Manchester department and his gallant laddies, assisted by a splendid water system, handled the fire magnificently and out of town aid was not summoned."—Beverly Times.

276,000 gallons of water was used on the fire, according to figures of Sup't Andrews, and about 325,000 gallons of water was pumped that night, in order to get the stand-pipe back to its normal capacity. It is safe to say the pumping station was the busiest place in town that night, and Sup't Andrews and his assistants, Archie Greenough and George Evans, were kept on the jump from the start of the fire until 6 o'clock next morning. The pumps at the station were fully able to cope with the demands until the steamer was attached to the hydrants, too. After that the amount of water in the stand-pipe slowly diminished. This is the first time the steamer has been attached to a main pipe since the water works was installed, that is, on a fire of the magnitude of this one.

PUBLIC MEETING

Under Auspices of Carpenters' Union in Manchester Last Night

The labor cause was espoused in the Manchester town hall last night in a public meeting, held under the auspices of Carpenters' Union, local 924.
 The enthusiasm being aroused is in preparation for the demand to be made by the carpenters this spring throughout the State for 41 cents an hour, or $3.28 a day instead of $3.00.

Mr. M. A. McInnis, president of the local union, presided. Introductory remarks were made by George Norie, and William Van Blarcom of Lynn was introduced. He said he realized that the 8-hour day was short, but he believed all workmen should work conscientiously for the bosses and do an honest eight hours' work.

Patrick H. McCarthy, also of Lynn, made a strong appeal for support of the other unions for the 41-cent schedule.

District Organizer J. D. Cowper of
 Lynn was the speaker of the evening.
 His remarks were full of enthusiasm and were impressive. He is one of the best known labor men in New England. He said the introduction of machinery had compelled the laboring men to ask for more pay, and the millions of foreigners that come in here yearly, spreading over the country, are taken advantage of by unfair employers, and unions had to intercede for their own good. He impressed on the gathering the necessity of organization, and urged their cooperation for the 41-cent-an-hour schedule.

There were many of the employers represented at the meeting, and delegations were present from Gloucester,
 Salem and Beverly

SATURDAY, JANUARY 27, 1906.

It may be of interest, especially to those who heard the address by Chas. S. Hanks before the N. S. Horticultural society last Friday night, a full account of which we published, to know that the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce have this week agreed upon a rate bill to be known as the Hepburn bill. In the main the bill is the original Hepburn bill. This is the one recommended by Mr. Hanks and endorsed by the Historical society members.

WHISPERINGS

Talk about spring weather! The Boston papers made quite ado the other day when somebody found some dandelion blossoms. We can beat that here in Manchester. Some of the gypsy moth hunters found a butterfly hovering around as gayly as on a bright June morning, last Monday at West Manchester. Janitor Geo. D. Haskell picked some dandelion blossoms on the Common a week ago today, and some more were found at the Essex County club.

At Magnolia some May flowers were found the first of the week on the hill back of Rowe's stable, and snakes crawled from their winter quarters thinking the April days had returned once more.

* * * *

Many amusing incidents have come to my attention since the fire last week, especially in connection with the postoffice, many people forgetting that it was located in the Town hall.

The best one is on Supt. of Streets Kimball who left his office in the Town hall the other night and walked half way up to Pulsifer's block to get his mail.

* * * *

Cooking receipts are always of great interest to the ladies, but here is one which should also interest the men, especially the unmarried men. It is called "A recipe for Cooking a Husband." I heard it read the other night at a "shower" I attended. It was read to the fiancée, with the poor fiancée taking it all in, shivering as though the rule was to be applied on him at once. Here it is:

OLD RECIPE COOKING A HUSBAND

A great many husbands are utterly spoiled by mismanagement in cooking, and are not tender and good.

Some proceed as if their husbands were balloons, and so blow them up; others keep them constantly in hot water; and still others let them freeze by their indifference and neglect. Some keep them in a stew all their lives by irritating ways and words. Others roast them.

Some keep them in a pickle. It cannot be supposed that any husband will be tender and good when managed in this way; but they are really delicious when properly treated.

In selecting your husband you should not be guided by the silvery appearance, as in trying mackerel; nor by the golden tint as in salmon.

Be sure you select him yourself as tastes differ.

Do not go to the market for him as the best are always brought to the door.

It is far better to have none unless you will patiently learn how to prepare him.

A preserving kettle of the finest porcelain is best, but if you have nothing but an earthen pipkin it will do with care.

See that the linen in which you wrap him is nicely washed, neatly mended, and with the required number of buttons and strings.

Tie him in the kettle with a strong silken cord called "comfort," as the one called "duty" is apt to be weak. He is liable to fly out of the kettle and be burned and crusty on the edges since, like crabs and lobsters you have to cook 'em alive.

Make a clear, steady fire out of love, neatness, and cheerfulness. Let him as near this as seems to agree with him. If he sputter and fiz do not be anxious; some do this until they are quite done.

Add a little sugar in the form of confections called kisses, but no vinegar or pepper on any account.

A little sipce is good, but it must be used with judgment.

Do not test him with any sharp instrument to see if he is browning tender

Stir him gently and you cannot fail to know when he is done.

If thus treated you will find him very digestible, agreeing with you nicely, and he will keep as long as wanted, unless you become careless and set him in too cold a place.

Society Notes

The wedding of Miss Margaret Head and Mr. Philip Stockton is to take place next Saturday, and will, no doubt, be one of the most prominent of the February weddings. The ceremony will take place at Trinity church, and will be followed by a breakfast at the Head house on Beacon street. Miss Head's maid of honor will be Miss Susan Thayer. Miss Naneen Mitchell will be one of two bridesmaids. Miss Head was a guest of Miss Mitchell at Manchester over the week-end.

The Misses Croll of Boston and Manchester have been recent guests in Baltimore of Miss Sydney Morison, the debutante daughter of Mrs. Robert Morison, who gave a dinner in their honor a week ago Wednesday at her residence on St. Paul's street.

An engagement of much interest to North Shore folk is that of Miss Elizabeth E. Devens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lithgow A. Devens of Hamilton, to Gerald D. Boardman, son of the late Edwin A. Boardman. Mr. Boardman was a member of the Harvard class of '03. The summer home of the Boardmans is the "Waves" at Beverly Farms.

Miss Adele G. Thayer has issued cards for a musicale to be given at her residence on Commonwealth avenue, Boston, next Monday at 4 o'clock. The North Shore friends of Miss Thayer will be pleased to learn she intends to spend next season at her West Manchester estate, having travelled all last year.

Mrs. E. C. Swift who left Pride's last week with Mr. Swift for a short stay at Atlantic city will leave for Europe about the middle of February for a stay of three or four months, and will be accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Bailey. Her daughter, Mrs.

Moore, and Mr. Moore are in Florida for the auto races.

Mrs. Russell Tyson, whose summer home is at Manchester, gave a musicale last week at her home in Chicago, Mr. Francis Rogers being one of the artists.

Catherine E. Cooney

Catherine E. Cooney passed away in Manchester, Monday, Jan. 22, 1906, after a long illness. She was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cooney, age 19 years, 2 months, 22 days. A father and mother, two brothers and four sisters survive her.

Funeral services were held in the Sacred Heart church, Wednesday, Rev. Fr. Powers as celebrant, Rev. Fr. McKenna, deacon, and Fr. Maguire, sub-deacon. The church was filled with many friends and relatives of the deceased and the floral tributes were many and pretty.

The pallbearers were: James Sheehan, Eddie Walsh, John Dillon, Michael Coughlin, Daniel Riordan and Archie Gillis. Interment was in Salem.

Loretta A. Kelley

Miss Loretta A. Kelley passed away last Saturday morning in Manchester at the age of 24 years, 4 months, 10 days. She was born Sept. 10, 1881, in Lynn, but for a number of years she has made her home here with her great uncle, Cornelius O'Neil, her parents being dead.

A year ago in November she went to Rutland, where she was a patient until June, when she returned to Manchester. Since then, until a few days before her death, she slept, and practically lived out of doors. She fought a hard fight, but she was patient in all her trouble, and was very hopeful.

The funeral services were held Monday, the services being conducted in accordance with her own plans. Solemn Requiem Mass was sung at the Sacred Heart church at 10 o'clock, with Rev. Fr. Powers as celebrant, Fr. Maguire as deacon, and Fr. Sullivan as sub-deacon. Mrs. John O'Brien and Wm. A. Crouse of Beverly sang the Mass. Burial was in Lynn. The profuse floral tributes spoke of the esteem in which the deceased, whose life was thus cut off in youth, was held.

Students in Shakespeare

The last meeting of the Literary society of the High school for this semester was held yesterday when several scenes from Shakespeare's Twelfth Night were staged:

Olivia.....Miss Agnes Carter
Viola.....Miss Edna Kitfield
Maria.....Miss Annie Crombie
Maholio.....Chas. A. Lodge, jr.
Sir Toby Belch.....Frank Sinnicks
Sir Andrew Aquecheek.....Bert Sinnick
Tobian Feste, a clown.....Talbot Hoare

Between the acts there were piano and violin solos by Samuel Rowe and Daniel Riordan respectively. The costumes were very elaborate and well chosen. The parts were well taken.

Day & Hoyt, mens' furnisners, are having a tremendous run in their 30 days' "Sold out sale," and it would well repay the readers of this paper to give them a call tonight, or any time next week. The prices which they offer for thoroughly new, and up-to-the-style goods, are amazingly low.

A delegation of local Sons of Veterans attended the annual banquet of the Essex County association in Beverly Tuesday night. Among the speakers were Past Commanders E. W. Baker and L. W. Floyd.

The following real estate transfer was recorded at the registry of deeds on Wednesday of this week: "City of Beverly to the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Boston, land on Hale street, 144.29 by 190.70 feet." The importance of this sale may not be thought of by many of the Farms' folk. In the first place, it is in line with the plans of Rev. Fr. Nicholas R. Walsh to enlarge St. Margaret's church, which has for a long time been inadequate to accommodate the congregation, especially in the summer season. A parochial residence is also to be built on the high knoll at the turn in the street, and with the other improvements and landscape changes at this point, this corner will be made into quite an attractive spot.

Mr. John A. Morrison, after more than a year's absence from the Farms, returned this week for a short stay and will soon leave for a vacation trip to Florida and other southern points, to be absent until the opening of the spring when Mr. Morrison returns to New York state to assume the further operations of Messrs. Connolly Bros.' work already under way, where the above firm has contracts at Ossining, Scarborough, Irvington, Rhinebrook and several other places.

It might be of interest to many of the Farms people to know that Mr. Andrew Woodbury Preston, an old Beverly Farms boy, who is now president of the United Fruit Co., receives the splendid salary of $30,000 per year, which is the third highest salary paid to any corporation president in Boston. Mr. Preston was born at the Farms and was educated in Beverly schools. At the age of 21 he started in business with the shoe firm of Messrs. Williams & Preston, as junior partner. A few years later, however, he entered the wholesale fruit trade and after a time became a leader in this business.

The social last Tuesday evening, held in Marshall's hall, was an enjoyable affair and was well attended, Long's orchestra of five pieces furnished the music and Parker served the refreshments from the ante room.

At the fair of the Firemen's Relief association held at City hall last week, several of the Beverly Farms people were prize winners. Jos. B. Harlow won the axe, it being the second prize at the shooting gallery, while Frank Day "took the cake" in showing his excellent judgment in sizing up the contents of a bottle, guessing that it held 540 beans, the exact number. The water set donated by Mrs. John Daniels became the property of Harry C. Howell, who guessed 650 beans in a bottle, being the nearest to the 656 which it contained. Mrs. E. Fred Day kept up her fair record by winning something as usual, her prize this time being a handsome Morris chair. She guessed 593 pieces in a bottle, the nearest to the correct number of 598 which it contained. The picture given by Mr. A. O. Marshall was brought to the Farms by Mr. W. B. Publicover, who guessed 861 beans in a bottle, being the nearest number.

Rev. E. J. V. Huiginn gave a talk Thursday evening at the Beverly Farms St. John's Episcopal church.

Robert Smith is the latest Beverly Farms young man to accept a position at Beverly with the U. S. Machinery

The lawsuit over the ownership of land on the western end of the beach, which commenced before a jury of the Superior court in Boston before Judge Flaherty, Jan. 16, has continued every day since, and from appearances will continue for some days to come. Attorney Choate is counsel for the Preston heirs, while Attorneys Connolly and Smith are looking after the interests of the West Beach corporation. The board of directors of the corporation have been in daily attendance, and together with Messrs. Thornton K. Lothrop, Joshua Younger, Benjamin Osborne, Daniel W. Hardy, Thos. D. Connolly, John A. Ober and others have been giving additional testimony at different periods during the session.

George West Larcom has been selected to fill the vacancy in the local hook and ladder fire company, caused by the resignation of Rep. W. R. Brooks.

A committee from Preston post 188, G.A.R., and the Preston associates met Friday evening and mapped out plans for an evening to be spent in a social way, the same to take place in the near future. An entertainment is to be given together with a banquet. Several added their names to the membership of the associates at the meeting of the post last Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Frank McCoy is spending a few days visiting relatives and friends at Dorchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dow of Mt. Clair, N. J., are visiting the former's brother, James B. Dow, and Mrs. Dow at their home on Hale street. The two gentlemen are twin brothers, and this fact has been brought out more than once the past week. They look as much alike as two peas in a pod. The BREEZE man was probably the first to "fall." He met Mr. Dow on the train the morning of his arrival, but even he didn't catch on when Mr. Dow failed to return the reporter's greeting. Mr. Dow has not visited the Farms for 18 years.

Miss Elizabeth F. McGloin returned from New York city a few days ago, and has spent a couple of days with Beverly Farms friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Elizabeth K. Morrell were unexpectedly made host and hostess last Tuesday evening, when a large party of their friends and neighbors gave them a surprise party. The evening was very pleasantly spent, during which refreshments were served.

Enjoying real beach life just the same as "In the good old summer time" is a rare treat for this time of the year, yet the weather conditions were such that at West Beach last Sunday, many went for an afternoon stroll. Many of the houses along the beach bank were opened up and the piazzas occupied, while many sat in the sand, some coatless and even hatless, as if it were a day in July instead of January.

Miss Maud Culbert returned Thursday, after a week's sojourn spent with a college chum at Danvers.

The members of the Ward 6 Republican city committee consisting of Rep. W. R. Brooks, J. B. Dow, Albert Standley, George H. Bennett and Howard E. Morgan received this week from Congressman Gardner engraved passes to the sessions to the house of representatives, good for the entire session, for the bearer and friends. With the passes came a highly treasured note from Mr. Gardner which asks the above gentlemen to honor the congressman with a call if any of them happen to come to Washington. The congressman's headquarters is in the rooms of Industrial Arts and Expositions of which he is chairman.

Dr. Levi A. Abbott, treasurer of Shurtleff college at Upper Alton, Ill., returned to his duties at his western home Tuesday. Dr. Abbott came East last week for the express purpose of appearing as a witness for the West Beach corporation in the Preston law suit, and Monday, in the 7th session, Superior court at Boston, he appeared as such, being on the witness stand for more than two hours. He was born in 1824 and is therefore 82 years old. At the time of the incorporation of the beach property by the Massachusetts legislature in 1852 Mr. Abbott was a member of that body representing Beverly and he had charge of the bill of incorporation, and his remembrance of all the details pertaining to same at that time, even at this late day, is as clear as if it were of a recent date. Dr. Abbott also has in his possession letters and documents pertaining to the above case which are interesting and appear to be of considerable value as evidence.

The first public social event of the new athletic club, which, by the way, has adopted the name of the "Hardy club," will be given in Marshall's hall, Feb. 13. Whist playing is to take up the time from 8 to 10 p.m., after which dancing will continue until 1 o'clock. Refreshments will be served.

The widening of Hart street near the estate of the Bennett heirs, which work was completed a short time ago, is certainly an improvement and much appreciated by the traveller of today. The extremely bad and dangerous corner is entirely eliminated, the old homestead has disappeared and other buildings moved to new locations and on the old sites has now been constructed a part of the street and a new sidewalk, which not alone makes it pleasant to the passers-by, but is also an improvement of no small proportions to the near-by estates.

John H. Linehan of Pride's Crossing, has been elected secretary and treasurer of the Danvers Country club.

Under the direction of Foreman Wm. E. Elliott of the street department the sidewalk on West street from the engine house to the cross walk at the depot was recently treated to a top dressing of crusher dust which had the effect of putting the sidewalk in excellent condition, a fact much appreciated by the pedestrians who heretofore had to wallow in the mud and water caused by the warm weather.

The social to be given under the auspices of John West colony, Pilgrim Fathers, will be on next Tuesday evening, January 30. Whist is first in order, commencing at 8 o'clock, and after two hours the floor will be cleared for dancing.

Representative Wm. R. Brooks has recently purchased from Andrew W. Preston, three parcels of land on Hart street. It is understood that one of the above parcels comprises the homestead of the late Isaac Wood Smith which includes a fine cottage house of seven rooms, stable, shop and other buildings, all in excellent repair, and is certainly the makings of a fine home. It is supposed Mr. Brooks has purchased for his own occupancy.

Learning to be "chauffeurs" is at present proving quite a vocation for many of the young men of Beverly Farms, and courses of training during the past few months at automobile establishments in Boston and elsewhere have been in order. Several of the young men in carrying out their desire have placed themselves in the headquarters of the manufacturers, among such being Frank Dix with the Hewitt Automobile Co., and Hugh Gillis with the White Automobile Co., both of New York City, and John J. McNeil is at the factory in Buffalo, N.Y., of the Pierce Automobile concern.

The next meeting of the Haphazard club, Monday next, will be in the form of a social, with Mr. and Mrs. Gould, at 8 o'clock sharp.

Mrs. Edward S. Knight will entertain the Friday Afternoon Whist next week.

At the Universalist chapel, Rust street, Salem, this afternoon, before the Thought and Work club, Miss Marion Brazier will give a lecture on "Uncle Sam and his Post Office."

Something more than the ordinary good time is in store for those who attend the annual banquet of the N. S. Horticultural society the 15th of next month. Heretofore this event has been held in the Horticultural hall, but the growth of the society and the consequent call for more room demands a hall of larger proportions, hence this year the Town hall will be the scene of the event. Don't forget the date—Feb. 15.

"The growing of vegetables: the kinds we have found do best in this locality" will be the subject of the N. S. Horticultural society meeting next Friday evening. James Salter will open the discussion.

Fire Did Not Jar Them

Undaunted by the fire in Pulsifer's block last week, which burned them out of house and home, the Red Men's club is true to its name—for Red Men never sleep—and met Monday evening at the home of the president, Wm. F. Spry, for the annual election of officers, that date having been decided upon several weeks previous. These officers were elected: Wm. J. Lethbridge, president; Frank Crombie, vice president; Wm. F. Spry, secretary; Herbert Shaw, treasurer; Lewis Andrews, trustee. The members are congratulating themselves on having carried insurance on their furniture, and this was adjusted satisfactorily Monday through J. F. Rabardy's agency. The prospect of moving into new quarters at the earliest time available was discussed over steaming bowls of clam chowder prepared by the club chef.

The Christian Culture classes of the young people's societies of the Baptist churches of Cape Ann will meet in the local Baptist church Tuesday evening, Jan. 30. Rev. J. H. Barrows, Marblehead, will speak upon "A converted church membership." George F. Cunningham, Rockport, will read a paper upon "Baptists in missions." Rev. Geo. F. Beecher, Gloucester, will preside.

Another baptismal service is to be held at the Baptist church tomorrow morning at 10.15 o'clock. At the service last Sunday Joseph Bradley and Archibald Cool were admitted into membership by baptism.

The Ministering circle of King's Daughters will meet with Mrs. Horton, Brook street, Monday evening, Jan. 29. Subject: "The first three kings—Saul, David and Solomon."

Rev. E. H. Brewster's theme tomorrow morning at the Baptist church will be "In the shadow of the throne." At the People's evening service he will preach the last in his series on Elijah—"No Trespassing." Special music

The Y.P.S.C.E. meeting for Sunday, Jan. 28, will be a consecration service. Instead of the topic assigned on the cards, the subject will be "My favorite Bible promise." A full attendance is desired as a matter of great importance is to be brought before the society.

The Social circle will meet next Wednesday with Mrs. Mary Bennett.

The date of the annual roll call and supper of the Baptist church has been set for next Wednesday evening, Jan. 31, in the vestry. The arrangements for the event is in charge of the Ladies' Aid society. The reports of the auxiliary societies will be presented.

The B.B.B. held a prize drill in the Town hall, Monday evening. Archie Cool was the winner of the pin.

Rev. E. H. Brewster took quite a timely topic for his sermon at the Baptist church last Sunday evening "Lessons from the recent fire." His text was from I. Cor. 3:13,—"Every man's work shall be tried by fire." He gave a brief summary of the fire in his introduction, and throughout his address he employed fire as representing (1) trial, as a test because of its suddenness, its uncontrollable elements; (2) revelation; (3) purging process—burning up the combustible material and purging to the foundations, "for no other foundation can any man have than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ." He moralized on these points, drawing the parallel between this and our own lives. The services were well attended.

Guy Clay has just opened in the new block, on the site of the old Tappan clothing store block in Gloucester, a candy and soda store, with all the latest and up to date appurtenances. It is a new store with new fixtures. The ice cream parlor is arranged with particularly good taste, the decorations being hand-painted.

A pleasant reminder of the picturesque North Shore—The Breeze—one year, one dollar.

IF YOU HAD
A MILLION IN GOLD COIN
IN YOUR BACK YARD

ONE THOUSAND FEET BELOW YOUR DOORSTEP

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

IF YOU COULD NOT GET IT OUT YOURSELF

YOU WOULD HUSTLE TO GET SOME ONE TO HELP
THAT IS WHAT WE ARE DOING

We want YOU to Examine Our BACK YARD

JUST LOOK AT THESE FACTS:

We own two and one-half miles of ore bodies in the heart of the mother lode of California; a great plant that could not be duplicated for $100,000; an immense water power surrounded by big producers, shaft 700 ft. deep, 2 large tunnels, thousands of feet of underground workings, $2,000,000 worth of ore practically in sight. And then we want you to join our co-operative organization and get the money. As nearly as we can estimate there are millions buried there. The Morgan mine adjoining the Essex, paid to stockholders nearly $3,000,000 in one year. The famous Utica mine has paid out over $30,000,000.

We want to hear from you if you are interested in MINING for PROFITS, not gambling for profits, not trying to filch wealth from your neighbor's pockets, but creating its NEW CLEAN MONEY from the ground untarnished by the sweat of the oppressed, the tears of the wronged or the hands of theft. Do you care how you make your money? We do. There is a satisfaction in making money honestly which no thief can feel.

REMEMBER that this is Mining; not Speculation. You can buy the stock now at par $1.00 per share. In less time than a year it may be worth ten times this amount.

Send us your address and we will mail you full details of the property.

Real Estate

And Improvements

Benjamin F. Corliss, formerly of Gloucester, but for several years a resident of this town, has bought the lot corner of Lincoln and Arbella streets, from Frederick Burnham. This is one of the finest sites in town for a residence, and is well located. Mr. Corliss, it is understood, will build at once.

Roberts & Hoare, the local builders, are remodelling and making additions to a cottage on the T. Jefferson Coolidge, jr., estate, making it in keeping with the general surroundings of the place. It will probably be used by the gardener.

James Hoare is having his house on Desmond avenue wired for electric lights. G. A. Knoerr is doing the work.

Breeze Office in Lee's Block

The BREEZE office is now located in Lee's block, in one of the rooms formerly occupied by the telephone company. Our office was a bad looking sight after the fire of last week in Pulsifer's block, and about the only thing we were able to shovel out of the ruins was the safe in which were the files and other things of value in connection with the paper. Fortunately we were able to rescue about $250 worth of cuts and half tones, the night of the fire.

Our loss amounts to about $160 and this was fully covered by a policy of $250 in the Phoenix Insurance Co. of Hartford, Conn., through the agency of Arthur A. Forness of Beverly. Mr. Hilling, a special agent of the company, was down from Boston Monday morning and within two hours of his arrival the damage had been satisfactorily adjusted and we held a draft on the company for the loss. The quickness with which the company disposed of the loss speaks well for it and we can recommend them most highly.

Their Fifth Anniversary

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Crowell on Lincoln street, Manchester, was the scene of a pleasant party Monday evening on the occasion of the fifth anniversary of their wedding. Some thirty members of the Baptist Aid society, of which Mrs. Crowell is a member, were their guests. The evening was passed very pleasantly playing games and singing. Refreshments were served. During the evening the host and hostess were the recipients of several pretty and useful presents.

Want the Very Best Testimony? Listen:

Miss Hope, Principal of the Boston Public Cooking School for 15 years, says: "I have used nearly all of the prominent makes of ranges, but consider the Crawford the best. It uses less coal and gives more even heat than any range I ever saw."

Crawford Ranges

Are the only ranges made that have any features about them to distinguish them from any other ranges except design and shape. Take the name plate from all of the other prominent ranges made and you couldn't tell which was which. But—

You could pick out a Crawford in the dark. Its patent regulating oven damper is unlike anything you'll find in any other range, and is the most practical improvement, heat and coal saver, ever put into a cook stove. Its fire-bricked oven bottom is the only protected oven bottom you'll find in the whole list of cook stove. Its fire-bricked oven bottom is the only is wasted through the bottom of all other cook stoves made.

The Crawford will save your labor, save your coal, save your money. Better look it over if you're stove hunting.

MANCHESTER ALMSHOUSE

Not in such a poor condition as the state commissioners report would indicate — No Idiots there

The annual report of the state board of charity, which was submitted to the legislature this week, had the following to say of the almshouse at Manchester.

"Warden, William H. Haskell; matron, Mrs. Haskell; salary, $375. Served here 17 years. No assistance. Total annual cost, $2190.23; net, $1219.04. Wooden building, with iron fire escapes and no other fire protection. No sitting room; ten sleeping rooms, with 12 beds. No bath room. Weekly bathing in tub insisted on; no water closet; two privies. Heating by hot water. Lighting by oil. No separation of sexes. Nine inmates; six men and three women. Two men work around the barn; one woman does kitchen work, one sews. Ages, two between 40 and 50; three between 50 and 60; one between 60 and 70; one between 70 and 80; two between 80 and 90. All inmates permanent. Two have relatives in town. Two men idiotic; one woman a cripple. Thirteen acres of land; six acres ploughed; nine acres tilled; chief products: barley and vegetables. Prescribed register kept. The hot water system of heating, and the iron fire escape are recent improvements. Further improvements under consideration."

This report is rather misleading in the light of the actual facts connected with the local institution. Chairman Swett of the Overseers of the Poor said when the report was called to his attention that some of the statements were not true.

"As a matter of fact," he said, "We have a bath room and a toilet at the poor farm and the inmates are far from idiotic, and are entered upon the overseers' books as sane. We have recently inspected the almshouse and found it in a very good condition and admirably kept."

ANNUAL ROLL-CALL

Baptist Church in Manchester Held Roll-Call and Reunion—Some Interesting Speakers

The annual roll-call and reunion of the Baptist church of Manchester was held in the vestry of the church Wednesday evening, at which time also the business of the annual meeting was completed and reports of the various auxiliary societies were read.

After the roll call the evening was brought to a close by remarks of a somewhat reminiscent nature, by several of the members and past members of the church.

An excellent supper was served by the advisory committee of the Ladies'

REV. E. H. BREWSTER who presided at the Annual Roll Call

Aid, and the executive committee of the Church Aid societies as follows: Mrs. Helen Willmonton, Mrs. Abbie Bullock of the former, and Mrs. Brewster, Mrs. Hattie Baker, Mrs. Edward Crowell, Mrs. Albert Crowell, Mrs. Chas. Mason and Mrs. Alice Preston, of the latter. The menu included cold ham, tongue, roast pork, beef, hot roast lamb, salads, pies, cake, fruit, coffee, etc.

It was a little after 6 o'clock when Rev. Mr. Brewster asked divine blessing, and after the inner man (and woman) had been properly attended to the social end of the evening's program was looked after. At 8 o'clock the ajourned business meeting was called to order and after singing by the congregation, prayer by the pastor and scriptural reading by Deacon Robt. Baker, Clerk J. Davis Baker called the roll. One hundred and seven members responded to their names.

The reports of the auditor and of the prudential committee were read, showing the financial condition of the society on much better basis than any previous year. The report of the Bible school, read by Robert Baker, followed, as also did those of the young people's union, read by Miss Alice R. Rainville; the Church Aid by Mrs. Ellery Rogers; the Woman's Foreign Missionary society by Mrs. C. L. Crafts; the Woman's Home Missionary circle by Mrs. Ellen I. Horton; the Farther Lights by Miss Emma Prest, and of the Junior Union. The report of the young people's society showed that $100 had been given for the Mary Hawley Briggs fund, which provides scholarship for students in Japan. All these reports showed the societies to be in a healthy condition.

After the business meeting had been formally declared closed Mr. Brewster, who presided, announced he had arranged a brief program.

Deacon T. B. Stone gave a talk on "Portraits from memory," which constituted an account of some of the older members of the church since he became a member in 1870. He said there had been three ministers sent out from that church—Samuel Cheever, B. F. Tuck and Thos. C. Russell, the former two having passed away. He spoke also of the past deacons of the church—John Baker, Jacob Willmonton, John Collins, Samuel Cheever, Geo. Hartley and Joseph Baker. Included among the older members, now dead, of which he spoke, were Thomas Ray, Thos. H. Kitfield, William Fitz, Henry T. Bingham, Wm.

Stone, Joseph Bingham, Ira Baker, Mrs. Lucy Willmonton, Mrs. Susan H. Cheever, Mrs. Mary Stone, Mrs. Harriet Hartley, Mrs. Annie Allen, Mrs. Judith Lufkin, Mrs. Mary Baker, Mrs. Elizabeth Fitz and Mrs. Mary J. Bingham. He spoke of three among the summer residents whose families have been quite active for the welfare of the church financially and in other ways—Hon. J. Warren Merrill, Joseph Sawyer and Joseph Stevens—all of whom are now dead. Mr. Stone's talk was one of the most interesting of the evening.

Deacon Daniel Allen of Gloucester was called upon for remarks on "A Baptist deacon." He gave the Biblical setting of the deacon, the positions they held in the early church and their place in the church of today, speaking of some of those of our memory.

"Baptists in the world of men and things" was the topic given Chas. H. Fleming, whose remarks were in somewhat of a humorous vein. He thought the people who have the

Post Office Again Located

The post office is now located in Pulsifer's block again. But instead of being in its commodious quarters in the main building, wrecked by the fire, it is in the store formerly occupied by Harry S. Tappan, on Beach street. The change-over was made last Saturday night. The fire in the block was confined more to the rear of the post office than to the front, so that the boxes were not injured very much. These were installed in the new quarters, and business was resumed Monday morning under more satisfactory conditions, both for Postmaster Wheaton and his assistants, and the public.

Postmaster Wheaton says his personal loss in the recent fire was about $25.00 for certain fixtures which the postmaster is called upon to furnish. The loss to the government, which we credited last week as suffering "no loss," was in the vicinity of $400—representing the face value of stamped envelopes, postals, etc.—but with a

IN BOARD OF SELECTMEN

Whereas, in the opinion of the Selectmen of the Town of Manchester, the common convenience and necessity of the inhabitants of said town require that a town way should be laid out from a point commencing on Vine St. in said town, at or near the intersection of Norwood Ave. and said Vine St. and running thence northerly over land of Frederick Burnham and land of F. A. P. Killam, to Lincoln St. near land of Mrs. Grace S. Bean.

It is therefore hereby ordered, that due notice be given to Frederick Burnham, F. A. P. Killam and all other persons interested that the Selectmen of said town intend to lay out the town way before mentioned, by taking a portion of the land of the said Frederick Burnham and F. A. P. Killam, and laying out the same as a town way.

And that Saturday the tenth day of February, 1906, at four o'clock in the afternoon at the office of the Selectmen, in Town Hall Building, Manchester, is assigned as the time and place for hearing any objection that may be made to said taking.

MAGNOLIA

A lynx in Magnolia woods! Ugh! There have been rumors to that effect for some time, and many have said they were eye witnesses to its presence. Now the animal has actually been espied, members of the West family claiming they heard and saw it near their residence, which is near Homan's ice house! Get out your rusty old horse pistols and seven-shooters.

Covered by a large flat stone, the deepest well in Magnolia was discovered by workmen demolishing the old Willow cottage the other day. It is said the well is over 50 feet deep, though this is probably exaggerated. It has not been used since the addition was built onto the house many years ago, and was constructed, no doubt, 100 years ago. As the old chimney was being taken down, William McAuley found a U. S. penny bearing the date 1761, and he expected to come upon a hidden treasure as he removed the bricks, but no treasure appeared.

Miss Nora McCarthy left last Saturday for Brockton, where she intends to pass the balance of the winter with her aunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy French and family have returned from Charlestown and have again taken up their abode here, owing to the continued illness of Mrs. French's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Symonds.

John Phelan spent the first of the week in Gloucester visiting his brother William.

Daniel Downing returned home Monday, after a month's stay in Boston, bringing with him a bride, who was Miss Margaret McCarthy of Boston. They were married at the Immaculate Conception church, Roxbury, Jan. 2.

Edward Ballou met with quite a serious mishap recently, falling on a nail projecting out of a board and tearing a bad hole in his hand. He was treated at the Emergency hospital in Gloucester.

An effort is being made, through the instrumentality of George Adams of Freshwater Cove, to encourage the boys to organize a band.

Edwin Leighton

Edwin Leighton passed away at his home in Rockport, Tuesday, aged 78 years.

Mr. Leighton was probably one of the best known railroad men along the Gloucester branch, having been for a great many years conductor on this branch. The friends here of Chas. L. Bedell of Lynn, who lost his eyesight about four months ago from the fumes of wood alcohol used in connection with painting, will be interested in the big benefit ball to be held in Odd Fellows' hall, Lynn, Feb. 16. The affair is being given through the instrumentality of two of his former associates here—Claude Temple and H. B. Thyne. Long's orchestra of 10 pieces will furnish music. A delegation will, no doubt, attend from here. A gold watch and a handsome umbrella, donated by Lynn merchants, will be given to the best lady and gent dancer. Apropos the destructive effects of wood alcohol, it may be said a bill is now before the House at Washington, and Mr. Bedell goes to the capital shortly to show the effects of the fumes on his eyes.

Mrs. Walter E. Allen gave a party last Wednesday afternoon for her son, Charles Edwin, on the occasion of his sixth birthday, some dozen of the little fellow's playmates being invited. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served, games were played, and the afternoon passed all too quickly.

A valentine party is to be held in the Town hall on the 14th, under the auspices of the W. R. C.

Miss Lila Lucas of Essex spent the latter part of the week at the Cove visiting her aunt, Mrs. Albert Lucas.

Telephone Company Change

An important change went into effect in the local division of the New Eng. Tel. & Tel. Co. on February 1, for on that day the "central division," as it is now known, was divided into five divisions, and one of them to be known as the North Shore division.

The reason for this change is that the now "central division" is so large, having grown so in recent years, that it was thought best, in order to maintain the standard of service at its present high position, to abolish this division and create out of the territory five new and smaller divisions.

Salem will be the headquarters of the North Shore division, and it will at present include the exchanges in Salem, Beverly, Newburyport, Gloucester, Manchester and adjoining towns. H. W. Worthley, until recently connected with the division office in Lowell, will be the superintendent of this division.

There has long been a desire on the part of the subscribers along the immediate North Shore to have free service for subscribers at Magnolia, Manchester and Beverly Farms. Perhaps this may be a means of effecting this end.

Thousands of people from Beverly and vicinity were attracted to City hall this week to see the extraordinary display which the Ballou club made at its annual fair. The committee hit upon a happy scheme, to have a "Mawsim," that is, a Moorish Bazaar with its attendant attractions. City hall was transformed into Arab land, with palm trees waving, miniature pagodas, a mammoth Moorish temple, and innumerable other attractions, all encrowned with hundreds of blinking electric lights. The scene was an enchanting one and (as one of the attractions) as the hall was for a moment plunged into darkness and then suddenly burst into light the applause was great and encoring. Mayor Wallis opened the festival Monday evening and made a well-received address, congratulating the club on its energy and bespeaking for it a goodly share of success. The Beverly Cadet band rendered a pleasing concert programme. The entertainment of Tuesday evening was a lantern drill which was excellently rendered. Wednesday afternoon a baby show was the attraction and an operetta entertained on Wednesday evening. The receipts will be large undoubtedly, as the weather man was gracious and the attendance away beyond expectations.

Mrs. Sidney W. Winslow, jr., entertained a party of friends at her Washington street home on Monday evening. A costume party was planned for the guests and music and petit lunch assisted in making the occasion highly enjoyable.

A Sad Accident

The many friends of Ernest G. Gray, son of William W. Gray of Elliott street, were pained to learn of the unfortunate accident which caused his death on Sunday afternoon. It seems that Gray and one John Larivee of Roundy street, owned a cottage at Beck's pond in Hamilton, and went thither to spend Sunday. In order to reach their destination it was necessary to cross the surface of Beck's pond, and not finding some friends at the cottage whom they expected to see, the two started back over the pond. When about half way over the thin ice broke, precipitating both into the water. Gray went in under the ice, while Larivee clung onto the frail barrier until Col. Wm. D. Sohler hearing his cry for help, came to his assistance and rescued him, Gray never coming into view after he first went down. Chief Whipper of Hamilton organized a searching party and after dragging, the body was found by Clarence Butman and George Dodge. Medical Examiner George G. Bailey of Ipswich viewed the body and it was brought to his home late in the evening. The funeral was held at his home Wednesday and was largely attended by his friends and former schoolmates.

The Pulsifer block,—the scene of the big fire in Manchester two weeks ago—has been a busy spot this week. Workmen have been clearing the debris away, and carpenters and painters have been busy putting parts of the block not eaten by the ravageous flames into repair.

Mr. Pulsifer stated yesterday afternoon he had not decided yet as to his plans for the future. The whole front of the building and parts of the side, above the first story, have been torn away. It is possible that the upper part of the block will not be rebuilt, but it can be said with certainty that the lower story will be put back into shape with greatest despatch. The

Members of North Shore Horticultural Society Last Night presented President Macgregor with Desk

As a token of their esteem for one who has worked zealously for the up-building of the society since its inception, the members of the North Shore Horticultural society last night presented its president, James Macgregor, with a handsome oak roll-top desk and chair.

The meeting was well attended in anticipation of the event; and after the discussion of the evening was over and the president was about to put the motion for adjournment, former president Philemon Sanborn stepped forward, and in the following very appropriate words made the presentation: "The Great Teacher has declared that whatsoever a man soweth that also shall he reap. From the earliest inception of this organization to the present moment you, President Macgregor, have been sowing the good seed. You have sown the seeds of education, of loyalty and of integrity with a lavish hand. You have sown the seeds of education by giving chapter upon chapter from the long years of your practical experience that has been to us, your associates, an inspiration and a guide. You have sown the seeds of loyalty by standing ever at the post of duty when others have faltered and fallen by the way. You have sown the seeds of integrity by holding as a sacred trust the treasure committed to your charge in striking contrast to the graft and defalcation of our time.

"Having sown the seed it is fitting that you should receive some reminder of the harvest. It is my privilege, in behalf of your friends and associates, to present to you this desk, with its belongings, as a slight token of their appreciation and regards, realizing as we all must that the bounteous harvest lies in the consciousness of duty well done."

Mr. Macgregor's surprise was very apparent. He said: "Gentlemen, I am surprised. I sincerely thank you all for your kindness. That is all I can say."

At the close of an 11 days' trial of the suit brought by George R. Preston et al. vs. the West Beach Corporation, involving the title to a tract of beach at West Farms, Beverly, 70 by 300 feet in extent. Judge Flaherty in the seventh session yesterday ordered the jury to return findings upon the 11 issues of fact between the parties, in accordance with the decision of them, as found by an auditor, and the case will be taken to the supreme court on exceptions by the corporation. The tract in question forms what the plaintiffs, claim to be the rear portion of their estate, and the verdict is favorable to them. This suit was brought in equity to restrain the corporation from erecting and maintaining bath-houses and from gathering seaweed upon the tract, claiming plaintiffs are the owners. The parcel abuts another parcel of the corporation, which it unquestionably owns, but the company claim that it owns the litigated tract as well, by adverse possession as well as by reason of a release executed to it by Jonathan Preston, an ancestor of the plaintiffs, in 1852, having become inoperative. Besides the title certain uses or privileges in the land were also involved in the trial before the jury. The case is of much importance to the plaintiffs, for if it shall be ultimately decided against them, their estate will be cut off from the sea. C. F. Choate, jr.; M. J. Connolly and E. I. Smith. — Boston Herald.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Linehan expect to leave soon for a trip west, making Hot Springs, Colo., the principal point, where they will pass the greater part of their absence.

Our Stock is Complete

Each season there are many who for various reasons are unable to do all of their holiday shopping before Christmas. If such is the case with you, we wish to remind you that we always have the goods illustrated in our catalog. For that reason our stock is not cut into by our holiday trade. We offer you the same excellent choice of articles that we place before earlier buyers.

Come in; we have hundreds of nice things in Fine China, Bric-a-brac, Cut Glass, Sterling Novelties, Table Ware; in short, anything that is to be found in a high grade jewelry store.

We can serve you in a way that will please you and we can save you money.

VOLUME 3: NUMBER 5

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1906.

Town election comes four weeks from Monday, but thus far there is only a bubble or two on the surface to show that the local political pot has begun to simmer.

Yesterday was the day according to the Old Farmer's Almanac when the farmers take account of stock and the ground hog comes out of his hole, takes an observation, and if not favorable flinks his tail and crawls back again for another snooze.

Cool evenings! Yes, there was actually a frost Tuesday night. Wednesday morning the sidewalks were covered with congealed dew. With a single exception, that of 1889, no other January has been so warm as the month just closed for the past 34 years. A normal January day has an average temperature of 27 degrees, and this month was 35.5. The record January day was Jan. 1, 1876, when the mercury touched 70 degrees. This month produced the second hottest January day on record, when on Sunday, Jan. 21, the temperature was 68 degrees.

In the course of the next few weeks the annual contest of the automobilists and their opponents will be on in earnest at the State house, and there are indications that the struggle will be as strenuous as has been the case in the past few years. Seven bills, each of which proposes to change the law in one way or another, have been introduced and have been referred to the Committee on Roads and Bridges.

Several of the bills are obviously based upon the suggestion made by Governor Guild in his inaugural, that the Highway Commission be given a greater measure of control, and that fines received from automobilists convicted of breaking the law be devoted to the repair of highways. One measure, however, requires continuous ringing of gongs on all motor vehicles.

Town Meeting Talk

There isn't much. In fact the waters seem to be quite in keeping with the general conditions of the season. But then, there yet remains a month before town meeting. Only a few candidates have signified their intention of running for office, while practically all the present officials have said they will be candidates for re-election. The present board of selectmen—F. K. Swett, E. S. Knight and Wm. E. Kitfield—will run again, but not alone. Several others will be in the field. Prominent among these is former Auditor Walter R. Bell, who can always draw a good vote. George Hildreth says he is a candidate for the water board, and Jeffrey S. Stanley is a candidate for re-election. The pot will be boiling before long and more names will be brought forward as the days advance.

A Gigantic Industry

Apropos the position of the North Shore as a summer resort, which some of our exchanges have been inclined to speak despairingly of, the Gloucester Daily Times had this to say a few days ago:

"Some people are trying to believe themselves and are endeavoring to make others believe that summer people are not necessary for the welfare of Gloucester, and that other North Shore places would not give a snap of their finger for the traffic so long as industries were progressing all right. I have always been a firm believer in industries, but the summer business constitutes a gigantic 'industry,' and although no stone should be left unturned to bring new manufactures to Gloucester, we should also not lose sight of what we have, or especially to underestimate or speak despairingly of our tremendous trade as a summer resort.

"Beverly, with its great plant of the United Shoe Machinery company, which will build an addition to the plant if tenements can be found for some 1200 additional hands, which means a weekly payroll of something like $40,000, is keeping a watchful eye on the summer business, and the city is striving to obtain all it can in this direction."

WHISPERINGS

I have heard whisperings this week of a modern Robinson Crusoe, who has made Manchester the scene of his adventures and came near being stranded on a desert island off Dana's beach. With a maiden fair he strolled forth one Sunday not long ago, and as they strolled along the beach, listening attentively to the wild waves, they came to the natural bridge of sand that connected the island with the continent. They meandered forth, and lo! the tide came in and the afore-said bridge of sand was covered; they were stranded. But the day was warm, and our gallant hero with his fair companion held aloof walked knee-deep through the brine and reached the shore in safety.

A Communication

MANCHESTER, Mass., Jan. 31, '06.
Editor of the North Shore Breeze.

Dear Sir: Perhaps you have noticed in our town meetings of late, since the appointment of an Appropriation Committee, how, after the Moderator has read the articles and the motions have been made and remarks are called for, the voters, as a rule, seem afraid to make any. Then, after they have voted, what a great amount of talk is carried on outside, all of which is of no avail. I wish we might see and hear more voters at our town meetings, as sometimes an intelligent view of matters of business (and there are many important ones) can only be secured by asking and answering questions in a fair and impartial way. The integrity of a committee in its report is not harmed a bit by a little questioning on the part of the voters.

Very truly yours,

CITIZEN.

The secret indictment this week, charging the well-known Metcalf Co., druggists, with having sold adulterated olive oil, brandy and extract of vanilla, caused widespread surprise, and was received with especial interest by the druggists, upon whom the Boston concern has always looked with scorn, recognizing none as being anywhere near them in quality of goods.

THE GREAT SEMI-ANNUAL R & A SALE

FEB. 7-10---FOUR BIG TRADING DAYS

WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

This great sale grows more and more popular each succeeding year. This year the various department managers have planned to give the best values on record. GOODS THAT YOU WANT at prices considerably lower than regular will be the main attraction of this great semi-annual event.

As a special feature, Mr. Martin Hays of New York, will conduct his famous 5, 10 and 15 minute sales, offering you goods at the most ridiculous prices.

DON'T MISS THIS BIG SALE.

PLAN TO COME

MANCHESTER.

Miss Statira Macdonald, who is engaged in social settlement work in Boston, has been spending part of the week in town with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Macdonald.

Tables well laden with home-made candy and presided over by high school girls attracted a good number of purchasers to Rowe's block Wednesday afternoon and evening for the sale under the auspices of the class of '06. Misses Mary Rust and Edna Kitfield served at the chocolate table. The committee in charge was composed of F. W. Fleming, Bert Floyd, Edna Kitfield, Alice Sargent and Mary Rust.

Chas. H. Fleming, general manager of the New York Life Insurance Co., for this section, has opened an Office at 252 Essex street, Salem.

Town Clerk Jewett is able to attend to his duties again after being confined to the house a few days with la grippe.

The monthly meetings of the fire department companies will be held next Monday evening.

Mrs. John W. Campbell was one of the judges at the baby show at the Ballou club fair in Beverly Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Callahan are at Hot Springs, Va., for a six weeks' stay.

John A. Gould

John A. Gould passed away in Boston Wednesday at the age of 87 years, and was buried yesterday at his birthplace in Topsfield.

Mr. Gould was well known by the Manchester people of two generations ago as he was the first principal of the high school and was in other ways prominent in the affairs of the town in the 40's.

Born in Topsfield in 1819, and educated in the schools of his native town he took up teaching as a profession and in 1841 he came to Manchester and taught for two years in the old Newport school. He was then appointed principal of the school in the center of the town, where the engine house now stands, and had 100 pupils under him, ranging in years from 7 to 20. He taught there five years, and when in 1848 the town voted to establish a high school he was elected teacher. He taught there two years, when he moved away and entered business. Twelve of his pupils at the Newport school now survive him.

When he left Manchester Mr. Gould went to Woburn to live, but engaged in business with his uncle, John Porter, in the manufacture of Porter's Burning Fluid. He was founder of the well known Boston retail house of Gould, Cutler Co., dealers in paints, oils, etc., in which concern he has for the past few years been silent partner.

He married a Manchester girl, Elizabeth Cheever Leach, daughter of Benjamin and Susan C. Leach. One son and five daughters, one of whom, Elizabeth Porter Gould, is a writer of note, survive him.

While in Manchester he was conspicuous in church affairs, and was always held in highest esteem. In fact he played the organ at the Orthodox church for some time, being the first to use it after being installed when the edifice was remodeled in 1846. He taught music and was a composer of music and hymns.

"Routine of work to be done in greenhouses during this season," will be the subject discussed at the next meeting of the N. S. Horticultural society, which by the way will be held March 2, as the next regular meeting has been postponed, owing to the banquet coming on that week. Mr. Wm. Watts of Pride's will open the discussion.

The Park Commissioners have plans out for improvements at the Beach street park which will no doubt be presented at Town meeting next month. The plans show three buildings, or rather shelters, one of which is to serve more as a bath house, at the float.

Fred. Andrews and Chester Standley, of Technology, have been spending the week at home.

What splendid weather this would be to work on the playground! Yet there has been apparently no move on the part of those whose business it is to make a start, and from all appearances now it would seem that the children of the Farms will have to continue using the streets and private property to carry on their games and sports, while the land which we have paid good money for is still submerged in water.

F. W. Varney has an excellent display of valentines at his drug store—one large show window being wholly devoted to this purpose, and the variety is such as to suit all tastes.

Mrs. William S. Pike is spending the week with relatives at Chestnut hill, Somerville.

The mild and spring-like weather of this week seems to have been a special inducement to many of our summer residents who have visited their estates here, many of which have undergone alterations and improvements.

Advise to the ladies: Don't wear your hair down your back when you go to Boston, as there is a crank there with a sharp pair of scissors who seems to have a particular liking for ladies' tresses.

By invitation of Rev. Clarence Strong Pond some 45 members of the order of Odd Fellows who reside in Beverly Farms and representing some eight or ten different lodges attended divine service at the Baptist church last Sunday evening and listened to an excellent sermon upon the principles of the order, faith, love and truth, by the pastor.

The following real estate transfer took place this week: "Mrs. Daniel Linehan conveyed to Timothy J. Linehan land and buildings at Beverly Farms, adjoining property of Washington B. Thomas."

The lovers of whist and dancing spent an enjoyable evening on Tuesday, the affair being one of the series of popular parties being given by the John West colony, Pilgrim Fathers, in Marshall's hall. Mrs. H. Irving Dyer, Mrs. Alex. Carr and Miss Nellie Preston won the prizes for the ladies, while Mr. J. M. Publicover, Charles McCarthy and Adelbert Marshall secured the gents' prizes. At the close dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

Capt. J. Frank Blaney is being greatly missed by his many friends at the Farms. The captain has closed up his home on Hale street and expects to spend the next few weeks with relatives and friends at Swampscott and Lynn.

The jury trial of the West Beach corporation vs. Preston heirs over the ownership of the land on the western end of the beach, which has been in litigation a number of years, came to an abrupt ending on Thursday, the findings being of a nature that was rather disappointing to both plaintiff and defendant, and still each party was given an interest in the property, leaving the affair still in an uncertain situation. An appeal was immediately taken and will be carried to the Supreme court. The board of directors of the corporation have been daily in attendance this week, making the third week of its duration. Messrs. Charles H. Day, Duncan T. Smith, J. Fred Bennett, Joshua Younger, Benjamin Osborne, Daniel W. Hardy, Thomas D. Connolly, William H. Preston and Eli R. Hodgkins were also present on different days and were called upon for testimony.

An evening's entertainment which is being anticipated with much pleasure is the lecture on "The Passion Play," to be delivered by Rev. Fr. Nicholas R. Walsh, to take place in St. Margaret's church on Monday evening, Feb. 12. The lecture is to be illustrated by stereopticon views.

Another chapter in the affairs of the Bailey family took place this week when the husband, John Bailey, last Monday morning unceremoniously left his home on Pickett's court and nothing was heard of his whereabouts until Thursday morning, which came about as follows:

A family in Lexington, Mass., about 5 a.m. smelt smoke and started an investigation and in a shed or workshop adjoining their home found a strange man standing before a brisk fire which he had built in the middle of the floor. He gave his name as John Bailey and that he had a family at Beverly Farms. The man was taken into custody and given an examination before the police court in Concord, Mass., where he showed evidence of mental weakness and was bound over to the Grand Jury. It will be remembered that the party came to the Farms some five years ago and after a short sojourn married and after a few months of married life took his departure and has been missing until a few weeks ago when he rejoined his family.

George M. Cushing and Mrs. Littleton are having built an automobile house on their estates which was recently jointly purchased from the Sohler estate on Hale street. They are also making considerable improvements and changes upon the grounds.

Miss Maude Culbert was made the victim of a very pleasant surprise party Thursday evening, when a number of her friends called at her home on the occasion of her birthday. Miss Culbert, though taken wholly by surprise, "made good" and a decidedly pleasant time was spent.

The dance to be given by the Hardy club in Marshall's hall on the 13th has promise of being the event of the winter at the Farms.

Miss Helen Callahan is visiting relatives at Houghton, Me.

A pleasant evening was spent by the members of Preston post, 188, and associates at G.A.R. hall Wednesday evening, the first of a series mapped out by the entertainment committee of the two bodies. During the earlier part of the evening Mr. Thomas D. Connolly carried the party on a trip from Boston to San Francisco and into Texas, his description of his trip across the continent last winter proving an interesting feature. The balance of the evening was spent in a social way, interspersed by vocal and instrumental selections.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dow returned to their home at Mount Clair, N.J. on Monday last, after visiting Mr. and Mrs. James Dow. The people of the Farms can now breathe free, for they can now be sure whom they are addressing. Being twin brothers, and so much alike in appearance, even neighbors and friends of the latter gentleman have been at a loss as to the identity of the two.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. George Coburn, Wednesday, January 24, at Pride's.

Mr. Townsend, formerly of Port Chester, N.Y., and superintendent of the George Gould estate, on Thursday took charge of the Henry Clay Pierce estate at Pride's Crossing, as superintendent and care-taker, vice George A. Breed, resigned.

Russell Younger has accepted a position as clerk in the Quartermaster's Division of the U. S. army, located at Portland, Me., and will assume his duties on March 1. Mr. Younger has until recently served in Uncle Sam's army for a period of more than six years, seeing service at the Philippines for two years and also in Cuba.

"Lincoln's day," Feb. 12, will be observed at the Farms by Preston post, 188, and the associate members, who have arranged for an evening's entertainment to take place in G. A. R. hall. The Rev. Clarence Strong Pond will deliver an address on "Honest Old Abe," and a musical program, which is sure to be pleasing, is already arranged. The lady friends of the post and associates are invited to honor the occasion with their presence.

Rev. Fr. Nicholas R. Walsh on last Sunday announced at St. Margaret's church the fact that the land adjoining the church property had been secured, and that in the near future operations would commence towards the construction of a parochial residence. It is understood that considerable stone may figure in the erection of the proposed new home.

The Ward 6 Republican City committee met recently and organized for the year with William R. Brooks as chairman and George H. Bennett for secretary. The other members are James B. Dow, Albert Standley and Howard E. Morgan.

Chas. H. Day, Eben Day and Theodore A. Holmes represented Preston Post 188, at the camp fire and muster held at Danvers last Monday evening under the auspices of Ward Post 90 of Danvers.

Messrs. Chas. Parker and Frank Williams have made arrangements for the sheet and pillow-case party to take place on Tuesday evening, Feb. 20, in Marshall's hall. Long's full orchestra will furnish the music. All those wishing to participate are invited to appear in costume, as it is the intention of the management to allow only those who provide themselves with this "ghostly" attire to occupy the floor during the early part of the evening.

Joseph F. Fogg and Michael T. Murphy, both popular young men of the Farms, are on a vacation trip to New York city and Washington.

Society Notes

The delightful spring-like weather of the past weeks has attracted many of the summer residents down the shore. Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Bigelow were down to their Manchester Cove cottage last Saturday for the day and enjoyed a drive along the shore.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Paine were down to their Coolidge's Point cottage Wednesday.

Edward Hill, who had the Monk's cottage at Manchester Cove last season, was down from Boston Tuesday.

Indications would point to a busy season along the shore the coming year. A number of parties have been down to Manchester and Magnolia and along the Beverly shore looking for houses, and in some cases cottages have been hired.

Hector G. St. Clair of New York has hired the A. S. Covell cottage at Magnolia Point for the coming season.

James H. Lee and Joseph Sargent, jr., were down over the road Thursday from Boston by auto, to their estates at Magnolia.

Mrs. Greely S. Curtis gave one of the smart dinner dances of the week at her 28 Mt. Vernon street, Boston, home, Thursday evening.

Congressman A. P. Gardner of this district will be one of the ushers at the Longworth-Roosevelt wedding in the White House this month.

The North Shore is to be further represented at the capital this winter, for Mrs. Wirt Dexter of Beverly Farms and Boston has just taken a house in Washington for the next three months. Mrs. Dexter expects to leave town Feb. 15. While in Washington she will entertain quite extensively.

Mrs. Edwin C. Swift and her sister, Mrs. Bailey, start next Tuesday on a European trip of several months.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Motley, who are having some minor repairs and alterations made to their house at Pride's, were down the shore last Saturday.

CHURCH NOTES

Manchester

Congregational church, Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln, pastor. Morning worship at 10.45; evening service at 7 o'clock. Sermons by the pastor.

Baptist church, Rev. Edward Hersey Brewster, pastor. Morning worship at 10.45. People's evening service of song and praise at 7 o'clock.

Church of the Sacred Heart, Rev. William F. Powers, pastor. Mass daily at 7.30 a.m. Sundays: Mass at 9 and 10.30 o'clock a.m.; Sunday school 2 p.m.; Vespers at 7.30 p.m.

Rev. E. H. Brewster will preach tomorrow morning at the Baptist church on "The Kinship of Hearts." At the people's evening service at 7 o'clock his theme will be "The Chariots of God," the last in the series of Elijah.

Rev. J. H. Quint, formerly of Fal-mouth, will preach at the Congregational church tomorrow morning. He has just accepted a call to Rockland, Me. With Mrs. Quint he has been spending the week in town with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Lane.

There will be a union service in the church tomorrow evening between the church and the Y.P.S.C.E. in celebration of the 25th anniversary of Christian Endeavor. A special program has been prepared, including selections by a choir, solo by Rev. Mr. Lincoln, etc. Rev. Mr. Libby of Magnolia will probably be present and will give a short address.

The special music will include:

"God who madest Earth and Heaven," Pontius
"We march, we march to victory," Barnby
"Even me," Bass solo and chorus

Rev. Mr. Lincoln led the meeting at the Cove Thursday evening.

The Farther Lights society will meet at the parsonage Monday evening.

The Sunday School association meeting is to be held next Thursday, Feb. 8, at the Methodist church in Rockport. Rev. E. H. Brewster will be one of the afternoon speakers. Delegations from both of the local churches will no doubt attend. The sessions will be at 2.15 and 7 o'clock. Mr. Albert Cunningham of this town is secretary of the association.

The Y.P.S.C.E. will hold its meetings during the present month in conjunction with the Tuesday evening prayer meeting instead of on Sunday evenings, with the exception of this week.

The Ever Ready circle of King's Daughters will meet Monday evening with Miss Bertha Lane.

Christian Culture Course

A meeting of the Christian Culture course classes of the Cape Ann Baptist churches was held at the church in Manchester Tuesday evening, the program carried out being one of great interest. There was a large attendance, including large delegations from the out-of-town churches.

Rev. George Beecher of East Gloucester presided. The welcome was given by Rev. Mr. Brewster, and J. Davis Baker of the local class read the scriptures. The prayer was by Rev. Mr. Easton of Rockport. Mr. Brewster led the congregational singing.

The greetings of the East Gloucester class, unable to attend, was sent by telegram and was read by Rev. Mr. Beecher. George Cunningham of Rockport read a paper on "Baptists in Missions." The most interesting speaker of the evening was Rev. F. M. Holt of Lynn, who gave a vivid description of his visit to Wales, during the recent great revival. He told how the revival commenced, the extent of it, and how it affected him.

During the evening Miss Emma Prest sang "Paradise Dream" and Mrs. Sadie Tappan sang "Will there be any stars in my crown?"

The gathering later went from the auditorium to the vestry where an animated prayer meeting was held. Light refreshments were served by the young people's union.

The next meeting will be with the First Baptist church in Gloucester the latter part of the month. Subject: "Baptists in military affairs."

SHAFT AND HOIST AT THE ESSEX CONSOLIDATED MINES

IF YOU HAD

A MILLION IN GOLD COIN IN YOUR BACK YARD

ONE THOUSAND FEET BELOW YOUR DOORSTEP

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

IF YOU COULD NOT GET IT OUT YOURSELF

YOU WOULD HUSTLE TO GET SOME ONE TO HELP
THAT IS WHAT WE ARE DOING

We want YOU to Examine Our BACK YARD

JUST LOOK AT THESE FACTS:

We own two and one-half miles of ore bodies in the heart of the mother lode of California; a great plant that could not be duplicated for $100,000; an immense water power surrounded by big producers, shaft 700 ft. deep, 2 large tunnels, thousands of feet of underground workings, $2,000,000 worth of ore practically in sight. And then we want you to join our co-operative organization and get the money. As nearly as we can estimate there are millions buried there. The Morgan mine adjoining the Essex, paid to stockholders nearly $3,000,000 in one year. The famous Utica mine has paid out over $30,000,000.

We want to hear from you if you are interested in MINING for PROFITS, not gambling for profits, not trying to filch wealth from your neighbor's pockets, but creating its NEW CLEAN MONEY from the ground untarnished by the sweat of the oppressed, the tears of the wronged or the hands of theft. Do you care how you make your money? We do. There is a satisfaction in making money honestly which no thief can feel.

REMEMBER that this is Mining; not Speculation. You can buy the stock now at par $1.00 per share. In less time than a year it may be worth ten times this amount.

Send us your address and we will mail you full details of the property.

The Town Report

The contract for printing the Manchester Town Report was awarded Thursday to the NORTH SHORE BREEZE and work has already been started on, the book which, we trust, will be ready for delivery about March 1. The report was printed by the BREEZE last year, the work being done at the office of the Beverly Printing company.

Corkum--Howlett

Ernest Corkum and Miss Margaret Howlett, both of Manchester, were united in marriage by Rev. Wm. F. Powers, at the parochial residence, Manchester, Wednesday evening. The couple were attended by Miss McGettigan and Mr. Mulcahey. The groom is gardener at a Manchester Cove estate. They will live in Manchester.

As to New Roads

A conference was held in Boston this week at which were present Mayor Joseph A. Wallis and other Beverly officials and members of the summer colony, for the purpose of fixing on some plan for a further improvement of the roads along the North Shore.

The conference last year was productive of splendid results, the summer colonists through the efforts of the committee subscribing $30,000 for improvements on roads at the Cove and the Farms. This year less than a mile of street in that section will have to be built, most of the improvements centering around Mingo beach hill and includes work for the street and water departments.

At the conference were members of the finance and street committees and several other city officials and former mayors Benjamin D. Webber and Samuel Cole, representatives Albert Vittum and W. R. Brooks and R. W. Boyden.

The summer residents present included Col. W. D. Sohler, Oliver Ames, A. A. Lawrence, Charles H. Tyler and E. Preble Motley.

25TH ANNIVERSARY

Manchester Christian Endeavorers Observed the Anniversary of the Founding of the Society by Special Program Sunday Evening

The 25th anniversary of the founding of Christian Endeavor societies was recognized by the society of the Congregational church, Manchester, last Sunday evening, by a union meeting with the church, when a specially prepared exercise, "A quarter of a century of Christian Endeavor" was carried out.

Mr. Albert Cunningham presided and Rev. Frederick J. Libby of Magnolia assisted in the services, the pastor, Rev. Mr. Lincoln leading the chorus.

After singing the C. E. song of union, Bible reading by Mr. Cunningham and prayer by Mr. Libby, the leader made opening remarks and the congregations joined in reading a "chronological review" of the "when" of C. E. A "geographical review" was read by six speakers. Several of the Christian Endeavor marching songs were sung.

Rev. Mr. Libby made a short address on "The spirit of Christian Endeavor," speaking of the significance of the fact that the society which had existed for 25 years should have taken as its motto for the year to continually forget those things which have happened and to look forward to those things which are before.

"Christian Endeavor does not exist as a band of people speaking in meeting," he said. "That is only one of the six principles. Christian Endeavor is able to adapt itself to all conditions, and if this be true we need to bear in mind that every society must look around and see what are the needs of its own community.

"If we are looking for work we shall find particular needs in our own community; but always with the spirit of asperity, forgetting things of the past and reaching out for the things before us."

MANCHESTER SCHOOLS OF SIXTY YEARS AGO

Article Written by the Late J. A. Gould and Read Before the Manchester Historical Society

The Manchester schools of sixty years ago are very well portrayed in a letter written some ten or twelve years ago by the late John A. Gould of Boston, whose death we recorded in our last issue. The article was written to the Manchester Historical society and read before the society by Mr. George F. Allen at the time. As it has never been printed, we believe it will be of especial interest to our readers at this time. The article follows:

"Whenever I think of Manchester and her people, memories of over fifty years come rushing upon me, to some of which I now refer in response to your desire for a history of my life in connection with the educational interests of the town.

"On a beautiful autumnal morning of 1841, just as the sun was rising, I made my first visit to Manchester. As my object was to be examined for a teacher's position in the Newport school, I immediately sought Dr. Asa Story, the chairman of the school committee; for, although I had already been examined and had taught in Beverly the winter of 1839 and 1840, and in North Reading in 1840 and 1841, yet I must be examined again. After spending an hour with the doctor and his family, I went to the house of Mr. Larkin Woodbury and found another member of the school committee, Rev. O. A. Taylor, who was to examine me for the position. Those of you who remember that critical scholar will decide at once that there was no half-way work about that examination. It was not only cube root and square root, but it was the root of everything, from the sounds of the letters, spelling and derivation of words, formation of sentences, and so on through all branches taught in the schools.

A BRILLIANT SUCCESS

Concert of the Magnolia Choral Society Thursday Evening a Grand Success

The concert of the Magnolia Choral society given in the church at Magnolia on Thursday evening, was a brilliant success in every particular. The Choral society, or as it has been popularly called, the Singing school, had its initial meeting in November and since that time, under the very efficient leadership of Mr. Arthur S. Wonson of East Gloucester, has made steady progress, culminating in the concert of Thursday. Mr. Wonson is well known on the Cape as chorus leader and musician and teacher, and his ability is recognized. No better proof of it could be given than the concert of Thursday.

The Choral society has 30 members. Its numbers were augmented for the occasion by a delegation of 14 from East Gloucester, friends of Mr. Wonson, who have been under his instruction for several years. So it was a chorus of some 45 that faced the audience as they gathered betimes to secure good seats. The perfect night permitted old folk and young to be out and Magnolia came en masse, filling the church.

Following is the program in brief:

Grand march from "The Prophet".....
.....Meyerbeer
Orchestra.
"Onward Christian Soldiers"..... Sullivan
Chorus.
Solo..... Mrs. Charles S. Miller
Selections from "Martha"..... Flotow
Orchestra.
"O, who would o'er the downs?"... Pearsall (Part song.) Chorus.
Solo..... Mr. James P. Ridley
Marietta "A Petits Pas"..... Sudessi
Orchestra.
"Morning Invitation"..... Veazie
Chorus.
Solo..... Mrs. Charles S. Miller
"Tone pictures from the North and South"
..... Bendix
Orchestra.
"Bright be each face"..... Donizetti
Chorus.
Solo..... Mr. James P. Ridley
Soldiers' chorus from "Faust"..... Gounod

The programme began with a selection by Sewall's orchestra, the grand march from "The Prophet" by Meyerbeer. The hymn "Onward Christian soldiers" was well rendered by the chorus, and then Mrs. Charles S. Miller of East Gloucester sang the beautiful "Elizabeth's prayer" from Tannhauser. Mrs. Miller was in fine voice and sang this difficult piece with feeling and artistic appreciation. She was heartily encored, as she was also for her second song on the programme, "Good-bye" by Tosti.

The orchestra's next selection was from Flotow's "Martha," which it played with spirit and great delicacy of touch, delighting the audience, who wanted it repeated, but were denied. Later on, however, in response to the applause, the bright little Marcietta, "A Petits Pas," by Sudessi, was repeated in full, and the fourth orchestral number, Bendix's "Tone Pictures" was given in part a second time. This orchestra consists of Mr. Sewall, violinist; Mr. Collins, 'cellist; Mr. Wonsen, cornetist, and Mr. Stevens, pianist. As would be expected from the musical reputation of its members, it plays excellently.

Mr. James P. Ridley of Malden, a member of the quartet of the Newton Episcopal church, was the second soloist. His first selection was the "Creole Lover's Song," by Dudley Buck. As encore he sang "Love's Sorrow." Mr. Ridley's voice is both sweet and vibrant, and his articulation and phrasing are so good that every word can be understood by the hearer. While some hoarseness, owing to a cold, was noticed in his rendition of the "Creole Lover's Song," it passed away largely during this number, and his other pieces were sung with comparative clearness even in the softest measures.

The other numbers by the chorus were all well received. The "Morning Invitation" had to be repeated. The "Soldier's chorus" from Faust, the most pretentious of the selections, was sung spiritedly and with precision. This closed the concert. Special mention should be made of the brilliant work of Mr. Stevens as accompanist. He would make the dumb sing.

The visiting musicians and singers were entertained after the concert at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Lycett. Lobster a la Newburg was brewed in chafing dishes under the skillful supervision of Misses Story and Sanborn, and was served with apple salad, coffee, cakes and pies by a small bevy of waitresses, among whom were Mrs. H. C. Foster, Miss May and Miss Helen Lycett. Thus a social hour was spent delightfully and then barges took the visitors home. It was announced at the concert that the Choral society will assemble again on October 2d to begin its next winter's work. The society was formed through the efforts of Rev. Mr. Libby who is to be greatly praised for the success of the undertaking.

SELECTMEN OF MANCHESTER

Mrs. James Austin was called to Providence Sunday evening by the very sudden illness of her mother.

Jacob C. Rogers, former partner of George L. Allen of Manchester, of Allen, Rogers & Co., Salem, who is one of the officers of the American Steel and Wire Co. of New York city, has the sympathy of a host of friends hereabouts in his recent misfortune. While away from home last Sunday his house at Great Neck, L.I., was burned to the ground, together with everything it contained, including valuable paintings, silver and other valuable family heirlooms. The coachman, who was in the house at the time was quite severely burned. Mr. Rogers and family have recently moved to Long Island.

Miss Lottie Burnham of Essex spent a few days at the Cove this week visiting friends.

Station Agent F. C. Rand has had the walls of the waiting room adorned with a new set of framed local views the past week, the work of J. R. Cheever.

Henry Menken, caretaker at the F. M. Whitehouse estate, has just brought out a batch of 132 chicks from a setting of 175 eggs. This is the best record we have heard of thus far along the shore this winter.

Misses Marion Scott and Marion Allen started for New York Wednesday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Scott

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Butler had as their guests Sunday, their daughter, Miss Maude Butler and friend, Miss Wright of Boston, and Stephen Allen of Townsend, who has been spending the week here.

Rev. Mr. Libby entertained the members of his Sunday school class at his home Monday evening.

William Quinn spent Sunday in Boston visiting friends.

Mrs. Libby who has been in the Carney hospital the past fortnight, is rapidly regaining strength and is soon expected to be among her friends again. Her daughter, Miss Frances, was also expected this week. Miss Libby has been visiting her sister, Mrs. J. B. Austin in Michigan this winter.

Fourteen walked to Manchester last Sunday evening to participate in the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the Christian Endeavor with the Orthodox church. Rev. Mr. Libby made a short address.

Miss Lillian Dennett was in town Thursday, visiting Miss Burke.

Miss Edith Cunningham spent a few days with Mrs. Philip Lycett early in the week.

Mrs. Story, Mrs. Stearns and Miss Amy Lycett were the local delegates to the Sunday school convention in Rockport Thursday.

Charles Brown has been spending the past few days in New York city, having left Wednesday on a business trip.

Edward Knowlton, a former Magnolia boy, but who has recently been residing in Swampscott, died there Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Hunt have had as their guest this week the latter's father, Mr. Foster of Wakefield.

Mrs. Willard Boyd entertained the Ladies' Aid society Wednesday afternoon.

Fred Dunbar has concluded his work in Boston and will resume his work here as painter as soon as the injuries to his hand are healed.

Miss Nellie Tracey has been spending the week in Peabody visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. George Staples have been entertaining this week Miss Eunice Downing of Maplewood.

Our hopes for better sidewalks have been somewhat satisfied the past week for Aldermen Robertson, Lufkin and Summers were in town Tuesday with City Engineer Webber, preparatory to making some improvements in the spring.

The regular monthly meeting of the Fireman's association was held Wednesday evening.

The dance given at Crispin's hall, Monday evening, under the auspices of the dancing school, proved a very pleasant affair.

Work is soon to be started on the row of stores to be erected by Miss Frances Stearns of Boston, near the Tea house. The material for the job has arrived and is now on the grounds. Miss Stearns was in town Tuesday.

Picture Presented to Mr. Shaw

That Mr. James F. Shaw of Manchester still has many friends in Gloucester, despite his throw down, politically, last fall when he run for the senate, may be assumed from the act of some of his friends there in presenting him with a beautiful oil painting last week, the presentation being made on a visit which Mr. Shaw made to the city. The painting was "Outward Bound," by Mr. T. V. C. Valenkamph, one of the best known of the summer artist colony at East Gloucester, and represents a Gloucester fishing vessel under full sail starting on a trip.

Mrs. A. F. Bennett

Last Sunday morning, the wife of one of Manchester's oldest and most respected citizens, passed, after a long illness, into the life immortal. Mrs. Bennett was born in Conway, N.H., in 1824. With her family she removed while quite young to Lowell, and lived in that place, in Salem and Manchester the rest of her life, coming to Manchester in 1859, fourteen years after her marriage. She had lived in her recent home 39 years. Mrs. Bennett was the mother of seven children, of whom five survive her. She was converted quite young in life and was baptised into the First Free Baptist church of Lowell, of which she continued a member with her husband until her death. Mrs. Bennett was greatly devoted to her family and went but little from home. Though not known to a large circle of acquaintances, she was greatly esteemed by all who knew her. She was a woman of sterling qualities and will be greatly missed in the home. She has left a record of unblemished christian character as a priceless heritage to children and children's children.

The funeral, which was largely attended, was from her late home on Wednesday afternoon, Rev. D. F. Lamson of Boston, a former pastor, officiating. The interment was at Rosedale.

Mr. Harry Brum (Brown), formerly employed at the Fenton boatyard, returned the first of the week from Philadelphia, and started for there again a few days ago with his family, having obtained employment there.

Mr. and Mrs. John Knight of Essex have been spending the past week with the latter's mother, Mrs. Abigail Gentlee, School street.

John Connors and William Sheehan carried away the honors at the Ladies' Sodality whist party Tuesday evening.

Selectman Wm. E. Kitfield has been housed most of the week by illness.

Miss Minnie Scott of Boston has been spending a few days this week a guest of Mrs. Benj. Tappan.

Miss Ruth Beaton was given a surprise party at her home Saturday, in honor of her fifteenth birthday, by fourteen of her former schoolmates, including Alice Latons, Annie Younger, Alice Tappan, Maud Smith, Annie Coughlin, Bertha Haskell, Elsie Dow, Abbie Floyd, Minnie Olsen, Harriet Brewster, Mabel Maslin, Mabelle Lodge and Prinnie Dodge. Although very much surprised, Miss Beaton proved an excellent hostess and a very pleasant evening was spent. During the evening she was presented with a handsome brown leather wrist bag and a bunch of pinks.

Mrs. Robert Stoops and daughter Gertrude were in Plymouth the first of the week, guests of the former's mother, Mrs. Wm. McMurray.

The store formerly occupied by Smith's express in Pulsifer's block has been repaired and refitted, and will be occupied at once by H. S. Tappan, whose store was formerly on Beach street.

A Business Change

Robert Allen has this week bought from W. E. A. Legg of Boston, the latter's half interest in the firm of W. E. A. Legg & Co., 18 Union street, Manchester, and will henceforth conduct the business alone, under the name of Allen's market.

Mr. Allen has been in Manchester four years, connected with Mr. Legg, who has a large market in Boston, first as manager of the market on Beach street one year, then, after Mr. Legg had bought out A. N. Blake, as manager of the market at 18 Union street, and for the past two years has conducted the market as partner of Mr. Legg. Mr. Allen will conduct the business at the old stand. In his announcement on another page he gives a list of prices. His many friends here wish him every success in his new venture.

Paula Edwardes at the Tremont.

The Tremont Theatre will have another novelty during a limited engagement beginning February 12, when Messrs. Shubert will present Miss Paula Edwardes in the new fantastic opera, "Princess Beggar," for the first time here. Mr. Paulton has placed his story in one of those imaginary Teutonic kingdoms so beloved of comic opera librettists, which permits of effective scenery and costume display. He has written, however, a consistent, logical farce, which could readily be played without music, but it has been so constructed as to make the musical numbers an integral part of the entire scene and not a succession of extraneous songs. Miss Paula Edwardes has established herself as a star by her performances of "Winsome Winnie," during the last two years, and before that she won favor as principal comedienne in all of the gaiety pieces at Daly's theatre. In "Princess Beggar" she has been provided with a role which shows all of these qualifications to the best advantage. She wears a succession of beautiful gowns, and at one time the story permits her to assume the disguise of a dashing young hussar. The entire production has been made under the direction of Frank Smithson. Miss Edwardes brings an able supporting company, the members of which have been selected with proper regard for their qualifications.

Town Meeting Talk

Town meeting politics is conspicuous by its absence. The only new contest opened up is that for tree warden. Robert Mitchell, who has been in charge of the gypsy and browntail moth work locally this fall and winter, told the BREEZE man he was a candidate for the office. Wm. Young the present incumbent will run again.

D. T. Beaton, whose term as a member of the park commissioners expired this year, is a candidate for re-election.

Concert and Drill.

On the evening of Washington's birthday, Feb. 22, a Washington memorial concert will be given under the auspices of the Boys' Brigade. At the conclusion of the concert, which will be given by first class and mostly out-of-town talent, specially interesting military contests will take place.

A gold medal will be contested for in a manual of arms drill by the local boys, and it is expected a local squad will compete against a squad from Beverly. Prominent military men, including the Commander of the Boys' Brigade movement in this part of the country, will be the judges.

Among the members already arranged for the program will be violin selections by Harry Silverman, Boston's boy violinist; vocal selections by the Bobolinks of Beverly; readings by Miss Harriet Brewster; musical numbers by Riordan's orchestra and solos by Mr. F. K. Swett.

Reserved seats are now on sale at Cheever's, 35 cents each; general admission 25 cents.

Davey--Hanley

James Francis Davey and Miss Kate Hanley were united in marriage by Rev. Fr. Nicholas R. Walsh, at the parochial residence, Beverly Farms, Wednesday evening. The groom is one of the gardeners at the W. B. Thomas estate, Pride's, and the bride was formerly of the Haven estate. They celebrated the event in grand style Wednesday evening at their house on Jeffries court, Manchester, where they will make their home. A large number of friends were present from Boston and Beverly Farms.

Stockton--Head

In Trinity church, Boston, last Saturday at noon, Miss Margaret Head of Manchester and Boston, the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Head, was married to Mr. Philip Stockton, in the presence of one of the most fashionable gatherings that Boston can assemble. The church was resplendent in lovely decorations, with a canopy of laurel surrounding the altar, which was banked with pink azaleas.

The bride wore a princess gown of rare Irish point lace, which is an heirloom of the family, made over duchess satin. The train was long. The veil was fastened with orange blossoms.

The attendants were Miss Susan Thayer, who was maid of honor, Miss Jane Stockton and Miss Naneen Mitchell of Manchester. They were all gowned in princess costumes of pale blue chiffon over blue duchess satin.

Bishop Lawrence performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann of Trinity. Lawrence M. Stockton was the best man.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents on Beacon street, following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stockton started Tuesday on a European trip. They will spend the summer at Manchester Cove, having hired the Sampson cottage.

Wireless Telegraph

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement this week of the DeForest Wireless Telegraph Co. on page 10. Wireless telegraphy is beyond question the greatest discovery of recent years, and it is to play an important part in the commercial progress of the age. It may be placed on almost equal level with the telephone, and no one will dispute its place in the world today. The com-

John Wiles and family will move into the Baker house, near the Baptist church, shortly.

William Haskell and family will move into his cottage on Vine street, next month, as soon as it will be convenient for him to give up his work at the almshouse. Mr. Haskell's 18 years of service at this public institution has shown him to be qualified for the position, and it is with regret he felt forced by his continued ill-health to resign. He will resign at the close of the present year, April 1st.

A large delegation from the local churches attended the interdenominational convention of the Mass. S.S. association, including the schools of the Cape Ann district, at Rockport, Thursday. Rev. Mr. Brewster made one of the addresses, and was later elected vice-president of the association, while Albert Cunningham was elected on the finance committee.

Mr. J. K. Pulsifer has now definitely decided he will not rebuild the second story of the block recently destroyed by fire. Another store will be built where the entrance and stairways formerly were.

Sup't Kimball was the busiest man in town this morning, having the sidewalks sprinkled with sand. Yesterday's storm, which had very much the appearance of a genuine north-east snow storm, became milder as the day wore on and turned into rain before noon. The cold wave which followed left the streets in a very slippery condition.

Attention is called to the notice of the board of registers of voters on page 3, and every man qualified to vote should see that his name is on the list before the 24th of this month in order to vote at the coming town election.

Those who have not yet secured tickets for the N. S. Horticultural society banquet, to be held in the town hall next Thursday evening, should do so at once. SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1906.

One of our exchanges suggests that Magnolia folk telegraph President Roosevelt to come and kill the lynx in Magnolia woods.

Lacking only a few of touching the 2400 mark, the number of employes now on the pay roll at the United Shoe Machinery company, are sufficient to populate a good-sized town. The morning train of nine cars comes filled with workmen to the "shoe," as do also the electrics from Danvers, Wenham and Salem, and other local trains.

Lincoln Day

Next Monday, February 12, has been set apart to be observed by the people as Lincoln Day. While the day is not so universally observed as a holiday as that ten days later in memory of the founder of his country, more notice is being taken, and rightly, we believe, of the memory of the saviour of the nation.

In many of the schools hereabouts, as well as all over the State and country, the day will be recognized by special exercises. In the Manchester schools a special programme has been arranged, consisting of a salute to the flag, patriotic songs, recitations, etc., with the aim of bringing to the youth a clearer understanding of what the flag stands for and a deeper reverence for law and order.

Now is the time to invest while the STOCK IS LOW.

Possibly there are no names on the scroll of fame whose earlier years present so marked a difference in the social scale as existed in the case of Washington and Lincoln. The former was of the rich, cultered, aristocratic, governing class, in the richest and most influential of all the colonies; the latter came from a home where poverty to the verge of degradation, and privation to the utmost degree, offered nothing that was helpful to laudable ambition or cheering in a struggle for a better place among men.

Today, however, both are accorded stations side by side as personifications of patriotism, both lives illustrating that true nobility of soul and high purpose are merely hindered by adverse environments, never effectually barred from advancement, or stopped from the accomplishment of a noble purpose.

Climbing to the high position of President of the United States by a rough path, never freed from financial obligations that were a drag upon his energies, winning place after place of responsibility and honor in spite of discouraging surroundings, Abraham Lincoln presents that type of man whose career must be a spur and inspiration to succeeding generations, into whose hands must come the control of this "government of the people, for the people and by the people," as generations come and go.

Gov. Guild says in his proclamation: "On the 12th day of February, 97 years ago, there was born in a home of poverty, in Kentucky, a boy destined to share with George Washington the first place in the hearts of Americans.

"The General Court has determined, and wisely, that the anniversary of an event so auspicious should no longer remain unrecognized by this commonwealth. By virtue of the authority invested in me, I therefore declare and proclaim February 12 Lincoln Day, and urge upon the people of the commonwealth the consideration and commemoration of the life and services of Abraham Lincoln.

"The hour of Lincoln's birth is unknown. I suggest that at twenty-two minutes past seven in the morning, the hour of his death, the tolling of a passing bell remind us that at that hour the United States lost the brave, patient soul that would have carried our country in safety and honor through reconstruction as it carried it in safely and honor through war.

"Let the children in our schools, the children whom Lincoln loved so well, come to their places in the morning only. Let them welcome to their school homes the survivors of the Grand Army that made the federation a nation. Let the children hear the words spoken at Gettysburg and the emancipation proclamation, and let them join with those living of Lincoln's soldiers in singing the 'Star Spangled Banner' and the 'Battle Hymn of the Republic.'

"Let the national colors be displayed from sunrise to sunset from the liberty pole, the public building and the home. Let cannon at mid-day fire the national salute. Let our merchants and employers of labor close their places of business as generally as possible during the noon hour. Let such churches as may be flung open, that those who wish to worship may enter. Finally, may all men on Lincoln Day, wherever noon overtakes them, pause for one passing moment and give thanks to God who, having sent us the founder of our liberties, sent us again in our hour of need a savior of the nation."

WHISPERINGS.

How many of our Manchester readers attended school at the West school in 1841? Not many I know, for of the 58 scholars who went to school in the Newport district when the late J. A. Gould taught there in 1841-42 only ten remain, and not all of these now live in Manchester. They are: John L. Story of Beverly, Wm. T. Leach of Boston, George W. Goodrich of Reading, Mary H. (Leach) Russell, Mrs. Rebecca F. (May) Marshall, Mrs. Susan C. (Leach) Rust, Charlotte E. Leach, Mrs. Deborah C. (Goodrich) Crafts, Mrs. Sarah A. (Story) Porter of Manchester, and Mrs. Mehitabel (Story) Edgar of Washington. I cull these facts from a list of scholars written by the late Mr. Gould. There were on the school committee that year Dr. Asa Story, Rev. O. A. Taylor and Stephen Story.

* * * *

It will also be of interest to note in this connection, that in 1848, when the High school was established, the salary which went with the position of principal was $37.50 per month, for eight months' teaching. Mr. Geo. F. Allen gives us the following list of the text books used at that time: The Bible, Russell's American Reader and the Introduction to the same, Towne's

Speller and Definer, Smith's large Geography, Weld's Grammar, Greenleaf's Arithmetic and Introduction to the same, Colburn's mental arithmetic, Bailey's Algebra, Parker's Philosophy, Parker's Exercises in Composition, Cutter's Physiology, Goodrich's History, Fowler's Outline of the Globe, Webster's and Worcester's Dictionaries.

A Communication

Editor of the North Shore Breeze.

Will you give me space in your paper to say to parents who have children enrolled in the first and second grades of the George A. Priest school that we are giving the entire attention of three teachers to each grade during its one session, and we believe that the little people will suffer no loss in drill on all essential subjects of the course. We regret that any inconvenience is caused in the homes, but if the parents will be patient for a few weeks longer all will be well. We have the assurance that our new building will be ready for occupancy when the spring term opens.

Supt. of Schools.

MANCHESTER

At her Cove home Monday evening Miss Lillian Lucas entertained a large party of friends at whist. The first prize went to Mrs. Ahrenburg, it being a beautiful cut glass dish, and Mr. Porter the second, a box of note paper, while the booby went to Miss Frazier. Refreshments were served and the latter part of the evening was spent in dancing.

The children of the G. A. Priest school extend to the survivors of the Grand Army a welcome to their several school rooms next Monday morning, Feb. 12, at 10.30 o'clock, when exercises appropriate to the observance of Lincoln Day will be held. The day will be a half holiday.

BEVERLY FARMS

Rev. Clarence Strong Pond will preach in the Beverly Farms Baptist church next Sunday evening on "Abraham Lincoln, the first American."

The Beverly Farms school children, under the direction of the teachers, will have an entertainment and exercises at the assembly hall of the school on Wednesday afternoon of the 21st, in honor of the "Father of our Country."

Joseph Rogers, a boy nearly 16 years old, who was probated by the District court at Salem two months ago on the charge of larceny, was arrested last Saturday for contempt of court, having broken his probation and failing to report to the probation officer as ordered. He was kept in confinement until Thursday, when he was ordered to be sent to the Concord Reformatory by Judge Sears.

The course of lessons in dancing under the direction of Miss Jane Watson came to an end on Thursday evening, at which time, through the courtesy of Miss Watson and the members of the class, many invited guests were present to witness the progress made, and also partake in the sociability of the occasion, which extended until a late hour.

Miss Inez Brown of Boston is being entertained on Greenwood avenue at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Bennett.

A Boston groom and a bride from Gloucester called upon Rev. Clarence Strong Pond Tuesday unexpectedly and went away happy, after being made man and wife.

Preston post 188 and associates will join with the Preston W.R. corps, together with invited guests, on Thursday evening, Feb. 22, to celebrate the birthday of George Washington. The event is to take place in Marshall's hall, and a pleasing program has been arranged by the committee in charge.

The young men connected with the Hardy club and others interested in baseball and other healthy out-of-door sports met one evening this week and considered the question of at once securing for the coming season a field or playground suitable to carry out their athletic plans, and it was decided to at once take steps to procure the same by securing an option for a year's lease of some near-by property, the funds in payment to be raised by a series of entertainments and by subscriptions. If this move is successful there is no doubt but that the place would be fully appreciated by all who enjoy and encourage good, clean out-of-door sport.

Mr. Townsend, the new superintendent of the Henry Clay Pierce estate, moved his family into town Wednesday, occupying the cottage upon the estate.

The Ladies' Sewing circle met on Thursday afternoon at the chapel of the Baptist church and devoted their labors for the afternoon in the "knotting" of a quilt and making other articles to be used in a coming fair. It will be remembered that once each year this society holds a fair for the purpose of securing funds for the purchase of fuel and other necessities for the church.

It is expected that the appealed case of the Preston heirs vs. West Beach corporation will be heard before the Supreme court in March.

The money paid by Rev. Fr. Nicholas R. Walsh, pastor of St. Margaret's church for the land on Hale street, a part of which was the stone crushing plant, recently purchased from the city of Beverly, which amounts to about $4000, has been turned over to be used by the committee on gypsy moths.

The local fire department was called out from an alarm from box 57 Thursday forenoon, for a slight blaze in the cellar of Mrs. John McKeone's house on Everett street. Some water pipes were being thawed out, with the traditional result.

The cold snap of the early part of the week thickened the ice at Gravelly and Chebacco lakes, which has afforded much pleasure to the young people of the Farms who have taken advantage of the moonlight evenings, going over there for an hour or two enjoyment at skating or ice boating.

Mr. Herbert Betts has resigned the position of superintendent and caretaker at the E. C. Swift estate to take place on March 1st.

It is reported that with the coming of spring, we will have an additional fish market conducted by a Farms resident.

On Sunday last a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Brien of Pickett's court.

The largest party of the winter will probably be that of the Hardy club, which is to take place in Marshall's hall on Tuesday evening, Feb. 13. A large sale of tickets have already been made and the club members have prepared plans which assure a good time to all who attend. Whist will be played from 8 to 10, after which dancing is to be indulged in until a late hour.

Preston W.R.C. held its regular meeting Tuesday evening when much business was transacted. A memorial service for McKinley was held after the business session. Feb. 20 the W.R.C. will hold in G.A.R. hall a sale and supper. Feb. 22 they will have a patriotic entertainment.

Joseph Fogg returned Saturday from a fortnight's trip to Washington, Philadelphia, Baltimore and New York.

John Watt, one of the assistant gardeners at the Ayer estate, Pride's, started this week for a short sojourn to his former home in New Jersey.

The park commissioners of the city of Beverly have recently added to the land recently purchased from the Watson heirs for a playground, by taking the marsh land adjoining belonging to Horatio Haskell. The purchase of this property practically gives to the promoters of the scheme about all the land originally intended and now it is a matter of interest to the residents of the Farms to know how the plans of improvement to make this property inhabitable is to be carried out, and how soon operations will commence.

Alderman Robert E. Hodgkins has been for the past few days confined to the house with illness.

The program arranged by the entertainment committee of Preston post, 188, and the Associates for last Wednesday evening at G.A.R. hall, was carried out and furnished much pleasure to the large gathering. Thomas D. Connolly occupied about one-half an hour in the description of things of interest in the trip going from and through the states of Texas, Mexico, New Mexico, Arizona and California to San Francisco and "Prof." Edward Knowlton entertained at a considerable length with his graphophone with the latest popular records. The balance of the evening was devoted to selections by the G.A.R. choir of male voices and in a social way.

Next Monday the county commissioners are to view the results of the widening and general improvements recently performed on Hart street, near the Bennett estate.

Mrs. Abbie A. Pierce has been selected to receive articles for the coming fair of Bass River lodge of Odd Fellows.

John H. Linehan is to have a new automobile this year, having already purchased a Pope Toledo car which is at present being used by the company in Boston as a sample of the finest of this year's manufacture.

The city of Beverly expects soon to be obliged to buy some new horses for the fire department, and if so it is expected that the pair now driven by Wm. S. Pike of the Farms hook and ladder truck will be transferred to the city proper and a new pair installed at the Farms.

The Board of Directors of the West Beach corporation held an important meeting on Friday afternoon. The warrant for the annual meeting of the corporation will be posted Monday.

Oliver Wendell Holmes Council, K. of C. will hold a smoke talk and social next Wednesday evening, February 14, at their hall in Marshall's block, at which time several candidates for membership will be given their first ride on the "goat."

Don't forget the lecture with stereopticon views on the "Passion Play," to be given by Rev. Fr. Nicholas R. Walsh at St. Margaret's church next Monday evening.

"I felt grateful for the thorough training in such things I had received in my native Topsfield academy, under the tuition of Benjamin Greenleaf—author of the arithmetic—E. D. Sanborn, afterwards professor at Dartmouth, Profs. Farwell, Slafter and others. At the close of the examination, Mr. Taylor went to his desk and wrote the following certificate, which I have in my keeping at the present time: 'This is to certify that the bearer, Mr. John A. Gould, comes duly recommended to me in respect to his moral character, as well as to his literary qualifications for teaching a common school. As to his literary attainments, in this respect I have also found him fully qualified by personal examination. O. A. TAYLOR.'

"Thus fairly equipped for my enterprise, I left for home after having obtained some idea of the town, which I found to contain an active, enterprising people, particularly engaged in the manufacture of what was said to be the most highly wrought and best finished furniture in the land, and called for in the best markets. There were many large factories, employing a great number of men, and mills, sawing large lots of mahogany, walnut and maple into sheets of wood not much thicker than cotton cloth. Many church pulpits and desks, and the best furniture of the grand hotels and elegant private residences were purchased in Manchester.

"In due time I commenced the school in Newport, now called West Manchester, and continued for five months. I also taught the same school five months the next winter. A list of the whole number of scholars (58), preserved all these years, it was my pleasure to send recently to the Historical society by Mr. George F. Allen. I have also the parting song I wrote, and which was sung by the scholars to the tune of 'Auld Lang Syne' at the closing exercises.

"After that winter's work, in May, 1843, I was called to the Centre school, which was very large and flourishing, with about a hundred scholars ranging from 7 to 20 years of age. This school was at one time under the care of Mr. Moses P. Greenleaf, a nephew of the mathematician, who, like myself, married one of Manchester's fair daughters. I taught in this school some five years, until the High school was established, when I became its principal, continuing as such until 1850, when I left Manchester.

"During all these years Mr. Taylor was a valuable friend, always ready to give advice and answer any questions that might come up pertaining to the schools. Dr. Story, for whom I am glad to see the High school now named, was also a staunch friend to the schools; boarding, as I did in his family for several years, till my marriage in 1845, I had an opportunity to see the private side of his life. I found him to be a man of strong mind, slow of speech, slow in coming to conclusions, but nearly always right. He was deeply interested in the social side of life, and always had a good story to tell. Wednesday and Saturday afternoons I usually spent in writing copies and in preparing quill pens for the pupils, steel pens not being much used then. Sometimes the doctor would use those afternoons in visiting remote patients and give me a ride with him; whether it was for his profit or my special benefit I am not able to say, perhaps for both; at any rate we were both perfectly satisfied with the arrangement. The doctor's wife, Aunt Story as she was usually called, was a rich treasure, not only to him but to the town and all who knew her. She always sought to make everybody happy as well as herself.

"As the doctor was very fond of music his house was ever open to musical gatherings, for singing of glees, anthems, etc. He was particularly appreciative of my efforts to have music more generally introduced in schools and all the walks of life. Some will remember the discussion pertaining to the advent of the first organ in the town. It was at the time of remodelling the old church, of which Mr. Taylor was pastor. When it was decided to have an organ the question naturally came up who should play it. Several prominent men said Mr. Gould was musical and he must be the man. But they found that Mr. Gould had never practiced on the organ or piano. Still, they insisted and he consented. I believe there was only one piano in town and that was owned by John Perry Allen.

"Mr. Horace Bird, a regular organist and teacher of music, was then teaching a singing school in Manchester, and would come nine more evenings. He would give the nine organ lessons. The next morning Mr. Bird bought a piano in Boston for $80 and sent it to me in Manchester. Immediately on its arrival I began my lessons, practicing scales, picking out tunes, improving all the time I could get outside my school hours.

"Time was short, the work on the church progressed rapidly, and the organ, a gift of two members of the society, was brought from Boston and placed in position. Mr. David Long, brother of the chorister, Mr. John Long, who had played the same organ for many years in the Salem street church, Boston, played at the dedication service. The next Sabbath I took charge of the organ, and continued as organist until I left Manchester in 1850. To make the work as easy as possible for a beginner the hymns were given in time for practice during the week. My knowledge of music made it easy for me to give all necessary voluntaries and interludes. I consented to teach a good number who were desirous to learn to play the piano, after I had thus prepared myself.

"Some of the music I composed in Manchester was published by Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston, such as 'The Floral Quickstep'; a glee, 'Gaily our boat glides over the sea,' and anthem, 'Awake, put on thy strength,' and others which have been used since. But while I continued my work in the musical line afterwards, I never taught public schools after leaving Manchester, but immediately went into active business in Boston, where I have remained to this day.

"While writing the above I could not forget those moving spirits, those honest fathers and mothers who were always interested in the schools, and were ever ready to work with the teachers in preparing their children not only for usefulness in town, but for blessings to the world. I would like to recall their names, but most of them are gone. They will be remembered.

"Although the public schools were so well cared for, it made no difference with the select school of Deacon John Price, who always had enough to do, because he did it well. Everything moved along in perfect harmony.

"Aside from all other considerations, I shall always hold 'Manchester-by-the-Sea' in blessed memory. I owe her a debt of gratitude for the gift of a daughter—Elizabeth Cheever Leach—of a selectman for many years, Capt. Benjamin Leach. She proved a blessing to me and my family, a true wife and a faithful Christian mother."

Incorporated 1903

Mrs. E. C. Swift, her sister, Mrs. sister, Mrs. Bailey, of Lowell, and Mrs. Ransom, sailed from Boston Tuesday on the Saxonia for a few months' tour of England and the continent. They will return to Pride's in the early summer.

Charles O. Billings of Newton and a party of friends came down to Magnolia by auto Sunday and spent the day at Mr. Billings' cottage on the shore road.

The North Shore colony will be well represented at the Roosevelt-Longworth wedding next Saturday at Washington. Quincy A. Shaw, jr, of Pride's will be the chief usher, and he will be assisted among others, by Guy Norman of Beverly Cove, and Frederic Winthrop of Ipswich. Quite a number will be among the wedding guests, including the Shaws, the Lees, the Gardners, the Searses, the W. J. Boardmans, the Agassizes, the Normans and others.

Mrs. Robert C. Heaton is registered at the hotel Royal Poinciana, Palm Beach.

Mrs. Albert I. Croll will give a dinner dance at the Somerset on the 24th of this month.

P. S. Sears was down to Pride's Tuesday, looking over his new house now in the process of construction on Common Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Mason are being heartily congratulated on the appearance of a daughter at their home on Beacon street, Tuesday, Jan. 30. Mrs. Mason was Miss Persis E. Furbish of Portland, and Mr. Mason is one of the sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mason of Manchester and Boston.

Mrs. Guy Norman, Mrs. Bryce J. Allen and Mrs. E. Preble Motley will retire from social gayeties, for the balance of the season, because of the recent death of their uncle, Gen. John C. Palfrey.

So thoroughly delightful was the automobile tour through southern Europe, which Mrs. Daniel Ahl and her son, Leonard D. Ahl, took a year ago, that they are to duplicate the trip and started last Saturday on the Romanic for a few months' tour. They will return to their Pride's Crossing estate in May for the summer.

MANCHESTER

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Kitfield of the Cove are in Lowell over the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Robinson.

Miss Bertha Edwards returned to Beverly yesterday, after a short visit with Mrs. John H. Cheever, School street.

Miss Ruth Blaisdell is visiting relatives in Haverhill.

The selectmen will give a hearing at their rooms this afternoon on the matter of extending Norwood avenue from its junction with Vine street to Lincoln street.

Miss Jennie Hannable was given a surprise party at her home on Procter street, Tuesday evening, by the members of her Sunday school class, including Miss Hazel Semons, Adele Sjolund, Dora Marshall, Gwendolen Glendenning, Beatrice Long and Annable Lodge. During the evening the hostess was presented with a dark brown leather wrist bag. The evening proved a most pleasant one indeed.

"The Every Ready Circle of 'King's Daughters' in Manchester sent in two barrels containing comfort bags and a good supply of clothing and useful articles which we found very helpful in relieving some poor families among the fishermen. The Congregational Sunday school in Manchester also sent us two boxes of useful articles which we have used in a similar manner." The foregoing paragraph in the annual report of the chaplain of the Fishermen's Institute, Gloucester, presented last week, will be of especial interest locally.

Rev. C. A. Lincoln has been spending part of the week in Hartford, Conn.

Mr. W. W. Main, secretary of the Baptist Sunday School association will speak at the Baptist church tomorrow morning. At the People's evening service at 7 o'clock, when a Lincoln day service will be held (notice is given elsewhere) the pastor will deliver a sermon on "Lincoln: American, Statesman, Christian."

"How to conquer temptation" will be the topic of the Tuesday evening prayer meeting in the chapel, where F. P. Knight will join with the pastor in leading the meeting. Ref.: Matt. 26:41; I. Cor. 10:12-15; Jas. 4:7; Heb. 2:18; 4:14-16; 12:1-4.

The Junior Endeavorers held a poverty party in the chapel Thursday evening, the occasion proving a merry one for the young folk.

At the communion service at the Baptist church last Sunday, the right hand of fellowship was extended to four who have recently joined the church.

A choral society was organized at the parochial residence last Monday evening, through the efforts of Rev. Fr. Powers, there being 37 present, and rehearsals will be started next Monday evening for Easter masses and also for the combined lecture and concert program being arranged for

St. Patrick's day, March 17, in the Town hall, at which time the pastor will give an address on "Irish song."

SHAFT AND HOIST AT THE ESSEX CONSOLIDATED MINES

IF YOU HAD
A MILLION IN GOLD COIN
IN YOUR BACK YARD

ONE THOUSAND FEET BELOW YOUR DOORSTEP

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

IF YOU COULD NOT GET IT OUT YOURSELF

YOU WOULD HUSTLE TO GET SOME ONE TO HELP
THAT IS WHAT WE ARE DOING

We want YOU to Examine Our BACK YARD

JUST LOOK AT THESE FACTS:

We own two and one-half miles of ore bodies in the heart of the mother lode of California; a great plant that could not be duplicated for $100,000; an immense water power surrounded by big producers, shaft 700 ft. deep, 2 large tunnels, thousands of feet of underground workings, $2,000,000 worth of ore practically in sight. And then we want you to join our co-operative organization and get the money. As nearly as we can estimate there are millions buried there. The Morgan mine adjoining the Essex, paid to stockholders nearly $3,000,000 in one year. The famous Utica mine has paid out over $30,000,000.

We want to hear from you if you are interested in MINING for PROFITS, not gambling for profits, not trying to filch wealth from your neighbor's pockets, but creating its NEW CLEAN MONEY from the ground untarnished by the sweat of the oppressed, the tears of the wronged or the hands of theft. Do you care how you make your money? We do. There is a satisfaction in making money honestly which no thief can feel.

REMEMBER that this is Mining; not Speculation. You can buy the stock now at par $1.00 per share. In less time than a year it may be worth ten times this amount.

Send us your address and we will mail you full details of the property. •

Col. H. P. Woodbury camp 149, S. of V., will observe Union Defender's day (Lincoln Day) by attending divine service tomorrow evening at the Baptist church, on invitation of the pastor, Rev. E. H. Brewster. Post 67, G. A. R., and Allen Relief corps will join with the camp in attending the services.

Rev. Dillon Bronson of Brookline, a Methodist minister of much prominence, will deliver the Memorial address on Decoration day this year. Dr. Bronson was a former pastor in Salem.

The quarterly meeting of the Manchester Firemen's Relief association will be held next Monday evening at 7 o'clock.

At the last meeting of Col. H. P. Woodbury camp 149, S. of V., Past Com. L. W. Floyd was given the unanimous endorsement of the camp as candidate for election as delegate to the National encampment at Peoria, Ill., next fall. The delegates will be elected at the annual convention next week in Boston.

The 25th annual Sons of Veterans' convention will be held in Boston on Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 13 and 14,—next week. A duly accredited delegation will attend from the local camp, with headquarters at the Quincy house. The convention will be held in Lorimer hall, Tremont Temple. Among the speakers announced will be Governor Guild and Mayor Fitzgerald. The annual banquet will be held on Tuesday evening.

The 46th Department convention of the G. A. R., and the 13th convention of the W. R. C. will be held in Boston on the same days next week, at Faneuil hall and People's church, respectively. Delegations from both organizations will attend from here.

At the annual meeting of the Helping Hand, of the North Shore lodge, A. O. U. W., this week, the following were elected: C. W. Sawyer, president; E. L. Rogers, vice pres.; T. B. Stone, sec'y; C. W. Fritz, treas.; E. Wallace Stanley, E. L. Rogers and G. P. Dole, directors.

The Haphazard club will meet Monday evening with Miss Annable Hadden.

The Boys' Brigade are to hold a concert and drill in Town hall on Washington's Birthday night. A medal will be offered for the winners of the drill. The concert will be furnished for the most part by out of town talent.

'Tis More a Matter of Experience Than Expense

Consequently 'tis hardly safe to rely too much upon your own judgment—because, of course, 'tis your first try at it—THIS FURNISHING OF A HOME.

Let us have a chat with you as to about the things you want, venture to say we have done this same thing with most of your intimate friends.

And many's the puzzle we have pleasingly solved, many's the surprise we have had in store for those who believed that the furnishing of a home was quite beyond them.

With the vast resources this big stock offers, we can accommodate ourselves to the expenditure of a small sum and stretch it out so that every room will be reached, and things appointed for it that will be tasty and lasting.

Drop in and look this great big varied stock over. Everything good is here, from the

ANNUAL BANQUET

North Shore Horticultural Society Event a Grand Success—Excellent Entertainment Interspersed by Addresses—About 250 Were Present.

Surpassing in every detail like events of past years the annual banquet of the North Shore Horticultural society in the Manchester Town hall, Thursday evening, was one of the smartest events of the kind ever given in Manchester.

The Town hall was not large enough to accommodate the 230 or more who filled the four tables which run the entire length of the room, and one of the tables had to be cleared for a second sitting. An excellent menu

JOHN MILTON:

A PERSONAL INTERVIEW

An Hitherto Unpublished Letter, Supposed to Have Been Written by a Tutor in St. Paul's School to his Brother in the Low Countries

[Mr. Editor: I cannot vouch for the date of the enclosed letter; but it bears some appearance of antiquity, as in the spelling, capitals, etc., but it may have been written later than appears. I submit it to the candid judgment of your readers. D. F. LAMSON.]

ST. PAUL'S CHURCHYARD,

Feb. 6, 166 [obscure].

Honour'd and Deare Brother;

Early yester morning (as I was writing in my closet in the Turret) Betty announced that Mr. John Milton's serving-man was below, and that his Master would be glad to wait upon mee in my Lodgings in the late afternoon. Accordingly about the stroak of four on St. Pauls, Mr. Milton arrived attended by his servant, for he is now Almost compleatly blind. Being seated in the great chair we fell into a moste pleasant and Seasonable converse, first, respecting a solemn Musick which he had lately attended at the Abbey. He spoke particularly and with much Animation of the Hymns devout and holy Psalmes sung in perfect Diapason . . . [illegible] of the service high and Anthems cleare: I was much edified and transported by his rais'd and ravishing Discourse. I doe truly beleve that this wonderful man's majestic and harmonical Soul is attuned to the musique of the heavenly quires, where more is meant thanne meetes the eare.

In speaking of the cause of his Blindness which I carefully toucht upon, hee spake with much gravity of his work as Latin Secretary under the late Lord Protector, and especially his Defensis Populi, and I remarked as I thought a not unpardonable pride in alluding to the effect produced Abroad, "all Europe ringing from side to side," as neare as I remember his words. I was not displeased to see that greate Men are not above humane feelings and Emotions.

We had also some excellent and profitable discourse on the Copernican and Ptolemaic theories. It seem'd to me that my Honoured friend was disposed to the belief of Galileo whom he had mett in Italy; he had not fully convinced himself of its truth, however; and it appear'd that he thought the old plan of the System of Creation with its cycles and epicycles, its Primum Mobile, its crystalline sphere, and its stately procession of the Sun and planets around the Earth as better suited to the Uses of poetry. However I may not have fully apprehended him, and the subject is an abstruse one for wits like unto mine. The question of Rime came upp also for remark, and I suspect that if Mr. Milton addresses himself to some Heroick theme which he seems to have much upon his Mind, he will make use of blank Verse, rhyme, as he said, being no necessary adjunct or true ornament of poem or good verse.

The emigration to Newe-england hath largely ceased. Our Cousin Phyllis is well with her numerous family, except that the youngest has been touched for the Evill. The kings men are carrying a high hand; my Lord F. and Gen. M—k are not in the city; at least none of our men speake openly of their lodging place. Mr. Milton is about to retire with his trusty friend Thomas Ellwood to Chalfont for quiet and study. No more at present. My duty to you all.

Your loving and obt . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Crombie announce the marriage of their daughter Miss Rita F. Crombie to Mr. Robert Ambrose Mitchell at their residence, Smith's Point, next Wednesday evening, Feb. 24, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Callahan returned Monday from a month's trip to Hot Springs, Va.

Benjamin Wade was the lucky man at Allen's market last Saturday morning, securing the leg of lamb offered the first purchaser of $1 worth of goods on that morning.

Miss Rachel Crombie is home from Lynn for a visit of a week or ten days.

Edmund Lethbridge, Alfred J. Cool and Otis F. Bohaker, all residents of this town for years, but subjects of King Edward VII of England, were made citizens of the U. S. this week.

Raymond C. Allen, '97, attended the 33d reunion and banquet of Brown graduates of Boston and vicinity at the American House in Boston Wednesday evening.

Born, Saturday, Feb. 10, a daughter, Catherine Plummer, to Mr. and Mrs. Benj. L. Bullock.

Percy A. Wheaton started Wednesday on a week's trip to Baltimore.

The benefit ball that was to have been held in Lynn for C. L. Bedell will be held in Manchester, Wednesday evening, Feb. 21. Admission, ladies 25 cents; gents 50 cents. Saunders ice cream will be on sale. *

Alfred C. Needham has been invited to join in the trans-Pacific motor boat race of the Hawaii Yacht club, from San Francisco to Honolulu, to start May 5, under the auspices of the Hawaii Promotion Commission. Truly the fame of Manchester as a boating place has travelled far and wide. Mr. Needham says he has no intention of entering the race.

The Beverly Board of Underwriters, including the agents at Manchester, were in session in Beverly Monday afternoon.

Chas. S. Hanks, who recently lectured before the horticultural society, on railroad rebates, delivered the same lecture before the Brookline Republican club last Friday night. Mr. Hanks is thoroughly familiar with every side of the vast question of railroad and railroad rate legislation, and his position on the matter, first reported through these columns, January 20, —a half hundred copies of the paper were sent to congressmen, senators and others in Washington—has been a matter of much comment at the Capital, we have been informed.

A delegation of local music lovers attended the choral festival in the Gloucester city hall, Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

From the monthly compilation of fire losses in the United States, as published by the New York Journal of Commerce, each involving $10,000 or more loss, we note the following reference to the Pulsifer block fire: "Manchester, Mass., business block, $70,000."

Edgar W. Knowlton, who has been a patient at Beverly hospital the past month, as the result of a fall from his team at the gravel pit, returned home Monday.

Mrs. Aaron B. Palmer of Somerville has been spending a few days this week with Mrs. F. G. Cheever, Bridge street.

Mrs. Nettie Rivers visited friends in Salem, Monday.

A Communication

To the Voters of Manchester.

Gentlemen: A story has been circulated without the least foundation that I have pledged myself, if elected as a Selectman of this town, that I would endeavor to remove certain heads of departments from office.

I wish at this time to state that if I cannot be elected without promising to throw down some one else, then I shall be perfectly satisfied with defeat.

It is hoped by many that a chorus choir will be organized in connection with the Sunday morning service at the church as an aid to the services and a bridge covering the interval that will elapse before the reorganization of the Choral society in October. The matter was to be discussed pro and con last evening.

Mr. Fred Knowlton fell from a ladder while painting Monday, injuring his foot and breaking a bone in his nose. The injuries are not proving serious and he expects soon to be at work again.

The Travel class is to meet this evening in Rome.

A grand entertainment is being prepared for next Tuesday evening by some of the younger members of the Ladies' Aid society. It will be comparable in interest only with the Salmagundi party which aroused so much enthusiasm a few weeks ago.

A pleasant whist party was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carrier of Freshwater cove, there being five tables. Valentines in honor of the day added to the merriment.

Mrs. Harry Foster was the victim of a surprise party Wednesday evening, the event being the occasion of her birthday. The guests were for the most part Gloucester friends.

Miss Nellie McCormack of Gloucester spent the latter part of the week with her sister, Mrs. Henry Brown.

Alfred Corrin of Boston was home over Sunday.

Miss Elmira M. Farr and Edison Ricker, both of Gloucester, were united in marriage Wednesday evening at the home of the bride by Rev. Dr. Rider. The bride spent last winter in Magnolia with her uncle, Henry Brown.

William H. Douglass spent Wednesday in Lynn with his brother, Steven S. Douglass.

Mr. and Mrs. John Abbott had with them over Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Howe of Cambridge.

Miss Anna Woodbury has resumed her duties at the Blynman school after an illness of a few weeks, during which time Miss Etta Harvey has been substituting.

Harry Foster was home from Boston Wednesday. Mrs. Harry Foster is in Winchester over the week end, a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Foster.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Knowlton had as their guests Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. William Abbott of Brookline.

John Sullivan of Lawrence was in town Wednesday renewing acquaintances.

Miss Marjorie Severance of Gloucester spent the first of the week in town, guest of her aunt, Mrs. John Burke.

A large number of the local people attended the "Smart Set" dance at Gloucester Wednesday evening.

John Phalen spent the early part of the week in Boston visiting friends.

Miss Wonson of East Gloucester spent a week recently with her sister, Mrs. H. C. Foster.

Miss Ada and Mr. John Wolfe were in Essex a few days recently guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Malonson.

Dunbar--Brown

A pretty home wedding was solemnized Wednesday evening, Feb. 14, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Brown, 29 Orchard street, Gloucester, when their oldest daughter Miss Delia Maria, was married to Mr. Fred Rainsford Dunbar of Magnolia. Rev. Frederick J. Libby of Magnolia performed the ceremony, which took place at 7 o'clock. The bridal party entered the parlor, which was very prettily decorated for the occasion, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by the little sister of the bride, Miss Rena Brown. The ceremony was performed under an arch of laurel leaves.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked very pretty in a gown of point de sprit over silk and carried a large bouquet of bride's roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Caroline A. Brown and Miss Mae Louise Ayers of Worcester. Mr. Raymond Carter of Gloucester was best man.

Following the wedding march a reception was held till 9 o'clock, during which, several piano solos were rendered by Miss Gertrude Reynolds and Miss Rena Brown. A dainty collation of ice cream and cake was served.

A large number of relatives and friends were present from Gloucester, Magnolia, Manchester, Lynn, Boston, Cambridge and Worcester. The happy couple were the recipients of many valuable and useful presents.

The Gloucester Times remarks that I do not practice what I preach. That is true and I am $500 behind the game in consequence. Take the advice of a man who knows by bitter experience what he is talking about and let me write you a policy.

Mr. Hildreth Says Rumor is "Absolutely False."

Editor of the North Shore Breeze.

Dear Sir: If you will kindly allow me a small space in your paper, I wish to announce that I am to be a candidate for election to the board of water commissioners. I also wish to correct a rumor which has gained circulation that, if elected, I would try to unseat the present superintendent. This is absolutely false. And, furthermore, any person wishing for the best interests of the town would not think of such a motive, as his past record speaks for itself.

Delegate to the National Convention

Past Com. Lyman W. Floyd of Col. H. P. Woodbury camp 149, S. of V., was elected as one of the nine delegates from this state to represent the Massachusetts division at the National convention in Peoria, Ill., next fall, at the closing session of the convention in Boston Wednesday afternoon. An enthusiastic nomination speech was made by Rev. E. H. Brewster and was heartily seconded by former chief of police Thos. O. D. Urquhart of Manchester, now of Arlington. When the votes were counted it was found Mr. Floyd received the fourth largest number cast for any candidate.

The convention—25th—was held on Tuesday and Wednesday in Lorimer hall, Tremont Temple. The local delegation in attendance were L. W. Floyd, Fred K. Swett, F. W. Bell, E. W. Baker, Richard Baker, Rev. E. H. Brewster and C. H. Dennis, with headquarters at the Quincy House. Rev. E. H. Brewster was appointed the committee on fraternal greetings.

Honored by State Association

Superintendent George Kimball of Manchester was elected vice-president of the Massachusetts Highway association at its annual business meeting and banquet, held Tuesday at the Copley Square hotel, Boston. Supt. Hassom of Worcester was elected president. The subject of gypsy moths was one of the matters discussed at the meeting. Raymond C. Allen, who is a member, and James Hoare, a guest, also attended from here.

Rev. A. A. Berle, D. D., of Salem spoke before the members of the Beverly High school at the city hall, Monday morning on Abraham Lincoln as a man, a statesman and a friend. Exercises appropriate to the observance of the birthday of the martyred president were rendered and some of the ultra-important papers of Lincoln read by members of the school.

Miss Elizabeth W. Foster entertained a number of friends at her home on Federal street on Wednesday evening with a Valentine party. The evening was a most enjoyable one.

The W. F. Plummer Company has "thrown away the store key," so to speak, and will keep open every hour of the day's twenty-four. This store is the first in the city to keep open all night.

Many young people will be attracted to City hall next Thursday evening, when the Ballou Club will give another of its socially famous concerts and dances. A good time is assured. In the afternoon a sunlight party for the children, with dancing, will be given.

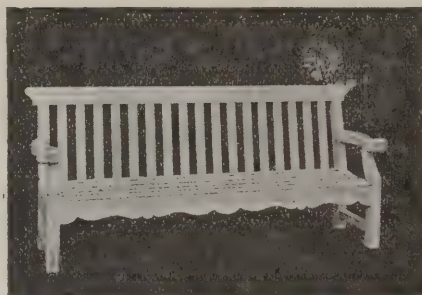

Messrs. Fred L. Trask and Herbert W. Hopkins gave a valentine party to twenty-four of their friends at Mr. Hopkins' home on Madison avenue Wednesday evening. The evening was spent in the frolic with the good patron saint and a jolly good time had.

The reception on Thursday evening to the employees of the U. S. M. Co. proved a decided attraction for a large crowd. Music was furnished and refreshments served.

Miss Florence Mayor entertained a number of friends at her home on Bridge street Tuesday evening. A pleasant evening, with games and refreshments, was enjoyed.

The young people of the Unity Guild have formed a glee club and have elected Joseph H. Williams as president.

Charles A. Hurd is to spend the next few weeks at Palm Beach, Florida.

Miss Mary Bulkeley entertained a number of friends at whist at her home on Hale street Monday afternoon. Eight tables were in play and a delightful afternoon over the cards enjoyed. When the points were counted it was found that Miss Mary L. Woodberry had won first. Miss Charlotte Butler second, while the consolation was captured by Mrs. Dr. George J. Hill.

George H. Pickett, George E. Pickett and Misses Sarah E. Weston, J. Florence Wallis and Myrtle W. Carr left Wednesday on the "Admiral Dewey" for a vacation in Jamaica. Some of the party will stay as long as six weeks on the southern island.

Miss Ruth A. McKay entertained a party of friends at her Atlantic avenue home on Wednesday evening with a Valentine party.

The annual banquet of the Republican club was held in Odd Fellows hall Wednesday evening. The tables were filled with a large gathering of ardent politicians who were welcomed at the feast of good cheer. Speaker John N. Cole of the House of Representatives delivered the address of the evening and was listened to with rapt attention by his auditors.

"The district school at Blueberry corner" drew a large audience to the Dane street chapel on Tuesday to listen to this over-funny production of the doings at the little red school-house. The various characters were faithfully depicted by the young people of the church and proved exceedingly interesting.

Paula Edwardes Scores a Decided Hit

It was a foregone conclusion that in view of a record of many proud achievements in the realm of comic opera that Miss Paula Edwardes would in "Princess Beggar" add another huge success to her credit. Not in a very long time has Boston enjoyed a more thoroughly satisfying performance than that which was furnished by Miss Edwardes and her very superior organization of singers and comedians, and perhaps never before has such a wondrously beautiful arrangement of scenic splendor and costume grandeur been seen upon any stage. In "Princess Beggar" Miss Edwardes not only finds a most congenial roll as the woodcutter's sprightly daughter, but is afforded special opportunity for the display of the versatile cleverness which has always characterized her work. Miss Edwardes' engagement is for two weeks only.

Reception to New Pastor

The reception to Rev. Carey W. Chamberlain, the new pastor of the First Baptist church, Mrs. Chamberlain and Master Carey J. Chamberlain, on Monday evening, was a delightful affair. The chapel of the church was filled with representatives from every church in town, as well as a large representation from the new pastor's own flock. The chapel was prettily decorated with potted plants, and the national colors lent an effective setting to the decorated scheme. The receiving party stood at the easterly end of the chapel, and Deacon Rufus Larcom and Ezra A. Stone assisted in welcoming the guests. For over an hour there was a steady flow of the happiest greetings, heartiest welcomes and assurances of co-operation in the work. The formal greetings were given the pastor in behalf of the different societies connected with the church by representatives from them. Dea. Leland H. Cole responded for the Bible school, Abram L. Crosby for the Parish, Dea. Rufus Larcom for the church, Hollis L. Cameron for the Baptist Young People's union, Mrs. M. Jennie Eldredge for the Foreign Mission circle, Miss Nannie L. Stone for the Home Mission circle, Miss Effie Macdonald for the Junior union, Miss Edith S. Wilson for the Girl's club, Howard K. Preston for the Young Men's club, Dea. Willard O. Alice Hooper Beaton

Alice Hooper, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan T. Beaton, passed away Tuesday noon at the age of 9 mos., 13 days. The little child had been ill for a short time with pneumonia. A relapse followed Sunday, when spinal meningitis set in, and though every care was taken, the young life passed away Tuesday. The burial, Thursday, was private.

Samuel A. Crombie

After a lingering illness, extending over a period of one year, Samuel A. Crombie passed away Monday at his late home on Pleasant street, at the age of 66 years. Death resulted from a complication of diseases.

Born in Manchester in 1840 he has always made his home here. He was a son of Samuel B. and Elizabeth [Cross] Crombie. He was a wood carver by trade, but on the decadence of that industry in this town he followed other lines of employment. For a number of years he followed the sea, but of recent years he has worked as a carpenter.

He was a charter member of Conomo tribe of Red Men, and was the first 4th warrior of the order here, which office he held continually till the time of his illness.

He is survived by a widow, one son, Frank H. Crombie of this town, and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Holmes of Los Angeles, Cal., and Miss Bertha Crombie of this town, also two brothers, Enoch and Benjamin, both of Manchester.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the memorial chapel, at 2 o'clock, Rev. Edward H. Brewster officiating. The pallbearers were Leonard Andrews, Herbert Shaw, Perley Parsons and Charles O. Howe, all members of Conomo tribe, about 35 of which order attended the funeral and took part in the commitment services at the grave. These services, indeed, were very impressive, and as the brothers bade the brother farewell the white dove of peace was let loose and flew away.

MANCHESTER.

Mrs. Fred. M. Johnson gave two at homes at her Bennett street home this week, on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, from 2 to 4, in honor of Mrs. Charles Herbert Florence of Boston, whose husband has charge of the private electrical plant of R. C. Hooper at West Manchester summers. Mr. and Mrs. Florence are to come to Manchester in April and will occupy part of the Charles Hooper house, School street.

Mamie, the little 6-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Lethbridge, Summer street, met with quite an unfortunate accident one day last week. She was playing about the house and in some way fell, breaking a bone in her arm, and dislocating the elbow joint. She was taken to the Mass. General Hospital and is still there.

Oliver T. Roberts of this town is vice chairman of the Essex County Y. M. C. A. committee.

The officers of Seaside Lodge, Degree of Honor, were installed on Wednesday evening by D. D. G. C. of Honor Mrs. Ida J. Nickerson of Gloucester, and suite, Mrs. Josie Melanson acting as grand usher. After the ceremonies, a banquet was served, Past Master Workman C. W. Fritz acting as chairman.

A minstrel troupe from Essex drew a good-sized audience to the town hall last evening.

Thomas Hannabal, of Danvers, who celebrated his 77 birthday Monday, spent Sunday in town with his daughter, Mrs. Curtis Stanley. Though his illness of last winter wore on him considerable Mr. Hannabal is still hale and hearty and is quite active.

was served, and this was followed by an entertainment which lasted over two hours, and when this was over dancing was enjoyed till a late hour.

The success of the event, the manner in which it was conducted, the thoroughly good time which everybody seemed to have, and the representative gathering, including people from Beverly Farms, Pride's Crossing and Magnolia, speaks emphatically of the prestige of the society on the North Shore.

The hall presented a beautiful appearance when the members of the society and their guests began to arrive at 5.45. Upwards of half a hundred vases of beautiful cut flowers and potted plants, interspersed with colored candles, adorned the tables, and the stage was banked with ferns and palms and some flowering plants. Among the choicest flowers were carnations, lilies of the valley, charizema, storks and cyclamen.

It was 6.20 o'clock when President James Macgregor called the gathering to order. Rev. C. A. Lincoln asked divine blessing, and the 200 at the tables were soon busy discussing the menu.

There were present, as guests of the society, some 20 members of the Gardeners and Florists' club of Boston, including President James Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Finlayson of Brookline; James Farquhar, the well known seed dealer of Boston; W. J. Stewart, editor of Agriculture, of Boston; Thos. H. Meade, J. W. Duncan of Boston; E. L. Pierce, Thos. Benwell of Cambridge; Daniel Iliffe of Somerville; Wm. Miller of Lynn; George Barker of Swampscott; Mr. and Mrs. Julius Heurlin, Braintree, and J. Geveneau of Boston. Some of the party came down from Boston on the forenoon train to Pride's, and were driven to various of the summer estates along the shore, going to the W. S. Spaulding, Judge Moore and W. B. Thomas estates at Pride's, to Jas. B. Dow's greenhouse at the Farms, to the Miss Adele G. Thayer and R. C. Hooper estates at West Manchester and to the MacMillan estate at Manchester. They were escorted around by Messrs. Shaw of the Judge Moore estate, James Macgregor and H. W. Clark, lunching with the last two named. They were driven about in a barge offered by courtesy of Connolly Bros.

At 7.10 Pres. Macgregor again called the gathering to order. He stated that the flowers on the table were to be distributed among the sick in town.

Rev. Wm. F. Powers was then called upon for remarks. He prefaced his remarks by telling a couple of stories of John Phoenix, the humorist. "You and I have a kindred work" he said, continuing, "we do what we can to develop that which is highest in creation—life. The clergy fosters man's spiritual life; the gardener gives his thought and his devotion to the beautiful,—the lives of vegetables.

"It has been said that when a man gets up and talks on nothing to people who know less than nothing,—that is philosophy. Now I do not intend to talk on philosophy.

"You are historians of life and as your intelligence devotes itself to the evolution of this—that kind of plant you come nearer to understanding the grand mystery of creation and you know more of what life means. And thus you get to know more about animal life.

"Sentiment is something we cannot leave behind. A world without sentiment can have no appreciation of the beautiful."

James B. Dow of Beverly Farms was next called upon. Mr. Dow reviewed in brief the history of the society, telling of its work in the five brief years of its existence, telling how the society was formed through the efforts of five men, one of whom was the present president. The society now numbers 160 members. Twenty-four subjects have been discussed at the meetings during the year, half of which had to do with the growth of plants and flowers; six had to do with culture of vegetables, and one was a lecture on village improvements. The speaker asked for the co-operation of all in making the society stronger, and the benefiting the town by beautifying it.

Miss Carolyn E. Allen then sang "Pretty Little Kate" by Baring, in her usual pleasing manner, and when called back for an encore she sang Nieblinger's, "The Robbins."

Rev. E. H. Brewster made one of his characteristic addresses. "I think the great success of this society is due to your environment," he said. "You have the sea, the trees, the hills, the blue sky and everything you could want." He spoke of horticulture as promoting two kinds of culture—the truth culture and the heart culture.

Mr. James Farquhar gave an interesting account of the conditions of horticulture as he found it on a recent visit to Porto Rico, which place he thought would some time be the winter home of many New Englanders.

Supt. of Schools Fish read one of Sam Lawson's stories, "Miss Ellicon's Picture," which kept the audience in one constant roar of laughter.

John Duncan, the New England representative of the Florists' Exchange of New York, was next called upon for remarks. He congratulated the citizens of Manchester on having such a beautiful town. It was 20 years ago, he said, since he first became acquainted with the North Shore. Since that time Manchester has changed wonderfully. "We were much impressed today," he said, "by the splendid quality of carnations grown here. Your president told me it was the soil, but it is the men you have here who accomplishes these things. These horticultural societies are doing a great deal of good everywhere."

Rev. C. A. Lincoln then favored the company with a beautiful Spanish song, "The Sword of Ferrara," by Bullard, and he sang "Phosphorescence" as an encore.

Miss Harriet Brewster, whose readings are always greatly enjoyed, read "Salvador's Race" and "Jim Bloodsue."

James Wheeler, president of the Gardeners' and Florists' club of Boston, was then called upon for remarks. The speaker said the society had been referred to as an infant, but he thought it was a pretty large baby for five years old. The society was doing a grand work, he thought. He spoke, too, of the natural beauties of Manchester.

After a selection by Riordan's (High school) orchestra, which, by the way, played their several selections in a most complimentary manner, Miss Gertrude B. Goldsmith sang "Spring has Come," by White, and as an encore, Gaynor's "The Slumber Boat." Miss Goldsmith later sang Giebel's Pickaninny Song.

Allen S. Peabody's graphic description of a sure cure for rheumatism—the bee cure—took the house by storm. He read "The Old Clock" as an encore.

Miss Allen again entertained, singing "The Swallows," by Cowen, and when called back sang "Mighty Lak' a Rose," by Nevins. Another reading by Miss Brewster brought the entertainment to a close. The hall was then cleared of seats and dancing was enjoyed the balance of the evening, with Leon W. Carter as prompter.

The committee in charge was composed of W. B. Jackson, chairman; Frank B. Rust, Herbert W. Clark, John Baker and Robert Mitchell.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1906.

Manchester paid a county tax this year of $12,506.03, while that of our neighbor, Essex, was only $1,172.17, and Gloucester $21,416.24.

The amount paid to the state by Manchester the past year for dog licenses, according to the county treasurer's report, just issued, was $345, $278.75 of which was returned. The damage done by dogs in Manchester was $33.40, of which Fred K. Swett as appraiser received $8.40 and George E. Hildreth, for damages, $1; Mrs. Mary Tenney, $5; Mary Bigwood, $3; John Baker, $2; Obed Carter, $3; Frank P. Tenney, $1; Francis M. Whitehouse, $10.

WHISPERINGS

"O Love! what is it in this world of ours which makes it fatal to be loved?" "Love bears within its breast the very germ of change." These two verses from Byron have been suggested as most suitable subjects for the next meeting of the Haphazard club of Manchester.

"The Lookout" in the Gloucester Times makes a slight rap at my friend Geo. E. Willmonton in the following manner:

"In reading an account in the North Shore Breeze of the fire which destroyed the Pulsifer block in Manchester recently, I noticed that the insurance agent who carried a great deal of the insurance of the tenants of the block and also had his own office there, had no insurance on the latter, I can imagine how some of his friends and customers must have rubbed it into him after they found it out about preaching insurance to them and carrying none on his office. It seems like a case of the old minister, who when caught by one of his parishioners in something against which he had especially warned his flock, in a sermon, remarked 'My brother, you should do as I say and not as I do.'"

Additional Water

Supply for Manchester

Freeman C. Coffin, the well-known civil engineer and expert in water works construction, who was engaged by the Water Department to investigate the matter of additional water supply and better service for Manchester, has made his report. He presents two plans,—one for the development of the Beaver Dam Meadow project, and the other, more as a substitute plan, of a temporary nature.

The board, not knowing how best to decide upon the matter, and which of the plans to recommend, presented the scheme before the finance committee, fire engineers and other town officials at a meeting called for the purpose in the town hall, Monday evening. The report of the engineers and also that of the State Board of Health was read by F. J. Merrill, and several of those present expressed their opinions on the matter. The reports will be printed in full in the town report.

PATRIOTIC SERVICE

In Commemoration of the Birth of Abraham Lincoln, Held at Baptist Church, Manchester, last Sunday Evening

The 97th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln was observed at the Baptist church, Manchester, last Sunday evening, by special patriotic services, which were attended by members of Col. H. P. Woodbury camp, 149, S. of V., Allen Post 67, G. A. R., and the W. R. C.

There were special musical selections, all of a patriotic nature, including two solos by F. K. Swett. Rev. Mr. Brewster read Gov. Guild's proclamation and Lincoln's favorite poem. The pastor delivered an address on "Abraham Lincoln, the First American." He said in part:

"We have assembled this evening to commemorate the life and services of Abraham Lincoln, who, in the minds of men, is coming to be recognized as the pure type of Americanism, and from the noble chapters of his life's history, brimming full of deeds whose fame the American lips shall ever repeat with pride, his character looms up as something distinctively American. He was in possession of these qualities to the fullest extent, which have made the American famous among other races of men.

"He was cast in a rugged mould.

Reared amidst the hardships and rigor of the wilderness, he early learned the heroic art of wrestling with elemental problems. His arms were long and sinewy. His limbs strode forth with the power of a colossus. His shoulders were made for burdens. His brain of steel and sunlight was created for the resistance of frenzies and the ripening of thought. In a day when the lilliputian dandy is admired and coddled, it is well to mark out this characteristic of the great American. Lincoln was a man of grit, as every American should be.

"He studied law until he mastered it. He fought the little giant of the west to a standstill in the arena of debate, though Douglas had had very special training for such work. He snapt in twain the whip of the party boss when president-elect and the great leaders from the east came west to dictate his policy. When the nation in gloom received blow after blow at its heart during the struggle of four long years, he kept his finger on the war map and called again and again for men.

"Lincoln was a man of tenderness. He was a gentle man. He loved children. His ear was ever open to the widow's cry. He hated slaughter. The terrors of war weighed upon his heart. It is the glory of Americans that tenderness of heart is a characteristic of the common people. He was a man of faith. He appreciated the utter impossibility of successfully conducting the war for the Union without the help of God. Upon leaving his home at Springfield for the national capital he addressed his friends in a most familiar way, expressing his convictions that if God would be with him as in the days of revolution He was with Washington, he should succeed.

"Near the close of the struggle, ere the battle of Gettysburg had been fought, the great Lincoln pleaded the cause of liberty at the Throne of Grace, and in those moments of communion with his Maker received the assurance of ultimate triumph. Assembling these qualities in review, we come to revere Abraham Lincoln as the first American whose life has been absorbed into the constitution of the nation, and evermore finds expression in the indomitable patience of our people, their love of country and faith in God."

WEDNESDAY EVENING CLUB

Excellent Program Carried Out at the February Meeting This Week—Rev. Dr. Williams of Gloucester Spoke on Lincoln

One of the most talented entertainments offered since the Wednesday Evening club started was that of the February meeting this week. Miss Olga Lyche, pianist, and Miss Anna Christensen, soloist, are both Boston concert artists, and Mr. Bryce Hayden of Haverhill is a young man of rare ability as a violinist, while Mrs. Archibald Miller is a well known Brookline singer.

Rev. Dr. Williams of Gloucester, formerly of Cambridge, was the speaker of the evening. He spoke on Lincoln, and said in part:

"You have read a great deal about Lincoln the last few days, yet very few of us realize the greatness of that man. As we study him, we study the institutions of this country. He was wrapped in poverty, but he met all the hardships and conquered them. Lincoln stories are great because he told them, and they are of such character as he would tell anywhere.

"Lincoln was his own teacher. He was a student of men as well as books. He gleaned from people what they knew. He had the spirit of patriotism; he had the practical spirit which got there."

The speaker told of Lincoln as a soldier and lawyer, and of his nomination and election as president, of the trying times with his cabinet, and of the Greeley commission. Examples of Lincoln's courage and of how he made a general, were very interestingly told.

McClellan, he said, was a good organizer and drill master, but he was not a fighter; Hooker could hold a place when he got it; Scott could fight when the battle was brought to him; Mead thought all he had to do was to defend northern territory, while Hallock dashed but couldn't follow. Then along came Grant, a quiet man, but he was a fighter. People tried to persuade Lincoln not to use him because of his habits, but Lincoln said he was a fighter, and that was what he wanted.

As a statesman Lincoln was judicious and conservative and he was a prophet and a seer.

Following is the program:

- Violin solo, "Cavatina" Raff
- "Wiegenlied" Hauser
- Mr. Bryce Hayden.
- Vocal solo, "Life's Lullaby" Mrs. Archibald Miller.
- Piano solo, (a) "Concert Study" Backer-Groendehl
- (b) "March of the Dwarfs" Grieg
- Miss Olga Lyche.
- Vocal solo, (a) "Nightingale Song" .. Nevins
- (b) "The Slumber Boat" ... Dana
- Miss Anna Christensen.
- Address, "Lincoln" Rev. Dr. Williams.
- Intermission.
- Piano solo, "Romanze" Sibelius
- "Staccato Caprice" Vogrich
- Miss Lyche.
- Vocal solo, (a) "A Song of May" Lang
- (b) "My Dear Jerushy" .. Gaynor
- Miss Christensen.
- Reading, "The Widow's Band Box" C. E. Fish.

WHISPERINGS.

Rainy weather Tuesday carried three of my good Manchester friends, who happened to be in Boston, into Keith's, and from what I hear they had a little show all to themselves.

As they marched down the aisle looking for seats they espied three well down toward the front, but in order to get to them they must walk in front of a couple who occupied seats in the same row. That was well enough. They proceeded, and one had passed all right, but the second, who unfortunately needed a little more room than the average person, felt something under his feet as he stepped in front of the couple, and as he stooped to pick up the object he found it to be the lady's hat; the next step found him walking on a fur neck-piece, but after due apologies the trio were finally seated. Very soon Jim, if I may be allowed to call him that for short, felt something under his feet, and stooping he picked up a handsome silver-handled umbrella. Not wishing to be further embarrassed, he thought he would pass it to his companion. "Is this yours, George?" said he. Always ready with an answer, George promptly responded "Yes." Very soon the couple beside them left the theatre, and as they did not ask for the umbrella it was decided the object had been left there by some other person. Anyway, George now owns a handsome silver-handled, silk umbrella, and Jim is kicking himself to think he should have passed it over instead of holding onto it himself.

DANIEL LINHAN JOHN H. LINEHAN
PRIDE'S CROSSING, MASS.

Mrs. Jonas Hirst of North Beverly spent Sunday a guest of friends in town.

Born Friday, Feb. 9, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Neary.

Mr. Whiteley, superintendent of the E. C. Swift farm at North Beverly, will succeed Herbert W. Clark, resigned, as caretaker of the Dengre estate.

Mrs. Robert Burns of Winchester is spending a few days with her daughters, Mrs. J. Davis Baker, Lincoln street.

Frederick Brasch, at the McMillan estate, claims the first honor thus far this season on chicken raising. He brought out a batch of little chicks Feb. 3, getting 140 birds from 170 eggs. Who can beat this?

Thomas Morse has just bought a new cobblers outfit, and all the latest conveniences for more easily handling the work, and with all shape and sizes of lasts. The inference: when your shoes need repairing take them to Hooper's.

The work of removing the large elm tree on Central street, near the Dunn estate, by Tree Warden Young was completed this week. How little Col. Eben Tappan realized the tree he planted over 70 years ago would have to be condemned as a breeding place for such a pest as gypsy moths!

Mrs. Mary Lane, president; Mrs. Wm. Follett, delegate; Mrs. Eliza Crombie, alternate; Mrs. J. S. Reed and Mrs. Perkins of Allen W. R. C. attended the relief corps convention in Boston this week.

A Life Boat at West Beach?

It is expected that one of the important matters which will come up for discussion at the annual meeting of the West Beach association, to be held in Marshall's hall next Monday evening, Feb. 19, will be the matter of installing at the beach the necessary equipment, consisting of a life boat and all other appurtenances for the establishment of a volunteer life saving station. This would mean that a proper house would have to be provided to keep the boat in, and also a headquarters for a captain and crew would have to be selected, and also others who may desire would also be allowed to help at any and all times, the idea being to have at our beach that which would readily facilitate the saving of life.

It is understood by those who are interested that the life boat and all other necessary equipment could be secured without any expense to the corporation, except that of providing a suitable building, all labor or help necessary for the care and operation to be volunteers under the orders and control of the West Beach corporation.

The official call of the meeting has been posted this week by the clerk. The meeting is called for 7.30 o'clock p.m. The articles call for the report of the board of directors, to choose the usual quota of officers and to transact any other business that may legally come before the meeting. It is expected that there will be a large attendance at the meeting, which is usually of much interest.

The county commissioners last Monday, accompanied by members of the city government, looked over the widening at the Bennett estate on Hart street, and were much pleased at the great improvement which this work has brought about, and on Tuesday formally accepted the work and directed the county treasurer to draw a check to the order of the City of Beverly for $816, the proportion of the cost which is to be paid by the county.

Patrick W. Brady a well known and respected citizen of Pride's Crossing has good reason to be provoked, to say the least, over the fact that somebody else gave his name and brought him into an affair of which he knows absolutely nothing. The facts of the case being that some other man who has lately made Pride's Crossing his boarding place, got mixed up with others in a rough house in a Lynn restaurant and was arrested, the parties being fined $50 each, and the Pride's Crossing man who falsely gave his name as being that of Patrick Brady was held to answer to an additional charge of assault. Mr. Brady naturally feels quite badly over the fact and it certainly is to be deplored that an innocent party should be used to shield the guilty.

At Gravelly pond Monday a nimrod fishing through the ice caught a 2½ pound pickerel, together with several other smaller ones.

Frank Dix was home from New York the first of the week for a few days.

The worry of the Beverly Farms folk over the prospect of an ice famine for next summer were practically allayed this week when Mr. Addison Davis started operations Tuesday at Gravelly pond, in filling his ice houses with a good quality of ice, averaging 10½ inches thick. Mr. Davis in getting his crop was obliged to go across the pond on the opposite side from where his storage house is located, necessitating the cutting of a channel across the pond for the purpose of floating the ice to the ice house, which of course is much in addition to the expense usually incurred.

John A. Morrison, a popular young man of Beverly Farms, and foreman for Messrs. Connolly Bros., writes from Florida that he is enjoying himself there immensely. The weather reminds him of the middle of June on the North Shore, and there are plenty of large and sweet oranges on the trees. He is registered at the Hotel Plaza Rockledge, which is 150 miles south of Jacksonville.

Last Monday afternoon was given over to the observance of Lincoln Day at the local schools. Exercises were arranged by the teachers and carried out in a splendid manner by the scholars. The affair was held in the school assembly hall, and was listened to by the parents and others interested in the work of the public schools.

On Thursday a delegation of Boston gardeners came to Beverly Farms from Boston on the 10.45 train and were met at the station by the Beverly Farms and Pride's Crossing gardeners, who took them in charge, and in barges they were taken to the different estates and greenhouses in this vicinity. Later on the party went to Manchester and in the evening were guests of the North Shore Horticultural society at their annual banquet.

John West Colony, Pilgrim Fathers, at their meeting last evening were visited by Supreme Lieut. Governor Treadwell of East Boston and others high in the order. These were later called upon for remarks, which proved very interesting and were highly appreciated. One candidate was initiated into the mystery of the order.

There is for a few days a vacant desk at Messrs. Connolly Bros. office, due to the absence of Miss Lena J. Voorhees, who, in company with her parents of Danvers Centre, is on a vacation trip, visiting relatives in Poughkeepsie and Hyde Park, N.Y.

The Ladies sewing circle on Thursday evening at the Baptist chapel held a public supper, which was well patronized, the proceeds going toward the purchasing fund of the church.

Don't forget the sheet and pillow case party to be held in Marshall's hall next Tuesday evening, Feb'y 20, and also be sure to provide yourself with a "ghostly attire," so that you may enter into the spirit of the occasion, as the management desire all those who dance during the earlier part of the evening to appear in costume. Long's orchestra is to furnish the music and Parker the refreshments.

John Daniels contemplates soon a combined business and pleasure trip to New York and Washington, D. C.

The pleasant weather and fine condition of the ice at Gravelly pond during the first part of the week offered attractions to many of the Farms people for skating and ice boating, and a number enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Eli R. Hodgkins at their splendid camp on the shores of the lake.

Mrs. Leeman of West Medford is a guest of her sister, Mrs. Wilbur J. Pierce on West street.

Mr. Whiteley, who is at present the caretaker and manager of the E. C. Swift farm on Brimbal avenue has accepted the position of superintendent and gardener on the W. D. Denegre estate, which position on March 1 becomes vacant by the resignation of Mr. Herbert Clark.

The lecture and stereoptican views on the "Passion Play," given by Rev. Nicholas R. Walsh at St. Margaret's church last Monday evening, was enjoyed by a large audience who found the entertainment very interesting, and it was no doubt productive of much good.

His large circle of friends and acquaintances are very sorry indeed to hear of the continued illness of Mr. Harvey M. Hodgkins at his home on Greenwood avenue. At this writing however, he is reported to be improving.

Preston W. R. C. 188 have arranged an elaborate program and made all arrangements for exercises on Washington's birthday in Marshall's hall, to which Preston Post 188, and associates have been invited.

Rev. and Mrs. Clarence Strong Pond will leave Monday for a week's visit with relatives of the latter on the South Shore.

Bass River lodge of Odd Fellows are to hold a fair in Beverly soon and every Beverly Farms resident will be given an opportunity to contribute to the cause, either by a donation of articles or by a distribution of cash at the fair.

Herbert Betts, whom we reported last week as having resigned his position at the E. C. Swift estate, has decided to remain there.

Thomas Murray, the popular clerk at Varney's drug store, has tendered his resignation to accept the position of assistant postmaster at the Pride's Crossing post office.

Chas. W. Day and Theo. A. Holmes, Andrew Standley and Eben Day represented Preston Post 188 at the G. A. R. Encampment in Boston this week and also stopped over for the campfire in the evening.

Messrs. Charles H. Trowt, James B. Dow, Postmaster Elmer Standley and Rep. William R. Brooks represented the Ward 6 republicans at the banquet of the Republican club in Beverly on Wednesday evening, at which Speaker Cole and Representative Luce were the principal after-dinner speakers.

The busiest day of the season at the Farms was Valentine day. The local stores sold out their supply early and the postmaster and assistants were busy all day in handing out to some love missives and to others "knocks."

Past Pres. Mrs. Gauld, President Mrs. Elmer Standley and Delegate Mrs. A. L. Preston, of the local W. R. C. attended the convention in Boston on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Alderman Rob't E. Hodgkins, who has been ill for some time, has so far improved, as to now be able to get out for a short time each day.

The whist party and dance of the Hardy club in Marshall's hall Tuesday evening, the first public appearance of the new organization, proved a grand success, not only as a social event but in a financial way as well. The hall was well filled, there being 16 tables. Misses Bessie Williams and Violet Batchelder were the winners of the ladies' prizes, and Frank Gaudreau and George Dix of the gents' prizes. Dancing was enjoyed till 1 o'clock, following the whist, with Jerry Twoomey, the president, in charge of the floor. Music was by local talent.

Beverly Farms Pastors

Spoke of Abraham Lincoln

At the Beverly Farms Baptist church Sunday evening Rev. Clarence Strong Pond, the pastor, spoke on "Abraham Lincoln, the first American," before a good-sized congregation.

"It is not my purpose to review the events of the life of the greatest American," said he in part, "for with these we have been familiar since childhood, nor to magnify his oratory or his writings, for these are in place on the lecture platform or the students assembly, nor to praise and honor him as a martyred hero, this is for the historian and the poet; but tonight we would know the man and his personal power. We would see Abraham Lincoln as a great soul. Abraham Lincoln was a noble example of sane and sensible religion. An upright Christian, he know how to walk and work with God.

"Abraham Lincoln forged his own way and hewed out his own destiny, character and personality. The ministration of home, school or church he knew not. His life is the one grand and glorious light shining in the darkness that refutes forever the doctrine of character as only the product of inherited worth and the mould of environment. Water cannot rise above its source level. Can character rise higher than heredity and environment? Yes, a thousand times yes, by the hidden power of a mighty will touched by the power of an Almighty God.

"Abraham Lincoln's potential power of greatness was such an indomitable will, expressed in patience, the active and not the passive virtue, in perseverance, the reach upward, and in pluck (not luck), the heart that forces life blood into every worthy ambition. These were his great guides to progress and prosperity and honor."

Mr. Pond emphasized the points that Lincoln never entertained unfair means for progress, he was morally strong and courageous and he knew God and learned the ineffable power of personal prayer.

Herbert G. Ricker

Herbert G. Ricker, a former chief of police of Manchester, passed away at Lynn, Sunday, at the age of 49 years. Born in Rockland, Me., in 1857, he has spent most of his life in this section. He lived for some years in Manchester, being on the police force in 1885 and '86, and superintendent of police the latter year. He married a Manchester girl, Miss Emma Kerr, who survives him, as also do two sons, John N. and Wesley K. Ricker, a daughter, Miss Frances E. Ricker, a brother, Chas. P. Ricker of Waltham, and a sister, Mrs. A. M. Stevens. Up to the time of his sickness he was in the paper hanging, painting and decorating business, being foreman for a Lynn contractor. Death was due to heart failure and kidney trouble.

Mr. Ricker was the son of the late Lieut. John W. Ricker of Newburyport. He came to reside here in 1883. He was a charter member of North Shore lodge, A.O.U.W. and was the first Master Workman of that order. Funeral services were held at his late residence Tuesday afternoon, Rev. H. J. Covill officiating. Interment was at Pine Grove cemetery.

Hattie E. Crombie

Miss Hattie E. Crombie, a native of Manchester, passed away at her home in Lynn a week ago Thursday. She was brought here for burial Monday. Her age was 54 years, 10 months.

Miss Crombie was a daughter of the late John H. and Hannah Crombie, old-time residents of Manchester. After the death of her parents, with a brother and sister, she removed to Beverly and afterward to Lynn, where she was held in the highest esteem.

Funeral services were held at her late residence, 308 Essex street, Lynn, Sunday afternoon, a number of relatives attending from here.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Mitchell and Miss Naneen Mitchell are on to Washington for the Longworth-Roosevelt nuptials today, Miss Mitchell leaving Manchester the middle of the week and Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell going yesterday. Mr. Q. A. Shaw 2d, Miss Mitchell's fiance, is in the party. The Mitchells, by the way, will go to Palm Beach for a month or six weeks, before returning to Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Moore, who have only recently returned from the automobile races in Florida, left Pride's Tuesday morning for Washington, where they are included among the guests of the big event today. They will be joined in a day or two by their children, and will spend the balance of the winter there.

Mr. E. C. Swift starts today for a trip of a week or ten days to Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Higginson, jr., (Hetty Sargent) are now settled at their London home, having taken a house on Sloane street, where they will no doubt be called upon to entertain a number of their Boston and North Shore friends during the winter. Hon. T. Jefferson Coolidge of Manchester, Mrs. Higginson's grandfather, is shortly going over, and early next month Miss Eleanora Sears, her cousin, with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Sears and their little daughters, will make them a visit.

Among the North Shore folk who are attending the grand social event of the year in Washington today,—the Longworth-Roosevelt wedding, are Miss Eleanora Sears, Mrs. Reginald Gray, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Fessenden, Robert Saltonstall, Philip Saltonstall, Mr. and Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, Francis Peabody and Mr. and Mrs. George Lee.

Miss Barbara Higginson is to start on a trip soon with some New York friends for the Bermudas, to be absent a month.

Mrs. Robert C. Hooper, Mrs. Oliver Ames, Mrs. Lester Leland, Mrs. Gordon Abbott, Mrs. Wallace Goodrich and Mrs. R. S. Bradley are among the North Shore ladies who are patronesses for the coming fair at the Somerset of the Crippled Children's Industrial school

We own two and one-half miles of ore bodies in the heart of the mother lode of California; a great plant that could not be duplicated for $100,000; an immense water power surrounded by big producers, shaft 700 ft. deep, 2 large tunnels, thousands of feet of underground workings, $2,000,000 worth of ore practically in sight. And then we want you to join our co-operative organization and get the money. As nearly as we can estimate there are millions buried there. The Morgan mine adjoining the Essex, paid to stockholders nearly $3,000,000 in one year. The famous Utica mine has paid out over $30,000,000.

We want to hear from you if you are interested in MINING for PROFITS, not gambling for profits, not trying to filch wealth from your neighbor's pockets, but creating its NEW CLEAN MONEY from the ground untarnished by the sweat of the oppressed, the tears of the wronged or the hands of theft. Do you care how you make your money? We do. There is a satisfaction in making money honestly which no thief can feel.

REMEMBER that this is Mining; not Speculation. You can buy the stock now at par $1.00 per share. In less time than a year it may be worth ten times this amount.

Grade Crossings

The attorney-general has submitted to the legislature a list of the different grade crossings pending in the commonwealth, among which we note the following of local interest:

"Manchester—Directors of the Boston and Maine Railroad company, petitioners. Petition for the abolition of Summer street crossing. George P. Sanger, Edward B. Bishop and Charles A. Putnam appointed commissioners. Commissioners' report filed. Andrew Fiske appointed auditor. Auditor's first report filed. Pending."

We have been unable to find out to what crossing this refers, unless it be the old county road crossing, long obsolete, formerly a continuation of Summer street into Forest to the Cove. The Summer street crossing was discontinued several years ago, when the elevation of the track was raised and the road built under the bridge.

NEW AUTO GARAGE

Geo. F. Dyer Leases the Swett Stable Property from M. J. Callahan and will Conduct a First-Class "Auto Stable"

The announcement that there is to be in Manchester an automobile garage, first-class and up to the mark in every detail, will be an interesting bit of news to North Shore folk who have heretofore had to have their autos "doctored" in Boston, Lynn or Salem, when anything out of the ordinary line of repairs was necessary.

The man behind the scheme is George F. Dyer, the well-known machinist, who has conducted a machine shop for the past few years near the Manchester railroad station.

Mr. Dyer has taken a lease this week of the property, corner of Pine and Bennett streets, Manchester, known as the Swett stable property, bought last year by M. J. Callahan. Work has already been started in putting this in repair and by April 1st, it is thought, it will be transformed into an auto garage capable of handling any and all kinds of work apropos to the auto trade.

"Dyer's Auto Depot" will be the designation of the new garage. New machinery is to be installed, with gasoline engine as power. Everything pertaining to a first-class machine shop will be installed, and the special appliances for handling auto repair work will be put in. Mr. Dyer contemplates also putting in a charging plant for electric cars and he will sell supplies and all kind of auto accessories, including two kinds of gasoline,—the Lenox and Standard Oil Co's.

When put in condition the garage will be the largest on the shore, and its central location at Manchester, on the main line of travel along the shore from Beverly to Magnolia and Gloucester, will no doubt make it the central point for repairs, supplies and for storage as well, as there will be accommodations for over 40 cars at one time.

Mr. Dyer's experience in machine work and the amount of work he has been called upon to do along this line, under the limited conditions under which he has worked in the past already assures him success in his new venture. He will keep his place open day and night. It is probable he will have the agency for one or two good makes of cars.

Breeze advertising pays.

Elaborate Exercises at Farms,

In Honor of National Heroes

Elaborate exercises were held at the Beverly Farms school, from 2 to 4 p.m., Wednesday, in the form of "Washington and Lincoln Memorial." The exercises were opened by School Committeeman C. H. Trowt who, as chairman, in a very concise and elaborate way, paid tribute to the occasion, dwelling upon the attitude of the school committee towards better schools and regretting the criticism which had been made in the city proper.

After speaking at some length Mr. Trowt introduced Com C. H. Day of Preston post, 188, who spoke upon the object and intent of the occasion and paid glowing tribute to the memories and characters of Washington and Lincoln.

The Rev. N. R. Walsh followed Commander Day and gave a very stirring address upon the life and character of Washington, drawing therefrom the object lessons of Washington's religious as well as civil and military life.

The Rev. C. S. Pond then spoke upon Abraham Lincoln, speaking very happily to the children and taking his subject from a boy in the log cabin through the long weary years, and of the advantages given to mankind by the great emancipator.

Supt. of Schools Safford spoke of the great good performed upon these occasions, not only to the pupils but to the teachers, the school system and the community at large, regretting that any criticism had been made and closing by paying a glowing tribute to the characters and worth of Washington and Lincoln.

Mr. T. D. Connolly spoke upon school life as it was forty years ago at Beverly Farms, of the hardships then existing and also the attitude of the people in general towards the school system, regretting exceedingly that any criticism had been made of the school committee, saying that beyond doubt outside of any politician no criticism might be made, that instead of criticising the school committee and the school system the criticism should be placed where it belongs, namely: upon the politicians; and Mr. Connolly did not mince his words in stating them.

Mr. S. J. Connolly spoke perhaps in somewhat lighter vein than any of the preceding speakers, as he said he believed that the occasion should not be quite so funeralistic. He made some happy hits upon his predecessor's speeches and finished by paying tributes to the teachers, the school committee and the Grand Army, and asking each pupil to emulate the good examples as taught by the speakers of today all with an idea of better citizenship.

Mr. James B. Dow dwelt upon the necessity of the youth of today taking up work in a moderate way intermingling with his studies and play the things that tend towards character and manhood.

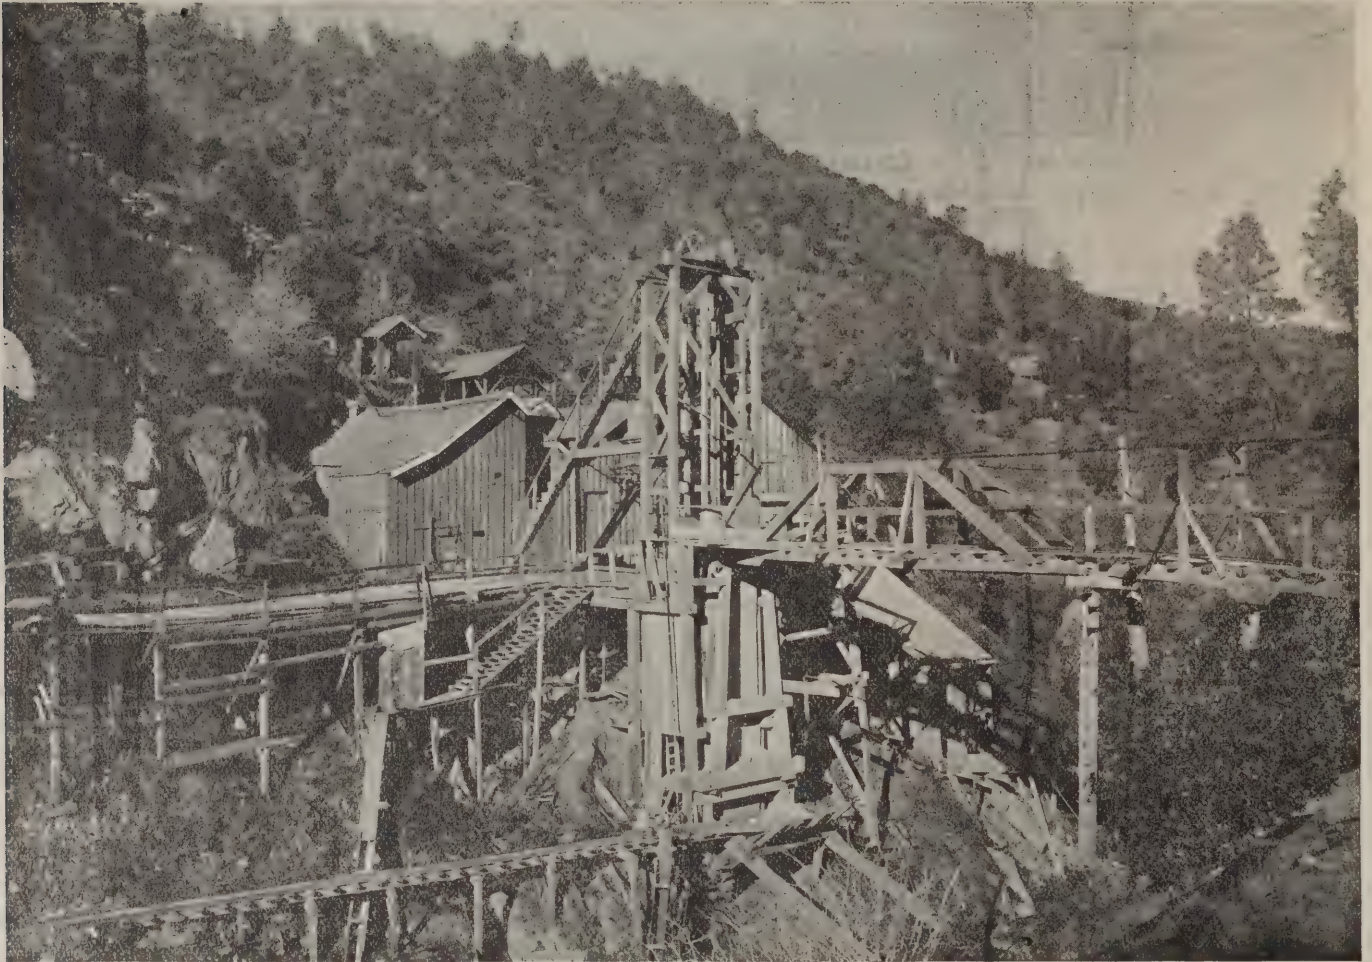

The exercises closed with all singing America. Too much credit cannot be given to the school teachers for the great success made by the pupils upon this occasion. Many selections were rendered and many recitations declaimed, each forming a part of the whole and the pupils most certainly carried out their parts without a hitch.

Patriotic Program Carried

Out under Auspices of W. R. C.

Grand Army hall, at Beverly Farms was filled to overflowing Friday evening, when Preston post, 188, the Associates and invited guests, assembled in response to the invitation of Preston relief corps, 93, the affair being of a patriotic nature in commemoration of Lincoln and Washington. An excellent program, which reflected credit on all was carried out.

During the evening, at various parts of the program, prominent citizens were called upon for remarks, including C. W. Trowt, T. D. Connolly, John H. Watson and others.

SHAFT AND HOIST AT THE ESSEX CONSOLIDATED MINES

IF YOU HAD
A MILLION IN GOLD COIN
IN YOUR BACK YARD

ONE THOUSAND FEET BELOW YOUR DOORSTEP

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

IF YOU COULD NOT GET IT OUT YOURSELF

YOU WOULD HUSTLE TO GET SOME ONE TO HELP
THAT IS WHAT WE ARE DOING

We want YOU to Examine Our BACK YARD

JUST LOOK AT THESE FACTS:

We own two and one-half miles of ore bodies in the heart of the mother lode of California; a great plant that could not be duplicated for $100,000; an immense water power surrounded by big producers, shaft 700 ft. deep, 2 large tunnels, thousands of feet of underground workings, $2,000,000 worth of ore practically in sight. And then we want you to join our co-operative organization and get the money. As nearly as we can estimate there are millions buried there. The Morgan mine adjoining the Essex, paid to stockholders nearly $3,000,000 in one year. The famous Utica mine has paid out over $30,000,000.

We want to hear from you if you are interested in MINING for PROFITS, not gambling for profits, not trying to filch wealth from your neighbor's pockets, but creating its NEW CLEAN MONEY from the ground untarnished by the sweat of the oppressed, the tears of the wronged or the hands of theft. Do you care how you make your money? We do. There is a satisfaction in making money honestly which no thief can feel.

REMEMBER that this is Mining; not Speculation. You can buy the stock now at par $1.00 per share. In less time than a year it may be worth ten times this amount.

An inventory of the estate of the late Charlotte E. Brown was filed Monday for $65,781.00.

Five more Manchesterites were made citizens of the U.S. this week by taking out their final papers at Gloucester on Monday. They were Bernard J. Reilly, John Waldron, Timothy L. White, Domnick Flatley and Patrick Hyland.

The last opportunity for registration before the coming town meeting election will be this evening, in the selectmen's room, town hall, when the board of registrars will be in session.

A delegation of thirteen members of the camp at Rockport paid a visit to Col. H. P. Woodbury camp 149, Tuesday evening, which proved the occasion of a very pleasant time. The members of the post were invited in and after the regular business of the meeting remarks were made by the visiting brothers and others. A collation was served. The local camp and post are invited to Rockport next Thursday evening.

Arthur Walker spent the holiday in Providence with friends.

Mrs. David Fenton entertained a party at whist Tuesday evening.

RESOLUTIONS

Wigwam of Conomo Tribe No. 113 I.O.R.M.
Manchester, Mass., Feb. 21, 1906.

Whereas, God in his infinite wisdom and mercy has removed by death from our mystic circle our beloved Brother, SAMUEL A. CROMBIE, therefore be it

RESOLVED: That in this sad event we are reminded that life is fleeting and earthly pleasures soon fade away, and that we must sooner or later bid adieu to relatives and friends, leaving them to cherish the hope of a glad reunion beyond.

Brother Crombie was an honored brother and a charter member of this Tribe.

RESOLVED: That by his death Conomo Tribe has lost a true and valued member and the community in which he lived an honest and industrious citizen.

RESOLVED: That we tender to his widow and relatives our warmest and tenderest sympathy in this their deep affliction; may the remembrance of his well-spent life soothe their sorrow and strengthen their hope.

RESOLVED: That our Charter be draped for 30 days; and these resolutions be spread upon our records and a copy be sent to the family of our late Brother, and a copy be sent to the local papers for publication.

W. R. BELL,
E. F. PRESTON.
Committee on Resolutions.

The members of Magnolia Lodge 149, I. O. O. F., are requested to be present on next Thursday evening, March 1st. P. Gr. F. A. P. Killam will address the Lodge on his early life on a farm. Light refreshments will be served. A full attendance is requested.

"Greenhouses: Work to be done at this season" will be the subject of the N. S. H. Society meeting next Friday evening. Mr. William Watt of Pride's Crossing will lead the discussion. A number of applications for membership will be acted upon.

The last of the series of whist parties, under the auspices of the Ladies' Sodality, will be held next Monday evening in the Town hall. Tickets, 25 cents. Whist will be followed by a social and dance, with music by Reardon's orchestra.

Reports to be Out Next Week

The Manchester Town Report is to be out the first of next week. The book is to be quite a voluminous affair this year, compared with previous years. It will contain over 220 pages, against 180 last year. Auditor Cheever has introduced several new features, including a recapitulation of the appropriations, expenditures, etc. Engineer Coffin's report on water supply, supplemented by that of the State board of health, comprises about 25 pages.

Mrs. H. C. Foster is spending a week in Winchester with Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Foster.

Miss Nora McCarthy, who has been spending a month with her aunt in Brockton, is expected home Monday.

Mrs. Mary Sullivan and daughter, Mabel, of Lawrence, were in town a few days this week visiting Mr. and Mrs. John T. Comersford.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Foster of Winchester spent the holiday with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Foster.

The dancing class is planning on a dance in Donchian's hall next Tuesday evening.

Miss Dorothy Bohaker of Manchester has been spending her school vacation with Miss Mary Boyd.

Mrs. Frank Abbott is able to be out again after quite a serious attack of la grippe.

Mrs. Timothy McCarthy and daughter, Nora, are planning on a trip to Florida, to start next week. The former has let the blacksmith shop to a well known Jamaica Plain party.

Warren Knowlton has housed all his ice, getting a good crop of 10-inch, sufficient to fill his ice houses.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy French and family who have been staying with Mrs. French's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Symonds, left for their home in Charlestown Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Staples gave a whist party for their daughter, Ruth, Monday evening, a number of her friends being invited in.

The Ladies' Aid society met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Philemon Sanborn, Coolidge's Point.

Miss Martha Wonson of East Gloucester spent a few days this week visiting her sister Mrs. Harry Foster.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sargent had as their guests over Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Neil McKatherine of Gloucester.

Pedlars' Parade.

Magnolia folk who attended the Pedlars' parade and entertainment under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid, Tuesday evening, were afforded a great surprise and all had a good enjoyable evening. The "pedlars" were: Alice Sanborn, Indian maid; Katherine McAuley, apple woman; Mabel Abbott, fortune teller; Frank Abbott, organ grinder with a monkey; Gilbert Crispin, Italian fruit vender; Ethel May, candy girl; Helen Crispin, pie woman; Helen Lycett, cake woman; Edward Wilkinson, a Jew; Susan Lycett and Ruth Scott, flower girls; Daniel Chane, ice cream man;

Mr. Staples, boot black; Marjorie May, sold pickles. After marching around the hall singing their songs they went to the stage and each had his or her "little say." Then those who had laughed so at the performance were given an opportunity to buy of the goods offered by the pedlars.

About $20 was netted from the sale. Much credit is due Miss Alice Story and Mrs. Harry Foster for the success of the event. The hall was prettily decorated with bunting.

A Minstrel Show?

There is a movement on foot, among the members of the Magnolia Young Men's club, to get up a minstrel show, which will probably come off about April 1. The first meeting will be held next Monday and will be in charge of Gilbert Crispin.

Favors J. S. Reed

Editor of the North Shore Breeze:

I would like to have just a few lines of space in your valuable paper to speak just a word for Mr. J. S. Reed, who is to be a candidate for Tree Warden this year. Mr. Reed was the first man to fill the office of Tree Warden, and his service at that time was certainly of a higher order than any service we have had since he was in office. Mr. Reed was always alive to the interests of the town, and was quick to respond to a complaint or abuse of the silent and long-suffering shade tree. No man since his time in office has been as competent to fill this important office. Why not reelect Mr. Reed this year and have a Tree Warden who will do something.

Respectfully yours,

A CITIZEN.

Reduced Telephone Rates

A reduction in the telephone toll rate between Manchester and Beverly Farms and Beverly has been agitated for some time, and the announcement that the rate has now been reduced to 10 cents will be of interest to local subscribers. The change went into effect Wednesday, the 21st. Where formerly it cost a subscriber in West Manchester 15 cents to speak with his neighbor across the line in Beverly Farms, as well as to Beverly proper, it will hereafter be 10 cents, the minimum toll rate charged. The rate is the same for day and night service.

Rev. Gideon Cole, one of Beverly's oldest and most respected residents, died at his home on Pond street, Thursday afternoon, after a comparatively short illness from heart trouble. Rev. Mr. Cole was born in Wenham, and when a young man entered the ministry, holding several flourishing pastorates in this State and elsewhere. For the past decade or so, he had not been actively engaged in his profession, but nevertheless had maintained a strong interest in the work of the First Baptist church, with which he had been long identified. His death will be a sad loss to the church, for he had always been held as an able counsellor and guide and a true man and faithful servant of God. Two grandchildren, Frank E. Miller of Newburyport and Mrs. Walter W. Herrick of Hampstead, N.H., are left to mourn his loss.

The "Mawsim," recently given by the Ballou club, netted $578.30.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Lefavour of Winchester spent the holiday with relatives in town.

Mrs. Roland W. Boyden entertained a party of friends at whist at her home Thursday afternoon.

The budget for 1906, as presented by Mayor Wallis to the aldermen on Tuesday evening, amounts to $458,015.30. The gross debt of the city is $1,580,500; sinking fund, $614,497.52, making the net debt $966,002.48. These figures are of interest to the tax payers.

The Foss Bible class is planning an informal reception to its officers, to be followed by a high-class musical entertainment, for Tuesday evening, February 27, at the First Baptist chapel.

Prof. Edward Howard Griggs will lecture before the Lothrop club on Thursday afternoon, March 1, at 3 o'clock, at the Washington Street church. Prof. Griggs is one of the most prominent of America's lecturers and teachers, and his appearance in Beverly should be greeted by a large audience.

The Beverly Building association is to add a 100-foot addition to the factory occupied by the J. W. Carter company. The increase of business with the firm has been so great that more room was imperative.

The 25th anniversary of the institution of Bass River court of Foresters was observed on Tuesday evening with a banquet at Commercial hall, at which a large company of members were present. The affair was a most happy one and one to be long remembered. Deputy High Chief Ranger Peter Kiernan presented Past Chief Ranger Richard S. Heaphy a gold badge of the order. The committee in charge consisted of W. M. Duane, P. M. Riordan, Daniel O'Brien, Timothy Desmond, Thomas F. Ganley and William M. Shea.

North Shore society is busy talking about the soon-to-come marriage of Miss Rosamond Saltonstall, daughter of the late William Saltonstall, and a long-time summer resident, to Mr. Charles Auchinloss of New York, Yale 1903 and Harvard Law school 1906. Miss Saltonstall is a familiar figure at the many summer functions, and as she is an ardent devotee of sports, is often seen at the Myopia Hunt club and Montserrat Golf club. As Miss Saltonstall is so widely known the prospective nuptials are of more than ordinary interest.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1906.

THE work of Charles S. Hanks, one of our former residents, in collecting statistics and gaining other valuable information on railroads and railroad rebates, which matter is now before Congress, was very warmly complimented from the floor of the House of Representatives, recently, in a speech on the railroad rate bill by the Hon. John J. Esch of Wisconsin. He said:

"In order to show the necessity of publicity of railway accounts and of railway management I shall append and make a part of my remarks a statement prepared by Hon. Charles S. Hanks, of Boston, assisted by George W. R. Harriman, an engineer of large experience, of the same city. These gentlemen, after months of labor and with access to all Government statistics relating to railways, have come to the conclusion that it would be possible to make a uniform reduction of 10 per cent. on railway rates, fares, and charges throughout the country without such reduction interfering in any way with the present rate of dividends on stocks, interest on bonds, or wages of railway employees."

The North Shore BREEZE is now well settled in its new home at the corner of Rantoul and Wallis streets. That enterprising paper has won a warm heart among the summer people.—Salem News.

WILLIAM HENRY HASKELL

Grand Army Man, Keeper of Manchester Almshouse Passed Away Yesterday Morning

William Henry Haskell, keeper of the Manchester almshouse for almost 18 years, passed away yesterday morning at the age of 74 years, 10 mos., 22 dys. He had been in failing health the past year and a half, and for the past fortnight the end has been looked for at almost any minute. Death was due to heart trouble and old age.

Mr. Haskell was born March 29, 1831, at West Gloucester. He worked as a young man at a ship yard in Essex. May 18, 1859, he married Abbie L. Lucas of Manchester, and two years after this when the call was given to go to the front he enlisted on Nov. 28, 1861, from Manchester to serve three years, or during the war. He was mustered in at Readville and served as a private in John T. Prince's company, 24th Mass. Volunteer Infantry.

His war record was a most meritorious one. He took part in the battles of Roanoke, Newbern, Kingston, Goldsborough and Little Washington, N.C. The following abstract sent out by the Soldiers and Sailors' Benevolent society, Washington, last summer, speaks thus of his career:

"The said William H. Haskell was always to be found at his post of duty in all battles and bore a faithful and loyal part in all battles and operations of his regiment. On January, 1863, his back was severely injured while he was engaged in the duty of discharging commissary stores at Newbern, N.C., from a transport to which he had been detailed. He received an honorable discharge at Newbern, N.C., May 28, 1863, by reason of surgeon's certificate of disability caused by injuries, having achieved a gallant record of meritorious service and soldierly conduct at all times. His wife's two brothers, John and Robert Lucas both served with honor in the Union army during the Civil war."

After returning from the war he worked at various occupations about town, and March 29, 1886, he was appointed keeper of the almshouse, which position he held at the time of his death. He intended to resign at the end of this year. He was a member of Allen Post 67, G.A.R., joining March 17, 1882.

SPECIAL NOTICE

TO SONS OF VETERANS

All members of Col. H. P. Woodbury Camp, Sons of Veterans, are requested to appear at the G.A.R. hall, Sunday, at 1 p.m., to attend the funeral services of the late William H. Haskell. Full uniform and white gloves.

Tuesday morning when he realized that the end was near, he called his family about him and made known his wishes, one of which was that Rev. Dr. Rider of Gloucester should officiate at his funeral. The services will be held at Crowell Memorial chapel Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All friends and relatives are invited without further notice. Members of Post 67, G.A.R., and of Col. H. P. Woodbury camp, S. of V., will attend.

Mr. Haskell is survived by a widow, Mrs. Abbie L., three sons, Alma C., George L. and William B., and two daughters, Mrs. Senter Stanley and Miss Grace L. Haskell, all of this town.

MANCHESTER

Washington's Birthday passed very quietly in town. It was observed very generally as a holiday, however. Most of the stores closed before noon, though some of the building operations were continued throughout the day. The weather was ideal and resembled a May day.

We are pleased to report a great improvement in the condition of Mrs. Elizabeth Tappan, who has been quite seriously ill the past few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred. J. Merrill entertained a party of Peabody friends Thursday in honor of Mr. Merrill's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Baker entertained a party of friends at their home on Thursday evening, also in honor of the former's birthday anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Haraden returned from Los Angeles this week, where they went last year after their marriage. We understand they will make their home in Manchester.

Walter H. Moore of Gloucester will be cornetist, and Ira E. Davis of Beverly Farms, pianist, at the special men's meeting in the vestry of the Baptist church tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Harper Blaisdell, '07, and his friend, Lawrence Symmes, '08, Dartmouth College, spent the holiday in town, guests of Dr. and Mrs. Blaisdell.

WHISPERINGS.

After an absence of almost half a year it has returned—the clock at the railroad station in Manchester. It was returned some time ago, but George, the winder, wound the weights up through the top of the clock and it had to be sent back to Boston.

* * * *

Did you receive a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth the other night? Well, some of my good Manchester friends did, I am told. Two pretty young ladies who live on Beach street, between Summer street and the railroad crossing, were the masqueraders. One garbed in a dress suit, with stiff bosom shirt, silk hat, etc., the other wearing an evening gown, presented a very bridgy appearance as they called upon several of the neighbors.

Town Meeting

These are the new candidates for office as far as we have learned: W. R. Bell, selectman; Wm. Dougherty, Curtis B. Stanley, school committee; George Hildreth, water commissioner; Robert A. Mitchell and Jeffrey S. Reed, tree warden.

Mitchell-Crombie

A pretty wedding took place Wednesday evening at Smith's Point, when Miss Rita Frances Crombie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Crombie, and second grand-daughter of the late John Lee, Esq., was united in marriage to Mr. Robert Ambrose Mitchell.

The Rev. Edward Hersey Brewster performed the ceremony which was witnessed by a large number of the friends and relatives of the bride and groom, the ring service being used.

Miss Crombie was very prettily dressed in white silk, with Irish lace trimmings, and carried a beautiful bouquet of sweet peas and maidenhair fern. In her hair she wore genuine orange blossoms, sent from California for the occasion by her cousin.

The bridesmaid, in pink silk muslin with lace yoke, carried roses, Miss Rachel Crombie, a cousin, serving very acceptably in that position, while William Mitchell, a brother of the groom, was best man. Enoch Follett, the little nephew of the bride, acted as flower boy. The bride was given away by her father. The bridal party marched into the room to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played on the organ by Mrs. Ellery C. Rogers. The ceremony was performed in the parlor of the Rockwell house, Miss Diana W. Rockwell, for whose estate the father of the bride is caretaker, very kindly offering the house for the occasion. The decorations were extremely pretty, being of hemlock and roses. The knot was tied under a large wedding bell.

Following the ceremony there was an informal reception. Refreshments were served, Misses Ruth J. and Alice L. Blaisdell, Grace M. Prest, Grace E. Haraden of Gloucester, and Miss Gertrude L. Appleton of Hamilton, serving.

The wedding presents were numerous and very pretty, and included a handsome silver service from Dennis & Campbell and Mr. Allie Allen, where the bride was bookkeeper. Despite the pelting rain without, a hundred or more guests found their way to the Point to congratulate the happy couple, who are now house-keeping, corner Friend's court and School street.

John Lomasney

John Lomasney, an old and respected citizen of Manchester, passed away at the home of his son in Beverly Farms Thursday. Funeral services were held at the Sacred Heart church this morning. He was 80 years old.

Though a native of Ireland Mr. Lomasney has spent practically all his life in Manchester, coming here in young manhood. For about 55 years he was employed by the Knight family, first with Mr. John Knight at the tannery, and after that he was with Samuel Knight & Son.

He is survived by four sons, William of Manchester, Frank I. of Beverly Farms, John H. of Beverly and Edward Lomasney.

PRIZE DRILL

Big Crowd attend B.B.B. Event in Manchester Town Hall

The Manchester town hall was filled on Thursday evening with friends of the young men of the Boys' Brigade, under whose auspices a Washington memorial concert was given. The prize medal offered in the drill was by Joseph Floyd.

A delightfully interesting program was offered, the numbers being for the most part by out-of-town talent. The Bobolink Club of Beverly, sung several selections, all of which were enthusiastically received and Master Harry Silberman, a young Jewish lad of about 14 years, showed marks of genius on the violin. He has a remarkably fine touch and can handle his instrument with hand of an artist. He played "Airs and Variations," by Duncla, and "De Concert Andante and Allegro", by Leonard, and several encores.

Miss Pauline Transfaglia, a talented young Italian pianist, played two selections. She is a young lady of rare accomplishments. She played "Mazurka" and "Berceuse" by Gorla.

Fred K. Swett, sang in his usual pleasing voice, Elliot's "Hybrias the Cretain", "Down in the Depths", by Kreusch, and "The Miller", by Petrie.

Miss Brewster's readings were well received, as usual. She read "Little Jack Two Sticks", "In the Surf", and "Flossie Lane's Marriage".

The numbers by Riordan's orchestra were rendered in very fine order.

The prize drill by a squad of 20 boys, was an interesting feature. This was won by Joseph Floyd.

The judges were Maj. Gen. Percy Bridgman, U. B. B. A., and staff, 1st, and Lieut. Gen. E. B. Staple.

TOWN WARRANT

Biggest Warrant Ever Brought Before the Voters of Manchester for Consideration — 66 Articles — Very Little of Great Momentum, however, except those pertaining to Additional Water Supply.

The voters of the Town of Manchester will have for their consideration at the annual March meeting this year (a week from next Monday) the largest town warrant ever offered them. There are 66 articles; yet there is little of great importance to be introduced, except, perhaps, the matter of additional water supply for the town. There are several articles calling for concrete sidewalks, and one article of interest is that calling for a tapper on the Congregational church bell, as an additional fire alarm. The warrant follows:

ARTICLE 1. To choose a Moderator.

ART. 2. To hear and act on the reports of the several boards of Town Officers and Committees.

ART. 3. To choose by ballot the following Town Officers: One Town-Clerk for one year; three Selectmen, who shall also serve as Assessors and Overseers of the Poor for one year; one Collector of Taxes for one year; one Treasurer for one year; one member of the School Committee for three years; one Auditor for one year; one member of the Water Board for three years; one Trustee of the Public Library for three years; one Trustee of the Cemeteries for three years; one Park Commissioner for three years; one Trustee of the Memorial Library Building for three years; one Tree Warden for one year; three constables for one year. Also upon the same ballot, to vote "Yes" or "No" upon the question: "Shall licenses be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquors in this town?" For these purposes the polls will be open at 12 m. and may be closed at 5.30 in the afternoon. Also to choose or appoint all other Town Officers in such manner as the Town may determine.

ART. 4. To accept the list of Jurors as revised by the Selectmen and posted according to law.

ART. 5. To see if the Town will appoint an Appropriation Committee.

ART. 6. To see what action the Town will take in regard to repairs and improvements of highways, bridges, etc., to raise and appropriate money for the same.

ART. 7. To see if the Town will accept and allow the Norwood Avenue extension layout, as made by the Selectmen and to be reported to the Town at this meeting; also to make an appropriation to defray the expense of constructing the same.

ART. 8. To see if the Town will widen and straighten Brook Street, and raise and appropriate money for the same.

ART. 9. To see if the Town will concrete the sidewalk on Pleasant Street between Essex Street and the westerly side of the estate formerly of John J. Parsons, and raise and appropriate money for the same.

ART. 10. To see if the Town will concrete the sidewalk on the northerly side of Central Street, from Elm Street to Pine Street, and raise and appropriate money for the same.

ART. 11. To see if the town will build a sidewalk from the railroad track on Summer Street to the house occupied by Randolph Taylor, then concrete the sidewalk from said Taylor's house to the plank walk at the entrance of Magnolia Avenue.

ART. 12. To see if the Town will construct a concrete walk on the easterly side of Norwood Avenue, from Washington Street to a point at or near the land of the Roberts heirs.

ART. 13. To see if the Town will construct a concrete sidewalk on Pine Street; beginning at Bridge Street, construct concrete sidewalk as wide as deemed advisable up to a point opposite house of Mrs. Sarah Mitchell, thence on westerly side as far as Mrs. Tenney's estate, or as far as deemed advisable.

ART. 14. To see if the town will construct a concrete sidewalk on Beach Street, from the Railroad crossing to the concrete walk now laid on Masconomo Hill, so called, and raise appropriate money for the same.

ART. 15. To see if the Town will construct a concrete sidewalk on Rosedale Avenue from School Street to the Memorial Chapel entrance, and raise and appropriate money for the same.

ART. 16. To see if the Town will appoint a committee to examine and report with reference to the relocation of Bennett Street as ordered by the County Commissioners, and said relocation having been accepted by the Town at a special meeting held January 11, 1904, as per petition of William Johnson and others.

ART. 17. To see if the Town will appropriate money for the purchase of Steam Road Roller for the use of the Highway Department.

ART. 18. To see if the Town will appropriate money for the improvement of the Wenham Road, so called.

ART. 19. To see if the Town will appropriate money for Concrete Sidewalks.

ART. 20. To see if the Town will appropriate the sum of $21,000.00 for the support of the Public Schools for the ensuing year, as asked for by the School Committee.

ART. 21. To see if the Town will appropriate the sum of $300.00 for the maintenance and improvement of the Playground.

ART. 22. To see if the Town will instruct the School Committee to have the New School Building protected from lightning and appropriate $225.00 for the same.

ART. 23. To see if the Town will make an appropriation of $4,500.00 and credits for the maintenance of the Police Department, as recommended by the Chief of Police in his report.

ART. 24. To see if the Town will appropriate the sum of $75.00 for the maintenance of the Police Clock System.

ART. 25. To see if the Town will appropriate the sum of $100.00 for the care and maintenance of the Ambulance.

ART. 26. To see if the Town will appropriate the sum of $4,300.00 for the maintenance of the Fire Department, as asked for by the Fire Engineers in their report.

ART. 27. To see if the Town will appropriate the sum of $700.00 for the purchase of new Fire Hose, as recommended by the Fire Engineers in their report.

ART. 28. To see if the Town will appropriate the sum of $600.00 for the purpose of placing a tapper on the Congregational Church bell as an additional fire alarm.

ART. 29. To see if the Town will appropriate money for the Beach Street Park Improvements, as reported by the Park Department.

ART. 30. To see if the Town will appropriate the sum of $1,500.00 for the care and maintenance of Parks for the ensuing year, as recommended by the Park Commissioners.

ART. 31. To see if the Town will appropriate the sum of $800.00 and soil cart receipts for the use of the Board of Health.

ART. 32. To see what regulations the Town will make for the Common, Dump and Wharf.

ART. 33. To see what action the Town will take in improving the Town Landings and the Channels approaching them, and to appropriate money for that purpose.

ART. 34. To see if the Town will appropriate the sum of $1,350.00 and the surplus Dog Tax of 1905, for the support of the Public Library.

ART. 35. To appropriate money for the Support of the poor.

ART. 36. To appropriate money for State and Military Aid.

ART. 37. To see if the Town will appropriate money, agreeable to Section 15, Chap. 25, R. L. of Mass., the same to be entrusted to the Quartermaster of Post 67, G.A.R.

ART. 38. To see what action the Town will take with reference to the Town Beaches and Landings, also to see what regulations it will make as to the placing of bath houses on and the taking of sand and muck from the beaches.

ART. 39. To see what appropriation the Town will make for the Clearing of Snow.

ART. 40. To see what appropriation the Town will make for the Crushing of Stone.

ART. 41. To see what appropriation the Town will make for the clearing of snow from Central Pond.

ART. 42. To see if the Town will appropriate money for the repairs and improvements on Town Buildings, as recommended by the Selectmen.

ART. 43. To see if the Town will make the following appropriations, in accordance with the recommendations made and appropriations asked for by the Water Commissioners in their report, to wit: We recommend the sum of $3,000.00, together with receipts from services and sale of pipe, be appropriated for services and such extensions as may be called for during the year ensuing. We recommend that the sum of $7,500.00 be appropriated for maintenance of the Water Works for the ensuing year. We recommend that the sum of $500.00 be appropriated for the purchase of meters. We recommend that the sum of $800.00 be appropriated for official salaries of the Water Board for the ensuing year, "$600.00 for the member acting as Clerk, and $100.00 to each of the other members." We recommend that the sum of $600.00 be appropriated for the painting of the Stand Pipe, outside and inside. We recommend that the sum of $225.00 be appropriated for the painting of the dwelling house and barn at the Pumping Station.

ART. 44. To see if the Town will authorize the Water Commissioners to lay an eight-inch main from the end of the present main near dwelling of Martin D. Flaherty on Norwood Avenue to Vine Street, as per petition of Austin Morley et al., and appropriate $1,225.00 for the same.

ART. 45. To see if the Town will empower the Water Commissioners to purchase land and easements for an additional water supply and high service, and carry out the plans of conveying water to the Pumping Station grounds, as recommended in the first part of the report of Freeman C. Coffin, Esq., C.E., and appropriate money for the same.

ART. 46. To see if the Town will install Electric Wiring and Fixtures throughout the Memorial Library Building.

ART. 47. To see what action the Town will take in regard to Street Lights, and appropriate money for the same.

ART. 48. To determine the compensation of the Town Officers and Committees, also members of the Fire Department.

ART. 49. To see if the Town will appropriate a sum of money for the purpose of rebinding the old Assessors' Books and Town Plans, as recommended by the Selectmen.

ART. 50. To appropriate money for the observance of Memorial Day.

ART. 51. To see if the Town will appropriate the sum of $500.00 for the celebration of the Fourth of July, and appoint a committee to have charge of the details of said celebration.

ART. 52. To see if the Town will appropriate the sum of $500.00 for a series of Band Concerts during the summer of 1906, agreeable to Chap. 152, Acts of 1904.

ART. 53. To see what the Town will do in regard to relocating the Band Stand.

ART. 54. To see what action the Town will take with reference to naming the new Primary School Building.

ART. 55. To see if the Town will accept a deed or dedication of a certain parcel of wood land situated on the Essex New Road, so called, adjacent to other wood land so accepted by the Town and part of its public reservation along said road.

ART. 56. To see if the Town will grant the Woman's Relief Corps the use of the Town Hall without charge from February 14, 1906, to March 1, 1907, in all cases where entertainments, dances, etc., are being held for the benefit of their relief fund for charitable purposes.

ART. 57. To see if the Town will appropriate the sum of $1,000.00 for the care of the Cemeteries and the Chapel, as recommended by the Trustees in their report.

ART. 58. To see if the Town will appropriate the sum of $200.00 for the purpose of painting the Iron Fences at Cemetery.

ART. 59. To see if the Town will appropriate $400.00 for the care of Trees, as recommended in the Tree Warden's report.

ART. 60. To see if the Town will appropriate the sum of $3,644.82 for the Suppression of the Gypsy and Brown-tail Moths, in accordance with the requirements of Section 5, Chapter 381, Acts of 1905.

ART. 61. To see if the Town will make an appropriation for the care of Tuck's Point.

ART. 62. To see if the Town will fix the time when all taxes assessed the present year shall be paid, and give the Collector the necessary authority to compel such payment; also, to determine the date when interest shall commence on said taxes.

ART. 63. To see if the Town will authorize the Town Treasurer, with the approval of the Selectmen, to borrow during the municipal year beginning March 5, 1906, in anticipation of the collection of taxes of said year, such sums of money as may be necessary for the current expenses of the Town, but not exceeding the total tax levy of said year, giving the notes of the Town therefor, payable within one year from the dates thereof. All debts incurred under authority of this vote shall be paid from the taxes of the present municipal year.

ART. 64. To appropriate money to cover deficiencies as they appear in the annual report.

ART. 65. To appropriate and raise by borrowing or otherwise such sums of money as may be necessary for any or all of the purposes mentioned in the foregoing articles or reports, and especially to act upon all of the appropriations asked for or proposed by the Selectmen or by any Town officer or Committees.

ART. 66. To act upon any other business that may legally come before the meeting.

The Breeze, one year, one dollar.

THE H. C. FRICK MANSION

Most Pretentious Estate on the North Shore, Now Nearing Completion -- Estimated Cost in the Vicinity of $1,000,000

The Henry C. Frick estate at Pride's Crossing, work on which was started almost two years ago, is now nearing the completing stages. The mansion itself, the stable, the automobile house, the laundry and the gardener's lodge are all practically completed as far as construction is concerned, as will be seen from recent pictures taken, reproductions of which are on the front page of this issue.

It is said that the place will cost Mr. Frick in the vicinity of $1,000,000, to say nothing of the interior furnishings of the mansion, where there may be represented before it is finished, well on toward another million in valuable paintings, etc.

Though, perhaps, not the largest, Mr. Frick's estate will be the most expensive on the North Shore. Some idea of the expense to which Mr. Frick is going, in making himself a summer home, may be gained when it is realized that a fence is being built along the roadway fronting the estate, at a cost of over $100,000.

The work was commenced early in November, 1904. The construction of the house, stable, gardener's lodge, automobile garage and servants' quarters, together with the extensive grading of the surrounding grounds, has progressed simultaneously since then. Excellent weather for out-door work has given the contractors an opportunity to hasten the work the present winter, and it is now anticipated the property will be ready for occupancy by June.

Though the general contract for the work was let to a Nahant concern a great many of the hundreds employed were from Manchester, Beverly Farms and Beverly.

D. Linehan & Son have the sub-contact for all grading, foundations, all stone work, except free-stone work and trimmings. They also have the contract for setting out about 50 maple trees. Their work is probably the most extensive of any of the sub-contractors. The magnitude of the grading can better be realized when it is known that 48,000 square yards of filling was brought in from West Peabody, a spur track having been built at Pride's to accommodate the special cars which came twice and three times a day for over two months. Over 1650 cars in all were brought.

The Frick property was formerly the old Tyson estate, comprizing about 23 acres of well wooded land, with a frontage of about 1000 feet on both sides of Hale street.

Two broad avenues leading to the mansion encircle a wide expanse of filled in land that will eventually be grassed over. One of these branches off into a roadway leading to the servants' quarters and laundry. Half way up to the mansion on one of the avenues is the auto garage, which will cost in the vicinity of $50,000 when completed.

Further up the hill, overlooking the sea, but scarcely discernable from the roadway, is the house. It is reached through a magnificent forecourt encircled with limestone columns, and the entrance has six immense colonial columns of limestone trimmings and fancy brick work. All of the main living rooms of the house will be finished in hand carved mahogany, expensive marbles and teak wood.

A wide corridor extends through the basement, many of the rooms of which are finished in glossy, white Tiffany tiling, two and a half inches in thickness and absolutely fireproof. Most of the wood finishing is of brown ash.

On either side of this corridor or hallway are the various rooms. These include the large kitchen equipped with cooking accommodations that would be ample for a hotel; dumb waiters operated by electricity, a servants' electric elevator running to the fourth floor and lined with Tiffany tiling; a model serving pantry with wide marble slabs for culinary purposes, rubber tiled floors, etc., a refrigerator room, butcher's room, servants' dining room; a securely walled-in wine vault connecting with an unpacking room; three spacious store rooms, a large boiler room tiled throughout and containing two large steam heaters furnishing systems of direct and indirect heating for the entire house; a bellows room connected with an organ on the floor above; waiting and toilet rooms.

Here also may be found a spacious pool and billiard room with magnificent open fireplace and marble mantel and toilet rooms leading from it, all finished with oak dado and paneling.

At the extreme south end of the house is a swimming tank room decidedly Grecian in style, with artificial limestone, fluted columns, marble dado, moulded pilasters and architraves and two sets of dressing and toilet rooms. Hot and cold shower baths are provided for and the swimming tank, to contain about seven feet of water, has an odd shaped bay, around which are to be arranged cushioned seats. Mr. Frick contemplates installing a system of pipes by which either salt water from the nearby cove or fresh water may be turned into the swimming tank, either of which can be given any desired temperature, by a system of condenser form of heating.

On the ground floor of the mansion, commencing at the south end, are the living rooms of the family, leading from a wide and elaborately furnished hallway. There is a glass enclosure not unlike an outside piazza glassed in, a "den" with open fireplace; a large sitting room and library finished in English oak; a loggia enclosed with glass sides similar to a sun parlor; a large drawing room finished in mahogany and marble; coat rooms, toilets, serving pantry, housekeeper's apartments, butler's pantry, fire proof silver vault, steel lined and secured by a heavily bolted door, and the family dining room and a separate breakfast room.

The dining room has mahogany pilasters and columns and cornices with hand-carved mahogany modillions and decorations and teak wood floor in design. There is also a magnificent fireplace. The breakfast room is finished in caenstone and is glass enclosed towards the terrace. The butler's room and serving pantry are finished in mahogany, and a ladies' reception room near the main entrance is artistically paneled.

Glazed bronze doors giving a 25-foot opening into the main hall open through to the approach to the terraces. To the right of the main hall in the staircase hall is to be located a magnificent organ costing about $42,000, which may be played from three separate consols. This is also connected with an echo organ on the third floor.

On the third floor are located Mr. Frick's chamber, those of his wife, seventeen-year-old daughter, and son, Childe Frick, who last year graduated from Princeton University, a governess room, several guest chambers, toilets, closets, a boudoir, dressing rooms and bath rooms. Private bath rooms are connected with each chamber and all have marble mantels and fireplaces. The rooms are finished in English oak.

Many of the hand-carved marble mantels in the guest rooms were purchased by Mr. Frick while he was abroad in Italy and imported to this country especially for this mansion.

On the third floor are the servants' rooms, ten in number, finished in brown ash. In the attic are located other servants' rooms, the elevator motors and two 10-ton water tanks, the town supply of water not having sufficient pressure.

When completed the house will be finished in cremo, black and gold, breccia violet and other expensive marbles.

Mr. Frick makes frequent visits to Pride's, but all the work is being carried on under the direction of his personal representative, George L. Allen of Manchester.

The accompanying half tone reproductions are used by courtesy of the Lynn Daily Item.

BEVERLY FARMS

Mrs. Frost, wife of the late Dr. George Frost, left Tuesday for a two months' absence, to be spent in the South. Mrs. Frost has relatives in various parts of the State of Mississippi, where she expects to be located for a part of the time.

Clarence Williams, a former Beverly Farms boy, is spending a few days with the Edward Mays on Hart street. Mr. Williams is in Uncle Sam's navy and connected with the U.S.S. Des Moines, which is at present in port at Boston.

The Hardy club have during the past week added much to the attractiveness of their room by adorning the walls with some excellent pictures and installing of a combination pool and billiard table.

After several weeks of cruising about, most of which was spent among relatives and friends at Lynn and Swampscott, Capt. J. Frank Blaney on Monday again dropped anchor in the local port, and will within a few days proceed to establish his fish wrier off Chubb's Island.

George A. Breed, formerly of the Henry Clay Pierce estate at Pride's Crossing, has received the appointment of superintendent and gardener on the Hon. Joseph H. Choate estate at Stockbridge, Mass., and shipped his furniture for that place yesterday.

Messrs. Howard A. Doane and John A. Ober, carpenters and builders, are the joint occupants of the new building constructed upon the Stephen Eldredge property, near Pride's Crossing station.

Addison Davis has continued during the week to cut ice, with an average thickness of 10 inches. He has at present housed a sufficient quantity to supply all the needs of his large list of summer customers.

After the regular meeting of St. Margaret's Court of Foresters, last Wednesday evening, the members cleared the hall, and the time until midnight was spent in a social way, including music by local talent and dancing.

Miss Mabel Britton, formerly a school teacher of the Farms and a favorite of the Farms people in general, is being entertained by Mr. and Mrs. George F. Wood, Hart street. Miss Britton has an excellent position in the Everett public schools.

The marriage of John H. Baker of Beverly Farms and Miss Margaret R. Saulnier of Manchester took place on Wednesday, February 21. The couple will reside in Manchester.

It is with sincere regret that we report the serious illness of Deacon Edwin Pride at his home on Oak street. Deacon Pride the first of the week returned from a visit to his son at Winter Hill, Somerville, and after reaching home complained of not feeling well, which, in spite of all care, on Thursday developed into pneumonia. At this writing he is resting as comfortable as can be expected.

Following the business meeting of Preston post, 188, Wednesday evening, the post and associates assembled for their weekly social, and spent the evening in the usually pleasant manner. Mr. Thos. D. Connolly occupied the time devoted to lectures by a description of San Francisco, Cal., and the suburbs as he found it there just a year ago, which was exceedingly interesting and instructive. It was voted to change the meeting night from Wednesday to Thursday.

The park commissioners have recommended the grading of the new playground at Beverly Farms, in their report to the city council submitted this week.

A pleasant evening was spent by those who attended the sheet and pillow-case party held on Tuesday evening in Marshall's hall. Those who appeared in costume presented a novel feature and made quite a hit.

Dr. Fred J. Haynes has accepted a position at the Russell drug store, Boston, until he opens his Pride's store in the spring.

The marriage of Miss Ethel M. Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis N. Davis of Everett street, and J. Albert Mayberry will be solemnized on Tuesday evening, March 6, by the Rev. C. S. Pond. Following the ceremony there will be a reception in the chapel of the Baptist church.

Washington's Birthday at the Farms was observed in the usual quiet way. The stars and stripes were displayed from flag poles and many private residences. The post office had special hours and many places of business were closed. The day, which was more like a spring day, offered inducements to many for trips out of town, and the earlier trains of the day brought into town many of the summer residents and others who passed the day here.

In accordance with custom on the 22d of February of each year, when the city, through its officials, makes an inspection of the fire department, Mayor Wallis, the board of fire engineers, the committee on fire department and other officials of the city government came to the Farms in hacks, arriving about noon time and were received by the fire laddies, who were all in uniform. An examination of the building and apparatus was duly made and some tests pertaining to the new combination hook and ladder truck in the Central square, after which the party were invited to partake of a splendid spread at the G.A.R. hall, provided by Charles Parker. The rest of the time until their departure was spent in a social way. A feature of the occasion was the handsome decorations of the building done by the "Boys" themselves, and particularly worthy of mention was the patriotic designs made upon the lower floor of the building, having been done by the use of different colored sands.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Linehan left Monday for a vacation trip, and will spend a goodly part of their absence at Hot Springs, Va.

Williams--Blanchard

A pretty home wedding occurred at Beverly Farms Wednesday evening, when Mr. Guy Charles Williams and Miss Martha Cameron Blanchard were united in marriage at the home of the bride by the Rev. Clarence Strong Pond. The home was very prettily decorated in evergreen and white. The bride wore a pretty white gown, and she carried a bouquet of beautiful flowers.

Miss Irene Blanchard, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. Williams will make their residence in the near future at the home of the groom on Hart street.

Mrs. H. F. Perkins attended the complimentary lunch to Phil H. Sheridan Women's Relief Corps, No. 34, at Salem, on Washington's Birthday.

The sessions of school were omitted yesterday, the teachers having the day for visiting other schools.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Andrews entertained some Marblehead friends on Washington's birthday, including Mr. and Mrs. John Boughton and A. M. Stone.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Creesey of Beverly were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. P. Dale on the holiday.

Miss Jane Kendall, a former teacher at the high school, has been spending a few days in town this week, with Mrs. John W. Campbell.

Lyman W. Floyd paid a visit to the old homestead in Byfield the middle of the week.

One who saw the crowd boarding the 1.30 train for Salem Thursday afternoon would think the town was being deserted. The theatre was the attractive point.

Miss Eleanor C. Andrews entertained a party of fifteen friends at her home off Vine street, Thursday evening, on the occasion of her birthday.

Society Notes

The Hon. T. Jefferson Coolidge, Mr. and Mrs. T. Jefferson Coolidge, jr., and family and Mrs. Sargent, composed a jolly house party down to Mr. Coolidge, srs., over the week-end. Mrs. Fred. Sears, jr., had been spending the week there, but left Saturday. Mr. Coolidge sails next week for Europe, where he will pay a visit to his granddaughter, Mrs. F. L. Higginson, jr., in London.

Mr. Prescott Bigelow of Boston was down to his Manchester Cove estate Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Whitehouse entertained a small luncheon party at their Manchester Cove house Sunday, their guests including Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner M. Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Head and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Seymour of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Lane, by the way, are much pleased with their new house in Boston. They are to have some changes made to their house at Dana's Beach before their return here, including alterations to their dining room, etc.

The wedding of Miss Naneen Mitchell and Quincy A. Shaw, 2d, it is understood, will take place in Manchester at the home of Miss Mitchell in the early summer. The Mitchell's are now at Palm Beach, Fla., for a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Grew are on the verge of departure for another trip to Egypt to pay a visit to their son, Jos. C. Grew and his bride of last summer (Alice L. Perry), who are making their home in Cairo.

Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Tenney and family of Boston, accompanied by a few friends, have been spending a few days at the Manchester cove cottage this week.

Col. and Mrs. Harry E. Russell are spending a couple of weeks in South Carolina.

Among the summer contingent who were down the shore Thursday, for part of the day were Prescott Bigelow, Joseph Sargent, jr., and Walter Channing, jr.

Among those who were down the shore last Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Hopkinson, Richard H. Dana, Roland Lincoln and others.

Rev. Mr. Pond will preach a sermon on "Assam" on Sunday evening, March 4, illustrated by the stereopticon.

At the Baptist church tomorrow, the Rev. Clarence Strong Pond will preach in the morning on the "Old Testament Teaching concerning Wisdom." In the evening the sixth address in the Old Testament series will be given: "Abraham and Isaac."

The Sunday school of the Baptist church, Willis A. Pride, superintendent, is planning to hold in the near future a Parents' and Welcome Sunday.

The rearrangement of the interior of F. W. Varney's store is a pleasing innovation and offers most improved conditions for handling the business. The store appears larger, and the arrangement is such that the increased line of goods and articles which Mr. Varney has added can be better displayed. The prescription department is now in the rear room. Mirrored doors are to be set in the back of the store, which will give even a better setting to the outlay.

Homer Callahan succeeds Thomas Murray as clerk at Varney's and will start work next Monday.

The Lyceum Course

The Young Men's Lyceum Committee of the Beverly Farms Baptist church are to present next Thursday evening, March 1, the third entertainment in the Lyceum course. The entertainment will consist of two parts, first a musicale and literary program by outside talent, including a soloist and two readers; the second part of the program will be a lecture on Salem Witchcraft by the Rev. C. H. Wheeler. The lecture will be illustrated by the stereopticon. It is to be Ladies' Night. All ladies, whether they receive special invitations or read this notice, are invited to come. No admission fees will be charged for the ladies. The gentlemen are requested to purchase tickets at 25 cents each from any member of the committee. Those who attended the other two entertainments in the course will be sure to attend this one as well.

ANNUAL MEETING

West Beach Corporation Met in Marshall's Hall, Beverly Farms, Monday Evening — Officers Elected.

Calm and peaceful were the waters of the West Beach corporation on the occasion of the annual meeting in Marshall's hall, Beverly Farms, Wednesday evening, compared to those of a year ago when matters of a more serious nature made the waters more turbulent.

The old board of officers were re-elected, which reflects much credit on the administration of the year past. They are as follows: President, James B. Dow; vice president, Issachar F. Eldredge; clerk, Howard E. Morgan; treasurer, Elmer Standley; directors, Wm. R. Brooks, Stephen J. Connolly, Theodore A. Holmes, Andrew Standley and Fred Williams.

The only matter of vital interest, besides this, was that of the United States Volunteer Life Saving association crew at the beach. This was introduced by Thomas J. McDonnell who said that the association would furnish the equipment if the corporation would furnish the quarters, and the crews to be organized among the young men of the Farms. On motion of Geo. H. Bennett it was voted to provide quarters and to leave the matter with the directors.

The meeting was called to order by Pres. James B. Dow, and after the reading of the warrant and the records of the last meeting by Clerk Howard E. Morgan, that officer read the report of the directors, which gave a very comprehensive account of the doings of the corporation for the year.

The report showed that "during the year 1905 no improvements have been undertaken or performed upon the property of the corporation, as the board has confined its efforts to repairing and properly caring for the property.

"During the summer season the conditions demanded the placing of a special officer on the corporation property and the directors applied to the city of Beverly for an officer, the request was most cheerfully complied with, resulting in a great benefit not only to the corporation but also to the community at large.

"It is a matter of great regret to feel that we have in our vicinity so many who do not aid even in a just way towards the financial condition of the corporation. Were it a question of rentals being too high then the matter could easily be adjusted, but as a matter of fact it is the opinion of the board that the rentals for bath house property are too low, the average being a little in excess of $3 each."

The following is a financial condition of the corporation:

ASSETS

Buildings	$1,200 00
Pier.....	3,000 00
Bills receivable.....	276 98
Bal. in treasury.....	50 91
Total	$4,527 89

NOTE—In the above is not included any land property or improvements.

The following is Treasurer Standley's report, Feb. 9, 1906:

Received from all sources.....	$2,978 11
Total	$2,978 11
Expenditures.....	$2,927 20
To balance.....	50 91

Reference was also made to the Preston law suit, which is to be carried to the Supreme court. M. J. Connolly, counsel for the corporation, made a clean and concise report on the case.

The meeting adjourned at 9.15.

More State Highway

The bids for the third and last section of the State highway along the Beverly shore, which was started last year, largely through the efforts of Col. Wm. D. Sohler, and extending from Chapman's corner to the Manchester line, were opened Tuesday at the office of the Highway commission. This section runs from the top of Mingo Beach hill to the Henry C. Frick estate.

J. A. Gaffey was the low bidder, $5,863.40. The other bidders were Connolly Bros. $6,380.90, F. W. Hammond $6,515.30, J. E. Watkins $6,642.95, D. Linehan & Son $6,836.25, Bruno & Mullano $7,284.25, F. E. Ellis, $7,520.55.

The figure includes construction of new surface, cutting the grade at Mingo Beach bill, and blasting sharp corner near the Mrs. J. L. Gardner estate. Work will be started at once. The retaining wall along Mingo Beach will be repaired in connection with the work. It is understood the city of Beverly and possibly Connolly Bros. will furnish the crushed stone.

Mrs. Leslie Carter Coming

After an absence of two years from Boston, Mrs. Leslie Carter will be warmly welcomed at the Tremont Theatre next Monday evening as Adrea in David Belasco's latest play.

She comes direct from a long engagement in New York, where through the whole of last season and a goodly portion of this, her acting of Mr. Belasco's heroine has provided the metropolis with its greatest dramatic sensation. The play will be given here exactly as in New York, and it serves to bring out all of Mrs. Carter's wonderful artistic powers which are already well known to the Boston public through her acting of Zaza and Du Barry. "Adrea" is a typical drama with its scene laid in a mythical Italian Kingdom of a century ago, and every one of its scenes is rich in picturesque effects and strong situations. Never before has Mrs. Carter had so strong a role, and never before has Mr. Belasco enriched a play with such wonderfully beautiful scenery and costumes.

Mrs. Carter's reappearance here will be the event of the season, and as the engagement is a limited one, a succession of crowded houses is assured. The play will be staged with all that command of dramatic effect of which Mr. Belasco is the acknowledged master, the entire production being under his personal direction.

Always a fine assortment of Imported Neckwear, Ruchings and Handkerchiefs. Mile Keyou, 113 Main street, Gloucester. *

Amos Knowlton Flowers

Amos Knowlton Flowers, a native of Manchester, died in Gloucester a week ago yesterday, his body being found on the long trestle, on the way to Long Beach. Mr. Flowers was born in Manchester, May 8, 1834, a son of William and Eunice Flowers. His brother, John (Fox) Flowers died a few months ago in the local almshouse. Deceased was a Grand Army man, having served in Co. H., 24th regiment, and in Co. K, 18th regiment. He served from Nov. 11, 1861, to July, 1865, lacking about one year.

Club Disbands

The members of the Red Men's club, which was burned out of house and home in the recent Pulsifer block fire, met in Lee's hall Tuesday evening, and the committee to whom was entrusted the matter of looking up new quarters reported none were available. The club voted to dissolve, and the funds in the treasury were divided among the 23 members (about $9.00 each).

Real Estate And Improvements

Manchester

One of the most important real estate sales of recent weeks was the purchase Monday, by the Sacred Heart church organization, of the Pulsifer property, immediately adjoining the church lot on School street. The lot beyond this was bought last fall by Mr. John Desmond.

Alfred C. Needham is having some changes made at his house on Union street, including a new vestibule, and additions to the piazzas on either side. The house is also being wired for electric lights.

The work of remodeling the Carnegie house at the Cove has progressed quite rapidly and plastering was started this week by George S. Sinnicks, who has just about completed the plastering of the Bemis stable at Beverly Farms. Roberts & Hoare have the contract for both jobs.

Solomon A. Parsons has bought this week from B. S. Bullock the house and property on School street, opposite the Essex County club grounds, which the latter has occupied for the past few years.

Quite extensive, indeed, are the alterations and improvements being made at Mrs. F. T. Bradbury's house, Smith's Point. New bath rooms, a china closet and a bay window have been built, and also a new servants' dining room. A new range, brick set, has been installed, as well as new plumbing throughout the house, new hard wood floors, etc. An automatic telephone system replaces the speaking tubes formerly used, electric lights are installed, fireplaces have been built and the walls have been newly papered. Walter R. Bell

Who is the only new candidate for the office of Selectman of the town of Manchester for the coming election, is one of Manchester's popular young business men. For three years—1902, 3 and 4—he served the town in the capacity of Town Auditor, which position he filled with honor. He is looked upon as a winning candidate at the election next Monday.

Improvements at Beach St. Park

One of the important matters to come before the Manchester voters at the Town meeting next week will be that pertaining to the proposed improvements at Beach street Park. for which the Commissioners are recommending an appropriation of over $16,000. The improvements will include a bath house and shelter on the pier, the general plan and elevations of which are shown below.

NARROW ESCAPE

Manchester had a Hairbreadth Escape from Another Serious Conflagration—Whole Centre of the Town Endangered—The Prompt Work of Night Officer Andrews Checks the Fire Before it Gained Much Headway

A wee little mouse with wee little teeth was responsible for a fire a little before 3 o'clock Tuesday morning which, had it not been discovered when it was, would no doubt have wiped out the entire centre of the town before it could be controlled.

The fire was in Dennis & Campbell's grocery store on School street, and was caused by mice setting fire to some parlor matches, in case, on the floor of a room in the rear of the store. As the wind was blowing hard at the time, and as all the buildings in that section of the town are of wood, and very close, there is no question that, had the fire gotten under way, it could not have been checked until it had eaten up the entire row of buildings.

Sergt. Leonard Andrews was the hero of the occasion. He was returning down School street on his regular beat and was bound for the station. It was about ten minutes before three. As he neared Dennis & Campbell's store he thought he smelled smoke, and as soon as he came in view of the rear of the building he thought he could see a light in the lights of glass over the rear door. He investigated and it took but a second to size up the situation.

He rushed to the engine house alongside and pulled in an alarm from Box 52. He opened the door to the engine house and told Driver Page where the fire was, and then proceeded to arouse the inmates of the boarding house, conducted by Mr.

and Mrs. Jerry Coffee, over the store. Then, with Driver Page, he pulled a hose cart and chemical from the house and they were quickly joined by E. P. Flynn, Lewis Leach and Officers Lee and Jones. The door in the rear of the store was broken in with the nozzle of the hose and a stream turned on, quickly putting out the blaze.

By that time the firemen and, it seemed, half the town had arrived. But it was found the fire was confined to the room where it started, despite the volume of smoke pouring from doors and windows.

Too much cannot be said of the work of Serg. Andrews. But for his prompt efforts the fire might have proved most disastrous. Universal gratitude has been expressed for his work. It certainly demonstrates that the police are not only guardians of the peace but they are preservers of property. The town is well covered at all hours of the night by three officers, and the town can well congratulate herself that she has a night force that is ever on the alert as servants of the people. Tuesday night, officer Andrews earned the salaries of the whole police force for many years to come.

The loss resulting from the fire was largely from smoke and water. Dennis & Campbell suffered a loss of about $250, while that on the building was about $500. This has been satisfactorily adjusted through the agency of Geo. E. Willmonton.

MANCHESTER

Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln has been selected as one of the judges of declamation in the prize speaking and competition contest of the Gloucester high school pupils, Tuesday, March 20.

Principal Saben of the High school was the speaker at the meeting for older boys at the Gloucester Y.M.C.A. last Sunday afternoon.

Edward McCarry of Newport, R. I., spent the holiday last week with his aunt, Mrs. James Ireland, North street.

Alexander Whiteley, who succeeds H. W. Clark as caretaker of the W. D. Denegre estate, entered upon his duties Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Burnham Stoddard, who have been spending the winter here with James Kehoe, left for their home, Mt. Dennison, N.S., this week.

The many friends of Miss Amy Crombie will be sorry to learn of her recent misfortune. She intended to come home from her school duties in South Worthington the first of the week for the spring vacation, but on Sunday she slipped on the ice and broke a bone in her ankle. She will probably be home in a day or two.

Mrs. Judith Lane of Annisquam, who celebrated her 94th birthday last Saturday, is the mother of Fred W. Lane of School street. She is one of the oldest residents of Cape Ann, being a "real" daughter of the American Revolution. In her family there are seven grandchildren, six great-grandchildren and four great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Bridget Dolan, widow of Thomas Dolan, who died at Randolph Monday, leaves a son, Frank P. Dolan of this town.

The wedding of Hollis Larcom Roberts and Miss Edith Josephine Swett is announced for Thursday, March 22.

The engagement is announced of Miss Rachael E. Crombie of this town and Mr. Fred J. Hadley of Somerville.

A delegation of the local Sons of Veterans' camp and of Post 67 paid a return visit to the Rockport camp Thursday evening.

The Winthrop club is planning on a "hot dog" supper at their rooms tonight.

Miss Grace M. Prest has been kept from her duties at Beaton's the past few days because of a severe cold.

Miss Katherine Watson has been substituting as bookkeeper at Dennis & Campbell's the past week.

Postmaster S. L. Wheaton attended the annual banquet of the Postmasters' association at the American House in Boston Wednesday.

C. Herbert Smith is back to Bullock's bakery again, after six weeks' absence on account of illness, part of which time he spent at the Salem hospital.

Miss Elsie Gorman returned to her school duties in Merrimac Sunday after spending the holidays at home. Miss Gorman, by the way, has resigned her position in Merrimac and goes to Haverhill Monday, where she has accepted a position as teacher in the School Street Grammar school.

Mr. and Mrs. George Thayer, Mrs. Bradstreet and Mrs. Brown of Gloucester were guests of Mrs. Herbert W. Clark the middle of the week.

John Bishop, who left here some months ago for his home in Whycocomough, N.S., because of a shock which he suffered last summer, had the misfortune a few weeks ago of slipping on the ice and breaking a shoulder blade.

A barge load of coal was towed to the inner harbor to Knight's wharf Thursday, something most unusual for this time of the year, March 1.

"Nuisance," a pretty little Irish terrier belonging to Harry T. Swett, will be a nuisance no longer, for he breathed his last Thursday afternoon in front of the public library. He became mixed up in a team and passing automobile, the wheels of one of which passed over him; but he received an honorable burial, having the distinction of being buried on the town common—on that portion of it rear of the town hall, which borders on the mud flats. There was considerable excitement in the square for a few minutes.

M. C. Dodge represented the local department at the play-out of the new steamer in Salem Tuesday, and at the banquet following in Masonic hall. The steamer is the very best thing out and is capable of pumping 1,000 gallons a minute, it is said.

Mrs. Wm. J. Johnson entertained the Ladies' Social circle of Liberty lodge, D. of H., Monday evening.

The local band has been engaged by Post 67, G.A.R., for the Memorial Day exercises.

The affairs of J. W. Lufkin & Co., the well-known awning and sail makers of Gloucester, are in the hands of a receiver.

W. F. Jones of Salem, a good all around machinist, will be at Dyer's auto garage the coming season, having already entered Mr. Dyer's employ.

A minstrel show, under the auspices of the Winthrop club, is one of the possible attractions of the spring. A committee is now looking into the matter.

Chas. O. Lee has been confined part of the week with a severe cold.

Rev. F. J. Libby has been selected as one of the judges of declamation in the forthcoming prize speaking and competition contest of the Gloucester high school pupils, Tuesday, March 20.

A. L. Saunders, esq., one of the attorneys of the Anti-Saloon League, gave an instructive account of the work of the League at the church last Sunday evening. He described first the work accomplished in Ohio and New York, and then spoke of the bills being pushed at present before the Massachusetts legislature, especially the Ward Option law.

Miss Bessie Abbott, Miss Susie Symonds, and their friend, Miss Leighton of Gloucester, spent the first of the week in Charlestown, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy French.

There is talk of another whist party next week, the proceeds to go towards the church carpet.

Thursday evening is to be reserved in the Magnolia calendar for choir practice. At 6.30 the Young Folks' chorus, under Mrs. H. C. Foster, will have their practice, while at 7.30 the chorus for the Sunday morning service will practice.

Miss Minnie Silva of Gloucester has been spending the week with her sister, Mrs. D. C. Ballou.

The pop concert and dance held under the auspices of the dancing class Monday evening was very successful. A number of Gloucester young folk were present.

Christ in Art

A series of Sunday evening addresses is to be given in the Union Congregational church, Magnolia, by the pastor, Rev. F. J. Libby, interpreting certain great paintings of the Christ. The newly organized Young Folks' choir will lead the singing at these services. Each one present will receive a copy of the picture under discussion to facilitate the study. The following masterpieces are to be considered:

- Mar. 4. The Sistine Madonna, Raphael.
- Mar. 11. Christ in the Temple, Hofmann.
- Mar. 18. Christ and the Tribute Money, Titian.
- Apr. 1. The Transfiguration, Raphael.
- Apr. 8. The Last Supper, Leonardo da Vinci.

Real Estate

And Improvements

Manchester

Another important move has been consummated this week in connection with the Sacred Heart church property on School street, in the purchase by Rev. Wm. F. Powers, in the name of the Archbishop of Boston, of the lot running along the rear of the Pulsifer lot brought by Fr. Powers last week, and continuing along to the northerly end of Mr. Desmond's lot. This new lot contains 7,332 sq. ft. and extends back to the line of the old church property. When the Desmond property shall have been acquired, the church property will have a frontage of about 184 feet on School street, and a depth of about 158 feet, or approximately 29,000 sq. ft.

While we are not able to give anything, officially, as to the future plans it may be assumed that a beautiful edifice will sometime grace this splendidly located property, standing probably in such a position as to be about opposite Vine street, and that an equally beautiful parochial residence will be built on the northerly end of the property. The old church will no doubt remain where it now stands for some time to come.

The house standing on the lot bought last week by Rev. Fr. Powers has been sold to Austin Morley who will move it to his land, corner of Vine street and Norwood avenue extension. The Selectmen and Tree Warden Young have granted permission to move the structure.

Thomas R. Tannatt conveys to Lenora F. Gorman and she to Charles E. Littlefield and Elmer J. Cole four acres of woodland in Manchester and also another parcel containing five acres.

Pride's Crossing

Work was started this week in making decided alterations and improvements to the grounds at the Washington B. Thomas estate, Pride's Crossing, at which place operations were started last fall in the building of a large addition, mostly of stone, to the house. This included a large hall, music and other rooms, and a large veranda, also a terrace wall, with limestone balustrade. The ground improvements will include the rebuilding of avenues, walks, flower beds, walls and considerable grading. Messrs. Connolly Bros. are doing the work.

A more prominent lecturer than Prof. Edward Howard Griggs has not appeared in Beverly for a long time, and his appearance at the Washington Street church on Thursday afternoon in the Lothrop club course was sufficient to draw a large audience to listen to this eloquent lecturer and teacher.

He kept his audience rapt in enthusiasm while he spoke on "St. Francis of Assisi." Dr. Adelbert N. Bruce favored the audience with several songs.

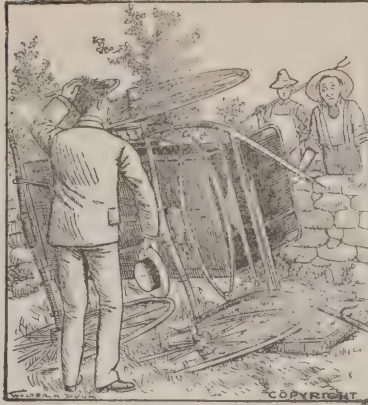

The special committee for increased high school accommodations submitted its report to the board of aldermen Tuesday evening. It favored a 16-room addition to the present building, to be built in the rear at a cost of rising $100,000. It is thought that these increased accommodations will provide for the next decade, if not longer.

Louis L. Dodge has been enjoying a trip to Baltimore and Washington.

Mason S. Safford of Detroit, Mich. has been the recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ferrick.

The reception and entertainment which the Foss Bible class gave at the First Baptist Chapel, on Tuesday evening was well attended by friends of the class, and a large number of the employees of the "Shoe" accepted the invitation to be present. Rev. Carey W. Chamberlin, the new pastor, was the guest of honor, and made the acquaintance of many of the men. Miss Bessie B. Borroughs, Samuel A. Gentlee and Mrs. Effie P. Ray, contributed pleasing vocal selections, Miss Velma Atwood Bailey, read, and interesting stereopticon pictures, including those of Rev. H. J. White, the pastor, S. L. White, Willard O. Wylie, Dea. Rufus Larcom, Dea. Rufus E. Larcom, were shown by J. Frank Rolfe.

Hon. David I. Robinson of Gloucester, delivered an intensely interesting lecture at the Washington Street Chapel on Tuesday evening, on his travels in Europe. The lecture was fully illustrated with pictures which Mr. Robinson took on his Continental trip.

Fred H. Wallis of North Beverly, has accepted a lucrative position as private secretary to Louis H. Baker, secretary of the United Shoe Machinery Company, at its Boston office.

Miss Esther W. Stickney is at Columbus, Ohio, where she is attending Ohio State University.

The sudden and untimely death of Miss Blanche M. Munroe on Saturday, has cast a gloom over her many friends in town. The funeral was held on Tuesday, at her home on Central street and was largely attended. Rev. Carey W. Chamberlin, her pastor, officiated, and music was rendered by a quartet. Floral tributes were profuse and beautiful and testified the esteem in which she was held. Interment was in the Hale street cemetery.

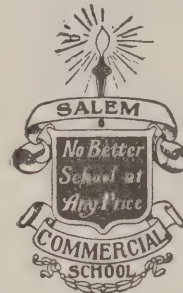

The Salem conference of Baptist ministers, of which Rev. Clarence Strong Pond of the Farms is secretary, will convene on Tuesday, March 6, at 2.30, with Rev. Mr. Padelford in Lynn.

ONLY LIVING AGENT

Hon. Wm. H. Tappan of Manchester Only Man Living Who Made Treaties with the

the government, who, with Gov. Stevens, made the treaties with the Indian braves of Washington, Idaho and Montana tribes in 1855 is a fact brought out in recent investigations in Idaho.

Mr. Tappan is now in his 85th year and is living quietly at his home on North street.

He was one of the pioneers of the great west, and ranks with Freemont and Kit Carson as a factor in carrying out the future of that great country.
His adventuresome experiences with the savages and hairbreadth escapes were many. It was in 1849 that he was appointed Indian agent in Indiana,
Oregon, Washington Territory and Idaho. His first efforts in attempting to make treaties and of extinguishing the Indians' title of land were unavailing, but he was afterward more successful.

A Deepening Interest Quite Manifest at Evangelistic Services

The special union services at the Manchester churches the past week have been well supported and a deepening interest has been quite manifest.

Sunday evening a congregation of five hundred people assembled in the Congregational church and listened with rapt attention to the Rev. E. H.
Byington of Beverly, who preached from the text, "And it was the third hour, and they crucified Him."

Mr. Byington preached a sermon of simple beauty, eloquent with appeal, and the large number who remained for the after meeting was evidence of the strong impression made.

Monday evening the meeting was held in the chapel, which was filled.
Mr. Byington took his text from Rev.
2:10, setting forth in a winsome, original way the two ideas of faithfulness and fullness of faith contained in the injunction, "Be ye faithful."

Cards were distributed through the pews Tuesday evening, so that anyone who desired either of the pastors to call upon them might signify the fact by placing their name on one of the cards. Rev. Peter McMillan of Boston preached. His sermon dealt with the Pauline expression, "I live, yet not I, but Christ liveth in me." This service closed the number held in the Congregational church, and on Wednesday evening a large number attended service at the Baptist church, though the night was perhaps the severest of the winter. Rev. M. F.
Negus of the Central church of Salem preached. He chose for his theme,
"Ready to serve," and fortified the thought of our instrumentality. At the conclusion of the sermon he gave an earnest invitation to enter upon the life of Christian service, and five responded. The meeting was the most resultful of any that had been held, and proved that a rising wave of interest was sweeping through the meetings.

Thursday evening the Rev. J. L.
Campbell, D.D., of the First Baptist church of Cambridge preached. He

Town Meeting

Town meeting is at hand. Monday morning at nine o'clock the voters will assemble and in the morning some business of minor importance will be disposed of. At 12 o'clock the polls will open for election of officers and may close not later than 5.30.

The usual excitement accompanying town meeting is absent this year, but though indications point to a quiet time, there may be considerable excitement before the business of the meeting is disposed of.

There is very little competition in-deep over the various offices. Walter R. Bell is the only candidate outside the old board running for selectmen, and his friends feel confident he will have a place on the board this year.

There are three candidates for tree warden, three for school committee and two for the water board, as shown by the specimen ballot printed in another column.

Town Reports Out

The Manchester Town Reports for 1906 are out and were distributed around town Tuesday and Wednesday. The report is the largest ever published by the town and reflects much credit upon Town Auditor, Frank G. Cheever, as well as upon the Beverly Printing Company, who printed the book for the North Shore Breeze. As the reports have probably been generally read by this time, a discussion of its contents is uncalled for here.

MANCHESTER

In his report Sup't Fish this year calls the attention of the parents to the work of the pupils in the following words: "Parental co-operation is of the highest importance. Every parent should scan closely the monthly report to discover especially what estimate the teacher places upon the efforts of his boy or girl. Attainments are important but not so important as industry and zeal."

The reports have just been sent out for the grammar school pupils for February and they have in addition to the regular marking for excellence in study, the "mark of effort." 1 indicates steady and regular effort,—a determination to do one's best; 2 indicates spasmodic effort—good one day and poor the next, and 3 indicates indifference. Sup't Fish urges that parents inspect carefully the monthly reports and insist upon 1 as the mark of effort in each subject.

Ladies, have you read Pattillo's adv. on page 4?

The financial statement of the Board of Selectmen of Manchester for the year just closing is the best yet made by any board of selectmen of the town in recent years. The net indebtedness of the town Feb. 1, 1905, was $78,935.01. This year it is $71,281.79, and this despite the fact a new loan of $34,000 has been made in connection with the new primary school building. The net decrease in the debt for the year is $7,653.22, and the cash on hand is $19,909.99.

Born, Thursday, March 1, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Saulnier.

Michael J. Flaherty, son of "Peo" Flaherty of Manchester, who works at the office of the Beverly Printing Company, where the Breeze is printed met with a severe and very painful accident Wednesday. He was working on one of the presses and in some way his hand became caught, squeezing it, tearing the flesh and breaking two of his fingers.

Edward Gould Mead of Wellesley Farms has been spending the past few days with Mrs. Woodbury.

Harry Slade returned Sunday from a visit with his cousin, Thos. P. Andrews in Portsmouth, N.H.

SATURDAY, MARCH 3, 1906.

MARCH came in like a lion; may she go out like a lamb—the sooner the better.

THE redistricting of Essex county is a matter of much conjecture among local politicians, and many combinations have been formed unofficially. The work of making up the districts, however, is one of the duties of the county commissioners. A number of representative men from all sections of Essex county recently held a conference and as a result 25 districts have been arranged and the plan outlined will be presented to the commissioners for their consideration. Manchester will be in the 18th district, with wards 4, 5 and 8 of Gloucester, 2768 voters, one representative.

LAST week's BREEZE was a great seller. The page of views of the H. C. Frick estate, Pride's Crossing, was one of the drawing features, no doubt. At 5 o'clock J. S. Reed had sold out his usual supply and was calling for more, and by 7 o'clock Floyd had sold out. From Varney's, in Beverly Farms, at 6 o'clock came a call for more papers, and likewise at the Pride's station, where three times the usual supply had been sent. We answered the calls as far as possible, with the result that we have only the files of last week's paper remaining securely locked in our safe. We had prepared for it and printed 50 copies over, but that was not enough. There were 1,125 copies of the BREEZE printed and circulated last week, which fact should emphasize to advertisers the importance of the BREEZE as a good medium for reaching North Shore people.

WHISPERINGS.

Spirits! Do you believe in them? Two Manchester people of my acquaintance have good reason to put some faith in them. It happened on the night of the fire in Dennis & Campbell's store, and accounts for the quick appearance of Mr. Rust, the owner of the building, and Mr. Campbell, of the firm, on the scene almost ahead of everybody else. Just a few minutes before the alarm was rung in the former was awakened from a sound sleep by a picture falling from the wall in his house on School street, arousing everybody in the house. At the latter's house, Mrs. Campbell was aroused just a few minutes before the whistle blew by what she thought to be a rapping on the wall. The result was that when the alarm was rung in these two gentlemen jumped out of bed on the first blow and were among the first to arrive down town.

Courtship in Camera

He gazed for a moment or two,
Then pleaded: "Sweetheart, won't you give me
The lovely original, too?"

"If your positive, dear, that you love me,"
She said, through a film of tears,
"A negative I cannot give you;
I'm yours to the end of our years."

So the courtship was quick to develop
Their marriage was fixed up in town,
And now in a middle-class suburb
She is steadily toning him down.

"Not as a Side Issue"

Editor of the North Shore Breeze:

Dear Sir: I would like to call attention of your readers to the fact that I am also a candidate for Tree Warden. I have no political bee in my bonnet but am a candidate because I was asked to run by citizens who thought me a suitable man for the office. I would attend to the duties of Tree Warden, not as a side issue, but as work in line with my regular profession of gardener, and landscape gardener.

Appointed, Not Elected

Editor of the North Shore Breeze:

Dear Sir: Will you please insert the following in your valuable paper. In last week's edition of the "Manchester Cricket" I notice in the list of candidate's for town offices, the name of Alfred C. Needham, as a candidate for "re-election" to the office of the School Board. In fairness to the other candidate's for the School Board, I fail to see where Mr. Needham is up for "re-election" as he has never been "elected" to that office. He was only appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Ashley, and therefore is only a candidate for election to the Board the same as are William Dougherty and Curtis B. Stanley. In fairness to the voters of the town, I bring this before them so that they can vote for any of the candidate's as they are all new men for the office of the School Board.

CORRECT CORSETS for the 1906 FIGURE

The decided change in the style of new Spring gowns is so pronounced every woman realizes that a new corset is absolutely essential.

The 1906 figure "shows a marked change in shape, the curves are more pronounced, the bust line is higher and more prominent, while the waist tapers sharply downward under the arms, giving an effect of slenderness quite incredible." Altogether it is a charming graceful figure which shows off the new gowns to perfection, but one depending entirely upon the correctness of the corsetiere's art.

If you select your corsets here, from our complete line of the latest models, you are assured perfect satisfaction. We mention a few of our most popular corsets:

New C. B. Model made of fine quality imported coutil with the new high bust, draw strings at top, long hips, fan front; bound with satin ribbon. One of our newest models for medium and full figures. Price $3.50

New Warner Corset made especially for stout, short-waisted figures. Very low bust, long abdominal band and lacing over hips; hose supporters attached front and sides. Price $2.50

New R. & G. Model made of imported batiste with long dip hips, fan front, new high bust and long tapering waist; hose supporters attached front and sides. See this new model. Price $2.50

Ferris Waists for women, especially elderly women, are soft and comfortable. For those who cannot wear a stiff corset Ferris Waists fill every requirement. Made of fine quality sateen, button front, with lacing over hip. Price $1.25

OBITUARY

Funeral services over the remains of the late William H. Haskell were held in Crowell Memorial chapel, Manchester, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the structure being crowded by the large number of friends attending, including members of Allen Post, 67, G. A. R., and Col. H. P. Woodbury Camp, S. of V. The services which were conducted by the Rev. Wm. H. Rider of Gloucester, were very impressive. At the conclusion the post conducted its burial service, prayer being offered by Rev. E. H. Brewster. Interment was in Rosedale.

At the Sacred Heart church last Saturday morning funeral services for the late John Lomasney were held, Rev. Wm. F. Powers officiating. The church was crowded with friends of the deceased, not only of the Sacred Heart church, of which Mr. Lomasney was for many years a member, but of all denominations. The floral tributes were many and handsome. Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Salem.

William Danforth, a native of Manchester, passed away at the City hospital, Boston, the first of the week and was brought to Manchester Wednesday afternoon for burial. Funeral services were held at the Memorial chapel, Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln officiating.

Deceased was born in Manchester 54 years ago, a son of the late Jeremiah and Mary A. Danforth. Two brothers, Charles of Manchester, and John, a dentist, in Paris, France, survive him.

The half hundred or more members who attended the meeting of Magnolia Lodge 149, I.O.O.F., Thursday evening, were treated to a very interesting talk by the venerable Deacon F. A. P. Killam, on his early life on a farm. Deacon Killam has a remarkably good memory and his reminiscences of the days when he lived at the old home-stand (formerly the old Governor John Endicott Summer home) were strikingly interesting. His description of catching wild pigeons, —15 and 20 doz. at a time— was very graphically told. These were marketed in Salem after killing and dressing. After the meeting the members were treated to oyster stew in the banquet hall, prepared by the entertainment committee, Chas. O. Howe, chef. As an entertainment feature of the next meeting of the lodge, there will be a debate on "Has Labor-Saving Machinery been a benefit to the Masses." O. T. Roberts will support the affirmative and W. C. Rust the negative, in opening, after which it will be open for discussion.

A dozen North Shore gardeners were off on a little exploring expedition Wednesday of this week, visiting greenhouses in Lowell, Stoneham and Tewkesbury. They went first to Stoneham, where they spent considerable time with Mr. Andrew Christensen, who has an extensive establishment devoted to growing carnations for the Boston market. Mr. Christensen very courteously escorted the North Shore men over his establishment and then entertained them most hospitably at lunch, after which he accompanied the visitors to various other places in Lowell and Tewkesbury. The trip was a very profitable one, everyone expressing themselves as greatly enjoying the time.

Edmunds & Crocker started on their second crop of ice yesterday, and by tonight they will have completed cutting the large pond. The ice is about eight inches thick.

School Committeeman L. W. Floyd gave a very interesting talk at the G. A. Priest school yesterday on Gettysburg and what he saw on his recent visit there.

Born, Monday, February 26, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Calvin W. Vaughn.

Mr. Ralph Rice of the Cambridge police force and Dr. Herbert Rice, a dentist on Bunker Hill street, Charles-town, were in town Thursday, guests of Dr. W. H. Tyler.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Whitehouse will start the first of next week for North Carolina, where they have a shooting box, for a stay of about two months. Their son, Meredith, will be with them for a short while.

To Hold Tournaments

It was decided at a meeting of the Manchester club last evening to hold a series of tournaments in pool, billiards, whist, cribbage and checkers. Entries may be made with any member of the executive committee—R. C. Allen, Alex. Robertson, G. A. Kitfield, F. J. Merrill, James Hoare—until 8 p. m. next Saturday evening, March 10. A small entree-fee will be charged, sufficient to cover cost of prizes. The tournament will start Monday, March 12.

N. S. Horticultural Society

"Greenhouse work to be done at this time," was the subject of a very interesting discussion at the semi-monthly meeting of the North Shore Horticultural society last evening. The discussion was led by William Watt of Pride's Crossing, who had a very good paper.

An interesting feature of the meeting was the flower display. There was a handsome table of cut blooms from the R. C. Hooper greenhouse, Mr. Swan, gardener, including snapdragon, carnations and several varieties of orchids.

On another table was a beautiful collection of carnations from the Mrs. W. S. Fitz greenhouse, (W. E. Allen), heath and narcissus from the Miss A. G. Thayer estate (James Macgregor), Easter lillies from the Philip Dexter estate (James Salter). W. B. Jackson displayed some very good specimens of rhubarb, and W. E. Allen a box of mushrooms.

Sixteen new members were voted into the society last night.

A party of young ladies, friends of Miss Ethel M. Davis, whose marriage to J. Albert Mayberry is announced for next Tuesday evening, March 6, called upon her last Wednesday evening. As soon as Miss Davis had survived the surprise, she was "caught in a shower" of all sorts of tin ware, which will prove very useful within a week or two. It is understood that the friends and acquaintances of the couple are invited without any further notice to the reception in the chapel of the Baptist church, following the wedding.

We are pleased to report an improvement in the condition of Deacon Edwin Pride.

Joseph McKeone has resigned the position of sexton at St. Margaret's church.

Charles H. Day, who has been for some time confined to the house with a severe cold, has improved enough to occasionally get out of doors for a short time.

Representative William R. Brooks has been at Marshfield a part of the week with the committee on harbors and public lands, where they are considering a petition of the people in that vicinity.

During the Lenten season there will be special services, on Tuesdays and Fridays, at St. Margaret's church at 7.30 p m.

Lawrence J. Watson, 2d, is on a business trip to New York and points west, and expects to be absent two or three weeks.

The Young Men's lyceum committee connected with the Beverly Farms Baptist church presented on Thursday evening to a large audience the third entertainment of the course, consisting of a musicale and literary program by outside talent, and a lecture on Salem witchcraft by the Rev. C. H. Wheeler, illustrated with stereopticon views. The young men made the event a "ladies' night."

Last Monday morning Thomas Murray, formerly of Varney's drug store, started as assistant postmaster at Pride's, and Homer Callahan taking the position behind the counter at Varney's made vacant by the change.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Linehan have returned from a visit to Hot Springs, Va.

John A. Gaffey, the Medford contractor who has been awarded the contract for the third section of the State highway, will soon start in blasting out the ledge and widening the sharp corner near the Gardner estate at Mingo Beach hill.

Preston post, 188, and associates held their usual weekly gathering on Thursday evening, in G.A.R. hall. Thomas D. Connolly occupied about one-half an hour in a description of the journey home from California to Boston, which was exceedingly interesting, and concludes the series upon which Mr Connolly has spoken for several weeks. The balance of the evening was devoted to music and in a social way.

Jeremiah F. Linehan entertained the Beverly Farms firemen at the West street engine house with a phonographic concert on last Monday evening.

Postmaster Elmer Standley attended the annual meeting and banquet of the Postmasters' association at the American house in Boston Wednesday.

By a reduction in rates, telephone calls may now be made to Manchester for 10 cents, instead of 15 cents.

Addison Davis, who last week commenced to reap his crop of ice at Gravelly pond, succeeded in securing enough of good quality, 10 inches thick, to supply the demands of his customers, but should the opportunity offer itself to secure more, Mr. Davis will add to his stock by the recutting of sufficient to ensure a plenty.

New Telephone Rates

Beverly Farms' residents are much pleased over the announcement of the telephone company that they have accepted the proposition of the city council and lower rates will be the result. The new rate will give Farms people a telephone for $25 a year on party lines with a slight advance for less subscribers or private lines. The mileage from Beverly which has been figured before has been cut off, which brings the rate down nearly one-half. The new proposition embodies in it a creation of a new district, making free service to all parts of Beverly, but those who desire to telephone to Salem, Peabody, Marblehead and Danvers, which under the old rates was included in the free service will hereafter pay for calls. The new schedule applies to all the year round subscribers only, and does not affect the summer subscriber. The Beverly Farms Exchange will open as usual in Marshall's Block, the coming spring, but there seems to be some question as to its being continued there after this year by way of a curtailing of expense. It is the opinion of the company that the business could as conveniently be handled from the Beverly Exchange.

The Cove was well represented at the meeting of the appropriation committee Tuesday evening when the matter of a sidewalk through the Cove woods was taken up. The cause was championed by Randolph Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kitfield of Swampscott and children Paul and Ruth, spent a few days here this week visiting relatives.

Mrs. Carrie Chase of Manchester, N.H., was a guest the first of the week of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Taylor.

Miss Ada B. Glidden has returned to her home in Lowell after an extended visit with Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Kitfield.

John Rhodes and Miss Bertha Bingham of Wenham were guests of friends here over Sunday.

Edward Kitfield was in Salem over Sunday with his grandmother, Mrs. Henry Bickford.

Rev. F. J. Libby has sent this week to each family at the Cove a program of the talks on famous pictures which he is to give Sunday evenings at the church in Magnolia. Next Thursday evening he will lead the meeting at the Cove, giving a talk on the famous painting,—"The Sistine Madonna." Every one present will receive a copy of the picture to facilitate the study.

Whist Party and Dance

The whist party and dance in the town hall Monday evening, under the auspices of the Ladies' Sodality, proved the occasion of a very pleasant evening for the large number which attended, the affair being the culmination of a series of whist parties held by the sodality the past month or two. Joseph Bellevue and Joseph Saulnier were the winners of the whist prizes, and Martin Flaherty and Michael Holloran of the "forty-five," which game was played on the stage. Dancing was enjoyed till a late hour with music by Riordan's orchestra.

IF YOU HAD A MILLION IN GOLD COIN
IN YOUR BACK YARD

ONE THOUSAND FEET BELOW YOUR DOORSTEP

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

IF YOU COULD NOT GET IT OUT YOURSELF

YOU WOULD HUSTLE TO GET SOME ONE TO HELP
THAT IS WHAT WE ARE DOING

We want YOU to Examine Our BACK YARD

JUST LOOK AT THESE FACTS:

We own two and one-half miles of ore bodies in the heart of the mother lode of California; a great plant that could not be duplicated for $100,000; an immense water power surrounded by big producers, shaft 700 ft. deep, 2 large tunnels, thousands of feet of underground workings, $2,000,000 worth of ore practically in sight. And then we want you to join our co-operative organization and get the money. As nearly as we can estimate there are millions buried there. The Morgan mine adjoining the Essex, paid to stockholders nearly $3,000,000 in one year. The famous Utica mine has paid out over $30,000,000.

We want to hear from you if you are interested in MINING for PROFITS, not gambling for profits, not trying to filch wealth from your neighbor's pockets, but creating its NEW CLEAN MONEY from the ground untarnished by the sweat of the oppressed, the tears of the wronged or the hands of theft. Do you care how you make your money? We do. There is a satisfaction in making money honestly which no thief can feel.

REMEMBER that this is Mining; not Speculation. You can buy the stock now at par $1.00 per share. In less time than a year it may be worth ten times this amount.

Send us your address and we will mail you full details of the property.

Society Notes

Hon. T. Jefferson Coolidge sailed last Saturday on the Mediterranean trip for Naples. He expects to return to Manchester the latter part of next month.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Sears, their two little girls and Miss Eleanora Sears sailed Thursday for Cherbourg. They will make an auto tour of Italy after a short stay in Paris. They are not expected to return till June when they will come at once to the North Shore.

Mrs. Edward Wigglesworth is staying at Camden, S. C.

Mrs. Louis A. Shaw sailed a few days ago to spend a few weeks in the south of Italy.

Word comes from Pau, France, that Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Prince have leased one of the most desirable villas there, and that they are leaders among the Americans in the hunting set. Their sons, Norman and Fred., jr., have been entertaining their Harvard friends at many a week-end party at Princemere the past months.

Ezra C. Fitch is spending a couple of months touring Europe, and is at present in Egypt.

Mrs. Leslie Carter at The Tremont

The first week of Mrs. Leslie Carter's engagement at the Tremont Theatre has fulfilled the most extravagant expectations. Not only have the audiences tested the capacity of that house to the utmost, but such scenes of enthusiasm and appreciation have rarely been witnessed in Boston.

To see Mrs. Carter in a play by David Belasco is to witness the triumph of dramatic art in its double phases, the highest excellence of playwriting and of acting. Mrs. Carter's new play, "Adrea," the second week of which begins at the Tremont on Monday, is striking alike for its romantic plot, its superb stage settings, and for the interpretation of its title role by the great actress. The role assumed by Mrs. Carter is one of the many contrasts. Apart from its extraordinary dramatic interests, "Adrea" commands admiration as a succession of scenic pictures. The plot is barbaric in its splendor, in its theme, and in the personality of those who appear on the stage. The time is about 500 A.D., and the scene is an island in the Adriatic sea.

Commencing next Wednesday evening, March 7, and continuing on Wednesday evenings for six weeks, there will be held in Marshall's hall a whist party and social, to which the public is cordially invited. A joint committee of the Knights of Columbus and Foresters will be in charge of the events, and the proceeds are to be devoted to a special object in connection with St. Margaret's church. Tickets are 25 cents, or a season ticket may be secured for $1.50. At the conclusion of the series, which will be Easter week, there will be a grand ball, plans for which are already being made. The winners of the whist will be announced in the BREEZE each week.

William P. Wakefield is the new farmer at the E. C. Swift farm on Brimbal avenue, to take the position made vacant by the resignation of Alexander Whiteley, who is now at the W. D. Denegre estate in West Manchester.

On Friday evening, March 16, at St. Margaret's church will be given a lecture and concert, the affair being in commemoration of St. Patrick's Day. The address is to be delivered by James E. McConnell of Boston, an attorney of well-known ability, which alone is worth the price of admission. A fine concert program, with excellent talent, has been arranged.

The store in the Larson house on Haskell street is being fitted up, and it is expected that soon it will open as a first-class and up-to-date fish market.

Winthrop F. Low and Joseph F. Fogg left Monday for a vacation trip of ten days or a fortnight, the object point being Chicago, where they will be the guests of Mr. Low's relatives.

Mrs. George Pierce and son, Charles E. Pierce, have returned to the Farms, after a five weeks' absence. Two weeks were spent with the Arthur M. Lycetts of Magnolia, and the balance with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Standley of Woburn.

The arrival of a little daughter last Sunday morning gladdened the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Cole, Hart street.

Such progress has been made toward the furnishing of the H. C. Frick mansion at Pride's that it is now deemed advisable to hereafter allow only those who have a pass to go through the building, inasmuch as it is possible for an indiscreet person, by a bit of carelessness, to do considerable damage, thereby incurring expense and trouble in making repairs.

Passers-by the residence of George F. Obear, Hale street, were attracted during the days of the earlier part of the week by the appearance of some crocuses in full bloom, growing out of the ground, and of three different colors, yellow, white and blue. This certainly seems to be way ahead of spring's advance agent.

Mr. Daniel Linehan has under construction a large stable and storage barn for the accommodation of his hay and grain trade. It is being erected off West street.

Charles Parker, the popular Central square caterer, celebrated his birthday Thursday evening, the occasion offering an opportunity for many of his friends to call and extend congratulations.

We are pleased to report the continued improvement in the condition of Harvey M. Hodgkins, who has been quite ill at his Greenwood ave. home.

A Good Yachting

Season in Store

Present indications point to a good yachting season on the North Shore the coming summer, in which the interest in the Quincy challenge cup will be revived.

The Quincy and Manchester yacht clubs have agreed, through their special committees, to change the deed of gift of the Quincy challenge cup, now held by the Manchester club, and to make the German "Sonder Klasse" boats eligible to race for the cup. This means that there will be a race for this important trophy this year, as the Quincy club is prepared to have a challenge by Charles Francis Adams 2d, who has already ordered a "sonder" boat.

The change bars the extreme scows, and the new boats are similar to the old raceabouts, with about 21 feet water-line. The races for the Quincy cup, three to win out of a possible five, must be sailed between July 15 and Sept. 15, off Manchester.

To Transform Noted Tea House Into Club House for Exclusive Set

The tea house of Magnolia, so popularly patronized by the North Shore folk in summer, will be changed over into a club house before the coming season opens, if the present plans of the owner, Miss Frances H. Stearns, are carried out. If so, of course, its membership will be exclusive, and its success is already assured, for anything that Miss Stearns undertakes is successful. The Tea House has been a phenomenal success financially, scores of the smart set driving down the shore daily, from Manchester, Prides Crossing, and in fact all along the Beverly shore, for luncheon and afternoon teas, to say nothing of the many little parties from the hotels nearby. The idea of making it over into a club house ought to make the place even more popular.

The change in the present structure, if the plans are carried out, will involve the expenditure of $20,000, and it is expected that the owner of the property will make the improvement. Miss Stearns is erecting a block, of attractive design, on Lexington avenue, on the lot adjoining the New Magnolia hotel, in which there will be seven stores.

To Continue Sailing Tender Class

It will be of interest to local yachtsmen to know that the Manchester Yacht club proposes to continue the class in the 14-foot sailing tenders the coming season. Last summer's series was very successful. George W. Mansfield, chairman of the regatta committee of the club, announces that, in order to give other members an opportunity to get boats of the same design and enter the races, prices have been obtained from Graves of Marblehead, including all expenses, delivered at Manchester about June 1,

TOWN MEETING

Annual Event Arouses Considerable Interest in Manchester—Upwards of $170,000 Appropriated—Question of Additional Water Supply Most Important Matter Considered—Further Tests to be Made—Old Board of Selectmen Returned

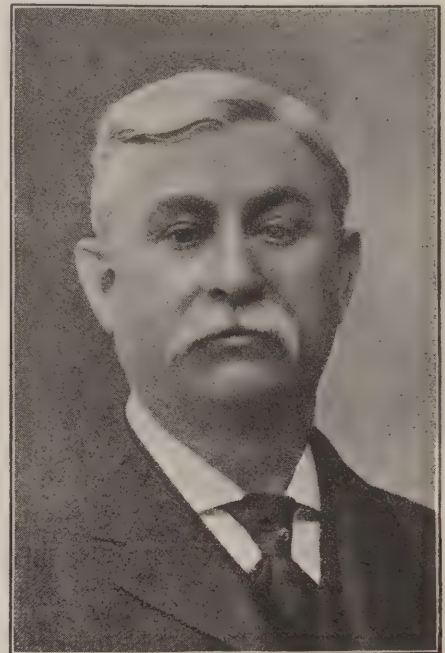

Though lacking some of the old-time enthusiasm, heated discussions and fiery debates, the annual town meeting, held in the Manchester town hall Monday, all day, Tuesday and last evenings was alive with little flurries of excitement that added to the interest. At the close of Tuesday night's meeting over $150,000 had been appropriated, and this was swelled at last evening's session.

There was little interest in the election in comparison with former years, and with one exception, that of constable, the old officers were returned. Jos. Leary's victory over Thomas Sheehan for constable was considered more of a joke than anything else.

Walter R. Bell gave the old board "a run for their money," so to speak, running only five votes behind Wm. E. Kitfield. The latter was only six behind Mr. Knight, and F. K. Swett led the three by only 17 votes. On the recount, which Mr. Bell called for Thursday, Messrs. Bell, Kitfield and Swett gained one vote each.

The most momentous question before the meeting was that of an additional water supply for Manchester, and this was very ably put before the meeting by Commissioner F. J. Merrill. $9,000 was appropriated "to make such tests and experiments as may be deemed expedient for the removal of the iron in said water (at Beaver Dam) and otherwise purifying the same." Pipes are also to be laid to the corner of School and Mill streets, where connection may be made to the town mains in a case of emergency.

Among the appropriations of general interest were those for placing a tapper on the Congregational church bell as additional fire alarm, for Fourth of July celebration, a series of band concerts, for concrete sidewalks, etc.

A detailed account will be found on the following pages.

What was Said and Done at Manchester Town Meeting

Town Clerk J. S. Jewett called the meeting to order at 9 o'clock, and after reading the town warrant he called the first article, "To choose a moderator." Twenty-eight votes were cast, all for Franklin K. Hooper.

Though not present at the time Mr. Hooper was soon called in. He thanked the voters for the election, but said he would not be a candidate for the office again.

"I can't say I didn't expect this," he said, "but I did not expect it so soon. I have served the town quite a number of years as moderator—11 consecutive years, I think—and I have served at special meetings in addition, and previously was moderator when the town accepted the plans for a water works. I should have given notice before this through the press, but neglected to do so, and I now wish to give notice that in the future I do not care to be a candidate for moderator. I am not a candidate for any future meetings, special or otherwise. Gentlemen, I thank you for another expression of your confidence.

"I like to glance back over the last 20 years," continued the speaker, "and see the advance made by the town as regards highways, schools, streets, etc. We remember about the first of the development was when the street was opened from the railroad crossing to Masconomo hill, so called, and to the beach. Since then we have developed wonderfully. I like also to glance at the parks. Though the beach has caused us considerable trouble and we now have it, we should even now be careful."

The speaker referred to the improvements on the beach bank made by several of the abutters. "However much this is done to the neglect of the town," he said, "must be looked after." He spoke also of the installation of water works and of the introduction of electric lights, saying of the latter that he felt the town made a mistake in not having a municipal plant, and he thought it would be well for the town to secure the present plant before the option expires. He was opposed to street railroads, because he thought the town would not be developed as it should be by this. The police department had been wonderfully developed in the past two decades, as also had the fire department, which he termed "an efficient and up-to-date department."

"I believe Manchester is not fully developed—not more than one-half. Looking toward progress in the future we see higher valuations. We now have a valuation of about $11,000,000. You are going to be called upon in the near future to meet greater expense. My interest in the town has always been great and it always will be." The speaker closed by repeating his assertion of the first that he did not care to serve the town again as moderator.

The selectmen having appointed as tellers T. C. Rowe, R. C. Allen, G. E. Willmonton and James Hoare, the moderator appointed T. B. Stone and C. M. Dodge. These were sworn in.

A. S. Jewett moved that all unexpended balances of the last year be returned into the treasury, except the balance of the appropriation for the completion of the new school house.

Art. 2—To act upon reports.

N. P. Meldrum moved the report of the water commissioners be laid upon the table till Tuesday evening, to be considered at that time with articles 43 and 45.

The reports of the school and fire departments, gypsy and brown-tail moth superintendent, tree warden, town clerk, sand agent, quartermaster Allen post, harbor master, forest fire wards, trustees of cemeteries, superintendent of streets, chief of police, July 4th committee, selectmen, board of health, memorial library trustees, trustee of public library building were accepted and the recommendations contained therein for the most part adopted. The park commissioners asked to have their report assigned to the evening session.

The moderator asked the treasurer why such little amounts of uncollected taxes as $2 or $3 were carried over for eight or nine years.

Mr. Stanley said he would be prepared to answer any questions that were coming his way at the evening session, as he understood there were to be some.

The treasurer's report was accepted and the financial statement of the selectmen was laid on the table to be corrected and presented later.

Article 3, having to do with the election of officers, was assigned to 11.30, the polls to be kept open from 12 to 5.30.

Article 4, list of jurors as printed in the report, accepted, after the name of "Geo. W. Matherson" was changed to "George M. Matheson."

Article 5, "to see if the town will appoint an appropriation committee."

N. P. Meldrum said the appropriation committee was a good thing for the town, but in all fairness, as long as five departments having money to spend were represented, the other two departments should have a representation also. Questions arose and there was no one to represent them. He moved two be added to the board, one from the water commissioners and one from the fire engineers. As this was not seconded, the motion did not prevail.

D. L. Bingham moved the town appoint an appropriation committee.

The moderator said he was surprised there was no more interest manifest. "Here is a town with a valuation of almost $12,000,000," he said, "spending $300,000 or $400,000 a year, and supposed to be up-to-date in every way, and yet no interest. About 20 voters here; no one to second the motions. I will not entertain a motion unless there is interest enough to second it. You are sleepy. I'd rather get out on the floor and fight than stand here."

Mr. Meldrum amended Mr. Bingham's motion by adding, "There shall be two additional members, making a committee of 11 instead of 9."

O. T. Roberts believed men could be selected who had nothing to do with spending the town's money. He thought it was the intention of the town in having this committee to select men who had nothing to do with the expenditure of money.

Mr. Bingham made an amendment to the amendment that only three be appointed as usual.

Mr. Meldrum said if it was the intention of the town to select according to Mr. Roberts' remarks he would withdraw his motion.

The Moderator said these men should be selected for what they are worth. "It is difficult to get nine men in this town for such a committee who had no interest in the expenditure of the money. We need not question a man's integrity. I have heard nothing that reflects on these men. I believe in a square deal."

O. T. Roberts did not want to be misunderstood. He had criticised the spirit that would add two more to the committee so that this or that board could be represented. I do prompt the spirit to put on one, two or five more to represent any board.

C. C. Dodge: "On good business principles it is better to have a committee made up of those who do not represent boards who handle much of the town money. Best to have men who have no axe to grind, pet scheme or hobby. If Mr. Meldrum's scheme was carried out we would have a happy family, a sort of menagerie."

D. L. Bingham said he didn't like the suggestion of rascality. He believed men are honest and their integrity are not to be questioned.

It was then voted that the town appoint three on the appropriation committee to fill the vacancies caused by those whose term expires.

The moderator re-appointed D. T. Beaton, John Baker and Frank P. Knight.

Article 26. On motion of G. S. Sinnicks $4,300 was appropriated for the maintenance of the fire department.

Article 27. On motion of E. P. Stanley $700 was appropriated for new fire hose.

Article 25. F. K. Swett moved $100 and credits be appropriated for the care and maintenance of the ambulance.

The moderator said he objected to the principle of credits; it was a bad system. Give the amount needed and turn the credits into the treasury.

E. S. Knight said his connection with the board of selectmen the past year taught him the system of retaining the credits was wrong. A sum should be appropriated sufficient to cover the amount needed and the credits returned to the town.

F. K. Swett withdrew the part of his motion regarding credits, and $100 was appropriated.

Article 57. $1,000 was appropriated for the care of the cemeteries and the chapel.

Article 58. $200 was appropriated for the purpose of painting the iron fences at Rosedale cemetery.

At 11.30 the hour had arrived for consideration of Article 3—election of officers—and from then till noon preparation was made for voting, which continued till 5.30. The result of the election will be found elsewhere.

Monday Evening

The Monday evening session was called to order at 7.10 the moderator reading the result of the election.

W. C. Rust who usually champions the crusade against liquor, said he saw by the auditor's report the whole of the $300 appropriated for an enforcement of the law had been returned to the treasurer. There was no article in the warrant this year, but he thought there ought to be some appropriation, as there might be some occasion to use it if things get too warm. It was voted, on motion by him, and amended by Mr. Cunningham, that $300 be appropriated for enforcement of the liquor law for the ensuing year, and that the subject matter be referred to the appropriation committee.

Town Clerk A. S. Jewett and Selectmen Swett and Kitfield were sworn in by the moderator.

The report of the Park Commissioners, assigned to this hour, was next taken up.

T. D. Beaton stated that in accordance with vote of last year the commissioners presented plans for the consideration of the voters, and while they did not ask for funds for the whole plan they did ask for part. A retaining wall, running from the pier to Beach street, as shown in the plan, was one of the things most needed.

"We also have an estimate," he said, "for planting shrubs, etc., on the little up-land. It has been said, the town has no right to appropriate funds to dredge from the channel to the pier, but we have not found out definitely yet, though the harbor and land commissioners have given us permission to dredge and improve this land according to plans. The land adjoining, known as the O'Brien lot, has recently been sold, it is said for the purpose of conducting a coal business. Now that this is to be used for objectionable purposes, so near park property, perhaps, it would be well enough to look into the matter."

This suggestion brought out much comment from the speakers following, but the moderator ruled all reference to the matter as affecting the question before the house out of order.

W. C. Rust thought the first action should be to accept or reject the plans, then the town can go ahead and spend what it feels like.

Moved by Mr. Rust, that the town adopt the plans presented by the Park Commissioners for the improvement of Beach street park.

C. C. Dodge amended by adding "subject to some minor changes."

R. A. Mitchell thought the matter ought to lay on the table till the town decided whether it wanted to spend money on dredging, etc.

R. C. Lincoln was of the opinion that the voters could act more judiciously if they knew what the whole plan as laid out would cost, despite the fact that only a part was wanted this year.

W. C. Rust said it was the intention to do a little at a time. Can't estimate what the cost will be 15 or 20 years hence.

G. S. Sinnicks then went into a detailed description of the plans, telling just what was the intention, the cost, etc.

Dr. W. H. Tyler asked why the wall could not be built from Beach street to the front of the pier instead of the rear.

Mr. Sinnicks replied this would necessitate 40 feet more wall.

C. C. Dodge then explained what he meant by "minor changes" recently referred to. "Most of you know that little piece of land, known as the O'Brien lot, has recently changed hands," he said. "It has been sold to a Salem coal dealer. It seems to me we should make haste to get that."

Moderator: "If that is what you mean by 'minor changes,' I declare you out of order."

J. S. Reed thought it would be wise for the town to go slowly in this matter. It would be well to procure that land.

E. P. Stanley then laid out his pet plan for the development of the park, estimating an expenditure of $40,000. "I have always been much interested in this matter," said he. "The plans while very good are not up to my idea of what we want for a park. It has always been my idea that we should build a tide gate across from the end of the marsh to the dam. We could do this for $5000, and then we could have a little pond there in Day's creek all the time. The Smith property would be worth $10,000 more, and you know what that would mean on our valuation. So far as the O'Brien Bros. lot is concerned I visited them some time ago on my own responsibility and they wanted $1200. It will cost 30% more to develop the park doing a little at a time. Make your plan and then let us contract for the work and have it all done at once. Make a 100 foot stream from the main channel."

Moderator: "Have you estimated how much this would cost?"

Mr. Stanley: "Yes, sir; $40,000 if you do it now, $60,000 if you do it a little at a time. I believe we want a park here that is a credit to the town."

C. O. Howe. "We have plans here as instructed by the town. I think the last speaker has gone little beyond what was asked for."

Mr. Stanley moved as an amendment that the plans be referred back to the commissioners to report more extended plans.

F. K. Hooper. "This matter has been before the town a number of years. Mr. Rust and myself were instrumental in buying the land. It is a good investment and it is a good thing to improve it. It is not a good plan, in my opinion to spend $40,000 in one or two years. I see no objection to improving the side of the Park facing Beach street first. I don't believe in getting an extended plan. Day's creek could be dammed at considerable expense, but I think the future is time enough to consider this.

John Baker and A. C. Needham did not favor the amendment.

F. J. Merrill thought it was time to do something, and as the commissioners have plans to give us a chance to use boats, let us accept them and get to work.

O. T. Roberts thought it would be well to go along the lines recommended by the engineer.

Mr. Stanley's motion was put and lost, and the original motion for an acceptance of the plans of the commissioners was voted by a large majority.

W. C. Rust. "I made the motion that started all this talk; now I would like to make another that is just as important." He moved that $7500 be appropriated, $3000 for the construction of a retaining wall of piling and plank and $4000 for dredging. This was not seconded, and on another motion the matter was laid over till Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Selectman W. E. Kitfield was then sworn in by the Moderator.

Article 55, "to see if the town will accept a deed or dedication of a certain parcel of woodland situated on the Essex old road, so called, adjacent to other woodland so accepted by the town and part of its public reservation along said road," was accepted on motion of R. C. Lincoln, who explained the land was next to the Essex line in Manchester, and the gift was from T. Jefferson Coolidge, of land formerly owned by Samuel Knight.

Article 34. On motion of Mr. Lincoln $1,475 and surplus dog tax was appropriated for the support of the public library.

Article 3, election of officers again came up, and these officers were elected:

Fence Viewers—James Hoare, F. J. Merrill and I. M. Marshall.

Measurers of Lumber—O. T. Roberts, C. C. Dodge and Thos. Baker.

Measurers of Wood and Bark—W. W. Hoare, Geo. L. Knight, Frank P. Clark.

Field Drivers—Benj. L. Bullock, G. S. Sinnicks and Edw. A. Lane.

Pound Keeper—There were 19 nominations, but the moderator finally recognized the name of "Dr. Wm. H. Tyler," who was voted in. There being no voter by that name the vote was declared void, and Waldo H. Tyler was named and voted in. That gentleman refusing to serve, Supt. Kimball presented the name of Albert Cunningham, who said in accepting the office that he thanked the voters for the honor and he would serve to the best of his ability. It is understood among the immediate improvements which Mr. Cunningham proposes is the purchase of a new lock for the pound, the key to the present lock having been lost last year in its transfer from Raymond C. Allen to Alfred C. Hooper, the retiring officer.

Article 17. Supt. Kimball moved the sum of $3,500 be appropriated for the purchase of a steam road roller for the use of the highway. Voted. It was later voted that the selectmen and superintendent of streets be authorized to purchase the road roller.

Article 28, relative to placing a tapper on the Congregational church bell.

A. Cunningham wanted to know if this would in any way affect the town clock.

Chief Hoare: "The tapper strikes the bell, not the clock."

On motion of Supt. Kimball $600 was appropriated for the purpose.

$1,500 was appropriated for additional storehouse for the highway department at the stone crusher.

Article 20. On motion of E. A. Lane $21,000 was appropriated for school purposes. A. Cunningham suggested that the committee keep within this appropriation.

Under article 21, $300 was voted for the maintenance and improvement of the playground.

What city has the most musical people in the world? If you find it hard to answer, the Stoddard Lectures makes it easy.

MANCHESTER

It may be of interest to gardeners along the North Shore to know the N. S. Horticultural society have revived their prizes, offered some few years ago through the generosity of Mrs. R. D. Howe. Another lady has donated the prizes this year, and these will be offered by the society. The prizes are for cottage gardens, and there will be a first, second and third. It might be said that there is a very manifest interest growing in the work of the Horticultural society, as may be seen from the fact that sixteen new members were taken in last Friday evening. Mr. Iliffe of Somerville will be the speaker next Friday evening.

Albert P. Richardson of Salem, who recently paid a short visit to his parents on Ashland avenue, started Monday for Denver, Colo., in the interests of Parker Bros., the game manufacturers. Mrs. Richardson and daughter are with him. They will be absent about two months.

The Misses Marion G. Scott and Marion Allen returned last Saturday from a delightful visit of several weeks in New York city, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Scott.

Mrs. David Parker (Miss Hall), of Manchester, N.H., a former teacher in the High school, has been a guest part of the week of Mrs. John W. Campbell, on Washington street.

Mrs. Ernest Mead (nee Etta Woodbury) has just returned to Wellesley Farms, after a few days with her mother, Mrs. Woodbury, on Central street.

Mrs. J. A. Lodge left yesterday for a week's visit with her parents in Peterboro, N.H.

Telephone users in the "up in Plain" section of the town were "cut off," Wednesday afternoon, and that in no uncertain way. The building recently purchased by Austin Morley was being moved across School street through Vine. The telephone company had been notified to look out for their wires and, as they could not be lifted over the building and no one seemed to cut them, Sup't Kimball procured a saw and made quick work of it, after the street had been blocked two hours in waiting.

Buy's Business in Beverly

Frank B. Rust of Manchester, who conducted a grocery business here, on Washington street and later on School street, has just purchased the grocery and provision business of Hatch & Mitchell, 302 Cabot street, Beverly, and is now in possession. The business is a thriving one, being located in the section of Beverly where the population is now centering.

Manchester and the Fishing Industry.

It was not many years ago from the reckoning of some of our oldest readers when Manchester's fishing industry was her pride. Half a century and more ago the Manchester-by-the-Sea of today was unheard of. It was a watering place, to be sure, but from the standpoint of the fishing industry rather than a summer residential place. Fish flakes covered many of the spots where there are now beautiful green lawns and summer mansions, and fishing schooners were moored in the streams where are now, in the summer season, costly pleasure yachts and motor boats.

The Massachusetts Bureau of Statistics of Labor has issued its decennial census and bulletin number four, which refers to the fisheries of the state. Manchester stands very low in the list with a total value of the catch of $9,931.

MAGNOLIA

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Parsons of Gloucester announce the engagement of their daughter Jennie, to Ernest Newman of Magnolia. The wedding will take place in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cudmore of Gloucester were guests of friends here part of the week.

At the regular monthly meeting of the fire companies held Wednesday evening it was decided to hold a supper at the rooms March 15,—next Thursday.

George Paul of Boston has been the guest of his sister, Mrs. John Kehoe, part of the week.

Miss Katherine Powers of Gloucester spent Sunday in town with Mr. and Mrs. John Chane.

The Ladies' Aid held an unusually successful whist party Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lycett. Nearly fifty were present. The whist players occupied eight tables, while in the dining room some fifteen of the young people had an uproarious game of "Jenkins Up." Ice cream and cake was served. The net receipts amounted to about $14. The carpet fund has now reached $60 and is probably complete.

The sessions of school were omitted yesterday to allow the teachers to attend the institute in Gloucester.

The next enterprise on the docket at the village church, now that the carpet money is in hand, is a stereopticon for the church.

Jonathan May is making some improvements and alterations to his residence.

Misses Ethel May and Nellie Crispin have been spending the week in Newton, guests of Miss Florence Severance.

Rev. Markham W. Stackpole, formerly of Magnolia, officiated at the burial services of Prof. Samuel P. Langley, the noted scientist, which took place last Saturday afternoon at Forest Hills, Boston. Rev. Mr. Stackpole is a nephew of Prof. Langley.

Tomorrow morning, Rev. M. Libby will preach on "The Normal Life." In the evening will be given the second of the popular series, "Christ in Art," the picture under consideration being Hofman's Christ in the Temple. The two choirs will lead the singing at the two services.

The Travel Class is to hold its final meeting for the winter next Wednesday. A brilliant finish is promised.

The Ladies' Aid is to meet with Miss Addie Stanley next Thursday.

"Quotations from Emerson's Essays and Poems" will be the subject of the young people's meeting next Friday evening, Miss Helen Lycett, leader. "Temperance in all Things" was last evening's topic, led by Rev. Mr. Libby.

Mrs. F. L. Hunt spent a few days in Wakefield, this week, with her sister, Mrs. Frank P. Cutler.

Frank Newton, proprietor of one of the large bathing pavilions at the beach, was in town Wednesday.

Mrs. James Scott

After a lingering illness of almost three years, Mrs. James Scott passed away at Magnolia last Sunday morning at the age of 42 years, 10 months of consumption.

Born in April, 1864, at Fifteen Point, Prince Edward Island, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cudmore, she came to the States almost 25 years ago and in 1886 at Canton, Mass., she married James Scott. Ten years later they moved to Magnolia, where the latter was employed as gardener at the Hayden estate. Last year, thinking the change might be for the best, Mr. Scott sold his property here to the church and moved to Winchendon, but Mrs. Scott's health not improving they returned to Magnolia again this winter after 11 months' absence.

Deceased is survived by a husband, a son, J. Walter, two daughters, Marion J. and Ruth A. Funeral services were held Tuesday, interment being at the Magnolia cemetery.

MANCHESTER COVE

Dexter Taylor underwent a painful operation at a private hospital in Boston Monday, as the result of a fall on the ice two years ago, when he broke a bone in his nose.

Mrs. John Stanley returned last Friday from an extended visit with relatives in Wenham. She is now with her daughter, Mrs. Randolph Taylor.

John Stone and Arthur Burton, who have been in the employ of F. M. Whitehouse, left for their homes in England Wednesday, where they intend to remain two months or more.

The meeting in the Cove school house Thursday evening was of a very interesting nature. Rev. Mr. Libby gave a talk on Raphael's famous painting, "The Sistine Madonna."

Entertainment Draws

Large Crowd to Chapel

"The Brotherhood of Veterans" was the title of a very pretty patriotic sketch given in the Chapel Wednesday evening, under the auspices of a committee of the Ladies' Social Circle, it being the closing number of a pleasant evening's entertainment.

A dozen or more boys representing noted national characters and wearing characteristic costumes of the originals, and each with the name he represented printed on white cloth fastened across his breast, made a pretty picture as the curtains were drawn aside. The stage was decorated with bunting, flags, etc., and the chairs were placed in a semi-circle with Uncle Sam's desk in the centre. The veterans were standing about in groups, talking and gesticulating earnestly when Uncle Sam entered and bowed, and after much handshaking the meeting was called to order. Then followed the roll-call and the introduction of the various characters, interspersed with singing and recitations.

The characters were: Uncle Sam, Joe Floyd; Mollie Pitcher, Ethel Standley; Gen. Reed (marshall), Samuel Knight; Gen. Miles (secretary), Fred. Jackson; John Paul Jones, Eric Erickson; Capt. Bragg, Roland Knight; Jack, the drummer, Harry Slade; "Zac" Taylor, John Gray; Gen. Andrew Jackson, Frank Floyd; Gen. Lee, Ed. Wheaton; Gen. Marion, George Rust; Gen. Sheridan, Willard Rust; Gen. Houston, Cheever Hersey; Little Uncle Sam, Jas. Gray. Miss Florence Kauffman drilled the boys, and to her is due the success of the sketch.

The program prior to this consisted of a selection by Riordan's orchestra; reading, humorous sketch from Ezra Kendall, by Mrs. Susan Knight; piano solo, "Dorothy," an old English dance, by Dora Marshall; song, "My love is like a red, red rose," Miss Carolyn E. Allen; reading, by Mrs. Sarah Burnham; piano duet, "Lohengrin March," Misses Princie Dodge and Alice Hoare; piano solo, Samuel Rowe; reading, Mrs. Burnham.

Ice cream and other refreshments were for sale, all of which were quickly sold. The committee in charge was composed of Mrs. Alice Haskell, Mrs. Hannable, Mrs. Haraden, Mrs. I. M. Marshall and Mrs. Ida Dodge. The chapel was crowded for the event.

Article 6. Supt. Kimball moved that the sum of $15,500 be appropriated for the improvement of highways, bridges, etc., and to include the salary of the superintendent of streets and clearing snow.

A. Cunningham said he was not satisfied with the report of the superintendent of streets. He wanted to know how the money is spent, so that the people might know just what is being done each year.

Article 18. Wenham road improvement. Supt. Kimball said extra money was called for this year to cut grades, one near the Tenny estate particularly, and to make the usual repairs. $500 was voted.

Article 19. Concrete sidewalks. Supt. Kimball asked for $3,000 for this purpose, the sidewalks to be laid as asked for in articles 9, 10, 12, 13, 14 and 15, namely: Pleasant street, between Essex street and the westerly side of the estate formerly of John J. Parsons; Central street, from Elm to Pine; easterly side of Norwood avenue; Pine street; Beach street; Rose-dale avenue.

F. K. Swett objected to passing these all in one article, and thought the petitioners ought to have the right to discuss the various articles.

George Hobbs said if it was the intention to concrete the whole length of Pine street it would be a wasteful expenditure of money.

E. S. Bradley said a sidewalk was very much needed on that street. Not a street in town was in such a wretched condition. If anyone thinks it would be a wasteful expenditure of money they should go and see for themselves.

The motion was carried, and $3,000 was voted.

Article 11, relative to building a sidewalk through the Cove woods, was referred to a committee appointed by the chair, as follows: Gardner M. Lane, Albert J. Lucas, Randolph Taylor, E. P. Hooper and Jacob H. Kitfield.

Meeting adjourned at 10.10 till Tuesday night at 7 o'clock.

Tuesday Evening

The meeting convened at 7.10 o'clock.

The report of the water commissioners, containing the various sub-reports assigned to this hour, was the first business taken up in connection with the consideration of articles 43 and 45.

Under article 2 the report of the commissioners was accepted.

Article 43. In accordance with the recommendations of the water commissioners, the following regular appropriations were made: $3,000, services, extensions and receipts; $7,500, maintenance; $500, purchase of meters; $800, official salaries; $600, painting standpipe; $225, painting barn and dwelling house at station.

Article 45, relative to additional water supply. Com. F. J. Merrill said, in presenting the motion given below, in part: "In presenting an article for your consideration the members of the board do not deem it necessary to offer any argument as to the necessity of further water supply." He then read an extract from the report of Engineer Percy Blake, made in 1897, in which the latter said the present plant would yield a supply of 600,000 gallons a day summers, but that more would be needed by 1900. "Mr. Blake's prophecy has come true. The time has come when we need more water. 780,000 gallons were pumped one day last summer; the average pumping for July last year was 505,000, and this is a big amount for an estimated capacity of 600,000."

The speaker reviewed what had been done in line with the plans of the committee as to securing additional wells in various sections of the town, with the object of obtaining more water. They finally solved the problem down to three places—Cat brook, Gravelly pond and Beaver dam. Cat brook was condemned some years ago, Gravelly pond was not considered suitable for several reasons, and Beaver dam seemed to be the best of the three. The quality of water is better and can be obtained cheaper. The only problem is how to filter the iron. The State board of health, acting on our reports, recommend further tests, and Mr. Coffin provides for them in his second plan. While it will cost about $9,000 to make the tests, if it is a failure we can realize about one-half of the outlay in return, so that the actual net cost will be about $4,500 to demonstrate that we have the supply there." Mr. Merrill then offered this motion, which is in accordance with the recommendations of the board of health:

That the board of water commissioners be, and hereby are, authorized to procure and cause to be conveyed to the main supply pipe at the corner of Mill and School streets, an additional water supply for the town in accordance with that portion of the recommendation of Freeman C. Coffin, i.e., which is designated as a plan for an emergency supply of water as contained in his report to said commissioners, dated Feb. 5, 1905; and they are hereby authorized to acquire, by purchase or otherwise, such waters, sources, lands, rights of way and easements as they may deem necessary and expedient for acquiring, conveying, etc., and distributing the same, and may make such tests and experiments as they deem necessary or expedient for the removal of the iron in said water and otherwise purifying the same, and the sum of $9,000 is hereby appropriated for said purposes.

O. A. Martin: "I do not think this board has investigated the best places in town to procure water. We have at our property (near the brickyard) an excavation 34 feet deep in some places. The water is as good as the town water. The basin is about an acre in area, and has an average depth of 15 feet. We would sell this property for less than it cost to dig it."

M. E. Gorman: "Before we act on this question let us look into the Gravelly pond scheme. I do not approve with Coffin's plan of bringing water to the station and experimenting with it there, but do it on the spot."

Mr. Merrill explained that it was the intention of the commissioners to experiment "on the spot." The idea of bringing the pipes to the junction of School and Mill streets was so that it could be connected with the main pipes in case of an emergency.

F. P. Knight asked if it was contemplated to purchase easements across the property of Mr. Putnam and Mr. Baker.

Mr. Merrill replied that they intended simply to procure an option on the property of Beaver Dam meadow.

Frank P. Knight advised going slowly. He was very glad this matter had taken the turn it had, and thought if the present plans were carried out we could find out what the supply can be at a minimum cost to ourselves. He reminded the voters that already $21,000 more than last year had been appropriated, and this would mean $7,000 more.

O. T. Roberts: "This is a poor thing to talk on, curtailing expenses on water. We want water at any cost. I am rather inclined to Gravelly pond. I lived in Beverly several years and drank pond water, and I don't see as it reduced me in the least. A bird in the hand is worth half a dozen in the bush; and 500,000 gallons we are sure of are worth 800,000 under ground. I like the plan presented and like to go slowly in the matter." He favored the plan favored by Mr. Merrill so as to find out what we have.

F. K. Hooper, leaving the platform and coming upon the floor, said he had been interested in this matter and had investigated as far as a private citizen could, and he had become convinced that he didn't care for pond water if he could get it from the ground. The engineer who made this report is regarded as one of the most efficient in his line in the country. He is at present working on an underground supply for the city of Salem. He also spoke of the work done by the commissioners in a complimentary way. It is a poor time to come here tonight and offer things, and "suppose" it is of sufficient quantity and quality as needed. The proposed plan is very economical, and I am thoroughly convinced this is the proper thing for the town to do at the present time.

R. A. Mitchell called for another reading.

M. E. Gorman: "I don't like overriding the report of the State board in this way." He then read from the report of the board of health.

The moderator asked him if this wasn't exactly what the motion called for.

Mr. Gorman: "Let us go to Gravely pond and see what that is good for."

P. H. Boyle thought it would be well to go carefully. If we can't get rid of the iron in the water at Beaver Dam, we certainly don't want that water. "I want pure water," he said, "'Tisn't a matter of cost; we want the best."

Mr. Merrill: "Mr. Gorman speaks of overriding the State board. We are doing exactly what they say."

F. P. Knight: "The appropriation committee are not trying to throw down this well-defined piece of work. They are simply recommending a continuance of the same plan as to a further supply."

The motion was put and counted by the tellers—96 in favor, 8 against.

Article 29. Park improvements. This was next taken up by appointment. D. T. Beaton said he was not ready to give an opinion on whether the town could appropriate money to dredge. He had been unable to get any definite answer from the attorney during the day. The matter was laid on the table to be taken up at an adjournment.

The matter of the O'Brien lot was again introduced by R. A. Mitchell. D. T. Beaton said the commissioners would like to get an opinion.

F. K. Hooper said no one could conduct a very extensive coal business on land 60x75 feet. He thought we need not fear this.

W. C. Rust thought it was some kind of a scheme and hoped the town would take no action on the matter.

O. T. Roberts agreed with Mr. Rust, "I have heard our jovial superintendent (Kimball) make a remark about a nigger in a woodpile. This is what we have here, only the nigger is in the mud."

The motion to lay the matter on the table was put and carried.

Article 33, relative to town landings and channels was introduced by Prof. C. L. Norton, who said "We are called 'Manchester-by-the-Sea,' but our connections with the sea are rather remote. You can't float a 7-inch board down the river at low tide. The condition at the town wharf is extremely bad. It has been estimated the cost of dredging a 70-foot channel from the town wharf to Mr. Read's property, where the government channel begins, for $13,500, but I think it would not be best for the town to do this, but to appoint an energetic committee to get Uncle Sam to appropriate this amount to finish their work started some years ago. We are remiss in not making every possible effort to get this." And, in accordance with a motion by him, A. M. Merriam, O. T. Roberts, E. P. Stanley, Prof. C. L. Norton and D. T. Beaton were appointed by the moderator to forward this matter of improving the channel as expeditiously as possible.

Prof. Norton said the float at the wharf was not sufficiently buoyant to hold more than one person at a time, and $50 was appropriated for the purpose of improving it. He also suggested that in case the channel was dredged, a channel might be dredged to the pier at Tuck's Point at a cost of $275.

Article 65. Under this article the various appropriations covering town miscellaneous, park bonds, meters, and other regular expenditures, given in detail in the list of appropriations on another page were made.

Article 60. On motion of C. O. Howe $3,644.82 was appropriated for the suppression of the gypsy and browntail moths, the same to be done under the supervision of the tree warden, Wm. Young.

Article 59. $400 was appropriated for the care of trees.

Article 51. Albert Cunningham moved that $500 be appropriated for the celebration of July 4 and that a committee of seven be appointed by the chair.

D. T. Beaton said in view of the celebration of the last year and the year before the people of the town could enjoy themselves much better if the celebration was not repeated.

Mr. Cunningham thought the town should be patriotic enough to celebrate the day and keep the people in town; because one year was a failure that was no reason other years should be the same.

P. H. Boyle. "What are you going to do, forget the Fourth of July? I should be ashamed not to celebrate. You spend thousands, and are you going to begrudge $500 for this? (Applause.)"

E. P. Stanley. "I am something of an old man, I'll admit. I have helped celebrate the Fourth for 61 years, and I am not going to stop now. It is said I began to holler before I was one year old."

Moderator: "I don't doubt it."

Mr. Stanley: "I used to get up at 12 o'clock when I was a boy, and, as the old fellow says, raise h——. I celebrated one Fourth lying on my back near the Confederate's line. If I had a boy who didn't get up before 2 o'clock I'd give him a ride of shoe leather."

D. T. Beaton didn't want to be misunderstood in the matter. He hated to see money spent so foolishly. When a committee was appointed to celebrate in the proper way be believed in it.

The motion was carried and the moderator appointed Albert Cunningham, Louis O. Latons, F. M. Garrell, L. W. Floyd, E. P. Stanley, H. S. Tappan and R. L. Cheever.

Article 52. W. F. Spry moved that $500 be appropriated for a series of band concerts during the season of 1896 (meaning 1906).

Supt. Kimball asked if the music was to be by the Manchester band, and upon being answered that it would not necessarily be, he said he hoped the music would not be as antiquated as the speaker (1896). Motion carried.

Article 8, relative to widening and straightening Brook street, was passed over as it was not legally brought before the meeting.

At 10.15 the meeting adjourned to Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

Friday Evening Session

There were about 30 voters present last evening when Moderator Hooper called the meeting to order and an adjournment was immediately made to 7.30 o'clock next Monday evening.

The Recount

Walter R. Bell, who was defeated Monday at the Manchester election by only five votes, called for a recount and this was accomplished Thursday afternoon. The count was made by the registrars, W. J. Johnson, J. H. Rivers and Charles Danforth. W. R. Bell and F. K. Swett were present and E. S. Knight and Wm. E. Kitfield were represented by R. C. Allen and F. K. Hooper respectively. The only difference in the original count was one vote each for Messrs. Bell, Kitfield and Swett, a ballot being found with the marks beside the name instead of in the regular places. There were three such ballots, but the tellers missed one of them.

In Search of Long-Lost Diary

Editor of the North Shore Breeze:

Inquiry has been made if there are other "unpublished letters" of the Tutor in St. Paul's school in existence. The writer does not know of any, but if others should be "discovered" they will be given to the BREEZE in due time. The writer may add that he is in search of a long-lost diary kept by Sir Roger de Coverley's chaplain, which he hopes yet to light upon.

WHISPERINGS

It did me good to see our venerable librarian, Delucena L. Bingham—now in his 92d year—out to the Manchester town meeting this week. He was one of the most interested attendants, his interest keeping him late both Monday and Tuesday evenings, even after scores of the younger men had left the hall. He took part in the discussions and offered several motions, taking a firm stand on the various things at issue. If the younger voters took such an interest in the affairs of the town there would be no occasion for the moderator to call the meeting sleepy, and wait for somebody to second the motions.

Eight women voters cast their ballots Monday for school committee.

NEW CHURCH EDIFICE

Sacred Heart Church, Manchester, to have a New Home. Structure will be of Stone and Plans will be in Hand Shortly

The matter of a new home for the Sacred Heart church in Manchester, talked of for some time, has this week assumed definite form and the BREEZE is able to announce today that work will be started on a church just as soon as the specifications are out and the bids are made.

Rev. Wm. F. Powers, who has been working quietly and conservatively on the matter since coming to Manchester, has now arrived at the point where his plans have assumed action, and this week Archbishop Williams agreed to his plans and sanctioned them.

The church is to be of stone, in rubble work, very similar to that in the public library, and the trimmings will be in split boulders. The architecture will be of the 14th century perpendicular Gothic style, a reproduction almost of the English church of 700 years ago.

Fr. Powers is somewhat of a student of architecture, and the style which he has selected is very rare indeed, and is very dignified in comparison to the graceful lines of the continental Gothic.

The interior of the edifice will be 107 ft., 8 in. long, the knave being 80 ft., 8 in., and the sanctuary 27 ft., and the width 55 ft., 4 in. The seating capacity will be about 620. A sacristy 27 x 17 feet will be built.

The building will stand on the old church lot and on the new ones recently acquired by Fr. Powers, the front of the structure standing back 20 feet from the sidewalk, and the side line will be about 25 ft. from Burnham's lane.

A tower, practically detached from the main building, will fill the eye from Vine street, but in all probability this will not be built in the near future. The tower battlements will be about 62 feet from the ground and from this a spire will rise about 45 ft. high.

One good feature of the building will be the number of doors, provision being made for five. Two of these will be in the facade; another through the tower, in which there will also be a stairway to the choir gallery. There will be another through the sacristy and one through a porch on Burnham's lane.

The rear line of the structure and the sacristy will be three feet from the present building. The front elevation from the ground to the gable will be 52 ft., 6 in., and from the ground to the side 22 feet.

The heavy buttress work will add to the ornate structure of the exterior. It is planned to get the structure in such shape that it can be roofed over by next winter, and using it the next summer, and then proceed as the financial status will allow.

Maginnis, Walsh & Sullivan of Boston, one of the best known firms in the country, are the architects.

Hadley—Crombie

Fred J. Hadley and Miss Rachel E. Crombie, both formerly of Manchester, were united in marriage at Lynn on Thursday evening of this week. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Arthur E. Harriman, pastor of the East Baptist church. The ring service was used, and the ceremony was witnessed by relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties. After a short wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Hadley will be at home to their friends at 7 Avon place, Somerville.

The contracting parties have hosts of friends in Manchester who wish them joy in their new venture. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Eliza Crombie of Pleasant street, and was formerly a student at the Story High school. The groom holds a responsible position with a piano manufacturing company in Cambridge.

Yesterday's Storm Most

Severe of the Winter

Starting in yesterday morning with a light drizzly rain that slowly turned to snow, the storm, which kept up all day, gaining in severity as the day wore on, was the worst of the winter. The snow was of the wet and heavy variety, the kind that sticks, and as a result practically all telephonic, telegraphic, fire alarm and police wires all along this section of the state, are completely demoralized this morning.

Trains from Boston yesterday afternoon were held up by wires and poles falling across the track all along the line. Manchester was entirely cut off from the outside world last night and a big majority of the in-town telephones were cut off.

This morning there were 54 poles down between the Manchester and Beverly Farm stations, on the left hand side of the track, 19 of which were between Manchester and West Manchester.

BEVERLY FARMS

House hunting seems to be quite a popular vocation at the Farms now-a-days, but unfortunately there are none to be secured. It is a pity, indeed, there should be such a scarcity of living quarters, thus preventing the growth of the place.

Mrs. George F. Wood is on a visit of a week or ten days with Mr. and Mrs. Otis Putnam, Danvers.

It was a gay gathering that filled G.A.R. hall Monday evening, when the members of the Oriental embroidery class entertained the gentlemen. A splendid turkey supper was served in the dining room at 6 o'clock, and in justice to the men it might be said that they showed more interest in this meeting than they have in all the other meetings of the class combined. The balance of the evening, after the supper, was spent socially.

Miss Lena Quillan returned to the Farms the first of the week from Nova Scotia, her old home, where she has been spending the winter.

George Dix, the popular clerk at the North Shore fish market, has been "under the weather" the past week, and "Stub" Woodbury has been substituting in his place.

Eli R. Hodgkins has been appointed third assistant engineer of the fire department by Mayor Wallis this week, which is a promotion, as Mr. Hodgkins had previously been fourth assistant.

A special car of horses for the Frick stables arrived with the 10.15 train from Boston Thursday evening.

The entertainment committee of the G.A.R. association, at the regular weekly gathering Thursday evening, provided a unique and unusual number for the "good of the order." By pre-arrangement a lot of fake bills, motions, resolutions, etc., were introduced, thick and fast by those who were on to the scheme, the result being a red hot meeting, resembling an old-fashioned town meeting. The entertainment committee especially were given the "hook" in earnest for everything they had and had not done. At the conclusion the "fraud" was exposed, and the assembly adjourned to the banquet hall and found a splendor did spread, consisting of one of Capt. Blaney's famous clam chowders, awaiting them.

HELP WANTED

We have a number of nice domestic positions for the right parties. We furnish the entire community with all classes of help. If you need help or want work, call or address, Beverly and North Shore Employment Bureau
Mason Block, 244 Cabot St., Beverly,

The sum of $816, received recently from the county commissioners for the widening of Hart street, has been devoted to the payment of land damages caused by the work.

Capt. J. Frank Blaney, who has just reset his fish wier off Chubb's island, has been rewarded by good catches, which show evidence that there is fish in the vicinity.

Much unfavorable comment has been heard of late of the condition of the sidewalks in various parts of the Farms. It is hoped that all the attention of the street department will not be turned toward the streets, but that the walks will be in line for improvements also.

The 2,600 tons or more of crushed stone to be used in the construction of the State highway from the Frick estate to Mingo beach hill will be furnished by Messrs. Connolly Bros. from their stone crushing plant on Greenwood avenue. The above firm recently sent a sample of the stone to the U.S. government authorities at Washington for examination, and have received a report in which the authorities state the following: "A very hard and extremely tough granite, with very high resistance to wear and develops fair cementing value. Best suited for urban, suburban and heavy highway traffic." There is no doubt but that this stone in question is the best found in this vicinity.

Improvements are to be made on the interior of St. Margaret's church.

The F. E. Corlisses are to move into the Currier cottage, the upper end of Hart street, shortly.

Mayberry-Davis

The marriage of Miss Ethel May Davis, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis N. Davis of Everett street, Beverly Farms, and Joseph Albert Mayberry was solemnized last Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Clarence Strong Pond, at 7 o'clock. Only the immediate families were present.

The bride wore a gown of champagne colored silk, trimmed with silk applique. She carried bridal roses and wore orange blossoms in her hair. Miss E. Maude Culbert was the bridesmaid. She was dressed in white organdie. The best man was John Richard Davis, brother of the bride.

From 8 to 9 o'clock there was a reception at the chapel of the Baptist church, which was prettily decorated for the occasion with hemlock trees and branches, rock fern and potted plants. Hanging from the chandelier was a massive bell of hemlock under which stood the bridal party and received.

The ushers were Harry Cole, Frank Preston, Ira I. Davis, Herman McDonald and Edward May, while the Misses Elsie Preston, Alice Witham, Carrie Davis, Alice Bolam, Annie K. Holmes, and Mrs. Guy Williams, Mrs. Benj. Hawkins, jr., Mrs. E. Fred Day and Mrs. L. G. Williams served.

The wedding gifts were very pretty. They were displayed at the church.

Whist at the Farms

The largest gathering of the season at the Farms was that out Wednesday evening for the first of the series of whist parties given under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus and Foresters, in Marshall's hall. Playing started at 8 o'clock and continued to 10.30, resulting in many close scores. The ladies' prizes were won by Miss Bessie Sweeney and Mrs. John F. Wyatt, while N. Doucette and Wm. F. Eddy landed the gentlemen's trophies. One section of the hall was given over to those who desired to play "45." John Bresnahan and Geo. Twitchell took the honors in this. The second of the series will be held next Wednesday evening.

We want YOU to Examine Our BACK YARD

JUST LOOK AT THESE FACTS:

We own two and one-half miles of ore bodies in the heart of the mother lode of California; a great plant that could not be duplicated for $100,000; an immense water power surrounded by big producers, shaft 700 ft. deep, 2 large tunnels, thousands of feet of underground workings, $2,000,000 worth of ore practically in sight. And then we want you to join our co-operative organization and get the money. As nearly as we can estimate there are millions buried there. The Morgan mine adjoining the Essex, paid to stockholders nearly $3,000,000 in one year. The famous Utica mine has paid out over $30,000,000.

We want to hear from you if you are interested in MINING for PROFITS, not gambling for profits, not trying to filch wealth from your neighbor's pockets, but creating its NEW CLEAN MONEY from the ground untarnished by the sweat of the oppressed, the tears of the wronged or the hands of theft. Do you care how you make your money? We do. There is a satisfaction in making money honestly which no thief can feel.

REMEMBER that this is Mining; not Speculation. You can buy the stock now at par $1.00 per share. In less time than a year it may be worth ten times this amount.

Send us your address and we will mail you full details of the property.

WEDDED IN JAPAN

Rev. Francis Clayton Briggs, formerly of Manchester and now a Missionary, Married in far-off Land.

On January 3, at Himeji, Japan, Rev. Francis Clayton Briggs, a former pastor of the Baptist church, Manchester, who paid a visit here last fall, was married to Miss Harriet Marion Witherbee, formerly of Jamaica Plain, Mass.

The many Manchester friends of Mr. Briggs may be interested in a brief account of the wedding. In Japan the wedding service has no connection with the church or religion, the priests having no part in it. As this was probably the first Christian marriage ever seen in Himeji, the ceremony was performed in the little Baptist church, especial emphasis being given to the religious portion of the service, Rev. Mr. Thompson of Kobe, and the native pastor, Uchida San, both taking part. Capt. Luke Bickel, of the gospel ship Fuku Maru, attended to the decorating of the church, using festoons of evergreen, bright red berries and bunting and flags from his ship. At 12.30 on the third of January, to the music of the Lohengrin wedding march, played on the school organ by Miss Sale, of Kobe, the bridal couple walked up the aisle and took the seats placed for them.

A hymn emphasizing God's thought and blessing on marriage was sung, then scripture reading from Eph. v: 17-33, followed by prayer, all in the Japanese language. Then Rev. Mr. Thompson and Uchida San came down from the platform, and with the bridal couple standing before them, the Methodist Episcopal marriage service was read. This was followed by two more prayers, another hymn and several brief addresses of congratula-tion by representatives of different churches, societies, etc., and in conclusion Mendelssohn's wedding march was played as the couple marched out of church. Missionaries from Kobe, Osaka and Okayama were present, making a company of about 20 foreigners besides the large audience of natives. An informal reception and lunch was held at the mission house, and Mr. and Mrs. Briggs left on the afternoon train for a short trip to Kyoto.

Doubtless some of the women may be interested in a few details concerning the dress of the bride who is married in Japan. It was a brown traveling costume, with embroidered white front and cuffs, the design being chrysanthemums in white silk on white satin (dainty work in which the Japanese excel.) The hat was of brown velvet, with golden brown poppies.

Their cards announce that after Jan. 15 they will be "at home," at 47 Shimotera Machi, Himeji, Japan.

our Wall Paper window display is distinctly American—designs and color effects are a bit stronger and warmer in treatment than those shown the first two days of the week. The domestic maker has shown great skill, and is deserving the many compliments that the 1906 showing is bringing him—why, do you know, an American maker is canvassing the European markets with a line confessedly superior to most of their own makers—we have made large selections from this maker's line—and hope to show YOU his handiwork, feeling sure that you will agree with us that there's nothing finer amongst the foreign papers.

In order to secure material for road repairs at Beverly Farms considerable repairing will have to be done to the local stone crushing plant, and it is given out that such repairs are to be done at once. It does seem that work of this nature should be arranged for the winter months and not wait for the spring rush.

Night Police Officer Webster K. Bray is having built at Conomo point, Essex, a camping cottage, where he expects to spend his leisure time during the coming summer months.

Nearly every day of this week has brought to the Farms many of the summer residents, who have visited their estates, looking over the improvements now being done or making preparations for opening their cottages.

Wednesday evening a "Spring picnic" was held in the chapel of the Baptist church, it being a gathering of the members of the primary department of the Sunday school. Each one brought a lunch basket, and the whole forming a nucleus of the spread, which was served shortly after 6 o'clock.

The members of Engine 3 of the local fire department, in accordance with the custom established several years ago, of devoting one evening a year to a theatre party, took last Wednesday evening off, going to Salem, where a fine spread was enjoyed at the Essex House, after which the party attended the Salem theatre, seeing Wm. John F. Morse, jr., is making quite a number of changes and improvements in his Pride's Crossing estate. Avenues and walks are being rebuilt and considerable of the land in the rear of the residence is being graded, requiring the tearing down and rebuilding of walls, excavations of earth and ledge and grading. Messrs. Connolly Bros. are doing the work.

Work has been started by Gaffey, the contractor, on building the State highway from Mingo beach hill to the Frick estate. The ledge on the sharp corner near the Gardner estate is being removed first.

The Liquor Question Discussed At the Manchester Churches

Rev. E. H. Brewster spoke briefly on the liquor question at the Baptist church last Sunday evening, as also did Rev. C. A. Lincoln at the Congregational church. Mr. Brewster said in part:

"The liquor question is one worthy of agitation all the year round if one considers how influentially it bears upon our community life. It is matter of record as well as for congratulation that the citizens of Manchester have repeatedly declared their enmity to the saloon, and we are glad to believe will do so again at the polls tomorrow.

"You may employ two superintendents of schools if you will, build a half dozen more school houses if you can afford it, but the plow of advanced ideas in education can make little headway against a well manned bar which would beget for you, with devilish rapidity, a generation of stunted, crippled, soulless and degenerate men.

"I know there are some who talk about the right of the town to the few paltry thousands of dollars to be derived from the license system. Do such people ever stop to consider that license places the town at one side of the till, and the bar-keeper at the other?

"So much for license. I don't believe many sane men will vote for it. I shall be painfully shocked if the majority for no license is not greater this year than it was last. What? Fifty-two more Sundays of church going, church giving and gospel preaching and my fellow townsmen no purer of the right, no firmer in their resolve to shatter the wrong?

"But some are saying, 'If we don't have license, we shall have the sale of liquor just the same.' Shall we? Who says so? The law says 'No.' 'Yes, but the law isn't enforced.' Why not? People shrug their shoulders. Is that the way to shift the responsibility? If the law isn't enforced, it is the fault of the people who make the laws, and make and unmake law makers. We can keep 'No license' and law enforcement together.

"Our officials are honest men. Thank God no taint of graft has ever yet been discovered in Town hall. But they are the off-spring of our will. They will run no higher than their source. The stream of public sentiment relating to this question has been very low indeed and at times has well nigh disappeared amid the draught of a general indifference."

Unique Funeral Cortège

An innovation for New England in the way of funeral arrangements was inaugurated a few days ago at Fall River when the body of a prominent deceased citizen was carried, accompanied by the bearers and sorrowing friends, from the First Congregational church in Fall River, where the services were held, to Marion by trolley.

One of the handsome new trolley express cars was provided for the purpose. The floor of the car was covered with rugs, and the casket, buried in a wealth of beautiful floral offerings, was placed upon supports in the centre. Seats were provided in the same car for the bearers.

Running independently behind this car was a special passenger car in which about 40 relatives and friends of the deceased rode. The trip was made from the church in Fall River through New Bedford to Marion, from which point the trip to the Rochester cemetery, where the interment took place, was made in carriages, and occupied but about two hours.

This unique funeral cortege has attracted wide attention and it is looked upon as a possible forerunner of others to follow, particularly where it is necessary to consider the expense and where the distance from the place of funeral and interment is extended and both are convenient to the lines of the street railway systems.

Mrs. Carter at the Tremont

The third week of Mrs. Leslie Carter's season at the Tremont Theatre begins next Monday evening with a revival of "Zaza," the play in which the distinguished actress made a triumphant success a few years ago. "Zaza" is an adaptation from the French, and as its leading character Mrs. Carter has never had a better opportunity for the display of her exceptional talents. Her Zaza, the woman of the Paris concert halls, the unfortunate victim of her surroundings, the pathetic heroine of a twentieth century emotional drama, is wonderfully human and convincing. The first act of "Zaza" indeed shows the life of the Paris variety stage with remarkable realism. The cast of "Zaza" will be as perfect as that which invariably surrounds Mrs. Carter, and the production will be scenically as well as dramatically complete. It should be remembered that the coming two weeks are positively the closing ones of Mrs. Carter's Boston engagement, and that she cannot return this season.

Society Notes

The coming season is to be a very active one on the North Shore, if present indications are any criterion. Scores of people have been down to Manchester, Magnolia and the Beverly shore, looking for cottages the past few weeks and it is only yet the second week in March. Real estate reviews say that it has been a great many years since there has been such a demand for shore houses, especially on the North Shore.

It is said that the Otto H. Kahns of New York will occupy the Charles Head estate at Manchester again this season. Mr. Kahns' representative, W. H. P. Day, was on to Manchester last week and again this week.

Gen. and Mrs. Draper of Washington were down to Manchester Tuesday looking over some cottages.

The pretty estate at 93 Hale street, Beverly Cove, occupied last season by the James L. Paines of Boston, known when Mr. Richardson occupied it as "Locust Lodge," will be known in the future as "Brookside."

Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Merrill of Boston have been spending a few days this week at the Manchester House.

Mrs. W. C. Sheldon and maid of New York were down the shore this week with Norton Wigglesworth looking over some property at Manchester.

F. L. Higginson, jr., has just purchased four acres of woodland in Wenham, part of the Mary E. Stanton estate.

The Rabardy cottage at Manchester Cove, occupied several seasons by the Prescott Bigelows, has been let for the coming season to Mrs. Agnes G. Fuller of Cambridge. Mrs. Fuller is a sister of Miss Higginson, who has a cottage near by.

Robert C. Hooper sails today for a short trip to England.

The Preston cottage at Beverly Farms, occupied the past two seasons by Mrs. Gordon Prince, has been let for the coming season to the Edward Moores of St. Louis.

"Battle and Victory" will be the theme of Rev. E. Hersey Brewster's sermon at the Baptist church tomorrow morning. At the people's evening service it will be "The Night Bell."

Last Sunday the Y.P.S.C.E. meetings were resumed and are held in the church parlor instead of in the chapel.

Rev. T. J. Holland of Maplewood will deliver the Lenten sermon in the Sacred Heart church next Tuesday evening.

The evangelistic services which were held last week at the two churches, with such hopeful results, have been continued at the Baptist church this week on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Rev. Dr. Blackburn has been present each evening, and the services have been well attended. Thursday's meeting was mostly for men. Thirty-five in all have professed conversion.

A lecture on "Irish Song" will be delivered in the Town hall, Saturday, March 17 (St. Patrick's Day) by Rev. Wm. F. Powers. It will consist of a story of Irish sentiment as interpreted through the ancient Celtic airs, many of which will be sung during the course of the lecture. A special feature of the evening's entertainment will consist of four-part choruses, which the Catholic Choral Society has been rehearsing during the past few weeks. As the object of the entertainment is the swelling of the church-building fund, the ticket price is fifty cents.

If London's streets were placed end to end, how many times would they reach across the American continent? In this age ignorance is a crime. Own the Stoddard lectures and be informed.

The Summer Hotels

Frederick Merrill, formerly of the Humarock, Scituate, will have the management of the Masconomo hotel, Manchester, the coming season.

Julian E. Priest, who has been prominently identified with hotel management at Magnolia in past seasons, will have part management of the Great Island hotel at Hyannis for the coming season. Mr. Priest was assistant manager of the New Magnolia in 1904 and manager of the Hesperus last year.

Why have English railway locomotives no cow catchers? We will try to show the Stoddard lectures to you, but to make sure, write to Balch Bros. Co. 36 Bromfield street, Boston.

How We All Hold to the Traditions Of Salem's Old Merchant Marine

MATTINGS And the Position Salem Once Held in the Shipping Business of the World

The picture of one of those old sturdy ships with all sails set stirs the emotions within us, or to hear the stories as they have been handed down from generation to generation of the thrilling experiences of some of Salem's proud captains starts our blood running faster, and they never grow old.

Don't you suppose on the other side of the world there is a feeling of wonder as to what this Salem of America and its people look like, to those over there, when today they hear of this same old Salem through the importing house of Titus & Co.? For little as you thought it we have

STRAW MATTINGS bought right over in China through an American representative, who goes there with our orders and has mattings made there for us back in the interior and floated down the rivers to the nearest seaport on the little Chinese bunks, with the name Titus—Salem—U. S. A. printed on the wrappers, which the Chinamen see.

It is with feelings of great pride that we continue this old-time custom of Salem's early merchants, together with the satisfaction we get of bringing to your doors a commodity growing constantly in favor at a many times' saving.

You never hear of a 50-cent matting down in this store, because we are not obliged to ask that for it. 35 cent is enough and it's the best the Chinamen make.

22 cents produces for us beautiful matting, seamless and fine strawed.

The great heavy straw, the weightiest they make, is only 32, and we bring across some for only 10 cents, not good, of course, but to demonstrate the saving.

Our own color schemes and designs surely offer advantages, and the freshness of the goods lends months to their wear.

Whole shipment now here. Call in and examine. Another evidence of good taste and good trade.

Water Approach to Manchester in Very Poor Condition — Member of Committee Appointed at Town Meeting to Take Up the Matter with Authorities at Washington, Says "Get Hold Somewhere, and Help Lift Her Out of the Mud in Which She Has Floundered So Long."

Editor of the North Shore Breeze:

Please allow me space in your paper to present an important matter to your readers generally, and particularly to those who are sufficiently interested in making the water approach to our town safe and convenient, at low water, for small boats, while those of considerable size may reach the several wharves in the inner basin easily.

Through the hard work of a few of our public-spirited citizens, and the influence of our late summer resident, Mr. John H. P. Dodge, who went to Washington and did valued service for the town he loved, a survey was made by government engineers, a report and plan of which we have, calling for the widening and deepening of any channel existing at the time and making one in the most convenient and suitable places where low tide failed to disclose a water course of sufficient depth to be available for practical purposes.

The plans call for a channel broad enough to suit all needs and deep enough to allow boats drawing not over four feet of water to reach town wharf at mean low water. The plan also contemplates a large basin directly in front of town wharf and another outside the draw-bridge, quite large and deep.

The report and plan was adopted by the government and two small appropriations have been made and expended in a way that relieved somewhat a very unfortunate condition.

There is still an unexpended balance of nearly two-thirds the sum named in the report to perform the work

We understand recommendations have been made looking towards the completion of certain small jobs along our coast similar to ours, but up to this time no appropriation has been made for our harbor.

Certain gentlemen of large business and political experience feel that, if a suitable committee should take this matter in hand, it might be possible to present our needs in a way that will merit the attention of the Land and Harbor Committee at Washington, and our rightful claims in a manner that will insure the required appropriation.

The town in its recent annual meeting favored the plan to the extent that they appointed a committee of five gentlemen who should take charge of the subject matter contained in the report and plan, and use every endeavor to work it out to a successful conclusion.

The committee consists of Arthur M. Merriam, Prof. Charles L. Norton, Edwin P. Stanley, Duncan T. Beaton and Oliver T. Roberts.

This committee will welcome any well considered suggestion and solicit the help of any who may have influence more or less directly with the Land and Harbor Committee, who are a most important factor in this matter.

We trust all who have at heart the deep needs of our town, will use their utmost endeavor and, whether citizens by birth or adoption, get hold somewhere, and "with a long pull and a strong pull, and a pull altogether," lift her out of the mud in which she has floundered so long, so that in fact as well as in name, she may be Manchester by the sea.

EARLY ENGLISH PREACHERS

By D. F. LAMSON

England, in the course of her thousand years of history, has produced many great preachers, as well as great statesmen, philosophers and writers. That the preachers preceded by some centuries the great writers is according to a well-known law of literary development. In all nations oratory has appeared long before literature; letters are always of slow growth and long in maturing their fruitage. Eloquent speakers there have been among the least advanced races, as the Negro and the North American Indian, among whom there has been developed little if any literature.

The light from Celtic and Saxon times is too dim to enable us to see more than the outlines of figures that moved across the stage. Britain, however, was not without its religious leaders. St. Patrick, hazy as is our knowledge of him, was a man of such indomitable missionary activity that he must have been an inspiring and powerful preacher. One would like to have been in one of those vast open-air gatherings in some hollow among the hills, and caught the enthusiasm which swept like a tidal wave over the barbarians, submerging multitudes into the faith. One of the most picturesque figures of the time is St. Cuthbert, seen in popular belief seated on a rock at Lindisfarne, a cloud-wrapt form, fashioning the little fossils which still bear the name of "St. Cuthbert's beads." But the saint was no mere recluse or fantastic wonder-worker; under his rule, missionaries from Iona were the apostles to the savage tribes of Northern Europe. These preachers were not of the academic type; they did not wear soft clothing or dwell in kings' houses; they were voices crying in the wilderness, summoning men to repentance and preaching the kingdom of God. Later, the successors of these pioneers carried their zealous propaganda to the shores of the Baltic and the forests of Germany, and with their fiery eloquence and wholesale methods of conversion swept whole tribes of the barbarians into the Church; pagan deities were rechristened with names of saints, forms of christian worship supplanted the rites of Odin, and the Conversion of the Northern nations took its place in history.

The Venerable Bede, in his monastery at Jarrow, is to be regarded as a scholar rather than a preacher. It was his delight, he tells us, to be "always learning or writing or teaching something." He was what we call a many-sided man; grammarian, philosopher, historian, Bible translator and preacher. None of the remains of his pulpit eloquence have come down to us, but such a man could hardly have failed to be an interesting and powerful preacher, at least to intelligent hearers, even if he lacked the vehemence of John Knox who in his old age and feebleness, when he had to be lifted into the pulpit, "before he was done was like to bring the pulpit into blades and fly out of it." With Bede we naturally associate his patron the good King Alfred, himself like our strenuous Chief Magistrate not only a soldier and a statesman, but a man of letters and a lay preacher. Men like these constitute the true defence of nations, and men like these have never been wanting in England's island story.

Most of Bede's writings are in Latin, the literary language of his age. His translation of the gospel of John is in Anglo-Saxon, the language of the people. The story of its completion has been often told. The pupils were gathered around the master; "there is but one chapter more, but you have not strength left," said the youthful scribe; "write quickly," replied Bede; the day wore on; "there is only one sentence left;" the last words were dictated; "it is finished, dear master"; "Consummatum est," responded Bede, and being helped to his knees repeated the "Gloria," and the gentle spirit was at rest.

Even after Saxon England had been converted to the christian faith, over large districts and for long years in succession the offices of religion mostly ceased. What with Vikings in "pyrate galleys warping down", Danish hordes ravaging with fire and sword, beacons flaming, harvests burning, there was little opportunity for preachers to exercise their functions. With the establishment of something like order under the iron rule of the Normans, many ecclesiastics were imported into the realm, but with the exception of high officials like Lanfranc the clergy were poorly furnished intellectually for their work. Preaching was almost the least of the duties of the parish priest; if he could manage to mumble over the Creed and the Pater Noster, it was about all that could be expected of him. But better days were dawning; the influence of the Renaissance and the printing press in England evoked a spirit among the people which demanded intelligence in the clergy and lifted the pulpit out of the degradation into which it had fallen.

Some of the itinerant preachers from the 10th to the 12th century, in "sandal shoon and scallop shell", palmers returned from the Holy Land, found willing hearers by the wayside or at the market cross, and devout purchasers of their relics—a rosary, a bit of the wood of the true cross, a thorn from the crown. These preachers were often held in great veneration, but the common lot of preaching friars sunk after Chaucer's time more and more below respect.

The rise of the great cathedrals, those marvellous creations of genius and devotion in which poetry, art and religion seem crystalized into stone, had little to do with the preaching vocation; they were not designed for purposes of oral instruction, the pulpit being but an insignificant feature; with their fretted roofs, clustering pillars and long-drawn aisles, they were better suited to spectacular effect than to preaching and hearing; to autiphon and processional, pealing organs, high altars, "dim religious light," liturgy, ritual. The building of parish churches all over England was a better indication of the increasing power of the pulpit in English civilization, and brought the preacher into closer contact with the people.

Few of the early English preachers have left distinguished names; they are overshadowed in history by the soldiers and statesmen, and their voices are often lost in the din of war. But they must be reckoned with as among the great moral forces that have made England what she is today, one of the greatest, freest, best governed nations of earth. It is a far cry from Patricius and Cuthbert to Canon Liddon and Charles Spurgeon, but it

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Blaisdell on Union street, was the scene of a very pleasant gathering Wednesday evening on the occasion of the former's anniversary of his 50th birthday, the party being somewhat of an informal nature. Whist was enjoyed a greater part of the evening, there being ten tables. The doctor was remembered by numerous presents of flowers, etc., a pleasing feature of the occasion being the presentation by Fred J. Merrill in behalf of the guests, of a beautiful cut glass punch bowl.

Thursday evening in the Town hall Mrs. T. W. Long and Mrs. Oscar Wing entertained the Friday Afternoon Whist with a "gentlemen's night," the affair being a very pretty one, indeed, despite the raging snow storm without. Dainty refreshments were served and dancing was enjoyed the latter part of the evening.

Miss Marion G. Scott returned Thursday from a few days' visit in Beverly with Miss Agatha Knowlton.

Capt. John W. Carter had the pleasure the other day of calling on an old ship mate of his whom he had not seen for 41 years, though they have lived within 25 miles of each other for a score or more of years. About 41 years ago a young Scottish lad, named Wm Duncan, boarded Captain Carter's ship at Glasgow and wanted to earn his passage across to America and he was shipped, accompanying the American boat on its trip to the Mediterranean and to Boston, when he left. The boy was 17 years old and a glass blower by trade. He has since built up one of the largest glass foundries in this section, being now in most prosperous circumstances. Capt. Carter heard of him a number of years ago, but only recently did he decide to call on him, finding the once poor Scottish lad in East Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Ballou, Charles and Henry Brown and Lyman Butler were among those who attended the automobile show in Boston this week.

Miss Mabel Sargent and Miss Edith Caswell, who has been spending the winter here with Mr. and Mrs. Sargent, have been spending the week in Charlestown visiting friends.

Miss Sadie Abbott entertained a party of young people at her home one evening the first of this week, among her guests being Miss Catherine McAuley, Miss Helen Lycett, Gilbert Crispin and Roger Nichols, and Fred Burnham of Gloucester.

A handsome new soda fountain of the latest and most improved make is being installed in Lycett's drug store, which will enable this concern to handle to better advantage the heavy trade of the summer season. The fountain is similar to the one recently installed at Lee's in Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Dunbar were hosts Tuesday evening of a merry party of young people, mostly from Gloucester. With Mrs. Dunbar at the piano, a very pleasant evening was spent, there being solos by Raymond Carter, Miss Carrie Brown and Miss Bertha Osier of Gloucester, and dancing by Miss Dunbar and Gilbert Crispin.

Messrs. Purdy, Hallett, Machel and Frank Briar of Gloucester were in Magnolia Monday evening, guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Chane, entertaining with instrumental music during the evening.

"Fidelity to Promise" will be the subject of the Young People's Union meeting next Friday evening. Rev. Mr. Libby, leader.

The Travel class held its final meeting of the winter Wednesday evening, a good number being present. The class will begin its tours again early next fall.

Mrs. Philemon Sanborn is spending a few days in Winchendon, visiting her daughter, Mrs. Orrin Sawyer.

MANCHESTER COVE

Mrs. Wm. H. Haskell has been moving her household goods to her cottage house on Vine street, Manchester, the past week, where she will go to live shortly.

Henry Dunbar, who formerly lived here, was in town the first of the week renewing acquaintances.

The meeting at the Cove school-house was omitted Thursday evening owing to the storm.

GEORGE WILLMONTON

Honored Manchester Citizen Passed Away
Thursday Morning

Deacon George Willmonton, an honored and respected citizen of Manchester, passed away at his late home on Pleasant street, Thursday morning, at the age of 70 years, 3 months, 14 days.

Death was the result of a general breaking up, his health having been declining since a year ago when he lost one eye as the result of an abscess. His condition had not been at all serious, however, until the last month. His was one of those quiet, peaceful lives characteristic of the old New England stock from which he came. He was an honest, upright soul, respected and honored by all who knew him.

George Willmonton was born in Manchester, Dec. 1, 1835, a son of the late Deacon Jacob Willmonton, one of the old "skippers" of the early fishing days of Manchester. His mother was Eliza A. Crombie, a Manchester woman, also. His early life, as was common in those days, was spent in following the sea. Later, he learned the trade of cabinet maker with Mr. John Little, which he followed until recent years.

He served in the Civil War in Co. A, 45th Regiment, and was at the time of his death president of the Co. A Associates. He was engaged in the battles of Kingston, Whitehall and Gouldsborough. He is a member of Post 67, G.A.R., of which he was chaplain. He was also a charter member of William Jeffrey Colony, Pilgrim Fathers, and has always been closely identified with the life of the order here.

For over 30 years he has been one of the deacons of the Baptist church of this town and he has always been a very influential worker in the society. He married Helen L. Holmes of Hopkinton, N.H., in 1865. A widow, one son, George E. Willmonton, and a sister, Mrs. Charlotte Butler of this town survive.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Crowell Memorial chapel. Revs. D. F. Lamson and E. Hersey Brewster will officiate.

Second Annual Banquet

The second annual banquet of the Magnolia Fire association was held Thursday evening, the occasion proving even more successful than that of last year. Saunders of Gloucester was the caterer, the menu consisting of turkey, French peas, chicken croquets, scalloped oysters, lobster salad, frozen pudding and ices.

BUILDS GOOD ROADS

Chairman of the Mass. Highway Commission says this of the Manchester Superintendent

The Journal of the Massachusetts Highway association, issued quarterly, has come to hand this week, and we note in it an account covering several pages of remarks made by Supt. of Streets Kimball of Manchester, at a meeting of the association in Boston, recently, in which he relates some of his experiences in road construction in Manchester.

In introducing the Manchester superintendent the presiding officer said :

"I am going to find out how they do things down by the shore. There is a famous town there, somewhat the resort of the tax dodgers; they evidently have plenty of money and must have good roads."

The subject of thin roads was one of the chief topics of discussion, and of this Mr. Kimball said :

"In regard to thin roads. I started in to build a piece last spring, and as I told Mr. McClintock, he nearly took the life out of me when he came along in an automobile, and asked if I thought I could make that road hold. I put on about four inches of trap rock, and rolled it down, then a light coating of dust, and rolled until it flushed, and for us, it is an exceptionally good piece of road. We have good results, and it gives good satisfaction. It is as slippery and smooth as asphalt. There are two or three hills, and some little complaint has been made about their being slippery in wet weather. I built a piece about five years ago on the same road and the results have been excellent. This seems to be the most economical road we can build."

Hon. W. McClintock, chairman of the Mass. Highway commission, spoke very complimentary of Mr. Kimball's work during his remarks. He said :

"Thin macadam, when it gets to that stage, must be a mere surfacing. Mr. Kimball's road in Manchester is much of the same kind, although Mr. Kimball went a little farther than Mr. Ross. Mr. Kimball must have misunderstood my position, because I never had a doubt about the success of the road he was building. There is no finer road on the North Shore than the road which Mr. Kimball showed me last summer, the road connecting with the State road in Beverly."

Relative to oiling roads, an experiment tried so successfully in California, and which has been suggested here in view of the constant raising of dust by autos, Mr. McClintock said this was not yet in a stage sufficiently perfected as to be able to apply it here.

MANCHESTER

Mrs. Carter's Last Week

at the Tremont

The reception given to Mrs. Leslie Carter's revival of "Zaza" at the Tremont Theatre has been so cordial that that famous play will be continued through the coming week the fourth and last of the distinguished actress's stay in Boston. In all the stormy scenes of the play she reveals astonishing depths of passion, and her reserve power enables her to carry through the quieter moments with equally telling effect. The five acts of Zaza are laid partly in a little provincial town of France, and partly in Paris, and they are all staged with that realism and care for dramatic effect of which Mr. David Belasco is a consummate master. Immediately following the close of Mrs. Leslie Carter's engagement, Mr. Belasco will present at the Tremont, a grand revival of his famous drama, "The Heart of Maryland," with a phenomenally strong cast, including Odette Tyler, R. D. McLean, John E. Kellard, Orrin Johnson, Edna Wallace Hooper and Wallace Edinger.

They have a new janitor at the Town hall, I understand. Or at least Janitor Haskell thought so the other day. One morning recently he left his "office" in charge of several members of the "Janitor's club," of which, by the way, he is president, and all the others are honorary members, and went over to the Winthrop club for a few minutes. Some one thought there should be a new janitor and the crowd immediately set to work to make one. It isn't necessary to go into details of how this was done, but when our genial friend George returned he found a new man in possession of his cane bottom[less] chair, wearing a pair of rubber boots, a sou'wester, and the buttonholes of his coat bedecked with the numerous keys of the janitor's key board.

WEDNESDAY EVENING CLUB

Very Interesting Program Carried out This Week at the March Meeting—George W. Cooke of Wakefield the Speaker

George Willis Cooke of Wakefield, a lecturer of some note, was the speaker of the evening at the March meeting of the Wednesday Evening club in Manchester this week. Mr. Cooke is a good speaker, and his

of Wakefield, who spoke before the Wednesday Evening Club, Manchester, this week on "The Training of Boys."

lecture on "The Training of Boys" contained much food for thought.

The program, in charge of a committee of which Howard M. Stanley was chairman, was musical throughout, including mandolin duets by Frank Fleming and Bert Floyd, vocal solos by Misses Annie McMillan and May Strong of Gloucester, with Miss May Wells Smith as accompanist, and solo by Chester H. Nye of Somerville, well known in Manchester, made up a very interesting program. Miss Strong's rendition of her various numbers was especially well liked.

The speaker of the evening took for his subject "The Training of Boys," and said by way of introduction that the best way to train a boy was to permit him to be a boy. "You can't very well make anything else out of him," he said. "And that would be equally true of girls."

He spoke in a general way of the consideration of children to youth. "Perhaps the idea that lies on the foundation of our education," said he, "is the conception that every child repeats the history of the human race. He recapitulates the whole history of mankind. Unless all other generations of men had gone before us, we could not think and act as we do today. This idea of evolution has as its basis the fact that the child is born in the world utterly helpless.

"This is a young people's age. The spirit of 50 years ago was that a 'child should be seen and not heard.' The young men and women of today are not relevant. A child learns more the first six years than in all the rest of his life. He learns almost entirely by imitation.

"The great essential of education is not to acquire knowledge alone, but that you should have character. The character of every person, I think, is established in these first six years before a child gets any education at all."

The speaker spoke of the need of manual training in schools, and advised getting out of the old idea of Greek and Latin.

"The education we all need is the getting of the capacity to live, of seeing life as it is, and of being able to master it. The education we need has not yet come. That education is life—that fits boys to live for the business of life. In toil or in leisure we should be men first, second and last; men all the way through."

WHISPERINGS

Many Manchester people who attended the automobile show in Boston this week were attracted by a large picture in the Pierce Arrow booth in Mechanics hall of H. Keno Marble, chauffeur for James F. Shaw of Manchester, sitting in Mr. Shaw's auto which did such a hustling business during the campaign last fall. The car in the picture was a Pierce Great Arrow, which no doubt holds a record for endurance runs. From March 19, 1905, to Feb. 24, 1906, it had run 21,487 miles, using 1791 gallons of gasoline. Keno tells me as much as 15,000 miles was covered during the campaign last fall, running from Manchester to all parts of the district. The Pierce Great Arrow, by the way, is one of the best cars on the market, and a large crowd were continually congregated about this booth.

TOWN MEETING

Two More Sessions of the Manchester Annual Meeting Held This Week—Appropriations Now Over $200,000

Two more sessions of the annual town meeting, in Manchester, have been held this week and most of the business has now been disposed of, much of the matters of lesser importance being put through Monday and last evenings. A detailed account of the proceedings follows.

What was Said and Done at Manchester Town Meeting

The adjourned town meeting was called to order by Moderator Hooper at 7.30 Monday evening.

The first business transacted was the reappointment by the moderator of G. W. Blaisdell, F. P. Ayers and A. C. Needham, whose terms expired on the appropriation committee, instead of those who had been reappointed at a recent meeting, there having been some misunderstanding as to the dates of expiration.

Article 16, with reference to the re-location of Bennett street, as ordered by the county commissioners, on petition of William Johnson and others, passed over on motion of G. S. Sinnicks.

Article 7, relative to Norwood avenue extension. F. K. Swett asked for further time.

Article 22. On motion of C. O. Howe $225 was appropriated to have the new school house protected from lightning.

Article 2, reports of town officers, was called for by E. P. Stanley, tax collector. The tax lists of 1893, '94 and '95, amounting to $8 61, was rebated, as was also a tax of $8.05 against Chas. E. Brown of Ipswich, all of which were assessed illegally and could not be collected. On the list of 1901 the tax of $10.27 against the late Downing Lee was rebated. Mr. Stanley said he could collect this, but he felt under the circumstances it ought to be rebated. The whole amount rebated was $26.93.

W. C. Rust asked what the appropriation committee had done on the matter of a little amount voted to be left for their consideration ($300 for liquor law enforcement).

Secretary A. C. Needham said the committee had not yet considered the matter, but would report at a future meeting.

Article 23. $4,900, without receipts, was appropriated for the support of the police department.

Article 24. Appropriated $75 for the care and maintenance of the police clock system.

Article 29. Parks. This article was taken from the table. D. T. Beaton read an opinion from Counsel Evans on the matter of the Beach street park improvements, the question at issue being the legality of the town appropriating money for dredging a channel and basin to the pier. This was reported on favorably. The plan of the commissioners having been accepted and the appropriation called for, and recommended by the appropriation committee, having been withheld awaiting this reply, it was then voted, on motion of Mr. Beaton, "that $7,000 be appropriated to build a stone retaining wall from Beach street to the pier now constructed."

R. A. Mitchell asked what sort of a wall it was intended to build.

Mr. Beaton replied that it would be a block stone wall, with granite capings, 2 ft. 6 in. wide by 6 in. thick.

A. C. Needham stated that the dredging company who had figured on the work of dredging had told him they were coming to Annisquam to do some work this spring and their figures on the Manchester job would be materially lessened.

E. S. Knight said a two-thirds vote was called for on any money appropriated for parks. A hand vote was taken, resulting in 110 in the affirmative and 2 in the negative.

W. C. Rust: "Have the commissioners come to any decision as to who shall build the wall, the labor, etc?"

D. T. Beaton replied that it was their intention to obtain figures from different parties and award it to the lowest man, provided he was responsible.

M. E. Gorman moved that the work be done by in-town contractors, and that in-town labor be employed as far as practicable. The moderator said he did not hear a second to the motion, and was about to pass along.

M. E. Gorman questioned this, and asked if it had not been seconded by one of the commissioners.

The moderator asked if anyone had seconded the motion, directing his query apparently to the park commissioners. No one replied, and he was about to pass along again, when Mr. Lewis Killam arose and said he had seconded the motion and a gentleman behind him had also seconded it. Mr. Gorman's motion was put and carried.

Article 30. It was moved by C. O. Howe to appropriate $1,500 for the maintenance and care of parks.

R. A. Mitchell asked if this was not the same amount as last year.

Moderator: "It is $50 less."

Mr. Mitchell then asked if more money was not needed. He understood there was to be considerable work done at the park, and it might be necessary to hire another man.

Article 56, to grant the W.R.C. the use of the Town hall without charge from Feb. 14, '06, to March 1, '07, in all cases where entertainments, dances, etc., are being held for the benefit of their relief fund for charitable purposes, was called for by J. S. Reed, who moved the petition be granted.

C. C. Dodge: "I don't know as I want to oppose anything in the interests of charity. This is a peculiar article, and I think it ought to be limited."

W. C. Rust: "Has the town the right to make donations to societies? It would be better for them to pay and have the town grant rebates."

Moderator: "This is a broad article and covers a great deal of ground."

G. S. Sinnicks was of the same opinion, and thought it would be the much better way to do as we have done in the past, grant rebates after they have had the hall. "If we establish a precedent we are starting something which will give us a great deal of trouble," he said. "There are other societies who raise money for charities. I favor doing as we have done in the past."

J. S. Reed: "This is a special society for a special purpose, an object everybody in town is interested in—helping the old soldiers. If it were not for this society there would be a great deal of suffering."

Moderator: "The town is always willing to help. While we feel generous in a matter of this kind, we should not establish a bad precedent. It is much nicer to come in and ask for a rebate."

The vote to grant the request was put and lost by a decided majority.

Article 37. $125 was appropriated to be entrusted to the quartermaster of Post 67, G. A. R.

Article 50. $200 was appropriated for Memorial Day observance. J. S. Rivers moved a free use of the Town hall be granted the G. A. R. for the day and evening of Memorial Day. Carried.

F. K. Swett asked the courtesy of the moderator in bringing before the town a matter purely foreign to any article in the warrant. He stated that Mrs. B. P. Bigelow was seeking to register title to property running to mean low water mark at the beach, in Manchester Cove, part of which land it appears is already covered in other titles, and part of which is property of the town.

R. A. Mitchell thought it would be well to lay the matter on the table for a few days till any of the citizens interested could look over the ground.

It was then voted that when the meeting adjourn it be till Friday evening.

Henry C. Mitchell gave notice that on Friday evening he would move for a reconsideration of the vote whereby it was voted to expend $3,644.82 for the suppression of the gypsy moth nuisance, the same to be expended under the direction of the tree warden.

Article 31. $1,000 was voted for the use of the board of health, without receipts from use of soil cart.

The recommendation of the board that the town pay one-half the cost of removing the contents of cesspools in this town was accepted and so voted.

Mr. Swett moved that a committee of five be appointed by the moderator, to report at the next annual town meeting on the advisability of a sewerage system for Manchester.

F. K. Hooper thought it was hardly necessary to go into the matter of sewerage now. It would mean a large expenditure of money and practically no returns. Of course the health of the town is to be considered.

E. P. Stanley wanted to go slow in this matter. Beverly, with more than 12,000 larger population, was but just beginning on sewerage. "We are not large enough to go into a sewerage project yet," said he. "I fail to see any necessity of it. It is not a question of one hundred thousand dollars, but several of them; it may be half a million."

A. S. Jewett quoted Dr. W. H.

Tyler to the effect that a remarkably healthy condition exists in the town, hinting that the health of the town did not demand the installation of a sewerage system.

Mr. Swett said the board made the suggestion which he offered at the instigation of advice from Dr. Blaisdell of the board. He was of the opinion there should be another soil cart.

The matter of sewerage was indefinitely postponed, on motion of A. Cunningham.

Article 4, list of jurors. Frank M. Garrell, Solomon A. Parsons and Lewis E. Andrews were excused from serving, and the list was recommitted to the selectmen for reconsideration till Friday evening.

Article 35. $1,000 and receipts was appropriated for the support of indoor poor and $1,000 for out-door.

Article 36. $1,500 was appropriated for state and military aid.

Article 38. A. Cunningham said he hoped the park commissioners would consider the advisability of allowing no more bath houses on Singing beach. I was voted the same regulations with reference to the town beaches and landings be in force as last year.

Article 32. The same regulations as last year for the common, dump and wharf.

Article 39, clearing snow, passed over.

Article 40, crushing stone. $2,000 was appropriated for this purpose, it being stated the intention was to keep the crusher going the year round.

Article 41. $100 was voted for clearing snow off Central pond.

Article 42. $300 was appropriated for painting the Town hall; $200 for painting the engine house; $500 for the erection of a carriage shed at Tuck's Point, $100 for wiring the police station and fixtures, and $200 for repairs on the Row school.

Article 44. N. P. Meldrum stated Mr. Morley had made arrangements for service piping to his house on Norwood avenue extension, thus obviating the necessity of running a main on the new street.

Article 46. $400 was appropriated for wiring the Memorial Library building for electric lights.

Article 47. Mr. Swett moved $6500 be appropriated for street lights. N. P. Meldrum asked how many lights this was for, and was informed that it was for about 220, to be lighted 26 nights each month.

Article 48. Salaries. A. Cunningham moved the salaries of the town officers and members of the fire department, be the same as last year, with the exception of the school committee. The latter committee cannot legally be paid a salary, though they have been paid, it appears, since the new law was passed.

Article 49. $150 was appropriated for rebinding the old assessors' books and town plans.

Meeting adjourned at 9.45 o'clock.

Friday Evening's Session

The meeting was called to order at 7.35 and the first matter of business was that of a revised jury list, the selectmen presenting the names of O. A. Martin, G. E. Willmonton and A. C. Hooper in place of the three resigned.

Article 53. It was voted the selectmen be empowered to have the bandstand moved to a new position, nearer the street, to a point between the flagpole and the gasoline tanks.

Article 54. It was voted on motion of E. A. Lane that the name of the new Primary School building be the "John Price Primary School."

The Appropriation committee reported that they had considered the matter of the $300 for enforcement of the liquor law left for their consideration, and they did not recommend the appropriation for the reason that they did not find any article in the warrant calling for same. They did recommend $3,825 for official salaries.

The original motion by W. C. Rust that $300 be appropriated for the enforcement of the liquor law was put and lost by a decided majority.

Fred K. Swett made a supplementary report regarding the registration of certain land by Mrs. Bessie P. Bigelow and it was voted they have the authority to hire counsel if the case demanded such action.

Article 61. It was voted that the sum of $250 be appropriated from the interest of the White Beach Pasture Fund for the care of Tuck's Point.

Article 52. It was voted that the money already appropriated for a series of band concerts this summer be expended under the direction of the Board of Selectmen.

Article 60. Henry C. Mitchell moved for a reconsideration of vote 96, which was "that the sum of $3644.82 be appropriated for the suppression of the gypsy and browntail moths in accordance with the requirements of Section 5, Chapter 381, Acts of 1905, and that the same be expended under the direction of the tree warden, William Young."

This was the point in which the interest of the meeting centered last night as Mr. Mitchell had made known his intention of introducing a motion to this effect. He went into a somewhat lengthy discussion of the matter, endeavoring to show that his son, R. A. Mitchell, should not have been thrown out of office as superintendent of the work in Manchester without some further notice of the matter than had been given, and because there was no article in the town warrant dealing with the subject of appointing a local superintendent. He thought a great many of the voters did not understand what had been done and would like to have the matter brought up again. He was of the opinion that the appropriation committee would not have appropriated more than $500 if they thought the work was to be done by any other than the superintendent appointed last year. "You already had a man to do this work," he said, "a man that was doing his duty for the town, for the men of the town, for the state and for everybody, and not in a way that he should have been thrown down. The selectmen appointed him because the state officials advised them to do so. This vote was taken under a misunderstanding. The town has the right to throw a man out, but they should give notice."

After considerable discussion on the matter in which Messrs. A. S. Jewett, John Baker, E. P. Stanley, C. O. Howe took part, the question for reconsideration was put and lost. Somebody doubted the vote and a hand vote was again taken and counted 14 for reconsideration and 127 against.

T. B. Stone asked Mr. Mitchell to inform the meeting when the selectmen had kicked over the traces. If they had done wrong we want to know about it.

Mr. Mitchell replied they had done so, apparently, when acting under the advice of the state superintendent they appointed R. A. Mitchell local superintendent.

Article 62 relating to collection of taxes, etc., was voted upon and $5210.40 was appropriated to cover deficiencies as they appeared in the annual report.

The meeting adjourned at 9 o'clock to the second Monday in April (Apr. 9) at 7 p.m.

G. A. Knoerr has the contract for rewiring the Pulsifer block.

Pulsifer block, recently destroyed by fire, is fast being reconstructed, and ere many weeks will be ready for occupancy again. In fact Bullock Bros. are now back to their old quarters again. The structure looks rather peculiar without the upper story. The postoffice will be located in its former home, though it will be slightly smaller, a strip about three feet wide having been taken so as to make the new store a little wider. This new store is built where the entrance to the upper portion of the building was formerly. The store extends to the back of the building and is to be occupied by the Telephone company.

Beverly Farms

The transfer has recently been recorded of the land and buildings on West street, from Lena Schooner and her husband Harry, of Boston, to Dora Silverberg. This property comprises the stores used for the past few years for a tailoring establishment and shoe store.

Pride's Crossing

The Misses Loring of Pride's Crossing, are about to make extensive improvements upon their stable and grounds in connection with same. The work on the stable is such that it will be practically a new one when completed. A system of plumbing and heating is to be installed.

Congressman Gardner will begin his campaign for renomination to congress next Monday at the annual dinner of the Master Mariners' association in Gloucester. Tuesday he will speak at Beverly.

MANCHESTER

The poultry plant at the W. B. Walker estate, West Manchester, is about as successful as any we have heard of this winter as far as actual results are concerned. Since last December upwards of 500 little chicks have been hatched, the last batch coming Thursday,—160 out of a setting of 185. An addition has recently been made to the poultry plant of a new incubator house and a new brooder house 50 feet long, making accommodations now for about 1000 birds—one of the most extensive, if not the most extensive, on the North Shore

Fred Killam entertained a houseful of his schoolmates and companions at his home on Desmond avenue, Tuesday evening, on the occasion of his 13th birthday. Games were played, refreshments were served, and all had a very nice time. A large birthday cake was cut and passed around.

BEVERLY FARMS

Many spring changes have been made or are being made at the Baptist church. New stain and varnish have been put on the floors; a new carpet is to be laid in the choir gallery and on the pulpit platform, and the walls have been retinted in part. The pastor has made a special appeal for the required amount to pay the bills, and a voluntary offering will be taken on Sunday, March 25. All who wish to contribute will send their money in an envelope on that date.

The G.A.R., the associates and the members of the W.R.C. have been invited to the lecture to be given at the Baptist church by the Hon. David I. Robinson on March 29.

Some 40 or 50 Odd Fellows, living in the Farms district, are interested in the fair to open at City hall next week. Howard P. Williams is a member of the committee in charge, and Mrs. Thomas Pierce of Pride's Crossing represents this end of the town in the Rebekahs, who are lending their co-operation in making the fair a success.

Bela Morgan, a former resident of the Farms, is renewing acquaintances in this vicinity. Mr. Morgan is enjoying a vacation from his duties as carpenter, employed by the U.S. government at the Panama canal.

Thomas Rourke of Haskell street, employed by Messrs. Connolly Bros. as foreman, left Wednesday for Roslyn, Long Island, to start operations on the Beckman estate.

Wesley G. McDermott has returned to the Farms, after a winter spent at his old home in the Provinces, and has entered the employ of Howard Doane, carpenter.

A "sea clam tea party" is a new kind of a party, yet this is the name Capt. J. Frank Blaney gives the spread he prepared for the dozen or more friends who were his guests at his residence last Tuesday evening. The supper was served at 6 o'clock, and the balance of the evening, after the supper, was spent in a social way.

Messrs. Winthrop F. Low and Joseph F. Fogg have returned from a vacation and sight-seeing trip to Chicago with stop-overs at Cleveland, Toledo, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Pittsburgh and New York. They report an excellent time. While in Chicago they made a trip through the immense plant of Swift & Co., Libby's Can Goods factory and several other large plants which has helped to make, not only Chicago, but the whole United States famous. The coal and oil regions near Pittsburgh and the sights at Niagara Falls were especially interesting.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Albert Mayberry returned from their honeymoon trip the first of the week, and are at home to their friends at their residence on Everett street. On Tuesday evening a large crowd of "Young America," armed with all sorts of implements that would make a noise, paid the happy couple a visit and gave them a serenade. Mr. and Mrs. Mayberry responded and sent them off happy, loaded with peanuts, candies and other goodies.

Mrs. George Tobias of Somerville and Mrs. Minnie Titcomb of Freeport, Me., have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Pike.

Frank I. Lomasney of the North Shore Fish Co. and Walter P. Brewer of Wyatt's market left yesterday for New York and Washington, D.C., with a stopover at Philadelphia and Baltimore. The fever of "pleasure-seeking" seems to be quite the vogue now, prior to the spring and summer rush.

Last Sunday afternoon Thos. D. Connolly delivered his talk upon the "American trip," before the Beverly council, K. of C., and their invited guests.

At a recent meeting of the common council, in speaking on the school house question, it was cited that extravagance was used in the furniture of the Farms school, which statement does not find any sympathetic feeling from the residents of the Farms, inasmuch as it is a fact that while the fittings of the school buildings are acknowledged to be of the proper sort, it would not have been economy or in proper keeping with the building itself to have installed a cheap and undesirable lot of equipment.

William Neville has been engaged by the Board of Director of the West Beach Corp. as superintendent and caretaker of West Beach the coming season. Mr. Neville occupied this position last year and was surely the right man in the right place.

Card Party at the Farms

The second night of the card tournament being held at Beverly Farms under the joint auspices of the K. of C. and Foresters, brought out even a larger party than the previous week. It was held in Marshall's hall, Wednesday evening, and was a big success financially and socially. Every available space was taken up with tables and the lower hall was also put in commission to make room for all. The winners were:

Ladies—Miss Barbara Daniels, 1st, a salad set; Mrs. F. I. Lomasney, 2d, a chocolate pot; Miss Grace Quirk, consolation, a cream pitcher. Gentlemen—Chas. Hillyard, 1st, razor; John Trowt, 2d, match safe; Geo. Murray, consolation, a St. Patrick's hat.

In the game of "45" the winners were Michael Cadigan, razor, and Cornelius Murray, match safe.

The third night of the tournament will be next Wednesday evening and an excellent assortment of prizes will be offered.

"Hiawatha" Given at Farms

School for Benefit of Children

Thursday afternoon there was a large audience at the Beverly Farms school to witness the presentation of "Hiawatha," an entertainment especially prepared for schools, by Myrtle King Southard of Boston. The entertainment was given for the benefit of the children who are trying to secure the "Tiffany Industrial Nature Cabinet," said to be a valuable acquisition to any school library. A goodly sum toward the $75 necessary was raised.

Mrs. Southard gave several legends of the Indians, especially of the tribe of Ojibways, from which and other facts about their religious ideas, Longfellow derived the material for his poem. Portions of the beautiful poem were then rendered by Mrs. Southard and the views were thrown on the screen illustrative of the characters and scenes in the poem; the murmur of admiration and the hush of rapt attention told of the enjoyment of the audience, which contained not only the children, but which was made up largely of the parents of the pupils and their friends.

Society Notes

Among the new owners of autos on the Shore next season will be S. V. R. Crosby of West Manchester, who has just bought a 28-32 h.p. Pierce Great Arrow, a handsome car of straight line body. It is a dark blue shade, and will carry a top, probably.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Head left Boston the first of the week for Europe, where they will remain till Easter. They will open their house in Manchester immediately after.

R. C. Hooper of West Manchester and George Lee of Beverly Farms, sailed from New York last Saturday for a few weeks at the Grand National at Liverpool, the great steeplechase meeting of England.

Mrs. George L. von Meyer and two daughters, who left Hamilton about Christmas for Boston, are now in Washington for a month or more, having leased the house on Connecticut avenue occupied by members of the British embassy, who have gone to Jamaica for a while. They will open their house at Hamilton the last of next month.

Francis Bartlett of Pride's Crossing has been spending a few weeks at the Royal Poinciana, Palm Beach, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardner M. Lane were down the shore last Saturday, coming to Beverly Farms by train and driving from there to their Manchester estate, making a very pleasant call on Mr. and Mrs. Frank Seabury on the way.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Jefferson Coolidge, jr., and children were down to Coolidge's Point over the week-end.

Push ball is the latest fad with Boston society women, and it is likely the game will be introduced on the North Shore the coming season as there are lots of expert horse women among the summer colony and excellent opportunity is offered for the game at the Essex County club and Myopia. At the new riding school last Saturday the game, which, by the way, is usually an al fresco affair, was participated in by the Misses Olivia and Alice Thorndike, Mrs. Philip Dexter and Miss Phyllis Robbins, each of whom are skilled with the horse.

Mrs. Ethel Tucker Lindsay was granted an absolute divorce Monday from the Hon. Archibald Lionel Lindsay, and the custody of her young son. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Tucker of the Manchester summer colony and is quite popular among the North Shore set.

Making up for Lost Time

Old Winter has been making up for lost time the past week. Starting in a week ago yesterday with a fierce blizzard that put telephone and telegraph poles and wires so much out of commission that the North Shore will not be back to its normal self again for several weeks, cold weather has been in order all the week, supplemented by a snow storm Monday morning, and another Thursday.

Thursday's storm took on the form of a blizzard, the worst of the winter. It started in about 10.30 in the morning and developed in proportions as the day advanced, being decidedly of the blizzard type along toward night.

An Ipswich young man is advertising today for a position on some private place along the shore.

Bullock Bros. Re-Established

The enterprising grocery concern of Bullock Bros., burned out by the recent Pulsifer block fire, are back to their old quarters in the block, opening up for business Thursday morning. The store has been thoroughly renovated and the stock has been replenished. The fixtures were not injured very much in the fire and these have been retouched and look almost as good as new, though the brass attachments had to be taken off and reburnished. A quartered oak floor has been put in the windows, thus enlivening the facilities for display. Among the new features will be a large electric power coffee grinder. The storage room has been enlarged by taking part of the basement formerly used as a barber shop.

Two new delivery wagons are now being made for the concern at North Reading.

The new FRENCH tapestries — reproductions of choice old pieces in Flemish and Gobelin art stuffs — needs to be seen, for they cannot be described — such fine designs, in such rich colors, shaded with such consummate skill that one wonders how the dyer and the weaver ever produced such a wondrous piece of goods; these old pieces are mostly in dark rich colors — the modern French weaver has given us Tapestries in lighter, brighter hues that are also gems, in many situations they fill in better with their surroundings, harmonizing with modern Wall Papers and Carpets. These stuffs are mostly 50 inches wide, costing $2.00 to $4.00 the yard.

James Elmore, in charge of the Frick stables, arrived last week with a car load of horses and will remain here permanently. There will be about 15 horses in the stable by summer.

The Pride's Crossing station has recently been subjected to a coat of paint on the exterior and partially on the interior. It has also been shingled.

The session of the Baptist Church Bible school is to be illustrated by the stereopticon on the "Life of Christ," next Sunday at 12 o'clock. At that time each scholar who is present or who has a good reason for being absent, will be given a ticket to Hon. David I. Robinson's talk illustrated by stereopticon, on March 29.

Last evening St. Margaret's church was the scene of appropriate exercises in commemoration of St. Patrick's day. James E. McConnell, Esq., of Boston delivered an excellent address, which was listened to with rapt attention by the large gathering. Following the lecture a pleasing program consisting of vocal and instrumental numbers, — all well rendered, was carried out.

Thomas J. McDonnell, the Central square plumber, is reported to be confined to the house with rheumatism.

Waldo Larcom has taken up his residence at Gloucester.

Following last week's "Spring picnic" held in the chapel of the Baptist church by the junior members of the primary grade, the older members assembled on Wednesday evening and held a sociable. An enticing spread was served at 6 o'clock, followed by stereopticon views and other amusements the balance of the evening.

Helen, the 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin F. Campbell, on Tuesday last, fell from a chair, breaking her arm.

Hon. David I. Robinson, treasurer of Essex county, is to deliver a lecture in the Baptist church on March 29, illustrated by the stereopticon, on "My trip abroad." The slides are made from photographs Mr. Robinson had taken for himself.

The automobile and power boat show in Boston this week has attracted many from here.

Messrs. Wyatt and Trowt, the popular Pride's Crossing livery stable owners, are making their annual spring hunt for horses in the vicinity of Buffalo, N.Y., and Canada.

The G.A.R. and Associates met on Thursday evening for their regular business meeting and sociable. The entertainment committee are supposed to create some new feature each week, and on Thursday evening started a card tournament which was entered into with much interest. It is the intention to continue these for a series of evenings, and the winners are to be awarded silver cups as trophies.

Mr. Asa O. Marshall has established an office for the better facilitating of his private affairs, on the second floor of Marshall's block, formerly used as a part of the assembly hall.

Last week's storm put most of the local telephones out of commission for the greater part of the week. A gang of linemen has been busily engaged repairing the damage. Perhaps the worst havoc was to the line of poles along the railroad track from the Farms station to the Beach street crossing, at which place the whole line was laid to the ground and new ones had to be erected.

John A. Morrison returned the first of the week from a pleasure trip in the South, and left immediately for Rhine Cliffe and Ossining, N.Y., where he assumes charge of the extensive work being done by Connolly Bros. on several large estates.

Congregational church, Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln, pastor. Morning worship at 10.45; evening service at 7 o'clock. Sermons by the pastor.

Baptist church, Rev. Edward Hersey Brewster, pastor. Morning worship at 10.45; People's evening service of song and praise at 7 o'clock.

Church of the Sacred Heart, Rev. William F. Powers, pastor. Mass daily at 7.30 a.m. Sundays: Mass at 9 and 10.30 o'clock a.m.; Sunday school 2.30 p.m.; Vespers at 7.30 p.m. Woman's sodality, Monday at 7.45 p.m.; Advanced class, Christian Doctrine, Friday at 7.30 p.m.; Sacred Heart sodality, first Friday of every month at 8.15 p.m.

"Alabaster Boxes" will be the subject of Rev. E. Hersey Brewster's sermon at the Baptist church tomorrow morning. At the People's evening service his theme will be "The Hands of Esau." The new choir will sing at both services.

The evangelistic services continued this week as the result of a unanimous vote passed at the Baptist church last Sunday morning, have been alive with interest, a number of others taking a stand for Christian living. Tuesday evening Rev. Mr. Brewster led the meeting, and Rev. Nathan Bailey of Peabody was present Wednesday evening. Rev. Mr. Chamberlain of Beverly was to have been present Thursday evening, but was kept away because of the storm, and Rev. W. F. Wilson of Amesbury was announced for last evening. The interest has been unabated throughout the week, a large number of young men being out for Wednesday evening.

The services will be continued next week on Tuesday and Friday evenings with Rev. Mr. Brewster in charge. On the former evening he will speak on "Life's small change," and on the latter evening "Eye salve."

"Christ's life: His summary of conduct and sermon on the mount" will be the topic of the young people's meetings tomorrow evening. Miss Carolyn E. Allen, leader at the Y. P. S. C. E. and Miss Alice Rainville at the B. Y. P. U.

The Farther Lights will meet with Mrs. Brewster at the parsonage Monday evening.

Where is the shrine, only forty years old, that is visited by fifty thousand Christian pilgrims a month, many of whom are undoubtedly cured of great afflictions? The Stoddard lectures pictures and describes it fully.

IRISH SONG.

The Subject of a Very Interesting Lecture in the Manchester Town Hall Last Saturday Evening by Rev. Wm. F. Powers—Interesting Programme of "Song Illustrations."

It was an interested audience that filled the Manchester Town hall to overflowing last Saturday evening—St. Patrick's Day—when Rev. Wm. F. Powers, pastor of the Sacred Heart church, gave a lecture on "Irish Song." Not alone to the sons and daughters of Erin, and their children, was the lecture of interest, but to the student of literature and song was it of especial interest, for Fr. Powers has spent much time in a study of this subject and his lecture was the result of considerable work.

At intervals during the lecture songs were introduced by soloists and choruses, illustrating the various points and thoughts which the speaker wished to emphasize, and this proved a very interesting feature, as there were several of the soloists who made their debut on this occasion.

The lecturer said in entering upon his subject that the true nature of a long-established race is best analyzed by studying, not its commercial progress, nor its material development, but rather its folk-love and its songs, for these last especially manifest the traits that spell character, and especially is this so of the Irish race.

"National enthusiasm, patriotic incitation, appreciation of scenic beauty, love, wit, purity, remembrance, grief, celestial hope—the whole garment of racial and personal susceptibility is swept by the artistic hand of Irish song. No influence has a more potent sway over the best that is in the Irish exile than the well rendered song of the old land.

"The songs of Ireland, as we

WHO IS MY NEIGHBOR?

BY JOSEPH A. TORREY.

A traveller journeying long ago
Down from Jerusalem to Jericho, Fell among thieves, who wounded him and fled,
Leaving him stript of raiment and half dead.
By chance a certain Priest came down that way,
Who looked on him and left him where he lay.

Likewise a Levite, walking in his pride,
With eyes turned heavenward, passed on the other side.

But a Samaritan, as he journeyed, drew Near to the place where lay the wounded
Jew,

Who had compassion, and with pious toil,
Bound up his wounds and poured in wine and oil.

Nor ever from his tender labor ceased
Till he had borne him on his own good beast,
Unto the quiet shelter of an inn.
And on the morrow, faring forth again,
(Careless alike of trouble or of cost,) Took out two pence and gave them to the host,

Saying, "Take care of him. Another day,
What e'er thou spendest more, I will repay."
Whom, thinkest thou, was neighbor to the man?—

The Priest, the Levite, or Samaritan?

He that showed pity? Go, and do likewise!
God loveth mercy more than sacrifice.

have them today, are, for the most part, modern in their wording; but the airs, the melodies, are essentially an heirloom from the days when the national faith and the national hope had their best expression in music.

"Theodore Roosevelt has publicly and enthusiastically declared that the most inspiring tune in the world for a cavalry charge is the Irish Garryowen.

"The degeneracy of the Irish song is very often, not in the song, but in the singer. When Thomas Moore reopened the long abandoned mode of Irish minstrelsy he found there many a glittering nugget and from his wealth of discov-

HISTORIC PAPERS.

Interesting Documents, Printed 200 Years Ago, Found in the Attic of an Old Farm House in Wenham.

In the attic of an old farm house at Wenham Neck the other day, the house recently bought by Dr. T. C. Parker of Boston, and for whom it is now being remodelled into a summer home, a Breeze reader came across some very old papers. So old are they, in fact, that it is with difficulty they can be read and handled.

One is: "An Act, paffed by the Great and General Court or Affembly of Her Majefties Province of the Maffachufetts-Bay in New-England: Begun and Held at Bof-ton upon Wednefday the Thirtieth Day of May, 1711." This bears the imprint:

"BOSTON: Printed by B. Green, Printer to his Excellency the GOVERNOR and COUNCIL. 1711," and is "AN ACT for Apportioning and Affeffing of Three feveral Taxes on Polls and Eftates, Purfuant to the Funds and Grants made to Her Majefty, by the General Affembly, in the Years 1708 and 1709."

The "act" goes on to say that in the general court, at the several sessions of 1708 and 1709, three taxes were made, amounting in all to 22,000 Pounds, and each town and district within the province was to be assessed and pay its proportion of the levy. And then follows a list of the places assessed, by counties, with the amount levied upon each one. There were then in the County of Essex: Salem, Ipswich, Newbury, Marblehead, Lynn, Andover, Beverly, Rowley, Salisbury, Haverhill, "Glocester," Topsfield, Boxford,

Wenham, Amesbury, Bradford and Manchester.

It is interesting to note how the tax was apportioned then—200 years ago—with Ipswich heading the list, 1000 Pounds; Salem, 814; Newbury, 698; Lynn, 330; Beverly, 261; Gloucester, 201; and Manchester, which had only 50 years prior been set apart from Salem, at the bottom of the list, 46 Pounds, or about $130. The smallness of this figure may be seen when it is realized the state tax paid by Manchester the past year was more than 100 times this amount—$13,680.

The act furthermore directs the treasurer to send out his warrant to the selectmen or assessors, requiring them "to assess all ratable male polls above the age of sixteen years, at ten shillings ($2) the Poll. The Governor, Lieutenant-Governor and their families, the president, fellows and students of Harvard College, settled ministers and grammar school masters were included among those exempt from taxation.

The paper upon which this act is printed is about the size of one of the pages of the Breeze, the subject matter filling four pages. The type is about the size of that used in these columns, but the old fashioned way of spelling makes reading rather difficult at times.

The other paper referred to at the beginning of this article was printed during the Revolutionary War, when Massachusetts was no longer a "province," but was known as the "State of Massachusetts-Bay," and the subject matter of this paper has to do with the enactment in the House of Representatives, September 25, 1780, calling upon the counties of the State for supplies of grain and cattle to relieve the distress of the army. This levy was proportioned to the respective abilities of the various places and it is of interest to note that the heaviest assessment was upon Essex County, from which 379,970 weight of beef asked.

Salem headed the list this time, with an assessment of 48,530 lbs.; Beverly, 19,880; Gloucester, 21,180, and Manchester, again at the foot, 4490 pounds.

A pleasant reminder of the picturesque North Shore—The Breeze—one year, one dollar.

Society Notes

Mrs. Charles L. Baker of Boston has hired the Butler cottage at Magnolia, on the Gloucester road, for the coming season.

The Edward Hills of Boston have hired the Monk's cottage at Manchester Cove for the coming season.

The indications point to a lively season in yachting circles the coming summer, the renewal of the Quincy Challenge cup races being the principal point at issue. The Quincy Yacht club challenged the Manchester club some weeks ago, and this week William L. Carlton, chairman of the Corinthian Yacht club regatta committee, stated that his club stood ready to challenge for the cup, and that the challenge would be forwarded as soon as an intimation was received from the Manchester Yacht club that it would be acceptable.

Walter Burgess, secretary of the Boston Y. C., has purchased the smack 21-footer Sanderling from J. R. Thorndike of Beverly Farms, and will race her in Class Q the coming season.

August 6 and 7 have been set as the dates of the Y. R. A. fixtures at Manchester the coming summer.

A Fortunate Rescue by Two Manchester Young Men

Arthur Reed and two companions of Gloucester, who own a fish trap near Half-Way Rock, owe their lives to Edward and Warren Heath, two Manchester young men. Last Monday the Gloucester fishermen started out to tend their trap in their naphtha launch. On their way home the propeller shaft broke, and being without oars they tried to use some sticks on the launch in an effort to row into Salem harbor. But they were driven off shore by the strong northeast wind blowing, and their chances were looking rather slim. The two Heath boys were tending their fish weir off Kettle island, when they saw the men in the boat about a mile from them drifting out to sea. They bent to their oars and rowed out to the unfortunate fishermen, reaching them just as the snow began to fall.

The Manchester men towed the launch and its crew to Manchester Cove and the men returned to Gloucester on the 5.20 train. It was indeed a timely rescue, for it is very certain the three men could never have survived the driving snow storm that followed.

Real Estate And Improvements

Extensive landscape improvements are being undertaken on the Gardiner M. Lane estate at Manchester, from designs of Messrs. Olmsted Bros., landscape architects of Brookline.

The designs contemplate a large formal garden, the features of which are five large aquatic pools, constructed of concrete with a finish of white Italian marble. These pools are ingeniously connected by a system of water tunnels, thereby giving free access to all parts for the gold fish. In the central pool is to be a special carved fountain of Italian marble. Numerous walks with brick edgings are to be constructed and a large arbor of rustic stone and wood is to be placed at one end of the garden.

On the sea side of the garden is to be a very pretty look-out constructed of wood and stone. On the north and east side of the garden a series of arbors are to be made in wood. The area on all sides of the garden is to be planted with choice shrubs and trees and the garden area itself is to be thoroughly planted and the basins are to contain choice specimens of aquatic plants.

The garden has a beautiful natural setting, is in easy access of the house and is approached from the grounds below by a very pretty walk. When finished this will be one of the sights of the North Shore and in perfect keeping with the rest of Mr. Lane's well appointed establishment. The design is unique and will, no doubt, receive much favorable criticism.

The contractors for the above work are Messrs. Connolly Bros. of Beverly Farms and Roberts & Hoare of Manchester.

The recent storms, with an abundance of snow, more in fact than all the rest of the winter combined, has put a stop to many of the out-of-door improvements in process all along the shore. The winter has been such an open one that work has been carried on with scarcely any stop until the storms of two weeks ago yesterday. Connolly Bros. at Beverly Farms had considerable work in hand in the line of improvements at the summer estates, as did also D. Linehan & Son at Pride's Crossing. Some of the greenhouse people, too, had started on their work, but a halt has been called to everything for the present.

Manchester

A gardener's house is to be built on the Prescott Bigelow estate at Manchester Cove, and the foundations have already been started. The house is to be 21x20 feet, and a Beverly concern has the contract.

At the junction of Ocean and Summer streets; Manchester Cove, work has just been started on a new stable for the Mrs. Robert deW. Sampson estate. A Beverly Farms builder has the contract.

Extensive grading and ground improvements, to be made at the F. M. Whitehouse estate, Manchester Cove, are in the hands of D. Linehan & Son of Pride's Crossing.

The following real estate conveyances were recorded at the Registry of Deeds, Salem, this week:

Anna A. Phillips to Ellery L. Rogers, land and buildings on North street, 43.6 by 71.9 feet.

Joseph F. Quinn of Salem to Hattie F. Baker, wife of Edward W., on Desmond avenue, 20.3 by 236 feet.

Israel Martin to Orrin A. Martin, five acres of woodland in Essex. Eben F. Stanwood, admr. of W. H. Andrews, conveys to the same for $3 a lot of woodland in Essex. Abigail Gentlee conveys to the same 1 acre 37 rods of woodland in Essex. Isaac F. Knowlton conveys to the same six acres of woodland in Essex. Leonard Perkins conveys to Israel Martin five acres 126 rods of woodland in Essex.

William A. Lendall conveys to Arthur S. Martin 21 quarter acre lots of woodland in Essex and he conveys them to J. F. Rabardy.

Orrin A. Martin conveys to J. F. Rabardy one lot of woodland of 4 3-4 acres; one of 6 acres 6 rods, and another small parcel, all in the same locality in Essex.

Pride's Crossing

Among the improvements at the E. C. Swift estate the coming season will be quite a large addition to the already well appointed stable. D. Linehan & Son are now at work on the foundations.

This same concern are also putting in the foundations for a double cottage on some land which Mr. Swift has recently bought on Haskell street. The cottage will be occupied by the families of Mr. Swift's employees.

Augustus P. Loring is about to make some extensive improvements and changes at his Pride's Crossing estate, along the line started last year, when an addition consisting of a music room and living rooms was built. The present alterations will include a remodeling of a portion of the house, adding two more rooms. Connolly Bros. of Beverly Farms have been awarded the contract.

Sad Death of Beverly Young Man

Not for months has the death of a young man plunged the community into such universal grief as did the announcement on Monday evening of the frightful accident which cost Percy K. Dodge, son of Mrs. Andrew Dodge of Federal street, his life; for it seemed to all that it was most untimely and unfortunate, coming, as it did, just before the close of a technical course for which he had made most ardent and industrious preparation. The facts of the accident divulge that, in company with Percy E. Tilson of Concord Junction and Prof. John C. Damon of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, he was engaged in making experiments with the powerful steam turbines at the plant of the United Shoe Machinery Corporation and had already laid wires from the engines to the testing apparatus, all this being done with the purpose of preparing a thesis at the Institute. Everything was prepared and the companions had left the room for a moment, when returning, they found the lifeless body of Dodge. Death had been caused by electrocution, the body in some way having come into connection with the wiring, which made a circuit through which a current of 570 volts passed. Death was instantaneous. Dodge was one of the keenest young men that ever graduated from the Beverly High school, receiving his diploma in 1902, having taken the scientific course and having one of the class parts at the commencement exercises. He immediately entered the Institute where he took the course in electrical engineering and proved, by industry, application and ceaseless toil, a most adaptable, faithful, conscientious and skilful student, receiving high commendation from his instructors, and his future was destined to be a bright one. Besides a grief stricken mother, he leaves a sister, Miss Susie Dodge, at present a High school student, and a host of sorrowing friends who are shocked at his sudden demise. The funeral was held at his late home on Thursday afternoon, Rev. Carey N. Chamberlain, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating. Interment was in Hale street Cemetery.

A choice evening's entertainment is in store for those who attend the grand concert to be given in the Washington street church next Wednesday evening, March 28, by Louise Meek Corbett, of Boston, and her concert company. The selections by the Beacon Ladies' Quartette, with Gertrude Walker, soprano; Marion Croley, mezzo-soprano; Louise Corbett, mezzo-contralto, and Edith E. Woodill, contralto, will be an especial feature. Paul Martin Paulsen, violinist, from the Royal Conservatory of Music, Copenhagen, is also announced. Arthur T. Brown will be at the piano.

The Republican club held a smoker at their rooms on Tuesday evening at which Congressman Gardner and Asst. Dist. Atty. Guy A. Ham of Boston were the guests. The Congressman gave an enthusiastic address on "Immigration," and Mr. Ham, spoke on "Practical Politics."

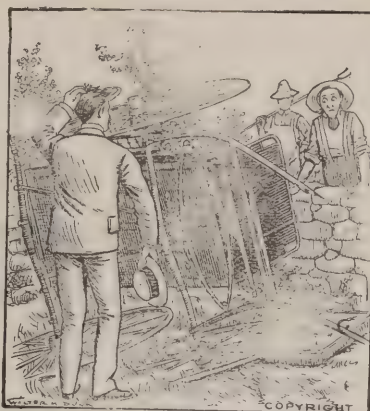

The Young Men's club of the Baptist Bible school enjoyed a supper at the banquet hall of the church on Wednesday evening. A pleasing entertainment was rendered after the inner man had been appeased.

Prof. Ralph C. Brown of Salem addressed the members of the Get Together club and friends at St. Peters Parish house on Tuesday evening on the wireless telegraph and other kindred subjects. The talk was highly entertaining and those who were fortunate enough to hear Mr. Brown give it were greatly enthused.

Rev. Eugene J. V. Huiginn entertained the members of St. Peters Literary club at the rectory on Abbott street Monday evening. Selections from Shakespeare were read.

Rev. James DeNormandie of Roxbury, addressed the Parish Aid Alliance at the Unitarian chapel Wednesday afternoon.

Next Sunday evening, at the Washington street church Rev. E. W. Snow will begin a series of four lectures on "From Manger to Cross," illustrated by the stereopticon.

The Odd Fellows fair drew large crowds to the City hall this week. Enjoyable entertainments were given each night, and the tables were well patronized. The proceeds will be deservedly large, as Bass River lodge is doing a good work among the brothers in the city.

Rev. William H. Rider, D.D., will speak at the Vesper service at the Universalist church on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. E. Waldo Dudley entertained the members of the Social Whist club at her home in the Endicott chambers, Tuesday evening.

The Christian Endeavor society of the Dane Street church gave a Miss Muffet social Wednesday evening, which was greatly enjoyed.

Miss Gertrude Goldsmith of Salem is the new stenographer at the office of John W. Phillips, the investment man, in Roger's block.

Antonio Sacco is to erect a three story building to contain four apartments at 148 Rantoul street, the cellar being already under way.

Miss Eleanor H. Brown has been substituting at the High school this week during the illness of Miss Abbie M. Frost.

The Y.M.C.A. league is to give a concert in the City hall on the evening of April 5, presenting a program of more than ordinary merit. Miss Rachel Patti of Boston will give a dramatic recital assisted by Mrs. Stella A. Colleston, soprano, of Salem.

THE REPAIRING QUESTION

Roberts--Swett

At their pretty new home, corner of Union and Washington streets, Manchester, Hollis Larcom Roberts and Miss Edith Josephine Swett were united in marriage Thursday evening by the Rev. Edward Hersey Brewster, pastor of the Baptist church, in the presence of only immediate relatives and intimate friends. The ceremony was performed at 7.30 o'clock, and this was followed by an informal reception.

The bride wore a very pretty gown of white crepe de chine, over white silk, with an all-over lace yoke, trimmed with Irish point lace medallions. She carried bride's roses. Mrs. W. W. Hoare was the bridesmaid and W. W. Hoare was best man.

The bridal party entered the parlor to the strains of the Mendelssohn wedding march, standing in front of a bank of palms, arranged so as to fill the bay window. The simple form of ceremony, now more generally in vogue, in which the single ring service occurs, was used.

There was a beautiful array of wedding presents, including cut glass, silver, and several handsome articles of furniture, among the gifts being a beautiful picture and a clock from the groom's associates.

After a wedding trip of several weeks Mr. and Mrs. Roberts will be "at home" after April 12.

Forty-Five Years Married

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hooper of Manchester are today celebrating the 45th anniversary of their marriage, and to the latter the day is doubly significant as it is also the anniversary of her birthday. Mr. and Mrs. Hooper are not making any formal recognition of the events, though the former's two sisters and other relatives will spend part of the day with them. In speaking of his marriage the other day Mr. Hooper said the few days prior to the event saw one of the biggest snow storms in his memory. He brought some of his furnishings from Salem and the storm was so severe he could not get home for a day; when he finally did arrive in Manchester so high was the snow piled that he actually drove through a hole, tunneled in one drift near the Hank's estate at West Manchester.

"Wide Awake" Urges Manchester Folk to come out of "Sleepy Hollow"

Editor of the North Shore Breeze:

Town meeting is over and the questions that come before the town annually have been disposed of for another year; the inhabitants of Manchester have settled back into their accustomed places to await the coming of the summer residents. This year, as in the past, the town has been very liberal in providing for summer amusements, but for all this Manchester has surely but slowly developed into sort of a "Sleepy Hollow"

It seems reasonable to think that occasionally Manchester needs something special and I would advocate that some society or other persons interested take hold of the matter and arrange for a floral parade, or river and harbor illumination, or both, this coming season. Both have been carried out here with great success in years past. Everyone enjoyed the occasions and they would again, no doubt.

As there is to be a series of international yacht races off Marblehead this season, which will attract people to the North Shore from all over the country who are interested in that sport, it seems that a river and harbor illumination will fit in nicely.

Has someone else something better to propose?

"WIDE AWAKE."

SIXTEENTH ANNIVERSARY

Allen Relief Corps in Manchester Celebrated Event at G.A.R. Hall, Thursday Evening

The sixteenth anniversary of Allen Relief corps in G.A.R. hall, Manchester, Thursday evening, was the occasion of a very pleasant gathering and the entertainment feature of the evening was greatly enjoyed by all. A collation of ice cream and cake was served after the entertainment.

The gathering joined in singing the "Star Spangled Banner," as the opening selection, and this was followed by a flag salute. Mrs. Mary Lane, the president, extended a very cordial welcome to all present, and she was followed by Miss Harriet Brewster who gave one of her choice readings, — "Whispering Bill." Miss Olive Cook sang a very pretty selection, "Star Song," and Commander E. P. Stanley of the post made a short address, speaking most congratulatory of the work being done by the corps.

After a reading by Miss Lena Jones, Comrade H. T. Brigham was called upon. He said it was a good thing to have these gatherings. He enjoyed them so much that he was of the opinion there ought to be two or three a year.

Past Com. Floyd of the camp congratulated the corps on its 16th year of very successful work in the town. The organization is in a position to help the needy veterans wherever they are to be found on this soil. In the tide of human affairs the time is coming when the last veteran of the Civil War shall have passed on, and it shall be left to us to carry on the good work which they have started here.

The "Japanese love song" was very nicely rendered by Miss Cook. She was followed by Adj. James H. Rivers of the post, whose remarks were brief, as were also those of Walter R. Bell, vice president of the camp, and J. S. Reed of the associates. Miss Jones' reading, "How Hezekiah steals spoons," was a pleasing feature.

When Mrs. Hattie Perkins, of the Salem corps, was called upon, she asked the question "Why is President Lincoln like a piano?" "Give it up?" she queried after waiting a moment for an answer. "Because he was grand, upright and square." She closed her remarks by reciting a short poem on "The old grand army boys."

Rev. E. H. Brewster, who was late in arriving, made a few remarks in his characteristic, bright and cheery manner, congratulating the corps on their work. The entertainment was brought to a close by the singing of "America" by all.

OUR FASHION DISPLAY OF Millinery and Garments Attracts Wide Attention!

Not only because of the exclusiveness of the styles, but of the fact that here is where you have a big variety to choose from.

In the Millinery Section the new little "Johnny Jones' " Sailors, a combination of masculine crown and decidedly feminine brims are receiving much favorable comment. In fact, the greater part of these beautiful creations are so entirely different in shape, coloring and trimming, that it is a treat to revel in their loveliness. Historically speaking, Fashions are a revival of those of the Empire period. This is noticed in tiny hats, bright colors and even plaid effects.

In the Garment Section, everybody is delighted with the beautiful Suits, Costumes and Waists. The vastness of the assortment is such that a whole afternoon can well be spent here in looking over these gems of the tailoring art. With the improvements we have made this floor is one of the finest in New England.

Come NOW and Enjoy Seeing the NEW and FASHIONABLE Things

MANCHESTER

It is reported that Clark & Mills, the electricians, will occupy the store in Pulsifer's block, now used as post-office, and will move into their new quarters about April 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Morgan returned the first of the week from New Hampshire where they have been spending the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Allen will observe the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage at their home, Allen street, next Tuesday, March 27. They will receive their friends from three to nine o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Parker and little twin daughters went to Roxbury Tuesday where they have gone housekeeping. They have been spending the fall and winter with Mrs. Parker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Dillon, Brook street.

Miss Larah D. Fish one of the teachers at the G. A. Priest school, we note, is in the list of popular teachers in the European Tour contest being conducted by the Boston American.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Deacon George Willmonton were held last Saturday afternoon at the Crowell Memorial chapel, which was well filled.

Revs. D. F. Lamson of Boston and Manchester and E. Hersey Brewster officiated. Allen Post 67, Col. H. P. Woodbury camp, S. of V., and William Jeffrey colony of Pilgrim Fathers were present in bodies, the post conducting their burial service at the chapel. Selections were rendered by a quartette composed of Mrs. E. F. Preston, Mrs. J. K. Tappan, J. Davis Baker and Comrade Wm. J. Pert. Commitment was in Rosedale cemetery.

Mrs. Mary E. Hill, who observed her 92d birthday Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. P. Dole, Norwood avenue, with whom she has been living for several years, was able to entertain a number of her friends who called to extend congratulations. Mrs. Hill was born in West Manchester, and is next to the oldest lady living in Manchester. Though her eyesight is slightly impaired, she is now able to read the papers, and her memory of events of years ago is quite good.

Mrs. Fred Hanners of Beverly was a guest the middle of the week of Mrs. Frank Dennis, Lincoln street.

.....Frank Sinnicks
Critic, Miss Nellie Jackson.

WHISPERINGS

Moses Blum, a native of Odessa, Russia, was a petitioner for naturalization before Judge Milliken in the District court at New Bedford one day this week. Louis Shuster was a witness for Blum, and the judge, desirous of learning if Blum had any Anarchistic tendencies, asked Shuster: "Do you suppose that if Blum was at home in Russia he would kill the Czar?"

"I don't tink he's got brains enough," was the unexpected answer."

"Then why have you said he would make a good citizen?" asked the judge.

"Well, he pays up his bills well and is a good, honest man," was Shuster's answer.

Blum was admitted to citizenship.

IN YOUR BACK YARD

ONE THOUSAND FEET BELOW YOUR DOORSTEP

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

IF YOU COULD NOT GET IT OUT YOURSELF

YOU WOULD HUSTLE TO GET SOME ONE TO HELP
THAT IS WHAT WE ARE DOING

We want YOU to Examine Our BACK YARD

JUST LOOK AT THESE FACTS:

We own two and one-half miles of ore bodies in the heart of the mother lode of California; a great plant that could not be duplicated for $100,000; an immense water power surrounded by big producers, shaft 700 ft. deep, 2 large tunnels, thousands of feet of underground workings, $2,000,000 worth of ore practically in sight. And then we want you to join our co-operative organization and get the money. As nearly as we can estimate there are millions buried there. The Morgan mine adjoining the Essex, paid to stockholders nearly $3,000,000 in one year. The famous Utica mine has paid out over $30,000,000.

We want to hear from you if you are interested in MINING for PROFITS, not gambling for profits, not trying to filch wealth from your neighbor's pockets, but creating its NEW CLEAN MONEY from the ground untarnished by the sweat of the oppressed, the tears of the wronged or the hands of theft. Do you care how you make your money? We do. There is a satisfaction in making money honestly which no thief can feel.

REMEMBER that this is Mining; not Speculation. You can buy the stock now at par $1.00 per share. In less time than a year it may be worth ten times this amount.

Wednesday was the first day of Spring; yet Winter is very much in evidence. It was 6 above zero this morning, and at 3.30 o'clock it was said to be zero. How is that for Spring! The old fellow has been staying his forces only to come now and remind us that he yet lives. Sleighing has been fairly good all the week, though the warm rays of the sun has worn holes in the road and exposed the bare ground. The snow storm Monday afternoon was quite severe, though not as bad as that of last week.

Ex-Deputy Chas. F. Sanborn of Boston and a large delegation of the Pilgrim association will make a fraternal visit to Wm. Jeffrey colony, Pilgrim Fathers, next Monday evening.

Leonardo W. Carter resigns his position as agent at the West Manchester station to take effect April 1.

Mrs. A. S. Jewett met with quite an unfortunate accident at her home last Sunday evening while in the act of coming down stairs. She slipped in some manner and fell down stairs, injuring her back. Her injuries are not serious, however.

An interesting series of tournaments is in progress at the Manchester club, including pool, billiards, whist, cribbage, checkers and chess.

A large party of Manchesterites attended the theatre in Boston Wednesday evening.

Tremont Theatre

As an offering de luxe the Tremont theatre begins next Monday night a two weeks' engagement with David Belasco's splendid revival of his wonderful military romance, "The Heart of Maryland." The chiefest interest in the production lies in the cast which Mr. Belasco has selected to interpret the principal roles. The roles are entrusted to six stars. Odette Tyler, Edna Wallace Hopper, Orrin Johnson, R. D. MacLean, John E. Kellard and Wallace Edinger, and it has been said of this great sextet that their work in "The Heart of Maryland" surpasses that done by the original company. When the play was first presented ten years ago Mrs. Leslie Carter was in the role of Maryland Calvert. Miss Odette Tyler, a wonderfully clever emotional actress, is now essaying that role, and it seems to be particularly appropriate that the play which made Mrs. Carter famous should follow her most successful season of "Adrea" and "Zaza" into the Tremont theatre.

Donald Smith, on his way from Butte, Montana, to his home in Dyer's Mills, Cape Breton, stopped off at the Farms this week for a few days' visit with his brother, Duncan T. Smith.

A new fish market will open April 1 in the new Larson block, Haskell street, under the management of Thomas Lawson. F. Leslie Woodbury will also be connected with the new venture.

Next Thursday evening, at the Baptist church, the Hon. David I. Robinson of Gloucester is to deliver his lecture on "My Trip Abroad," illustrated by the stereopticon. The manner in which the tickets have been selling would indicate this lecture is to be one of the best attended of the winter.

Many BREEZE readers will recall that ten years ago, about this time, Beverly Farms was troubled by a "Jack-the-bugger," who frightened numerous of the fair sex with his unwelcome embraces, and while at this time there appears to be no "Jack" who has acquired fame as a public exhibitor, yet there are indications in some quarters that private "exhibits" are still in order, we have yet to learn of any case of fright in consequence therefrom.

BEVERLY FARMS

Harvey M. Hodgkins, who has been ill at his home on Greenwood ave., for some time and has remained practically in the same condition for quite a period, was removed to the Beverly hospital, Wednesday, after a consultation of physicians, and a serious operation was performed yesterday morning. At this writing he is reported to be as comfortable as could be expected.

Mrs. Hattie Hardy entertained the Ladies' Sewing circle Thursday evening, the time being spent in the preparation of articles which are to be used later in one of their public sales, the proceeds of which are devoted to the benefit of the Baptist church.

Prominent among those who received especial commendation in the musical cantata of "Queen Esther" held this week under the auspices of the Immaculate Conception choir of Everett, was Miss May D. Connolly, a popular young lady of the Farms, whose part as the "Prophetess" was finely rendered and evoked well merited applause.

The Odd Fellows' fair at Beverly this week has proved a popular attraction to a large and representative gathering of the people of Beverly Farms.

G. A. R. Notes

Preston post, 188, will celebrate their anniversary in Marshall's hall on the evening of April 19, to which the associates, W.R.C., and friends are invited. A fine program is being arranged.

The post and associates have accepted the invitation of Rev. Clarence Strong Pond to attend the lecture in the Baptist church next Thursday evening by Hon. D. I. Robinson.

The regular weekly gathering in G.A.R. hall Thursday evening was an interesting one as usual. After the business portion was disposed of Thos. D. Connolly gave a half hour talk, in which he concluded the series of lectures on his "American trips." He was given a vote of thanks. A "pitch" tournament was started and will continue for several weeks. Silver cups are to be given the winners. The series started with 14 pairs, which number will be increased at the next meeting.

Whist at the Farms

The banner night of the card tournament now taking place on Wednesday evening of each week under the management of the K. of C. and the Foresters, was that which took place this week, the hall being so crowded that some 50 or more players were installed in an "overflow meeting" in the lower hall, many attending from Beverly and Manchester. The management offered good trophies for the winners, which, perhaps, added to the interest of the evening's play and resulted in many close scores. The winners were:

Whist — First ladies' prize, a cut glass water bottle, won by Mrs. William Burns; second, half-a-dozen pretty bread and butter plates, won by Mrs. Frank Gaudreau and Miss F. Guinivan, who tied; consolation, a vinegar cruet, Miss Julia Green; first gentlemen's prize, a four-bladed jack-knife, George Dix; second, a combination razor strop, John Watt; consolation, ash tray, Edward McKay.

"Forty-five" — First, Cornelius Murray, a four-bladed jack-knife; second, a combination razor strop, Michael Cadigan.

The fourth tournament of the series will be held in Marshall's hall next Wednesday evening.

Thomas H. McLaughlin.

Thomas H. McLaughlin, formerly of Boston, passed away Monday morning at the home of his nephew, Thomas J. McDonnell, at Beverly Farms, after a long illness. Funeral services were held at St. Margaret's church Wednesday morning, requiem high mass being celebrated by the Rev. D. J. Maguire. Burial was made at the Holyhood cemetery, Brookline.

ery he was enabled to give the world in his Irish Melodies a teeming and wondrous combination of rhythmic sweetness, the exact counterpart of which was never before bestowed upon humanity.

"And what a strong poetic impulse dominates the grand old song whose air so lends itself to sentiment that every Class Day song of Harvard University for many a year has been written to it; and 'Fair Harvard' itself, the great college song of America, in its new-world interpretation, resembles the song 'Believe me, if all those endearing young charms.'

"In examining Moore's melodies you will fail to find even the faintest strain of the religious rancor; and in this, too, he has been faithful to the instinct of a Catholic people whose best loved leaders have, in the main, been Protestants. The memories of Lord Edward Fitzgerald, Robert Emmet, Smith O'Brien and John Mitchell, all Protestants, are enshrined in the heart of Catholic Ireland today, while the best loved man that Ireland ever knew—beloved by the laity, the clergy and the hierarchy until his deplorable moral lapse—was the uncrowned king of Ireland—the grandson of an American naval hero—the Protestant, Charles Stewart Parnell."

In conclusion the speaker spoke of the spirit of Irish song, saying that "if it be our inheritance, it will surely be of inestimable worth to us in the working out of our destinies in this—the providential nation; it will sanctify our homes, throw a glamour about the land, exacting demands of duty, lend a sweetening strength to our up-building of civic responsibility and kindle in our being a living fire of the purest, the most self-forgetful and the most absorbing American patriotism."

Club and Lodge

Manchester

Conomo tribe of Red Men are planning on a "ladies' night" for some time in April, though the date has not yet been definitely decided.

Despite the storm Monday evening a number of the members of North Shore lodge of Workmen went to Beverly to visit Cabot lodge, and a thoroughly good time was the result of their trip.

Liberty lodge of Rebekahs will observe the anniversary of their organization next Friday evening, on which occasion a very pleasing program will be carried out. Priscilla lodge of Rockport has been invited, and it is said some 100 members will attend. About 200 plates will be set. After a short meeting in their hall all will adjourn to Town hall below where the supper will be served, following which there will be an entertainment. It is expected the officers of the grand lodge and the deputy of the lodge will be present. There will be an initiation on that evening also.

Beautiful, Practical and Inexpensive

What a pleasing combination of qualities. How rarely it is you find the three in one.

Generally speaking, a thing that is pretty is too delicate to use, or, if 'tis both artistic and durable, the price is so high as to make the article prohibitive.

We find this happy combination, however, in

Our Fibre Carpets

We say OUR Fibres, because there's another Fibre on the market, made out of wood pulp, which is extremely unsatisfactory.

Our Fibres are made of VEGETABLE Fibre, dyed in the pulp, washed while thoroughly saturated with the color till whatever there is of color that will run has thoroughly left it.

Then we have a substance that when soiled can be washed, when by accident water is spilled on it, it can be mopped up without being harmed.

A substance that is colored with dyes that are practically fadeless, and made up into designs and shadings that eclipse any sort of a carpet at any sort of a price.

You must see the Spring's new products—handsomer than ever—and that's saying a great deal. From 30¢.

Meadow Matting

Something absolutely new, takes on the effects of Grass Matting, but does not ravel, has no slivers to it, holds its color and is ideal for rug borders and for dining room and hall wear. At 50¢ per yard.

A very pretty new effect in Fibre Rugs for bath rooms and chambers, soft pinks, blues, greens and browns. From $1.25.

DIVES AND LAZARUS

A PARABLE

A sick man, Dives, clothed in linen fine,
Fared every day on sumptuous meats and wine.

A loathsome beggar at the rich man's gate,
(Named Lazarus), crouched, for alms importunate.

In fluttering rags he lay, and full of sores,
Foul and forlorn and spurned from all men's doors.

No earthly hope had he, nor was he able
To win a crumb from off the rich man's table.

Stones for his bed, the dogs his only nurse,
Famished and sick, could any fate be worse!

The beggar died, to Heaven by Angels carried.
Died also Dives, and with pomp was buried.

Who, lifting up his eyes from Hell's unrest,
Saw Lazarus afar on Abraham's breast,

And cried aloud, "O Father Abraham,
Seest thou the dire distress in which I am?"

Send in thy pity, Lazarus, I pray,
With cooling drops my burning thirst to allay.

My bed of torment scorches like an ember."
Said Abraham, replying, "Son, remember,

Thou, in thy lifetime, hadst thy days of ease,
While Lazarus had but hunger and disease,

But now in Hell thou art tormented thus,
While Heaven's high joys are given to Lazarus.

Besides, 'twixt us and thee there lies, Alas,
A yawning gulf nor thou nor he may pass."

Then Dives said, "Still on the earth alive,
Within my father's house are brethren five;

O Father Abraham, of thy pitying grace,
Let Lazarus warn them of this dreadful place."

Then Abraham said, "They have the prophets old,
And Moses' law the sacred books unfold."

Yea, Father, Dives said, but if one went Unto them from the dead, they will repent.

"Nay," Abraham said, "if these they will not hear,
In vain for them the dead shall reappear."

THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

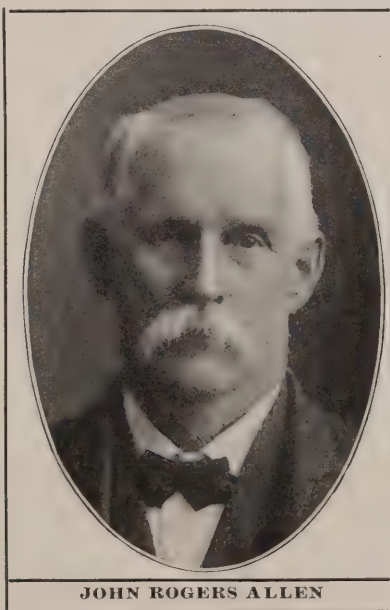

Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers Allen Celebrated the Event in Manchester Tuesday

At their pleasant new home, off Summer street, Manchester, Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers Allen celebrated the 50th anniversary of their wedding, and despite the inclement weather a large number of friends and relatives called to extend congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen received from 3 to 9 o'clock, those who called including friends from Gloucester, Magnolia, Charlestown, Roslindale and Beverly. They were assisted by their daughter, Mrs. Harlan G. Morgan, and granddaughters, Misses Lena and Mabel Morgan, Miss Flossie Allen, Edna Allen, and the little five-year-old tot, May Allen, who served the cake.

Mr. Allen is a native of Manchester, being born here Aug. 31, 1829, in a house on Summer street, near where he now lives. His parents were Stephen and Nancy (Cross) Allen. Mrs. Allen was a Prescott, and was born in Portland, Me., but she has spent practically all her days in this section, moving to Jamaica Plain when three years old and coming to Manchester when about fourteen.

Rev. Rufus Taylor, pastor at the Congregational church, tied the knot which made them husband and wife on March 27, 1856. Two of their four children are now living—Mrs. H. G. Morgan and E. E. Allen—and they have also six grandchildren.

Mr. Allen is a "forty-niner," being one of those who braved the adventurous trip around the Horn. He is a carpenter by trade and carried on that business here for about ten years, giving it up to operate a veneer machine in the factory of John Perry Allen, the first machine used for sawing veneers. He later did farming, and conducted a teaming business. In this line he did considerable work on the Gloucester branch of the Eastern railroad when it was run through from Salem. He was active in this business till a few years ago, when he sold his property, corner of Forest and Summer streets, and retired.

His experiences as a '49-er are very interesting indeed. He caught the gold fever with the rest of the young men of the time, and, though not going with the Manchester party, he was one of a company of 40 who banded together and set sail for the Golden gate in the little brig Metropolis, with Captain John Bennett of Beverly as commander. They set sail in November, and it was almost seven months before the arrival at San Francisco.

The voyage around the Horn was a hazardous one, with all the hardships encountered with the scant means of travel in that day, but it was made without accident. The vessel was loaded with lumber, which they figured on selling at a good figure when they reached their destination. The cargo and entire outfit was valued at $500 a man, or $20,000 in all, but they disposed of this at a big loss, realizing only about one half.

After reaching San Francisco they proceeded within a few days to Sacramento, where the company broke up. Mr. Allen made up a company of six from the vessel and set out for the mines on foot, with a pair of mules to drag their wagon, in which was all their belongings. They went first to Georgetown, 70 miles distant, and then to Mt. Gregory and Big Bar, at the middle fork of the American river, where they went to work on some claims.

Quite successful at first, Mr. Allen panned out several thousand dollars worth of the yellow metal from the sands of the river bed, working sometimes up to his arms in water. His robust health could not stand this very long, however, and after three months of this rough life he was taken down with rheumatism. He was laid up for several months. The experience was too much for him, for with doctor's calls at $16 each his small fortune soon dwindled down to the small sum of $25. He was not so easily discouraged though, and set to work again. He labored nearly four years, but not with the same success as before.

He was beginning to have a yearning for home, and though he intended to return again to the gold fields, he set out, coming by way of the isthmus, crossing by the Nicaragua route, reaching New York in 22 days from San Francisco, the quickest time ever made up to that date.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen were very kindly remembered by their many friends Tuesday with numerous nice presents, including beautiful bouquets of flowers. Among the latter was a bunch of 50 pinks from their friends in the Rebekahs and 50 jonquils from the members of the sewing circle.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Tredick leave Manchester today for Ashfield where they own a farm of 300 acres, and on which they will live in the future. During their comparatively short stay in Manchester, Mr. and Mrs. Tredick have gained many friends who regret their departure. Mr. Tredick has been in charge of the farm work at the H. L. Higginson estate.

The Breeze will soon be established in Pulsifer's block again. Since the fire, it has had an office in the Lee block, but as soon as the post office is re-established in its old location Clark & Mills Co. will move into the store now used by the post office and the Breeze will occupy part of the store with this concern.

A few of the local gardeners attended the American Rose society show, held in Horticultural hall, Boston, last Friday, Saturday and Sunday in connection with the Mass. Horticultural society spring show, and attended the banquet at the Brunswick, Saturday evening. The show was said to be the best of its kind ever held in this part of the country.

Rev. C. A. Lincoln sang in Beverly Thursday evening at the entertainment given at the Washington street chapel.

Miss Laura I. Norton entertained the members of her Sunday School class at her home on Lincoln street, Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Ralph W. Allen, who has been on from Brooklyn, N.Y., for a short visit with her sister, Mrs. J. K. Tappan and her mother, Mrs. Edwards, has returned to her home.

"Work to be done in the garden in April" will be the topic of the North Shore Horti. society meeting next Friday night; Philemon Sanborn will open the discussion. Some time ago a committee was appointed to look into the advisability of incorporating the society and it is expected the committee will report at the next meeting and that some action relative to the matter will be taken. It appears to many of the members that since the society has attained its present high standing on the North Shore a step of this kind would be in line with further progress.

Claude Temple and S B. Thyne are starting in the painting, paper-hanging and decorating business next week and have hired part of the old factory on Brook street, near the corner of School, formerly occupied by A. J. Orr, painter. They are two young men, and popular, and it is well known that both are masters of their business. Mr. Temple has worked in Manchester for seven or eight years, first with E. A. Lane and for the past two years with A. J. Orr. Mr. Thyne came here from Boston some time ago. They have already secured several jobs and the BREEZE joins with their many friends in wishing them success in their new venture. They have a notice in another column.

MAGNOLIA

The Firemen's association is to hold its regular monthly meeting next Tuesday evening. One of the subjects to be brought up is in regard to holding another banquet in April. The city has granted a fire alarm system for Magnolia, which will be installed soon. There will probably be a tapper on the engine house bell.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Butler had as their guests Sunday Frank Chamberlain and children and Miss Marjorie Yexes of Boston, also their daughter Maude of Boston.

Mrs. Philemon Sanborn, who has been spending the past few weeks in Winchendon, arrived home Monday with her daughter, Mrs. Orrin Sawyer, who has been spending the week here.

The Capron circle held an interesting and instructive missionary meeting at the church last Sunday evening. The South Sea islands furnish plenty of novel material, and this was well presented from the letters received by Mrs. E. G. Foster from her son and daughter-in-law, written amid the scenes described. The singing by the Young Folks' choir was excellent.

Mrs. Fred Staples, who has been spending a few weeks with friends in Andover, returned home Monday.

Officer Martin Burke has been laid off this week with la grippe. Officer Kippen of Gloucester has been taking his place.

The Young Men's club will hold its monthly meeting next Tuesday evening.

Miss Alice Orr left Thursday for Boston, where she has since been spending a few days with friends.

Miss Marion Story is home from Northfield Seminary for the spring vacation, and is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar P. Story.

Mrs. Henry Brown and children, and Mrs. Lafayette Hunt and her son William, made a pleasant matinee party at a Boston theatre Wednesday afternoon.

Rev. Mr. Stackpole of Boston was in town Wednesday on a brief visit.

Alexander McKaskell has been confined to his home the past week with la grippe.

Miss Carrie Dunbar has been spending her school vacation in Salem, guest of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Emerson.

Mrs. Edgar Story will entertain the Ladies' Aid next Thursday afternoon.

The fourth in the series of sermons on "Christ in Art" will be given at the church tomorrow evening. The picture for the evening will be Raphael's Transfiguration. It is expected that Mr. Ridley will sing and the Young Folks' choir will lead the hymns.

Rev. Clarence A. Lincoln of Manchester preached at the church last evening.

Mrs. Robert Williams of Jamaica Plain has been a guest at the Stanley cottage all the week, and she has been renewing acquaintances among her many friends here.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kehoe was last evening the scene of a very pleasant party, when a dozen or more friends called, their coming being somewhat in the nature of a surprise. Three tables at whist were played, and during the evening selections on the banjo by Edward Dennison, and on the violin by James Chane and Arthur Kehoe were much enjoyed. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Mrs. Willard Boyd was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Banner in Lynn Tuesday.

Miss Edith Caswell, after a visit of several weeks in Charlestown, is again with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sargent.

The annual report of Chief Engineer Crowe of the fire department of Gloucester shows the value of "Engine No. 4 and truck No. 4, located at Magnolia, $11,045;" that there are two horses located at the Magnolia station, and he also recommends "that alterations be made at the Magnolia station to accommodate the truck located there and the extension of the fire alarm to Magnolia."

Mrs. Mary Woodley has been confined to the house the past week.

Stephen B. Allen of Townsend, formerly of this town, has been spending a few days with his daughter, Mrs. Henry Butler.

Newman—Parsons

Ernest C. Newman and Genevieve Parsons of Magnolia were married at the parsonage Wednesday evening by Rev. Frederick Libby. After the ceremony a few intimate friends were entertained by the young couple at the home of Mrs. William Symonds. Ice cream and cake were served the guests and a very pleasant hour was spent. The house on the West Gloucester road, owned by A. M. Lycett and formerly occupied by the bride's parents, is being put into thorough repair and will, when ready, become the young people's home.

At Freshwater Cove

The cantata, "The Queen's Surprise," was given to a large audience in the Hovey barn at Freshwater Cove last Monday evening. It was a success from every point of view. The threatening skies and melting snows did not prevent numbers from attending from Gloucester and Magnolia, and the barn was full. The parts were taken as follows:

Fairy Queen.....Mamie Viator
Huntsman.....Colby Staples Dame Watchful.....Miss Chapman
Two misers.....

.....Mr. Viator and Bennie Marchant
Elves—Miss Burgess, Dorothy and Beatrice Story and Miss Wolfe.
Gnomes—Lamson Chapman, George Chapman, Mr. Viator and Willie Knowles.

All did well, Dame Watchful showing especial talent. Miss Lizzie Marchant was organist. Miss Bertha Chapman had trained the children and deserves great credit for the excellent performance. After the cantata, solos and choruses were rendered by various members of the company. Then ice cream and cake were sold, over ten dollars being cleared for the Sunday School treasury.

MANCHESTER COVE

Herman Marr, who has been spending the winter in Weston, returned to the Cove this week.

Edward Heath, jr., and Roy Taylor spent a few days in Essex this week visiting friends.

Mrs. Ellen Douglas of Swampscott, spent the latter part of the week here with her sister, Mrs. Wm. H. Haskell who is now settled in her cottage on Vine street.

George West, an employe of the F. M. Whitehouse estate the past year, has concluded his work and is now employed in Salem.

Society Notes

The rumor of the engagement of Miss Eleanora Sears to John Saltonstall, brother to Miss Rosamond Saltonstall, who is soon to be a bride, has aroused great interest in society circles, as Miss Sears is one of the most popular young women before the public today by reason of her prowess in all kinds of athletics. She is in England at present, but will be back to Beverly Farms in the early summer.

Pretty Miss Faith Simpkins, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Simpkins of Washington and Beverly Farms, is to serve as one of the flower girls at the wedding of her cousin, Miss Ruth Bacon, and Arthur Cheney, in the Church of the New Jerusalem, New York, next Friday. A large contingent of the North Shore residents will be represented at the ceremony, which is to be a very brilliant affair.

Mrs. Gordon Abbott has been spending the past fortnight visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Louis McLane Tiffany, in Baltimore. Mr. and Mrs. Abbott and family will move down to their West Manchester house toward the last of next month.

It is said that the marriage of Miss Rosamond Saltonstall of Beverly Cove and Boston, and Charles C. Auchincloss will be solemnized late in June.

Hon. T. Jefferson Coolidge and party, who have been sight-seeing in Italy, are now making a tour in an automobile as far as Paris, whence Mr. Coolidge will go to London for a visit with his granddaughter, Mrs. F. L. Higginson, Jr., before returning to Manchester in May.

Mrs. John Reece of Boston, who has a most attractive summer house at West Manchester, probably will not spend the summer on the North Shore as she is now planning on going abroad in July for a couple of months.

There is to be unusual interest in the polo entries this year, in the horse show scheduled for April 16 to 21, inclusive, in Mechanics hall, Boston. J. A. L. Blake and George Norman, two well-known Myopia Hunt club members, have made entries, as have also several other North Shore folk. In the hunter classes Reginald Robbins will show Torchlight and Patrician, two familiar horses at the Myopia Open Air show last year and the year before. There is no end of speculation regarding who will secure the much-coveted favorite boxes on the stage and around the promenade, at the sale which will take place at the office of Leonard & Co., 48 Bromfield street, Monday.

In the list of 46 golf clubs in the Massachusetts association we note there are to be 1866 handicap players the coming season, and Geo. F. Willett is to be the handicapper at the Essex County club, which will have 45 handicap players, and H. C. Leeds of the Myopia club, with 55 handicap players. Many of the members of these two North Shore clubs are members of other clubs and are therefore handicapped under such clubs.

The fifteenth anniversary of the institution of the Social Circle of Kings Daughters of the First Baptist church was observed on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Theodore Taylor, the first president on Washington street. A large number of members were present, Mrs. Cary W. Chamberlain being the guest of the circle. The annual reports were read, showing that the members had been doing an aggressive work during the past year, and officers for the coming year elected as follows: Mrs. Theodore Taylor, president; Mrs. Fred F. Eaton, vice-president; Mrs. Frank H. Cameron, secretary; Mrs. Edward Newhall, treasurer. A dainty lunch was served after the business hour.

Mrs. Jane E. Burnham, wife of Ellis J. Burnham, died at her home on Central street on Sunday afternoon after a short illness, having been stricken only on the afternoon of the preceding Friday. Mrs. Burnham was a most estimable woman, a member of the Washington Street church and many affiliated societies, and she went about doing good, bringing light, comfort and cheer into every home which she visited. Her presence will be sadly missed. The funeral was held at Essex on Wednesday afternoon.

An enthusiastic audience filled the Washington Street church on Wednesday evening to greet the Louise Meek Corbett Concert company of Boston and the effort made was amply repaid by the charming programme which was presented. The company is comprised of the Beacon Ladies' quartette, consisting of Miss Gertrude Walker, first soprano; Miss Marion Croley, mezzo soprano; Mrs. Louise Meek Corbett, mezzo contralto; and Miss Edith E. Woodill, contralto, and Paul Martin Paulsen, violinist, and Arthur I. Brown at the piano. The quartette has been heard several times to advantage at the twilight services at the church, but this was the first appearance in Beverly as a concert quartette, and it was certainly admirable. Each member was in excellent voice and the various solos, duets and quartette numbers were beautifully rendered with much effect and expression. Of course, Mrs. Corbett received an enthusiastic reception, and she sang in her accustomed charming manner, while the other soloists received warm greetings. Mr. Paulsen showed his mastery of the violin, and was very pleasing. Mr. Brown's work at the piano was likewise a delight.

Rev. Francis J. Curran of St. Mary's church, Dennis F. Coakley, Roland F. Standley and Louis P. Standley have returned from a trip to Jamaica.

The engagement of Miss Theresa M. Schade and George F. Houghton of Swanton, Vt., is announced.

Miss Grace Fuller of Holyoke has been the recent guest of friends in the city.

Miss Grace Chamberlain gave a recital of "Candida" at the Friday afternoon meeting of the Lothrop club, and was received with much enthusiasm by the members of the club. Mrs. Margaret Patch and Miss Alice Smith assisted in the musical programme.

Rev. Edward H. Byington gave his lecture on "The Life of a Wandering Turk" at the Maple Street church, Danvers, Wednesday evening, before a large audience.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford B. Bray leave next week for Nassau, where they will spend a month while Mr. Bray seeks rest and health.

The many Beverly friends of Arthur W. Tyler, who for the past 20 years has been a summer visitor to the city, were shocked to hear of his death on Tuesday at his sister's home in Plainfield, N. J., from the effects of a surgical operation. Mr. Tyler was one of the most cultured of gentlemen and in his wide experience and years of travel had been brought in touch greatly with men and things and his stories of them were always interesting. He was a graduate of Amherst College and for several years was editor of the New York Mail. Afterwards taking up library work as a profession he was connected in various positions with libraries of Johns Hopkins University, Indianapolis, Topeka, Wilmington, Del., Quincy, Ill., and Branford, Conn., and with the Astor Library, New York, and within the past two years with the Carnegie Library in Washington, D. C. The interment was in the family plot in Pittsfield, Mass., his birthplace. Mr. Tyler will be greatly missed by his friends in the city, who are pained to learn of his untimely death.

Five Manchester men—F. K. Hooper, F. J. Merrill, D. T. Beaton, R. C. This no doubt was one of the most pleasing features of their excursion to the capital. Mr. Allen arrived home the middle of the week, but the rest of the party came yesterday, making the return trip by boat from Baltimore. Mr. Beaton, it is said, was the only "sailor" in the party.

A. Curran and family have arrived from Boston for the summer this week. Mr. Curran is coachman for T. Jefferson Coolidge, jr., who is expected to open his house at Coolidge's point permanently very soon.

Manuel Travers has sold to James J. Hurley his cottage house on Lincoln street, with land 50 x 100 feet. Mr. Travers and family intend to move to California shortly. Mr. Hurley is the lamplighter.

Clark & Mills Electric Co. have the contract for wiring the C. H. Dalton summer cottage at Beverly Farms.

We are asked to contradict the report that the Aveney property near the railroad, on Summer street, has been sold. Several parties have been negotiating for a purchase of the place but no sale has yet been made.

Connors the New Driver

John Connors is the newly appointed driver of the fire horses, to succeed Wilbur B. Paige, resigned, the appointment being made at a meeting of the Fire Engineers at the engine house Thursday evening.

Mr. Connors has been in charge of the stable at the Manchester house the past two or three years, and previous to that he was a driver for Morley, Flatley & Co., the contractors. There were over half a dozen applications for the position.

An Uncommon Sight

An interesting and altogether uncommon sight was that of moving a large elm tree, some 18 inches in diameter, from the Isaac Knowlton estate at Hamilton to Judge Wm. H. Moore's estate at Pride's, a day or two ago. The large tree, with a massive bulk of earth held fast by its roots, was brought on its long journey by five pairs of strong horses, and was replanted without a scratch, so to speak.

The feat was performed by Messrs. Connolly Bros. with their new tree mover which has just been constructed from the designs of S. J. Connolly, of the firm, and made especially for moving large trees. A feature of its construction is two immense wheels, six feet in diameter, with extremely huge steel axles, and other parts in keeping with these. Other large trees are to be moved and transplanted upon the Moore estate within the next two weeks.

Gloucester Minstrels GivePerformance at Manchester

Under the auspices of the Manchester Brass band the Y.M.C.A. minstrels of Gloucester gave a performance at the Town hall, Thursday evening, before a fair sized audience. Only the end men appeared as black-faced artists, while the soloists and chorus appeared in every day dress. The affair was supposed to be a party with the "waiters"—end men—manipulating the bones and tambos, and the circle representing the "guests." Herbert Nichols was "host" or "interlocutor."

Previous to the show the band paraded the streets, attracting a large crowd to the Common.

The solos and choruses were interspersed with jokes and hits, several of which were original and made a hit. The topical song to the tune of "Everybody works but Father," had some good hits. Among the verses were:

Everybody works but Sammie,
He sits down all day,
Over in the station,
Still he draws his pay.
Rubbers out the window,
Up and down the Square
If you want to find him,
You'll always find him there.

Everybody works but Kimball,
He wasn't built that way,
On the town committee
To Boston every day;
Takes along his bosses
And others, so they say,
Buying up steam rollers,
Buys one every day.

Part two opened with an original poem (?) by Alex. P. Webber, followed by a specialty act by Mr. Chandler in a little nonsense and juggling, and a couple of musical numbers.

Spry's Greenhouse InjuredBy Fire—Loss Estimated $1000

The Manchester fire department was called out last Monday afternoon about 5.20 for a fire in the greenhouse of W. F. Spry, off Bridge street. Though the fire itself did not amount to much, the damage to the house in breaking glass, etc., and to the stock, is estimated by the owner as $1000.

The fire started near the boiler in the southerly end of the house running parallel with Bridge street. It was blazing up through the roof when the firemen arrived and the end of the glass house adjacent to the wooden structure was all broken in. It took but a few minutes to quench the fire but the cold air meanwhile was rushing in onto the plants.

The damage to the house Mr. Spry estimates at $300, and to the stock at $700. Among the plants destroyed owners and Chaffeurs will be interested in the ingenious "CINCH REPAIR KIT" for inner tube tires.

A little brass seal, in section as above, does the trick in a twinkling. No cement is used and therefore no time is wasted for cement to dry, as in road patches. The puncture is found, and a special cutter reams out a clean hole, which is distended by a wire spreader into a slit. The rubber covered, double headed seal then goes in easily and is crushed down with the powerful Cinch pliers as shown in cut. One jaw of pliers presses top of seal, the other presses on bottom through inner tube. A little soapstone is added and the tube is ready to blow up. The device has had a season's trial on various cars and is about to be marketed.

The price of Set complete for 12 Repairs is

SATURDAY, MARCH 24, 1906.

The question of railroads and railroad rate legislation, which is at present causing considerable interest in the U. S. senate, was very ably presented by Charles Stedman Hanks of Brookline and Manchester in Fitchburg one evening recently. This is the same lecture given by Mr. Hanks in Manchester this winter. Last week Mr. Hanks was summoned to Washington by President Roosevelt in reference to the subject of rate legislation, and dined at the White House on Thursday.

Congressman Gardner appeared before the sub-committee on light houses of the interstate and foreign commerce this week in support of his bill providing for a new light at Baker Island, Salem harbor. This bill is endorsed by all the mariners' associations along the Massachusetts coast, and an appropriation for the establishment of the new signal is likely to be included in the omnibus light house bill which will be reported to the house a little later in the session.

Annual Meeting

The warrant was posted this week for the annual meeting of the First Parish of Manchester, to be held in the chapel next Wednesday evening, April 4, at 7.30 o'clock. There is very little new business to come before the meeting. One article calls for a consideration of the matter of placing a tapper on the bell as an additional fire alarm.

George Chipchase, superintendent of the Moore stables, came on from New York the first of the week and has been busy making preparations for an early opening.

"Muster for rations" at G.A.R. hall at 6 o'clock this evening is the official notice received by each member of Preston post and associates, and no doubt this will receive a hearty response as the menu is to be a chowder a la Capt. Blaney, with all the "fixins," after which adjournment will be made to the upper hall and the second game in the "pitch" tournament will be played.

Improvements and alterations are shortly to be made on the farm cottage on Hale street, owned by Col. Gordon Dexter, and occupied by John Bolam.

The many friends of Dea. Edwin Pride are much pleased to see him about again after a severe illness. Dea. Pride for the past week has been able to get out of doors during the middle of the day, and has improved to such an extent that he went to Winter hill, Somerville, Thursday, to recuperate, being a guest there, of his son Edwin L. Pride.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Whalen are receiving the sympathy of the community in the loss of their 14 month's old daughter, Mary Margaret, who passed away quite unexpectedly Monday. Interment was made in Salem Tuesday afternoon.

It is to be regretted there is not more enterprise at the Farms for building houses. The growth of the place is certainly checked as there are absolutely no tenements for a new comer to occupy. This time of the year sees many people here looking for houses and in every case they have to go away. We have no doubt the population of the Farms is a 100 or more less than it would be if there were houses here to let.

The several good attractions at the Salem theatre this week have attracted many little theatre parties from here.

The good nature of Farms people has been severely tested the past week because of the wretched condition of the sidewalk construction being such that one usually sinks in the mud till he strikes the frozen earth underneath.

Report has it that there is soon to start up in Neighbor's hall block a combination provision and fish store which Messrs. William Bros. of Lynn are interested in and they will in all probability manage the fish department, while Thos. F. Wheelan will have charge of the meats, etc.

We are pleased to report an improvement in the condition of Harvey M. Hodgkins who was operated upon at the Beverly hospital last Friday.

John Bailey was sent to the Bridge-water Criminal Insane Hospital by Judge Lawton in the Superior Criminal court at East Cambridge Monday. It will be remembered that Bailey deserted his family on Pickett's court for the second time about Feb. 1, and a few days later set fire to a house at Lexington to warm himself.

A full house greeted the Hon. David I. Robinson at the Baptist church, Thursday evening, to hear the popular and exceedingly interesting lecture entitled "My trip abroad" which was added to by an excellent assortment of stereopticon views. This lecture concludes the series which has been given at intervals through the winter under the auspices of the young men connected with the church, and to whom much credit is due for the entertaining as well as instructive hours which has certainly been afforded those who have attended the course. A large delegation of members of Preston post and associates, in response to the kind invitation of Rev. Clarence Strong Pond, attended the lecture.

Whist at the Farms

The fourth night of the series of the public card tournament, held under the management of the Foresters and the K. of C., took place in Marshall's hall on Wednesday evening, and the popularity of these gatherings was attested by the unusually large number present, which was in excess of any held previously. The main hall was devoted entirely to those who desired to play whist, and every available space was utilized, while in the lower hall was an overflow gathering of some 50 or 60 persons who played "Forty-fives." As on the previous evenings, excellent prizes were offered, and this, no doubt, helped to add to the interest manifested from start to finish. The winners were as follows:

Whist--Ladies, Mrs. Frank Gaudreau, half a dozen hand-made Mexican doilies; Mrs. Alfred Williams, half a dozen fancy bread and butter plates. The consolation went to Miss Katherine Donovan, a primping glass. Gentlemen, Wm. Moriarty, fancy shaving mug and brush; Augustus Larcom, shaving mug and brush. Consolation, Frank I. Lomasney, a shaving glass.

Forty-fives--William O'Hearn and Michael O'Connor, who played as partners, were the winners and each received a fancy shaving mug and brush.

The fifth of the series will be next Wednesday evening.

Arrangements are being made by the committee to have on some evening during the week after Easter a grand entertainment and ball in Neighbor's hall, the proceeds of which are to be devoted to a special church purpose.

Summer Colony at Misery?

There is now a chance for a summer colony to spring up at Misery Island. The trustees for the bond holders have had plans made, and the entire area bordering on the water, making a complete circuit of the island, turned into good sized house lots, some 51 in number. It is very likely that they will shortly be put on the market. The plan also call for a circuit of the island by an avenue with numerous cross avenues. The center portion of the land as yet has not been laid out into house lots, but later could be utilized for parks, golf links, and any other purposes that may be deemed desirable. It is understood that the price for the house lots is very reasonable when compared with the high price usually demanded for all North Shore property.

Literary Society Ball

The St. Peter's Literary society will hold a ball in City hall, Wednesday evening, April 25. Whitaker's orchestra of ten pieces has been engaged to furnish music. There will be a concert from 8 to 9, followed by dancing from 9 to 1. The following ladies will matronize the affair: Mrs. Wm. Stopford, Mrs. E. V. S. Huiginn, Mrs. Harrison Eaton, Mrs. Wilbur B. Publicover, and Mrs. Edward L. Wallis, while Mrs. E. Freeman Cook, Mrs. Edw. W. Rogers, Mrs. David T. Hanners, Mrs. Arthur C. Lord, Mrs. John H. Moore, Herbert L. Goodwin, and Mrs. James Butterworth will be the patronesses. The affair gives promise of being quite the event of the season.

Real Estate

Abbie F. Marshall, et al., have conveyed to Catherine J. Wedvail land at Beverly Farms, 50x108 feet, and John H. Woodbury, guardian of Marshall Woodbury, conveys to the same party an eighth interest in said land. It is understood the land is a part of the so-called Trowt field through which, a short time ago, a street (Elliott street), was built, and house lots set out on either side. The land sold is a corner lot opposite the Leahy estate and is valuable for either a residence or a business block.

Issachar T. Eldridge

A public service is to be held at the Baptist church on Easter Sunday, a few minutes before 12 o'clock, at which time an opportunity will be given for the dedication to God of infant children. The service will follow the regular morning service, and Rev. Clarence Strong Pond, the pastor, invites parents to bring their children at that time. If this event transpires, it will be the first time such a service has ever been held in an Essex county Baptist church. Mr. Pond preached a strong sermon on the subject last Sunday.

Miss Nellie Neville is taking instruction in millinery at W. G. Webber's, Salem.

Several car loads of 12 to 14-inch ice arrived at the local freight yards this week, being consigned to the Manchester Ice Co., and came from New Hampshire. It is being taken to several small storage houses upon nearby summer estates.

Joseph Haskell and family will move from here next week to Revere. Their residence on Vine court will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. James Davey.

Miss Ida Weir of Brookline, formerly of this town, has been visiting Miss Elsie Preston.

Miss Lena McQuillan has returned to Nova Scotia, called home by the illness of her mother. Miss McQuillan arrived only a few days ago, when she received the unwelcome news.

Among the prize winners in the Odd Fellows fair just closed were the following from the farms: George West Larcom, a set of silver ware and a loaf of cake; Wm. P. Day, pipe; Frank Day, clock.

Andrew Stanley has been reappointed a member of trustees of the Beverly cemetery, which position he has filled faithfully for a term of years.

In the death yesterday morning at 8 o'clock of Issachar T. Eldridge, Beverly Farms and the community at large, loses a valuable and highly respected citizen, whose loss will be felt by all. Born at Pride's Crossing, in the house now occupied by his brother, Stephen Eldridge, in November, 1817, he has spent practically all his days here, and his 89 years have been years of service and usefulness. He married Miss Elizabeth Pride, a sister of Deacon Edwin Pride, who has now been dead some years, and five children—four daughters and a son—have blessed their union. One daughter, Lucy, and the son, Issachar Frank, survive, and these have always lived with their father. Of the three deceased daughter, two were unmarried and the other married John W. Marshall of Manchester.

Like the average young man of his day in this vicinity Mr. Eldridge spent his early life following the sea, for he went fishing on the Grand Banks and was "skipper" of numerous fishing craft. While not engaged in this vocation he was making shoes in the little country cobbler shop.

He was a man of whom it could be said he was honest, unselfish and true, in fact, he was a typical New England character, and many stories are told of his kindness and charity. Though a Unitarian by faith he has lent his aid in every way to the help of the local Baptist church. At the death of George T. Larcom he was made vice president of the West Beach corporation, in the affairs of which he has always taken much interest, as well as in all matters pertaining to the good and well being of the community in general.

Funeral services will be held at 2.30 tomorrow afternoon from his late residence on Valley street.

FOURTEENTH ANNIVERSARY

Col. H. P. Woodbury Camp, 149, S. of V.
Observed Anniversary in Manchester Wednesday Evening.

The fourteenth anniversary of Col. H. P. Woodbury camp, 149, S. of V., in G.A.R. hall, Manchester, Wednesday, was the occasion of a very pleasant evening's entertainment. Chas. E. Bell was chairman of the committee in charge, and he turned the meeting over to Commander Ernest R. Sargent of the camp. After singing a patriotic selection Rev. E. H. Brewster was called upon for an address of welcome, which was given in Mr. Brewster's characteristic manner.

"Old Moses Counting Eggs" was the subject of a very interesting reading by Mrs. R. A. Mitchell. Miss Emma Prest followed with a solo, "At Gettysburg," very sweetly rendered.

E. P. Stanley, commander of the post, responded for the G.A.R. "To us old soldiers," he said, "there are many memories that are dear; some are sad, some are gay memories." He told how the post was named after four Allens, all of whom gave their lives for the cause. Neither of them was a commissioned officer—they were all privates. "The memories of those men are therefore dear to me," he continued, "because I was particularly close to one of them—in school and out of school, in develtury and out of develtury."

Miss Harriet Brewster read "Whispering Bill," and this was followed by the singing of "Marching through Georgia" by the gathering, and a solo, "Starlight," by Miss Olive Cook.

Mrs. Fred Lane, president of the Relief corps, responded for the W.R. C. in a few well-chosen words.

Rev. C. A. Lincoln was next called upon. He said in part:

"It appears to me we are assembled here not to remember war, but to remember certain principles in life; what that war meant.

"We have had five wars, but the most serious battle that has been fought by any nation, is that of wealth. We are suffering from a surplusage of wealth accumulated in certain person's hands. The most severe fight we are facing today is the struggle to control this concentrated force, so that men of wealth cannot control these forces."

Mrs. Hattie Perkins read a very interesting paper, closing with an original poem. She was followed by Miss Brewster who read "A very naughty little girl's view of life." The meeting closed by all singing America.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake was served, and the balance of the evening spent in a social way.

WHISPERINGS.

It was a beautiful hand-painted picture that greeted my eyes as I walked into Supt. Kimball's office last evening;—a hand-painted picture of himself on a background of wood. He received it through the mail Thursday, and, as he says, "While it is not life size, it is full size." The picture was sent him as a souvenir from Washington, but I was unable to learn whether it was painted from true life on one of his recent visits to the Capitol or whether the friends who sent it to him carried it in their minds to have it painted by the artist. We take upon ourselves the liberty to extend an invitation to the many friends of Mr. Kimball to call at his office this evening and see for themselves. It is something worth seeing!

MANCHESTER.

Despite the rain last night the anniversary of Liberty lodge of Rebekahs was a complete success, the affair being one of the most enjoyable in the history of the organization. A large delegation from Priscilla lodge of Rockport was present, as were also the officers of the grand assembly and deputy. Plates were set for a turkey supper at 7 o'clock in the Town hall, after which adjournment was made to the lodge room, where two candidates were made to ride the "goat." A short but interesting program was afterwards carried out.

R. E. Newhall of Ipswich has accepted a position as one of the gardeners at the Whitehouse estate this week, which position he obtained through an advertisement which he run in the Breeze last week.

Frank Sinnicks and Joseph Floyd left yesterday with a party of 18 Salem Y.M.C.A. boys on an excursion to Washington, to be gone a week. Next Friday Principal Saben of the High school with a party of three or four boys, will start by one of the Merchant's & Miner's Trans. Co. boats for Baltimore and Washington to be gone a week, returning by rail to New York, and thence by one of the Sound boats to Fall River and home. In the party will be Bert Sinnicks, Bert Floyd and Chas. Lodge. Miss Kauffman and Miss Weeks of the High school teaching staff start next Friday also, going to Washington by one of the excursions.

Annual Report of PresidentFish of Bell Telephone.

President Frederick P. Fish in the annual report of the American Telephone and Telegraph company just issued shows that there were 2,528,715 Bell telephone stations in operation at the close of 1905, an increase of over half a million, or about 25 per cent. since the close of the previous year. The total mileage of wire in use for exchange and toll service was 6,043,518 miles, of which over a million and a quarter miles were added during the year. During the year the Bell companies spent for new construction in exchanges and toll lines $46,603,516, and for land and buildings $4,177,390, a total of over fifty million dollars as against $31,619,100 in 1904. During the year the Bell companies handled a total daily average of 13,911,000 connections, or at the rate of about 4,479,500,000 a year, being 54 telephone calls for each man, woman and child in the United States.

The report states that this is the thirtieth year since the invention of the telephone. The average investment per station has been reduced by means of sound engineering and construction methods and the introduction of new classes of service of less than average cost. There has also been a reduction in the average cost of operation per station, and because of these reductions the Bell companies have been enabled to make a marked reduction in their average rates. All the new money which comes into the business is invested dollar for dollar in the plant. At the present time there is in use in the system not less than 320,000,000 pounds of copper wire, 8,000,000 poles and 95,000,000 feet of underground conduit. About 80 per cent. of the exchange wire is in cables and 54 per cent. of the exchange wire is underground. The number of officers and employes has increased to 87,212.

Mr. Fish says that it is the duty of the company to employ the best business methods, to adhere to their conservative capitalization, to continue to establish and maintain the highest practicable methods of efficiency and to give every portion of the public as far as possible the class of service it requires at the lowest rates consistent with a proper return on the investment. It is in the public interest that this return shall be such as will attract the capital which must be furnished from time to time for many years to come in order to build up what the inhabitants of this country need, namely, a national telephone system in which within the limits that are physically possible every subscriber can be connected with every other subscriber throughout the land.

"Heart of Maryland."

"The Heart of Maryland," that wonderful old war romance which has stirred two continents with its great and thrilling situations, and which was the first pronounced success David Belasco achieved on the American stage, is playing to record business at the Tremont theatre, Miss Tyler, who plays the role formerly made famous by Mrs. Leslie Carter, is pronounced one of the best emotional actresses on the stage today, and certainly her work in the character of Maryland Calvert merits this praise. Every member of the cast is strong in his or her particular role, they having been personally selected for their fitness therefor by Mr. Belasco, and personally rehearsed by him. The play is Belascoan to the core, and that in itself is sufficient endorsement for any performance. The engagement at the Tremont, which continues another week, bids fair to equal in point of interest and in prosperity as well, any that Manager Schoeffel has offered at his popular theatre this season.

Daughter of the Revolution

In the death last Sunday at Annisquam of Mrs. Judith Lane mother of Fred W. Lane of Manchester, the oldest resident of Annisquam and the last Real Daughter of the Revolution in this section was removed. Born in Pigeon Cove February 25, 1812, Mrs. Lane was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Story, her father having taken part in the war of the colonies for independence. Mrs. Lane retained possession of all her faculties until a few days before her death. She had a splendid memory and could recall many stories of the revolutionary days told by her father and others. She liked to read and kept herself in touch with the events of the day. She leaves two daughters, two sons, seven grandchildren, six great-grandchildren and four great-great-grandchildren.

She was twice married her first husband being Mr. Gilman Sanborn, who lived but a short time. At the age of 27 she married Mr. Frederick Lane of Annisquam who died in 1892. She was a member of the grand lodge of Daughters of the Revolution in Washington, also of the Lucy Knox chapter in Gloucester. Her death was the result of a fall five weeks before her demise.

Old Planters' Society

An interesting event in Manchester the coming summer will be the Allen reunion, to be held in June under the auspices of the Old Planters' society of which Col. Thos. W. Higginson is president. The annual meeting was held at Salem Wednesday of this week when arrangements for the event were made.

Sidney Perley, editor of the Essex Antiquarian read a paper on the "Location of the First Houses Erected by the Cape Ann Planters at Salem in 1626."

MANCHESTER

Mrs. Duncan T. Beacon and little daughter were in Cambridge over Sunday, visiting Mrs. Beaton's brother and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Clark and Miss Alice Clark have moved from the Denegre estate at West Manchester, where Mr. Clark recently resigned as gardener and caretaker, and are stopping with their daughter, Mrs. L. W. Carter, on School street.

Joseph Roberts of Salem, formerly of Manchester, was here on a short visit with friends recently.

Robert A. Mitchell, former local superintendent of the moth suppression work in Manchester, is engaged in this work with the City of Beverly, in clearing private estates at Beverly Farms.

Miss Mary Riggs of Salem, editress of the Asbury Mentor, spent Sunday in town, a guest of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Rivers.

John Keenan, the new hair dresser in the Pulsifer block, comes here from Beverly, where he has conducted a successful shop on Rantoul street. He has spent several seasons at Magnolia, in charge of the barber shop at the Oceanside, and previous to this he has had many years of service in some of the leading hotels of the country, so that with his 30 years' service he is prepared to cater to the very finest class of work. Wm. Perry of the American House, Boston, will start work with Mr. Keenan next week. Mr. Keenan is now open for business under the postoffice, and his card will be found in another column.

The BREEZE sent by mail to any part of the U.S.—1 year 1 dollar. *

E. H. Harriman, the Railroad President says that he never does anything himself that he can hire some one else to do for him. Why do you burden yourself with the details of your business? It is the detail work that takes up your time that you should use in handling the more important matters. I do not mean by that to let the details go by the board, but that you should pass the smaller details to some one who can attend to them as well as you can yourself.

To illustrate, let me attend to all of your INSURANCE matters and don't worry about it.

MANCHESTER

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Florence, who are to occupy part of the Charles Hooper house on School street, arrived from Boston today for the season. Mr. Florence will be in charge of the electrical plant at the R. C. Hooper estate, West Manchester.

L. W. Carter whose resignation as agent at the West Manchester station goes into effect tomorrow, has accepted a position with S. V. R. Crosby of Boston and West Manchester, to have charge of his large Pierce Great Arrow touring car. He enters upon his duties Monday.

Mrs. Helen L. Willmonton has been spending the week visiting friends in and about Boston.

Miss Lena Conway of Gloucester and friend, have been spending part of the week here as guests of Miss Hattie Baker.

Miss Ruth Foster of Salem spent a few days in town this week visiting friends.

John Olsen, his mother and sister, have moved into the upper tenement of the Roberts' cottage, head of Union street, this week.

Solomon Rowe of Gloucester, 80 years old, was in town Thursday visiting his daughter, Mrs. Smothers.

Mrs. J. Miller Ropes (Miss Hattie Knight) of Springfield, has been spending the week in town visiting her brothers.

G. A. Knoerr, the electrician, is now established at his new quarters in the Rowe block, formerly occupied by the post office. He has just completed the wiring of Pulsifer's block and installing a new electrical coffee grinder at Bullock's grocery, and he is to install an automatic main switch at F. M. Whitehouse's at the Cove.

Commendable Object.

A new society has just been formed in Manchester among the members of the Phi Alpha Pi fraternity, to be known as First Aid to the Injured, which name explains its object. Mr. Wells of Boston is the director and instructs the boys at their meetings every two weeks. Frank Sinnicks has been elected captain; Henry Merrill, first lieutenant; Walter Fleming, Talbot Hoare and Willard Rust, corporals. The object of the society is a very worthy one indeed and the work is to be commended. Instruction of this kind can certainly result in no harm, and its good results can be measured only when the opportunity is offered.

TOWN NOTICES, MANCHESTER.

NOTICE.

All bills and claims against the Town should be presented to the Selectmen on or before Wednesday of each week. After approval the bills will be paid by the Town Treasurer, at his office, on the following Saturday. The regular business meeting of the Board, will be held on Thursday evening of each week at seven o'clock, also on the last Saturday afternoon of each month from one to four o'clock.

FRED K. SWETT,
WM. E. KITFIELD,
EDWARD S. KNIGHT,
Selectmen of Manchester.

Water Board Notice.

The regular meeting of the WATER BOARD will be held at their office, in the Town Hall Building, on the last WEDNESDAY OF EACH MONTH, from 2 to 5 o'clock, P.M. All orders for shutting off or letting on of water, reports of leaks, and all business of the department under the Superintendent should be reported at his office at the Pumping Station.

Per order,

MANCHESTER WATER BOARD.

Town Treasurer's Notice.

The TOWN TREASURER will be at his office in the Town Hall Building, on Saturdays, for the payment of bills, from 1 o'clock to 5 and from 7 to 8 o'clock P.M. When a holiday comes on Saturday the pay day will be Friday previous at the same hours.

EDWIN P. STANLEY,
Treasurer.

Notice.

The regular meetings of the SCHOOL COMMITTEE will be held the first Monday evening of each month at which time all bills against the school department of the town should be presented for approval.

ALFRED C. NEEDHAM,
Secretary.

Notice.

For the convenience of any person having business with the School Committee or Supt. of Schools, Mr. CHARLES E. FISH, the Superintendent, will be at the office of the School Committee, in the Town Hall Building, Thursday afternoon of each week, from 3.30 to 4.30 o'clock.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

QUINCY CHALLENGE RACES.

The Quincy Yacht club's formal challenge to the Manchester Yacht club was accepted by the latter club last Friday afternoon. If any more clubs challenge they will be welcome. "The more the merrier," says E. A. Boardman, spokesman for the North Shore club. The Corinthian club will send a challenge, and the Eastern club is also expected to be heard from, and the Winthrop club may put in its sonder-class boat; so that a lively season in yachting may be looked for on the North Shore the coming summer.

The Coming Seaside Resort.

High and airy, about an hour's ride from Boston by rail, with thirteen trains a day from the West Gloucester station only twenty minutes' drive distant, Willoughby Park, with its beautiful ocean and river views, has promise of being the coming seashore resort of Cape Ann.

The park is in close proximity to the far famed Wingaersheek beach with its two and a half miles of hard sandy surface, offering facilities for promenading, horseback riding, automobiling and driving, 667 feet in width at low water, one of the finest beaches on the New England coast.

There are fine facilities for yachting, fishing and power boating on the Annisquam and Essex rivers, Ipswich bay and Gloucester harbor with their varied attractions. Situated in the midst of the most delightful drives through West Gloucester, the city proper, Manchester, Magnolia and their beautiful surroundings, it will prove a paradise for automobilists and all who are seeking a seaside summer resort combining the country and seashore in all their varied beauties, where nature has been lavish of her gifts with hills and dales, various forest trees, sand dunes, ravines and other attractions.

This tract contains 156 acres, nine of which have been sold to most desirable parties, and the first summer residence will be erected in time for this season's occupancy. The lots average one acre and will be divided to suit purchasers. Now is the time to secure them. Careful restrictions as to building and every safeguard to render this resort first-class in every respect.

For further particulars, inquire of this paper, or Proctor Bros., Daily Times Office, Gloucester, Mass. *

Congregational church, Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln, pastor. Morning worship at 10.45; evening service at 7 o'clock. Sermons by the pastor.

Baptist church, Rev. Edward Hersey Brewster, pastor. Morning worship at 10.45; People's evening service of song and praise at 7 o'clock.

Church of the Sacred Heart, Rev. William F. Powers, pastor. Mass daily at 7.30 a.m. Sundays: Mass at 9 and 10.30 o'clock a.m.; Sunday school 2.30 p.m.; Vespers at 7.30 p.m. Woman's sodality, Monday at 7.45 p.m.; Advanced class, Christian Doctrine, Friday at 7.30 p.m.; Sacred Heart sodality, first Friday of every month at 8.15 p.m.

"The Sword and the Trowel" will be the subject of Rev. Edward Hersey Brewster's sermon at the Baptist church tomorrow. At the People's evening service he will speak on "Thorns and Myrtles." The new choir will render anthems at both services.

Two special baptismal services are being arranged for 6 o'clock, Palm Sunday—April 8—and at 3 o'clock Easter Sunday—April 15.

Tickets have been placed on sale at Cheever's and Lee's drug stores for the lecture on "Grumblers," to be given by Dr. P. S. Henson of Tremont Temple, in the Town hall on April 25—Wednesday evening.

It is in the line of the possible that the Massachusetts division of the United Boys' brigade of America will hold their annual field day manoeuvres in Manchester on April 19. Captain Swett appeared before the executive committee Wednesday at their annual banquet in the Y.M.C.A. rooms of the Boston & Maine branch, and presented the invitation of the local company. The invitation was favorably received, and the major-general commanding promised to officially decide within the week. This is an event of no small importance, as it would bring to the town a contingent of from 700 to 900 boys with escorts and friends. The manoeuvres would be held, no doubt, on the Essex County club grounds.

The Christian Culture course, being studied this year by the young people's societies of the Baptist churches of Cape Ann, met last Monday evening in the Chapel street church, East Gloucester. Rev. F. W. Padelford of Lynn gave an address on "The Independence of the Local Church." A delegation attended from here.

The Band of Mission Workers of the Baptist church, consisting of boys and girls from 9 to 15 years old, enjoyed a mite-box opening Tuesday afternoon in the vestry. Tea was served at 5 o'clock by the committee, Mrs. Nellie Rogers, Mrs. Alice Crafts, Mrs. Amanda Reed and Miss Nellie Leonard.

KEEPER OF ALMSHOUSE

Wilbur B. Paige of Manchester Appointed to the Position This Week

Wilbur B. Paige was appointed keeper of the Manchester Almshouse this week, to succeed the late George H. Haskell, and he will start upon his duties there Monday. Mr. Paige passed in his resignation this week as driver of the fire horses, to accept the position.

There were several applicants for the place, two of whom live at the Cove, but the board thought Mr. Paige best fitted for the work and appointed him.

The new keeper is a native of New Hampshire, being born in Orford, Grafton county, Feb. 8, 1861. He came to Massachusetts 25 years ago and he has lived in Manchester almost 18 years, 13 of which he was caretaker of the Augustus Smith estate, Proctor street. He was appointed driver of the fire horses when they were installed four and a half years ago.

He is a man well liked and everyone looks upon his appointment with favor.

Her 87th Birthday

Mrs. Martha S. Friend, widow of the late Daniel Friend, celebrated her 87th birthday on Saturday of last week at her home on School street. During the afternoon 26 friends and neighbors called to extend their congratulations. Mrs. Friend entertained her guests with reminiscences of the olden days and those who came thoroughly enjoyed the occasion. A collation of ice cream and cake was served. Misses Ethel Stanley, Harriet Brewster and Libbie Dunn served. Mrs. Friend was born in Essex, March 24, 1819, but she has spent most of her days here. Her first husband was Joseph Pierce of Essex, who was a cabinet maker in Manchester, and 14 years ago she married the late Daniel S. Friend.

John Theo. Voorenveld concludes his services as gardener at the Higginson estate, West Manchester, today. He is to be succeeded by James Scott of Brookline.

Polet Finish

Bran new, just out, and, of course, no other place to think of looking for it so soon as here.

Isn't that a fine reputation to gain? The only drawback we know of to it is that it is not quite widespread enough—won't you aid in circulating it?

But now for the finish—

'Tis a new treatment given the brass beds wherein all the uprights and cross rails are dull finished and all joints and husks bright. The dull finish is under the lacquer and perfectly smooth, making it durable, and it matches up beautifully with the dull finish on mahogany furniture.

A few Boston houses are showing it, asking an additional price for it over the regular bright finish because 'tis new. That's wherein we differ from them. Everything here is based on its cost—that's the way we've won your confidence, guess we're not going to lose it now.

These pretty beds in this pretty finish

ANNUAL MEETING

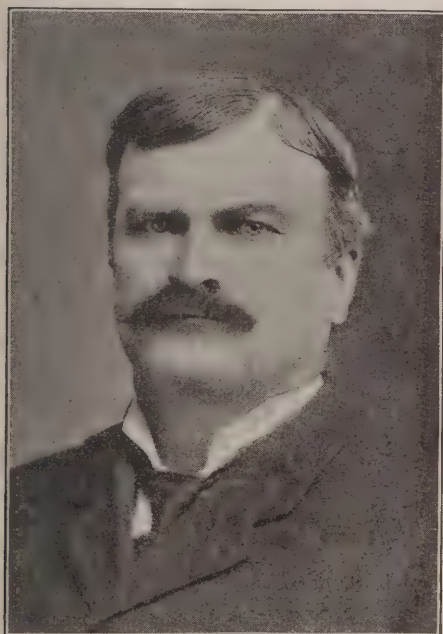

First Parish of the Congregational Church, Manchester, Held Annual Meeting
Wednesday Evening

The annual meeting of the First Parish of the Congregational church, Manchester, was held in the chapel Wednesday evening. Alfred S. Jewett was chosen moderator, and George Forster Allen was chosen clerk, and the reports of the various committees and officers were read and new committees appointed.

In the report of the parish committee was a recommendation that the meeting house be painted; and this was afterwards voted upon, and it was decided to raise money for the same by subscription. They also recommended that the thanks of the parish be extended to the Ladies Social circle and to others who contributed toward the repairs of the parsonage.

A. S. Jewett was re-elected treasurer and collector. His report showed Manchester's New School Building To Be Dedicated Next Saturday.

With special exercises appropriate to the occasion, the Price Primary school building, now practically completed and ready for occupancy, is to be dedicated next Saturday afternoon. The exercises will take place at 3.30 o'clock in the large hall in the upper floor of the new building. The presentation will be made by Robert D. Andrews, of Andrews, Jacques & Rantoul, architects, and Edward A. Lane, chairman of both the building and school committees, will accept the building, and Chairman F. K. Swett of the selectmen will accept on the part of the town. An address will be made by A. S. Jewett. The address of the day will be by Miss Sarah Louise Arnold, dean of Simmon's college.

the cash receipts of the year to be $2454.71, the expenditures $2246.07, and the amount on hand $288.64. These committees were elected:

Parish committee: Frank P. Knight, Edward A. Lane and William Hoare.

Music committee: George A. Kitfield, J. Alex. Lodge and Oliver T. Roberts.

Soliciting committee: Oliver T. Roberts, E. A. Lane and F. P. Knight.

Mr. Lane was elected trustee of the Mary C. Martin fund to serve for three years. It was voted that the fire engineers be permitted to put a tapper on the bell in the belfry of the meeting house, to serve as an addition fire alarm.

Mr. Allen's election as clerk was for the 34th consecutive year. He has been clerk of the church for 38 years.

James K. Hackett and Mary Mannering in "The Walls of Jericho" at the Tremont Theatre, Boston.

At last the long anticipated co-star engagement of James K. Hackett and Mary Mannering, in Alfred Sutro's great drama, "The Walls of Jericho," draws near, as these two distinguished stars will begin a limited stay of two weeks only on Monday next, April 9, at the Tremont theatre, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees during each week.

On this occasion they will present for the first time in Boston "The Walls of Jericho," a play which dramatic essayists, in both the daily prints and magazines, have loudly proclaimed as the best drama of years. The drama is in four acts, and is a scathing, but true, commentary of London fashionable life.

The same brilliant company that gave Mr. Hackett and Miss Mannering support during their long season of over six months during the run of "The Walls of Jericho" at the Savoy theatre, New York, will be seen in Boston. Among the principal members are Mrs. Harriet Otis Dellenbaugh, May Blaney, Gertrude Gheen, Ruth Chester, Blanche Ellice, W. J. Ferguson, Percy Lyndall, David Glassford, F. Owen Baxter and others.

MANCHESTER

Prof. Chas. L. Norton has just bought a Columbia touring car which he brought over the road from Boston Wednesday. It is a gasolene car, and will carry five persons.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis L. Roberts have returned from their wedding trip to Washington and are now at their home on Union street, where they will be "at home" after April 12.

Miss Jane Kendall, a former teacher at the High school, has been spending the week here with friends.

Misses Ethel Hooper and Helen Boyle, Wellesley, '07, and Miss Annie L. Lane, Smith, '09, have been spending the week at home, on their spring vacation.

Lee Marshall arrived home from Dartmouth college Thursday for a fortnight's vacation.

D. T. Beaton's store windows have very attractive displays of the various line of articles to be found inside, including garden tools, house cleaning articles, etc., and in one widow is a pretty display of Jap-a-lac with illustrations of the various uses to which it can be put.

About twenty-five friends of Mrs. William Follett were her guests Wednesday evening at their home on Smith's Point on the occasion of Mrs. Follett's birthday. The evening passed very pleasantly playing games, etc., a candy pull being a feature of the occasion.

E. Everett Penniman has arrived in town this week for the summer, and is at the S. P. Bremer estate again.

Ernest L. Valentine of Peabody is back to his old position at Semons & Campbell's provision store for the summer. Since leaving here last fall Mr. Valentine was married, and Mrs. Valentine will spend the summer here with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilman Burnham have removed from the Gilman cottage on School street, where they have been spending the winter, to their own house at Old Neck.

Miss Charlotte Mason has been substituting at Allen's part of the week for Miss Bessie Lethbridge, who has been kept away by illness.

Mrs. Chapman and little daughter returned to their home in Bath, Me., Monday, after a pleasant week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. John Scott, Norwood avenue.

Alfred C. Hooper and M. E. Gorman have been spending part of the week in Chester and Andover, Vt. We anticipate seeing one or two good trotters hereabouts in the near future.

The schools closed yesterday for the regular Spring vacation of ten days.

Miss Helen Burnham has assumed her former position as clerk at the postoffice for the season.

Archie W. Greenough, assistant engineer at the pumping station, we are pleased to report, is able to be out again after five weeks' confinement during which he had a combination attack of carbuncles, boiles and bone abscesses. He returned to his duties Tuesday morning.

Dissolves Partnership

The partnership existing between Frank H. Dennis and William Campbell, and known under the firm name of Dennis & Campbell, grocers, has been dissolved this week, Mr. Dennis purchasing Mr. Campbell's interest in the business, and he will continue the business at the old location on School street, near the engine house, under the firm name of Frank H. Dennis.

Mr. Dennis has been in the business in Manchester for 20 years, 17 of which he was with Frank B. Rust, which business Dennis & Campbell bought three years ago next month. Mr. Dennis has spent practically all his life here and has many friends who wish him success in his new venture.

MAGNOLIA

A quartet of young ladies from Wellesley college, — Misses Cummings, Helen Edwards, Eva Chandler and L. Constance Emerson — have been spending the week at the Stanley cottage.

Mrs. Edward Foster of Winchester has been spending the week here with Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Foster.

Tomorrow the last in the series of sermons on Christ in Art will be given. Leonardi de Vinci's painting, "The Last Supper," will be the subject. Last Sunday's services were well attended. Mr. Ridley of Malden sang and was very much appreciated. Both choirs are rehearsing for special music on Easter Sunday.

The Home Missionary barrel is being slowly filled through the efforts of the Capron society.

Miss Nora McCarthy returned home this week accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. Thomas McSweeney, who has been spending the balance of the week here.

Thomas Marshall, who has been spending the winter here with the Eldridge Foster's, left Wednesday for the Klondike, where he owns several large claims. He intends to return here next fall.

A graphophone party in the Davis stable Tuesday night was an event of much interest to a large number of men who were in attendance. John Downey was in charge of the records. During the evening Wm. Flagg, Wm. Quinn, John Chane, Wm. McLean and Cornelius McDonald entertained in various lines in which each has no peer in Magnolia.

George Haney, who has been spending the winter in Springfield with relatives, returned home this week.

The Ladies' Aid will meet next Thursday with Mrs. Jonathan May.

F. L. Hunt has been making improvements in front of his place this week. He has had edgestones set, and a cement sidewalk made from the corner of Raymond street along Magnolia avenue to the Davis stable.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Crispin on Magnolia avenue was the scene of a pleasant whist party Monday evening, there being four tables in operation. Dainty refreshments were served.

Pierre Stackpole of Boston, well known here, has just purchased a large Pierce Arrow touring car.

Rev. Mr. Stackpole has hired the Alley cottage for the summer and will move down from Boston soon.

Rehearsals for the minstrel show to be given in Donchian's hall soon, are progressing quite well, and a good time awaits all who take in the event.

Officer Martin Burke is back to his beat again after being laid off a week from an attack of la grippe.

A. J. Rowe and family, who have been spending the winter in Gloucester intend to move here next Tuesday.

Miss Mamie Sargent arrived home from Charlestown, after spending a few weeks visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wolfe had visiting them the first of the week John Caneau of Gloucester.

Chester Knight has returned from a visit with friends in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Hunt have been entertaining the past week Miss M. E. Cahill of Wakefield and Bartlett Smith of Boston.

Mrs. Frank Abbott and daughters, Bessie and Laura, arrived home Sunday, after a few days' visit in Charlestown with Mr. and Mrs. Roy French, who also had as their guest recently Mrs. Edward Symonds.

Miss Fannie Morris passed away at West Gloucester last week and was buried Sunday, a number of persons attending her funeral from here. Deceased was well known in Magnolia, where she has lived a great deal in the Henry West family. She was about 21 years old.

Miss Hattie Smith of Gloucester has been spending the week in town with Miss Katherine McCauley.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brown of Gloucester spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Fred R. Dunbar.

At the monthly meeting of the firemen, held Tuesday evening, it was decided to hold a banquet on April 19. On that afternoon the city officials will make their customary inspection of the local company, and the inspection will top off with a spread, which, judging from similar events of the past, will be quite the social event of the winter in Magnolia.

Mr. and Mrs. William Symonds had as their guest the first of the week Miss Hattie Parsons of Gloucester.

Society Notes

It will be a matter of interest to North Shore folk to know that Baron Rosen, the Russian ambassador, with the baroness and young daughter, are to spend the summer here. They have taken the cottage on Coolidge's Point, which they occupied last season, and will be on here as soon as the season closes at Washington. The Baron was so occupied last summer with matters pertaining to the Peace Conference at Portsmouth that little was seen of him or his family during their two months' stay at Manchester, but the family will no doubt be quite a prominent factor in the events of the coming season. It is stated that other members of the Russian embassy are to spend the summer at Magnolia, as they did last year. During the winter, in Washington, several parties have been given in honor of Baroness Rosen, in which some of the North Shore colony have taken a hand.

There are already signs of considerable activity along the shore. A number of the houses at Manchester, Beverly Farms and Prides Crossing have either been opened or are being opened. Mrs. R. C. Winthrop and the Misses Winthrop will be down to their house in West Manchester within a fortnight, the F. R. Tibbitts will be down to their West Manchester place shortly after Easter, and others are coming next week and the week following.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Jefferson Coolidge, Jr., and family are now located at their house on Coolidge's Point, moving down from Boston the early part of the week.

The J. Randolph Coolidge, Jr.'s, came down to their Smith's Point house last week for a few weeks' stay, but will not remain here long, as the house has been let for the season to the Boylston Bealses.

Richard Stone's house on Smith's Point was opened this week, Miss Mary Stone coming down Wednesday with a retinue of servants, and the rest of the family will follow shortly.

Emery Hodges and family of New York are to occupy F. L. Higginson's cottage at Prides, which Mr. and Mrs. Sears had last summer. The Hodges had the A. Lithgow Devens' estate (since sold) at Hamilton, last season.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Walker and their son, Charles, have closed "Highwood," their West Manchester house, for a month or two, and are at their house in Boston, which has been in the hands of builders since a year ago. Though not wholly new, the house has been so remodeled and changed that it is practically so. Mr. Walker is at present in Chicago on business.

The Richard S. Russells of Boston are to be new comers to the Coolidge's Point colony this summer, having taken T. Jefferson Coolidge, Jr.'s, white house, so-called, which Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Higginson, Jr., had last summer.

The George S. Mandells have opened their cottage on Prince street, Beverly Cove, and are among the first of the summer contingent to arrive.

Work is being pushed forward rapidly on rebuilding the old farm house at Wenham Neck, which Dr. T. C. Parker, formerly of the Beverly colony, bought last fall, and the Parkers will move down from Boston as soon as the house is ready for occupancy.

The action of the aldermen on Tuesday evening in confirming Chief Levi K. Goodhue and Assistant Engineer Edward T. Batchelder was a move which the majority of Beverly people will applaud. In his thirty years of fire service, Chief Goodhue has been a faithful servant, and it would have been a most unsatisfactory vote which would have removed him from his berth with such slight provocation.

The concert in aid of the Y.M.C.A. League on Thursday evening proved a most pleasing attraction, and tickets were well sold. Miss Rachel Patti Maxon of Boston, delighted the audience with several readings, while Mrs. Stella A. Colleser of Salem, was heard with pleasure in groups of songs. Mr. W. A. Luker creditably officiated at the piano. The receipts were excellent, and the net proceeds will be used to redeem the mortgage on the Association property on Cabot street near the Catholic church.

Andrew J. Clark is spending a few weeks as the guest of his son, Lewis P. Clark, at Hampton Falls, N.H.

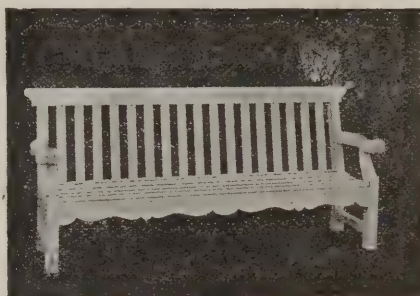

Miss Elsie Herrick of Everett was the guest of friends in the city Sunday.

Ralph E. Walker of Marlboro, assumed duties Sunday as manager of the local branch of the N.E.T. & T. Co. succeeding Charles J. Leathers, transferred to Lowell.

Miss Ethel Lovett of Southbridge spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eben F. Lovett of Elliott street.

The St. Peter's Literary club is planning a most attractive concert and dance for April 25 at the City hall. The affair will be matronized by Mrs. Eugene J. V. Huiginn, Mrs. Edward L. The annual meeting of the First Baptist parish was held at the church on Monday evening. Col. Charles L. Dodge was chosen moderator. Reports from the various branches showed a most flattering condition in financial lines. Officers for the ensuing year were chosen, as follows: Horace W. Woodberry, clerk; Albert G. Remmonds, treasurer; Harrie L. Ober, auditor; George A. Appleton, member of parish committee for three years; George A. Wood, Theodore Taylor and Mrs. George P. Brown, music committee. The adjournment was taken to the first Monday of May.

The Tufts College Glee and Mandolin club drew a large audience to the City hall on Tuesday evening. A most delightful program was rendered in the spirit in which college boys know how and which was very pleasing. The work of the club was excellent and most favorable comments were heard regarding it.

A union service of the Dane street and Washington street churches was held on Friday evening when Prof. John Duxbury of England read the story of Jonathan.

The Republican club is rehearsing for the minstrel show which is to be given in the near future.

The Men's club of the Washington Street church enjoyed a pleasant social time at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Everard W. Snow Monday evening.

Several neighborhood prayer meetings preparatory to the week of special evangelistic services at the First Baptist church were held on Wednesday evening.

Miss Beatrice H. Robinson of Washington street has returned from a visit with her sister, Mrs. Huntington P. Meech, at Hartford, Conn.

Another Eyesore

The tearing down of the fence on the Rantoul street side of the vacant lot at the corner of Broadway was the beginning of operations which culminated in the erection of a most unsightly and heavily moulded bill board on Monday afternoon, which is later to be placarded with various signs. It is most regrettable that what little beauty now lies about the station should be marred by such an unsightly spectacle. To be sure it is an inherent right that an owner can do as he pleases with his own property so long as he does not disturb others, but it would seem in this case that a little consideration for "Beverly the beautiful" would have caused a denial of the request for privilege. In the current number of the "Century Magazine" Mr. Sylvester Baxter comments on the aspect of cities as seen from the railroad and cites a striking example of the artistic effect which has been given to the park opposite the Beverly station, and accompanied the article with a pictorial sketch of the grounds. If Beverly is a beauty spot in the eyes of other people, it is a pity that people should so disregard the opinions of others. Would Mr. Baxter make his comment if he saw Beverly today from the railroad station looking in the direction of Broadway? Where is the Improvement Society?

MANCHESTER

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bullock started Wednesday on a ten days' trip to New York and Washington.

Miss Alice Mason was in town Thursday renewing acquaintances.

There was no one more surprized on Wednesday evening than Mrs. Austin Morley of Brook street when, expecting to spent a quiet evening, she was pleasantly surprized by having some twenty-five of her lady friends call, the occasion being in honor of her 29th birthday. Though taken wholly unaware she proved herself an efficient hostess and the few hours passed all too soon with games and musical selections by Mr. Hodge of Edinburg and Mr. Munroe of Glasgow, Scotland, both gentlemen entertaining delightfully. There was also vocal selections by the little Misses Mary Morley and Kathleen Slade. Refreshments were served. The hostess was the recipient of a number of presents among them being a large birthday cake, 29 pinks and a beautiful piece of silver ware. The company departed at a late hour all having enjoyed themselves to the utmost and wishing Mrs. Morley many happy returns of the day.

Fred Hinch is the new night operator at the local telephone exchange, succeeding Lewis Manchester this week. Mr. Hinch has been with the company at Gloucester the past 18 months. His home is in the western part of the state. Mr. Manchester will probably remain with the company, in connection with the contract department.

Supt. and Mrs. Chas. E. Fish are receiving congratulations on having become grandparents. A little son, Alexander Fish Campbell, arrived in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Campbell, in Hartford, Conn., two weeks ago today.

A. J. Orr has the contract for painting the Charles Head house on the exterior, as well as part of the interior. He has just completed painting the J. Warren Merrill and the Rockwell cottages on Smith's Point and he will start soon on painting Rowe's block.

Mrs. Clara Little

Mrs. Clara Little, a native of Manchester, passed away at the home of her son in Dorchester last Friday, and was brought here for burial Monday. She was a daughter of the late David and Clarissa Lee, who lived in a house that formerly stood where the Rose-dale cemetery now is. She was a sister of George Lee of this town.

Funeral services were held at the Crowell Memorial chapel Monday afternoon, the body having been brought from Dorchester for burial. Rev. E. H. Brewster officiated, a number of relatives attending from out of town.

SATURDAY, APRIL 7, 1906.

A petition has been circulated through Manchester, and in fact all through this section for the ostensible purpose of rescuing murderer Tucker from the gallows. It is the intention of the lawyers in the famous case to present a monstrous petition to Governor Guild and council. Whatever our opinions may be in regard to capital punishment, we cannot help but feel that if the extreme penalty is to be meted out to anyone Tucker is the man that should receive it. For the protection of our homes, our wives and our children this kind of a crime should meet with a speedy punishment.

New 12-Ton Steam Roller for Manchester

The board of selectmen and Supt. of Streets Kimball have bought for the Town of Manchester a 12-ton Buffalo Pitts steam roller, and it is expected to arrive next week. This is the type universally used in Massachusetts and is considered the best eastern roller made. The cost was $3500, appropriation for which was made at the annual town meeting.

Society Notes

The Harrison K. Caners, who went to France after leaving Manchester last fall, will remain abroad all summer, and will not come to the North Shore at all this year, unless, perchance, a few weeks in the fall. Mr. Caner took one of his autos abroad and sold the other this week to Philadelphia parties.

The Thomas M. McKees are expected at their Beverly Farms house next Tuesday, after an absence of several months spent in New York and the South.

Mrs. Hugo R. Johnstone is having built at her estate in Hamilton a large house to be used for a laundry and for servants' quarters. This is the estate formerly owned by James Garland, but which Mrs. Johnstone bought last fall. She is having some new dog kennels built also.

The C. M. Morgans of Worcester have opened their cottage on Proctor street, Manchester.

F. L. Higginson plans on sailing April 26 for several weeks' trip to Europe. His house at Pride's, however, will probably be opened before that time.

The John R. McGinleys who have spent the past two seasons at Manchester will spend next season at Magnolia, having taken the Knowles cottage there.

Members of the German Embassy were in Manchester Monday looking around for a cottage for the summer.

Myron C. Wick has plans out for an auto house at his Manchester Cove estate.

Dr. Alexander Porter, it is said, has taken Mrs. Luke's cottage on Valley street, Beverly Farms, occupied last season by the George Cushings.

Mr. Cushing will occupy his own house this summer, the place he bought at Beverly Farms last fall having been thoroughly overhauled and remodelled, and an addition has been built to the main building. He has also had an auto house built on his property.

Mrs. Nellie B. Allen

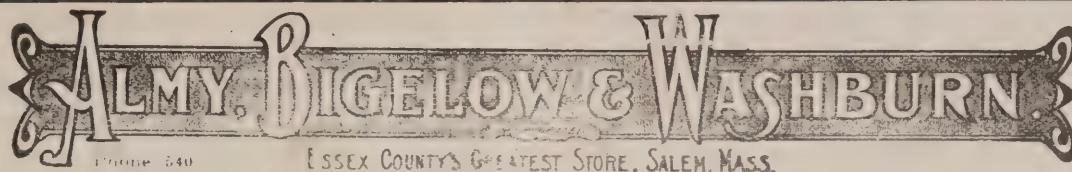

The body of Mrs. Nellie B. Allen, widow of the late Jacob H. Allen, a former well-known undertaker of Salem and a native of Manchester, was brought to Manchester Thursday for burial. Services were held at the Crowell Memorial chapel, Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln, pastor of the Congregational church, officiating.

Mrs. Allen passed away on Tuesday, April 3, at Barre, Mass., after an illness of more than two years. She was a sister-in-law of Mrs. J. F. Rabardy, Mrs. Geo. W. Jewett and Miss Allen of this town. Interment was in Rosedale cemetery.

After the close of business tonight the postoffice will be changed over to its old location in Pulsifer's block, on the corner, and will open up Monday morning ready for business.

"Work to be done in the garden in April" was the subject discussed at the N. S. Horticultural society meeting last evening, Philemon Sanborn leading the discussion. "Spraying" will be the subject discussed at the next meeting, the discussion to be led by Wm. F. Spry and Robert A. Mitchell. The schedule of prizes offered by the society at their exhibitions this year has been printed (at the BREEZE office) and was distributed last evening. There is a large number of specials offered.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Gilman had as their guest over Sunday, Mrs. Albert Kelsey of Beverly.

Mrs. Mary M. Lane, president of the local W.R.C., has received the appointment this week from Mrs. Alice M. Goddard, department president, as one of the aids for the year.

Miss Helen Mason is back to her former position as bookkeeper at Dyer's machine shop in Depot square, which has been opened this week for the season.

M. J. Callahan has bought the John E. King house on Rosedale avenue.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Burchstead, on Pleasant street, was the scene of a pleasant gathering Tuesday evening, some 45 friends calling to extend congratulations on the occasion of the 15th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Burchstead's wedding. Among their guests were people from Beverly Farms, Beverly, Salem and Wenham. The evening was spent very pleasantly playing games, etc. Refreshments were served. The host and hostess were remembered on the occasion by many beautiful and useful gifts.

When the schools open for the summer term, a week from Monday, the lower grades of the G. A. Priest school will go to the new primary school building. The teaching force is to be unchanged, and one teacher will be added to the Priest school to have charge of the ungraded room.

David Fenton is building at his boat house, Bridge street, a 21-footer, to be sailed on the great lakes the coming season in competition for the Lipton cup. She is owned by a syndicate of Chicago yachtsmen and is quite a smack looking craft, 36 feet over all and built especially for lake racing. She will be completed in a fortnight.

The contract for building a colonial residence for Benj. Corliss on the corner of Arbella and Lincoln streets has been awarded, as the Breeze stated several weeks ago, to a Gloucester contractor, and not to Jonathan May of Magnolia as has been rumored. Mr. May wishes this correction.

George S. Sinnicks starts this week on the plaster work, on the house being built at Lynn by Publicover Bros., for Miss Mary Robbins.

Well-Known Pride's Crossing Summer Resident Passed Away

Edwin Carleton Swift of Pride's Crossing passed away at the Quincy House, in Boston, Thursday morning, after a short illness of pneumonia.

His death comes as a severe shock, not only to the North Shore summer colony, but to the business interests at large, as Mr. Swift was one of the leaders in the beef packing industry of the United States. The end came rather suddenly, few knowing of his illness.

Mr. Swift has been spending the winter at his beautiful estate "Swift-moor" in Pride's Crossing. He had been away on short trips during the winter, going to Atlantic City a month or two ago, for ten days, and on March 21, he went to the Quincy House, as he wished to be with his old friend and business associate, N. E. Hollis, while the latter underwent a surgical operation. He was taken ill with pneumonia on March 28, and his condition became so serious that six physicians were called in consultation, but nothing could be done to save him.

Funeral services will be held at the St. John's Episcopal church at 11 o'clock tomorrow. Rev. E. J. V. Huiginn, the rector, will have charge. The choir of St. Peter's church, Beverly, under the direction of choir-master Leo C. DeMack, will render appropriate selections. A special train leaves Boston at 10 o'clock. His body will be taken to Boston and placed in a receiving tomb to await the arrival of Mrs. Swift, undoubtedly, who is now on her way home from the Mediterranean.

The Lewis W. Hills of St. Paul will be new comers to Manchester this summer, having taken Mrs. Russell Sturgis' house on Smith's Point. Mrs. Sturgis and family have been spending the winter at Manchester, and when they leave on June 1, the house will be occupied by the Hills. Mr. Hill is a well-known railroad man.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip S. Sears will be down to the shore very soon, and for the present will occupy Herbert M. Sears' house at Prides Crossing, until Mr. and Mrs. Sears and children return from Europe, at which time, it is expected, Philip Sears' new house will be ready for occupancy.

Dr. James H. Anderson of New York City will have the "Lily Pond Cottage" at Coolidge's Point this summer.

The "Pump Cottage" at Beverly Farms, owned by Mrs. R. L. Ward, has been let for the season to the Arthur Edwardses of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence S. Houghton, who spent last summer at their beautiful new house on Suffolk Road, Prospect Hill, will join the Coolidge's Point colony again this summer.

The Horace Brocks of Philadelphia will be another new family to join the colony at Manchester this summer. They have taken the R. M. Bradley house on Smith's Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mitchell and Miss Mitchell, who are spending a fortnight at Manchester while Master John Mitchell is home from the Fay school for the Spring vacation, will go to New York shortly for a few weeks.

New Book by C. S. Hanks.

"Camp Kits and Camp Life," the new book on the woods by Charles Stedman Hanks of Boston, the author of "Hints to Golfers," is to be published by Scribner and will be on sale about May 1st. It has fifty-three illustrations on woods life to emphasize the points which the author desires to bring out and discusses the necessary things to take on a camping trip, the best way to build a camp, camp cooking, ducks, geese, partridges, deer, moose, fishing, trapping, and remedies for accidents and illness in camp. The wide range which the book covers makes it a valuable one for everyone who loves the wilds and the life of the woods. Those who have been promoted owners and Chaffeurs will be interested in the ingenious "CINCH REPAIR KIT" for inner tube tires.

A little brass seal, in section as above, does the trick in a twinkling. No cement is used and therefore no time is wasted for cement to dry, as in road patches. The puncture is found, and a special cutter reams out a clean hole, which is distended by a wire spreader into a slit. The rubber covered, double headed seal then goes in easily and is crushed down with the powerful Cinch pliers as shown in cut. One jaw of pliers presses top of seal, the other presses on bottom through inner tube. A little soapstone is added and the tube is ready to blow up. The device has had a season's trial on various cars and is about to be marketed.

The price of Set complete for 12 Repairs is

$5.00

Club and Lodge

Manchester

District Deputy G. M. Henry Wilson and Frank Robinson of Gloucester paid an official visit to Magnolia lodge of Odd Fellows Thursday evening, when two candidates were put through the toils of the initiatory degree. A collation was served after the meeting.

A sale of ice cream and cake will be held at G.A.R. hall this evening, under the auspices of the W.R.C. Next Thursday evening at 5.30 o'clock a New England baked bean supper will be served at the hall. Admission, 25 cents.

Wednesday evening, May 2, has been set as the date when Conomo tribe, 113, Red Men, will observe their 13th anniversary and on that occasion a very pleasing evening's entertainment is assured. The affair will be in the form of a "ladies' night." Lancy & Blaney, refined musical artists, will furnish the entertainment which will include solos and duets on mandolins, flutes, xylophone, ocarina and marimbo. There will also be a humorist, a tenor soloist and a pianist with the company. Mr. Lancy was for three years with the famous Oxford Musical club of Salem.

The Thought and Work club of Salem announces two meetings of unusual interest and merit, which it is hoped, all who can will attend Miss Grace Chamberlain, who appears in Bernard Shaw's "Candida" on April 14, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, stands at the head of her profession as a dramatic reader. She has recently added three comedies to her repertoire, this being one of them, and she has proven herself as successful in comedy as in tragedy. These plays belong to the highest class of English comedy, and are full of genuine humor.

On April 21 The Pixies, who have been at several North Shore functions, will visit the club. To children they are especially fascinating, but the older people never fail to enjoy the perfect dancing, the clever acrobatic feats, the many laughable bits of comedy, the rich costumes, and the wonder of this whole performance given by these dainty little Pixies. It seems almost impossible to believe that these marvellous dolls are not endowed with life in its merriest form. Any lady attending this meeting is urgently requested to bring a child as guest of the club. Meetings are held in the Universalist chapel, Rust street, Saturday afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

Whist at the Farms

The "biggest, best and busiest" of the series in the card tournament held under the auspices of the Foresters and K. of C. was that of Wednesday evening, when the fifth night of the program was carried out and attended by a party that taxed the management to find accommodations. The winners in which were:

Ladies—Mrs H. E. Morgan, first, a jardiniere stand; Miss Marjorie Lennox, second, a cut glass dish; Miss Florence McDonald, consolation, a small brass hand lamp.

Gents—Wm. F. Eddy, first, a bamboo book case; F. P. Gaudreau, second, a bill folder; Albert Dix, consolation.

At "45" Wm. McKeigue and Wm. Coysh were the winners, playing as partners, one receiving a bamboo book case and the other a pocketbook.

The sixth and last night of the tournament will be omitted next week but will be given on the week after, Wednesday April 18, and not only will prizes be awarded the winners for the evening, but also to those who have the highest total score for the six games. Some night during the week commencing April 23, the same management will conclude the affair with a grand concert and ball to be held in Neighbor's hall.

At the Middlesex Hunt Club

Messrs. Connolly Bros. of Beverly Farms started work this week at the Middlesex Hunt club, South Lincoln, for new buildings and grading on the show grounds, which preparations are being made for the Hound and Dog exhibition to be given there in May under the direction of A. Henry Higginson of Lincoln and Manchester, which affair is being looked forward to with considerable interest by members of the club and lovers of the sport. A feature of the work is the building of an arena enclosed by a circle of seats, the centre space to be a platform of blue stone, upon which the exhibits are to be made. There are to be passages leading to the outside, where booths are to be constructed for waiting places in which to keep the animals. The building of this structure probably means the commencing of many exhibitions and shows to be held in the future. Mr. Higginson has just had a new residence built nearby, and the above firm will also construct avenues, terraces, gardens and do considerable grading and landscape work around the same.

FARMS BEVERLY

Members of the city government of Manchester, N.H., and also of Nashua, N.H., who are committees on looking up the merits of stone crushers, paid a visit to the Farms Thursday and inspected the stone crushing plant of Messrs. Connolly Bros. on Greenwood avenue, and expressed themselves well pleased with the plant.

A little boy arrived on Tuesday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Norton, Vine court.

St. Margaret's Court of Foresters these days seem to be the popular order at the farms. On Wednesday three new members were initiated and six more are to be taken in at the next meeting.

Miss Alice Preston is enjoying her spring vacation at her home. Miss Preston is a teacher in the Chelsea public schools.

It has been suggested that the city government, in making the annual preparation for the watering of its streets, also provide a watering cart for Beverly Farms, to be used by the force of men and horses now doing duty at the West street fire station. These men would no doubt welcome the chance to take their turns in watering the streets in the centre, leaving the outskirts to receive attention as in previous years. This arrangement would be a great improvement, and an area heretofore neglected could be attended to at practically no expense to the city except that of purchasing a watering cart.

Augustus Callahan has been elected to succeed John Watts as president of the Hardy club, the latter's change of residence necessitating his resignation. Wm. McKeigue was elected to fill the vacancy on the executive committee, at the meeting held Tuesday evening. A committee is now at work making arrangements for a grand ball to take place in Neighbor's hall week after next. Baseball team No. 1 has been selected from the club members and Charles McCarthy made captain of the same, while John Cahill will manage the baseball affairs of the club. "Guerrilla Ben" was unanimously elected mascot, and it was further voted to buy collar, chain and cage for him.

The new fish market in the Larson block, on Haskell street, will open for business on Monday next, and a party from Boston, skilled in the business, has been engaged to manage the new concern.

Miss Marjorie Lennox of Cambridge is visiting her sister, Mrs. John Grey, on Everett street. Miss Lennox is a teacher in the University city.

New Parochial Residence at Beverly Farms

Rev. Fr. Nicholas R. Walsh, pastor of St. Margaret's church, Beverly Farms, is to have a new rectory built upon land recently purchased from the city, on Hale street and adjoining the church property. This move has been talked of for some time, but it is now an assured fact, as plans have been drawn and estimates are now being prepared by the various contractors, bids to be returned today.

The rectory is to have a frontage of about 63 feet and will extend to the rear about 40 feet. While this constitutes the main floor of the house, there will be an ell 44x23 feet. The elevation will be of stone, for the most part, and will be three stories high with a pitch roof. The interior is designed especially for comfort and convenience, with especial features for a parochial residence.

The structure, both inside and out, will be of architectural beauty, and, located upon a hilly knoll at the bend of the street, surrounded with green foliage and trees, it will be a valuable addition to the many beautiful homes to be found at Beverly Farms.

Walter P. Brewer has opened up Wyatt's Market for the season this week and is getting ready for a hustling good summer such as this concern always has.

Owing to the death of Mr. E. C. Swift all operations upon the Swift stable addition and the new tenement house on Haskell street were suspended Thursday.

Rep. Wm. R. Brooks, the Farms member to the legislature, has been for the past few days at New Bedford with the harbor and land commissioners, of which he is clerk. During their visit in that vicinity the party will inspect the Douglas shoe factory, also the Fore River shipbuilding plant at Quincy.

Preston post, No. 188, and associates met Thursday evening and after a business session the balance of the evening was devoted to playing of the third of the series in the pitch tournament, for which some silver cups are offered for prizes.

Edward Knowlton is absent from his duties at the local B. & M. station on account of illness.

Joseph Griffin is the local agent for the sale of stock of the De Forrest wireless telegraphy.

Mrs. Thos. D. Connolly has been the guest of relatives and friends in Worcester this week.

Mrs. Fred Carrett of Gloucester is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. M. Publicover.

Miss Mary E. White of the local dry goods firm has the sympathy of her many friends and acquaintances over the loss of her father, who died the first of the week in Salem.

Mrs. F. E. Cole of Hart street is at the Beverly hospital, where she went on Monday last for an operation for appendicitis.

Thomas J. McDonnell, the Central square plumber, and Mrs. McDonnell are on a vacation trip to New York city.

Mrs. W. B. Publicover is to be one of the matrons at the ball of the St. Peter's Literary society, to be given in City hall, Beverly, on Wednesday evening, April 25.

The coming marriage is announced of Miss Ellen Cecelia McCarthy, eldest daughter of Councilman John C. McCarthy, Greenwood avenue, and Patrick Henry Cahill, also of this place.

John Watts, a popular young man of Pride's Crossing, left Wednesday for New Boston, N.H., where he will assume charge of Miss Robbins' estate as gardener and caretaker.

After a two months' absence, owing to sickness, Alderman Robt. E. Hodgkins of Ward 6 on Wednesday made his appearance at the Aldermen's meeting in City hall.

Considerable progress was made the latter part of the week by Contractor Gaffey on the State highway at Mingo Beach hill. Considerable ledge has been blasted out, and a derrick is in operation transferring the stone to the beach side of the road to be used in the re-construction of the sea wall.

Charles Martin has opened his bicycle and auto repair shop on Hale street for the season.

A pleasant, as well as what was apparently a hungry gathering, was that which met in G.A.R. hall last Saturday evening to enjoy a chowder supper under the direction of "Chef" Capt. J. Frank Blaney. After the inner man had been satisfied the party adjourned to the upper hall, where the second game in the pitch tournament was played.

Friends and neighbors paid their last tribute of respect to Issachar T. Eldridge, whose funeral took place last Sunday afternoon at his late home on Valley street. Rev. Clarence Strong Pond paid a just and fitting tribute to him who had been called to the great beyond as a character whose honesty, integrity, charity and unselfishness was remarkable and well worthy of emulation, and whose noble deeds would greatly be missed in the community. Interment was made in the Farms cemetery.

Preston W.R. corps is to give a patriotic entertainment in Neighbor's hall on April 18, and the children who are to furnish a part of the entertainment have commenced their rehearsals.

"History repeats itself," it has been said, and this is true here, as the Beverly Farms boy has now caught the baseball fever again, and they are taking possession of the nearby fields and vacant lots, only to be driven out by the owners when discovered. On five different occasions did the BREEZE man see this thing happen this week. Meanwhile the land which the city bought and paid good money for still remains a bog hole.

Prices of coal at the Beverly Farms Coal Co. remain the same as before the strike, but is being dealt out very carefully, restrictions being made as to the delivery of any large quantity to one family.

Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Younger are entertaining relatives from Boothbay, Me.

Auto Line to Gloucester

The establishment of an automobile line between Manchester and Gloucester by way of Magnolia is one of the probabilities of the summer, and it is something in which the hotel guests in Magnolia in particular will be interested. Perkins & Corliss of Gloucester, who have an auto garage in Manchester also, are behind the scheme, though not wholly so, as the thing is a sort of stock company affair. Preliminary steps were taken at a meeting at the company's store in Gloucester Tuesday evening.

The Coming Seaside Resort.

High and airy, about an hour's ride from Boston by rail, with thirteen trains a day from the West Gloucester station only twenty minutes' drive distant, Willoughby Park, with its beautiful ocean and river views, has promise of being the coming seashore resort of Cape Ann.

The park is in close proximity to the far famed Wingaersheek beach with its two and a half miles of hard sandy surface, offering facilities for promenading, horseback riding, automobiling and driving, 667 feet in width at low water, one of the finest beaches on the New England coast.

There are fine facilities for yachting, fishing and power boating on the Annisquam and Essex rivers, Ipswich bay and Gloucester harbor with their varied attractions. Situated in the midst of the most delightful drives through West Gloucester, the city proper, Manchester, Magnolia and their beautiful surroundings, it will prove a paradise for automobilists and all who are seeking a seaside summer resort combining the country and seashore in all their varied beauties, where nature has been lavish of her gifts with hills and dales, various forest trees, sand dunes, ravines and other attractions.

This tract contains 156 acres, nine of which have been sold to most desirable parties, and the first summer residence will be erected in time for this season's occupancy. The lots average one acre and will be divided to suit purchasers. Now is the time to secure them. Careful restrictions as to building and every safeguard to render this resort first-class in every respect.

Baptist church, Rev. Edward Hersey Brewster, pastor. Morning worship at 10.45; People's evening service of song and praise at 7 o'clock.

Church of the Sacred Heart, Rev. William F. Powers, pastor. Mass daily at 7.30 a.m. Sundays: Mass at 9 and 10.30 o'clock a.m.; Sunday school 2.30 p.m.; Vespers at 7.30 p.m. Woman's sodality, Monday at 7.45 p.m.; Advanced class, Christian Doctrine, Friday at 7.30 p.m.; Sacred Heart sodality, first Friday of every month at 8.15 p.m.

"A sheaf of palms" will be the subject of Rev. Edward Hersey Brewster's sermon at the Baptist church tomorrow morning. At the People's evening service he will preach on "Disenchantment of satisfied desires."

Arrangements have been made whereby the Desmond property on School street is assured to the Sacred Heart church, though it will be some time before the church will acquire the title to it.

There will be special music at the Baptist church at both morning and evening services, on Palm Sunday, tomorrow. The new choir is getting to be quite a feature of the services. Mr. Swett will sing "The Palms" tomorrow evening.

A special baptismal service is to be held at the Baptist church tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock, at which a number of candidates will be baptized. On Easter Sunday similar service will be held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when a large number will receive the ordinance of Christian baptism.

On Wednesday evening, the 18th, there will be a social in the Baptist vestry under the auspices of the Church Aid society for the church and congregation. A musical and literary program is being arranged and a good time is in store for all who attend.

The Ministering Circle of King's Daughters will meet with Mrs. Charles Danforth Monday evening, April 9th. Topic: "The Resurrection."

Indications point to a packed house on Wednesday evening, April 25, when Rev. P. S. Henson, D.D., will give his famous lecture in the Town hall on "Grumblers." The tickets which have been on sale at Lee's and Cheever's are selling fast and those who have not yet secured any would do well to buy some at once.

Special Holy Week services are to be held at the Sacred Heart church all next week, as follows:

Sunday, April 8, at 10.30 A.M.—Blessing of the Palms.

Tuesday evening at 7.30 o'clock.—Devotion of the Way of the Cross.

Thursday morning at 7.30 o'clock.—Maundy Thursday services, with all-day-long private devotions at the Repository.

Friday morning at 7.30 o'clock.—Good Friday services, with Mass of the Presanctified.

Friday evening at 7.30 o'clock.—Office of the Tenebrae, with a sermon (by the pastor) on the Passion of Christ.

Saturday morning at 7.30 o'clock.—Holy Saturday services, with blessings of Easter Water and Paschal Candle.

BIG UNDERTAKING.

A Tree, Seventy Feet High, and Over Two Feet in Diameter, Lifted Out of the Ground in Hamilton and Transposed to the Lawn in Front of the W. H. Moore Summer Home in Prides Crossing.

A large and almost full grown elm tree, seventy feet in height, with a 26-inch diameter at the base and with a ball of earth sixteen feet in diameter, cemeted together by its roots, lifted out of the earth in Hamilton and removed several miles to the estate of Judge W. H. Moore of New York, at Prides Crossing, is a feat which very few if any of our readers have ever before heard of.

The tree now stands defiantly on the beautiful lawn in front of the magnificent summer home of Judge Moore, and overlooks the bay, with its expanding buds almost ready to burst open as if glad of its new home and surroundings.

The tree as it stands presents a very imposing appearance and is perfect in symmetry. It is, beyond doubt, the largest tree that has ever been removed in this vicinity, and it was transported on a tree-mover especially designed and constructed by Connolly Bros. of Beverly Farms.

Some idea of the weight of the tree may be formed when it is realized that together with the ball of earth and the machine, it took five pairs of strong horses to haul it. The time of transportation was but two hours from place to place.

Too much credit cannot be given Mr. Alexander Shaw, the superintendent of the Moore estate, as he had charge of the moving and setting of the tree. The feat was accomplished without damage to the tree, as there was not even a scar to mar it. It was certainly a tremendous work and its removal was watched with interest, inasmuch as others had years before attempted to move this same tree and failed. Mr. Shaw is moving upon the same machine many other large trees.

Still Another Carload of Economy

Came in yesterday. Never had so many cars before, and they are only just commencing.

This One Is Extension Tables of the medium priced kind. Not very heavy or bulky, you know, so we get a lot of them in a car. So many that it only costs about twenty cents per table for freighting them way from the factory here. If they came singly or in small lots, it would cost nearer a dollar to get them every one here. See the saving?

Then they come better, free from all mars and scars. Then such quantity buying means a very great difference in price.

Do you find in any other store a Solid Oak 6 ft. Extension Table, well finished, for $4.50?

Or a Claw Foot Table, 6 ft. long, with a 42 in. square top, with fluted legs, for $7.75?

Or a Round Top Table of beautiful quartered oak, with 4 in. heavy legs, for $9.00?

And they are delivered, too, in absolutely perfect condition, and that's a very great consideration.

Trade at the store with the reputation for best goods, for with best goods must go best service, and the more we serve you, the better we can please you, as large merchandising means better system.

TAX RATE OF $9.00

The Rate in Manchester This Year Will Be Very Nearly That Amount, in the Opinion of the Selectmen, Who Ask That $96,000 Be Raised by Taxation—Other Matters of Interest That Came Up at Adjourned Town Meeting

The adjourned town meeting in the Manchester Town hall, Monday evening, was rather slimly attended and the interest in the few remaining articles of the warrant was apparently at a premium. The article calling for a sidewalk through the Cove woods, so-called, from the railroad crossing to the house of Oliver Gilman and a concrete sidewalk from there to Magnolia ave. was really the most important matter of business. This had been left in the hands of a committee composed of Gardner M. Lane, A. J. Lucas, E. P. Hooper, Jacob H. Kitfield and Randolph Taylor, who made a report at this meeting recommending an appropriation of $5000 to cover the cost of constructing the sidewalk and $1000 for the concrete.

It is the idea of the committee that the sidewalk be built in line with plans to be made by a landscape architect, which would detract as little as possible the beautiful rustic appearance of the stretch through the woods. The matter was referred to the adjourned meeting three weeks hence.

SOME MINOR ENGLISH WRITERS

By D. F. LAMSON

Among the great lights in the firmament of English letters, Spenser, Bacon, Shakespeare, Milton, and their peers, there shine many stars of less magnitude and brilliancy. Of these minor English writers, the names of Ben Jonson, Herbert, Crashaw, Bishop Hall, Fuller, Herrick, Thomas Browne, Dryden, Pope, Gray, Addison, Johnson, Burke, Goldsmith and Cowper, not to enter upon the nineteenth century, may be mentioned as only less in greatness than the great luminaries. Some of them may be considered leaders in the second rank; and all of them have added strength and beauty to our English speech. They differ from one another, but it is as "one star differeth from another star in glory." Some may add other names of those who have enriched the realm of literature with their genius, but these at least are entitled to a permanent place in the republic of letters. In many cases time has but added to their laurels; many names that were almost unknown in their day and generation have been "writ large" by posterity. If such names as those of Raleigh, Marvell, Samuel Butler, Isaak Walton, Sir William Temple, DeFoe, Thomson, David Hume, Gibbon and others are omitted, it is only because there must be a selection.

With all these authors the writer may claim to be somewhat familiar, with some more and with some less; the principal works of many of these have been the delight of his leisure moments for years; aside from his more serious occupations, they have opened to him many a by-path of literary profit and enjoyment. His main studies of English writers have been of those of the 17th century, with occasional excursions into the 16th; but to those of the 18th he owes no small debt of gratitude. In some of the minor writers whose names are comparatively unfamiliar, he has found much to reward a patient study. And sometimes there is a relief, after communing with the crowned and commanding kings of thought, the "sceptered sovereigns" of the world of mind, in holding fellowship for a while with those of less exalted rank, with those who we feel are on our own level, bone of our bone and flesh of our flesh, in descending from the lofty and majestic heights to the tablelands and the valleys, where the air

Grand Surf Tuesday

Scarcely has the surf along the North Shore been better than that of Tuesday, following the storm of Monday night, accompanied by the strong easterly wind blowing in from the ocean. Crowds of people went to Singing Beach, Manchester, and to Magnolia to see the surf and not a few people came down from Boston. The waves broke entirely over Eagle Head and washed up to the bath houses at the beaches in Beverly Farms, Manchester and Magnolia doing some little damage. The accompanying view is of the rocks off Smith's Point, though the large waves Tuesday completely covered them.

is less rarefied and the scenery if not so grand is more familiar and homely.

To some of these authors of minor reputation who have contributed so much in their way to the variety and richness of our literature, a series of articles will be devoted beginning with "Rare Ben Jonson," friend of Shakespeare and Bacon, dramatist and poet, a man of classical learning and lyrical taste. This series naturally follows that on the Masters of English Literature already published.

The company is ready for business and its teams will cover not only Cape Ann, but all along the North Shore from Magnolia, through Manchester, to Beverly. The concern is introducing its goods to North Shore people today through the columns of the Breeze, and their teams will make their appearance a little later. Its wagons are of the latest designed model for carrying bottled goods, consisting of a double deck, the body of which is painted in red and gold, while the deck harmonizes with its coat of cream and gold. *

New Teacher Appointed.

The Manchester school committee at a special meeting last Saturday afternoon elected Miss J. Louise McIntire of Milton to teach in the ungraded room at the Geo. A. Priest school, a new position created by the opening of the primary school next week.

Miss McIntire was graduated from the Milton High school in 1901 and from Wellesley college last June. She has been teaching in the Grammar school in Granby, Mass., and comes here very well recommended for the work for which she is selected.

Miss Mary Boyd has been spending the week in Lynn with her aunt, Mrs. Ralph Bannon.

The Ladies' Aid met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Jonathan May. Next week they will meet with Mrs. Eldridge Foster. The society is planning on holding a handkerchief bazaar and take the following unique way of advertising it:

To all our friends, though far and near,
We crave your kind attention;
So please to lend us now your ear
While we a subject mention.
The ladies of this church will hold,
In a day not distant far,
If we have been correctly told
A "Handkerchief Bazaar."

So this then is our plea, in brief,
To help along our enterprise,
• You each shall send a handkerchief,
Regardless of its kind or size.
To be without a handkerchief,
You know its quite distressing
From every state let one be sent
'Twill surely be a blessing.

WE HAVE SOLVED THE SHIRT WAIST PROBLEM

There are probably 70,000

WOMEN in ESSEX COUNTY who are beginning to think of new SHIRT WAISTS for Spring. Every indication points to a greater demand than ever before. We have prepared for this by greatly enlarging our Shirt Waist Stock. The coming season WEBBER will take the position as the leading Shirt Waist Store along the North Shore. We have purchased thousands of Waists, comprising the most beautiful and exclusive designs at prices that will delight everyone.

The Waists

are made of the popular wash fabrics, including MUSLIN, PERSIAN LAWNs, SILK MULL, BATISTE and WASH SILKS, trimmed with bewitchingly pretty combinations of lace, embroidery and tucks. Prices range from the least little sums as high as $10.00.

CHURCH NOTES

Congregational church, Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln, pastor. Morning worship at 10.45; evening service at 7 o'clock. Sermons by the pastor.

Baptist church, Rev. Edward Hersey Brewster, pastor. Morning worship at 10.45; People's evening service of song and praise at 7 o'clock.

Church of the Sacred Heart, Rev. William F. Powers, pastor. Mass daily at 7.30 a.m. Sundays: Mass at 9 and 10.30 o'clock a.m.; Sunday school 2.30 p.m.; Vespers at 7.30 p.m. Woman's sodality, Monday at 7.45 p.m.; Advanced class, Christian Doctrine, Friday at 7.30 p.m.; Sacred Heart sodality, first Friday of every month at 8.15 p.m.

"Easter's Invitation" will be the subject of Rev. Edward Hersey Brewster's sermon at the Baptist church tomorrow morning. There will be special music.

The Ever Ready circle of King's Daughters will meet with Mrs. Levi Harvie, School street, Monday evening.

The Boys' Brigade will hold a drill this evening, preparatory to the field meet in Wallaston next Thursday.

The Y.P.S.C.E. meeting will be omitted tomorrow evening because of the Easter concert in the church at 7 o'clock.

A special baptismal service will be held at the Baptist church tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, at which a number will be baptised. Last Sunday a special service was held at 6 o'clock and the following received the ordinance of Christian baptism: Misses Annie E. Younger, Olive R. Cook and Rebecca Lethdridge, and Messrs. Herman C. Swett, Fred W. Martin, Wm. H. Menken, Edward C. Bradley, Clarence A. Preston and D. Milton Knight.

The choir will render special Easter music at the Baptist church tomorrow morning.

The hopes of the local company that the annual field day of the U.B.B.A. would take place in Manchester failed of realization, as the event will be held in Wallaston on the 19th of April. The reason advanced by the committee was that the fares to Manchester from points beyond Boston were excessive. The local company will leave for the event on the 7.32 train next Thursday with drum corps. Captain Swett is confident the company is in even better shape than last year, when they carried off the honors in the Sham battle, and for drum corps.

A good time is in store for those who attend the church social under the auspices of the Church Aid society in the vestry of the Baptist church next Wednesday evening. A program of vocal and instrumental music is being prepared.

Rev. P. S. Henson's lecture on "Grumblers" to be given in the Town hall Wednesday evening, the 25th, is going to draw a big crowd apparently, as very nearly all of the tickets have been sold. Have you secured yours yet? The tickets can be found at Lee's and Cheever's.

The Ladies Sodality of the Sacred Heart church are to give another series of whist parties on Tuesday evenings in Lee's hall, the first to be next Tuesday evening, the 17th. Admission 15 cents.

There's a little secret, if you knew,

BEVERLY

Charles P. Roundy of Pawtucket, R. I., spent Sunday in town as the guest of relatives.

Mrs. Charles Conner entertained the members of the Ladies' Aid society of the Universalist church at her home on Essex street Tuesday afternoon.

Alvah B. Woodbury met with a painful accident Sunday morning while riding his bicycle on Essex street, near Bisson. A huge St. Bernard dog bounded out of one of the yards on the street directly in front of Mr. Woodbury's wheel, causing him to be thrown upon the rough pavement. Luckily no bones were broken, but a badly lacerated face resulted from the contact with the hard earth.

An interesting debate was held at the rooms of Aggressive Lodge of Good Templars on Monday evening, on the subject, "Which has been the most important factor in the development of civilization—the locomotive or the printing press?" The judges considered the side of the printing press the best presented, and accordingly awarded the decision to the advocates of that invention.

Various Estimates Made

Estimates as to the fortune left by the late E. C. Swift, the packer, vary by millions, as all such do, with the usual tendency to run it up to high totals.

One of Mr. Swift's closest business associates says: "An estimate of between $6,000,000 and $9,000,000 is about as near as one can estimate at this time."

Mr. Swift himself remarked shortly before his death that he was worth $10,000,000.—Boston Record.

MANCHESTER TOWN MEETING

The only flurry of excitement was when W. C. Rust moved that $300 of the money appropriated for legal expenses be applied for enforcement of the liquor law, if needed; but even this was not of sufficient interest to gain a second to the motion until Mr. Rust appealed to the consciences of those whom he regarded as temperance men, when Supt. Kimball seconded the motion. The motion was voted down.

The appropriation committee recommended that $96,000 be raised by taxation for the ensuing year. Chairman Swett explained that this would probably bring the tax rate to the vicinity of $9.00, perhaps $8.90,—an increase of 60 cents on a $1,000.

What Was Said and Done at Adjourned Town Meeting

The adjourned town meeting in Manchester was called to order Monday evening at 7.10, but so few were present no business was transacted until 7.30.

Art. 11 was first introduced. The committee to whom had been referred the matter of building a sidewalk on Summer street, reported that in their opinion the walk should be built, not only because of the great dangers from autos, but because they are inclined to be muddy and wet at times. Mr. Lane had secured the services of a landscape artist who would lay out a plan for building the walk in such a way as to detract as little as possible from the rustic appearance of the place. They recommended that $5,000 be appropriated for construction of the sidewalk and that it be built as soon as possible, and under the auspices of the selectmen and G. M. Lane. They also recommended that $1,000 be appropriated for concreting the sidewalk from the Randolph Taylor house to Magnolia avenue, the same to be done under the supervision of Supt. Kimball.

E. P. Stanley moved that the report be accepted, but it was lost.

W. C. Rust: "We are asked to spend $6000 and I think it proper that this should go before the appropriation committee. I don't think we should vote to spend so much money with so few out.

Mr. Rust moved that the whole matter be referred to appropriation committee to be referred to some adjourned meeting.

E. P. Hooper said it was the intention of the committee to follow the line of the T. J. Coolidge property wall and then blast away part of the ledge on top of the hill and go along the side of the road in such a way that the trees would not have to be cut. The bend in the road opposite the frog pond he thought should be taken away even if the sidewalk wasn't built.

E. P. Stanley thought the first thing to do was to accept the report before acting on it. No question in the mind of anyone that something should be done. It delays the work he said, by leaving it to the appropriation committee.

Mr. Rust's motion put and carried.

It was voted on motion of Mr. Rust that when the meeting adjourn it be to Monday evening, April 30.

Art 63. F. K. Swett moved that the treasurer be authorized to borrow in anticipation of taxes, $80,000.

Art. 35. $500 additional was voted for the "Poor inn," it being understood the same was for general repairs on the farm, including new bath room in the keeper's part.

The corrected "financial statement" of the selectmen was accepted.

W. C. Rust moved that $300 of the money appropriated for legal expenses be applied for the enforcement of the liquor law if needed.

E. P. Stanley moved it be referred to the financial committee. The moderator ruled this last motion out of order.

Mr. Rust was surprised that no one seconded his motion. "There ought to be enough voters here in favor of this thing to support this motion."

George Kimball: "I second it."

Mr. Rust: "If we don't use this $300 we don't spend anything. I believe we should have it to work with in case it is needed. If we don't have it the people who do this kind of thing can carry out their plans very easily. It is about as free as water, I am told. The officers walk along and don't see anything. They might tumble over a keg and not know what it was. In my opinion if things get rank we could use this money. If we don't use it, there is somebody higher than the police. We aren't all dead yet; there is a little life left, even if small."

A Cunningham asked if we had the right to take money already appropriated, to which the moderator replied he saw no reason why this thing should not be all right.

M. E. Gorman thought it was the sense of the people to let the thing remain as it was,—to take care of itself as in the past, and he moved the matter be indefinitely postponed. This motion was put and resulted in 18 in favor, 10 against.

The report of the auditor was accepted.

Art 65. The appropriation committee recommended that $96,000 be raised by taxation the ensuing year.

The meeting adjourned at 8.50 to Monday evening, April 30.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

WEDNESDAY EVENING CLUB

Most Interesting Program of the Season Carried Out—A Trio From Boston the Stars of the Evening

The April meeting of the Wednesday Evening club of Manchester, held in the chapel Wednesday evening was considered the best of the season, as regards the excellency of the talent and interest manifest on all sides by the members of the club.

The George Nelson Price Co., composed of Miss Winifred Leonard of Boston, Miss Blanche E. Smail of Dorchester, both formerly of the "College Widow company," and George N. Price of Watertown, formerly with the Thespian Dramatic company, were the star entertainers of the evening. Each read several selections and the little farce, "A Jar at the Jacks," which closed the program was a whole evening's entertainment in itself.

After the records of the previous meeting had been read President Cheever turned the meeting over to A. S. Jewett, chairman of the committee in charge, who presented the program of the evening.

A whistling solo by Mrs. Flanders of Salem, "Birds of the Brook," was the first number and proved very entertaining, indeed, as did the other selections by Mrs. Flanders, including "The Mocking Bird," and "Richmond."

"The Irishman's Love Story" was very interestingly told by Miss Leonard, whose articulation hit the mark to perfection, and her impersonation of "The Young Lady in the Telephone Exchange" was true to life.

The many friends here of Roderick Macdonald of Somerville were pleased to hear him in his several selections. He sang "Kathleen Mavoureen" and as an encore, Bartlett's "A Dream." He afterwards sang "Mona" by Adams, and "Where the Southern Roses Grow," by Morse. Miss Edith Wheaton was accompanist.

In his reading, "Captain Baz's Story" Mr. Price depicted very graphically the life of a convict in Arizona, and demonstrated the talent which he is known to possess as a reader. When he was called back for an encore he recited a very catchy little poem.

Miss Smail scored the hit of the evening in her reading, "How Henry took care of the baby." One had to look the second time to see that the baby was not actually on the stage, bawling and yelling, and her impersonation of impatient Henry and Mary was ideal. "The bride's first dinner order" proved equally interesting. Her picture of the young house wife going to market and buying chops by the bunch, asking for French chops that were not imported, buying chickens, a few plane steaks, a little fish and her admonition to be sure to send up the "jibbits,"—all for one dinner, was very graphically told.

After the intermission the sketch, "A Jar at the Jacks," was put on, with the following characters:

Lorenzo Jack, Mr. Price; Amelia, his wife, Miss Leonard; Patty, his sister, Miss Smail. The scene was in the kitchen of their flat. Amelia bought the latest thing out, an automatic cook and second girl, and Mr. Price and Miss Smail took off the characters in such a way as to keep the audience in a constant roar of laughter from beginning to end.

The committee in charge was composed of: A. S. Jewett, C. C. Dodge, A. L. Saben, Mrs. G. A. Kitfield, Nellie Leonard and Miss Edith Wheaton.

The committee for the May meeting,—the last of the season,—is R. L. Cheever, Mrs. L. W. Carter, A. C. Needham, Ethel McDiarmid, F. C. Rand, and Mrs. A. L. Saben and Albert Cunningham.

A Communication

Editor of the North Shore Breeze:

Unless indications are deceptive the subscribers of the local papers can be prepared to be electrified by news and spicy articles red hot from the bat, as both of the editorial offices are now located with the electrical contractors. Mr. Marshall of the Cricket is located in the office of Mr. Knoerr in the Rowe block, while Mr. Lodge of the Breeze is to occupy part of the office of the Clark & Mills Elec. Co. in the Pulsifer's block, and in the language of The Old Farmer's Almanac, "a storm may be expected about this time." Put up your lightning rods and see that your lightning arresters are in working order before you delve into the papers on Saturday after this. Spring poets will have to be very careful how they approach the editors' sanctum from this time, and in the end it may be beneficial to the public.

We trust that the induction will be of a better order from a hundred and ten volt current than it was from the rusty scissors used previously.

SATURDAY, APRIL 7, 1906.

Patriot's Day next Thursday.

Are you going to the clothes-Horse Show?

Governor Guild has issued his Arbor Day proclamation, and sets apart Saturday, April 28, as the day.

Gloucester is to have a fine modern telephone building, erected on the corner of Elm and Federal streets in that city.

We are publishing this week the first of a series of articles on "Some Minor English Writers" by Rev. D. F. Lamson, whose articles on "Masters of English Literature," published in the Breeze the past year, have met with so much favor.

Capt. Joshua W. Slocum, who was quite a prominent character along the shore last summer, his famous boat Spray attracting considerable attention, is now in the British West Indies, and from despatches it would seem that the captain and his boat came near making their last voyage on the journey thither. Early one morning he was aroused by the sound of breakers, and getting out on deck found the Spray almost on the dangerous reefs which run out to sea about three miles off the east end of Grand Cayman; the tide during the night had taken the Spray 15 miles out of her course.

The Breeze was last week passed upon by Judge Harmon of the Probate Court, Salem, and is now on the list of papers in which legal notices and matters of this nature can be printed. We trust our friends may remember this and give us a share of their business in this line.

The "summer season" is on; that is, so far as we are concerned here on the North Shore. With the return of the robins and the sparrows is the return, also, of the summer colonists, and no matter what the weather is, both are much in evidence this time of the year. The other season may very appropriately be called the "dull season."

The Wonder of the Age

Wireless telegraph, the wonder of the age, has become a reality and a necessity, a reality because the fondest dream of its inventor, Dr. Lee DeForest, has been accomplished, the harnessing of that magic something which is to carry message across the broad Atlantic, as fast and as accurate as the cable; necessity because it is fast replacing the short cable and the long distance telegraph, its success not being confined merely to communication of vessels and shore, but for fast commercial work between great cities.

The recent accomplishment of Dr. DeForest in sending a wireless message from his Manhattan station in New York to Dursey Head in Ireland, a distance of 3,360 miles, shows the actuality and the possibility of wireless telegraphy, as this message was not a short one, but a long, severe one of several thousand words. This message was repeated and constant communication has been an every night occurrence for the past two weeks.

The possibility in that its meagre expense means the death of the cable, costing less than one-fiftieth to establish it.

For months past Dr. Bell the inventor of the Bell Tel. and Dr. DeForest have been working quietly but persistently, and at last their labors have borne the choicest kind of fruit.

No message has ever been sent cross the Atlantic before without the use of the cable. Several years ago Marconi was accredited with the sending of the letter "S" from Labrador to Ireland, but when asked to repeat it, he refused.

The dream of the wireless age has been to span the Atlantic. DeForest, the first and only one to operate successfully on the land, is the first to cross the Atlantic.

America's inventors still lead the world, the invention and perfection of wireless telegraphy was by and American, and America is still as far ahead in the Wireless Age as it was in the wire and cable age.

Society Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Moore and children, who have been spending the winter at the New Willard, Washington, have come on to Prides Crossing and will remain here the rest of the summer, undoubtedly, all their plans for the year having been cut short, of course, because of the death of Mrs. Moore's father, the late E. C. Swift.

The Mrs. John L. Gardner estate, picturesquely located near Mingo beach, and occupied last season by the Col. R. H. Stevens, will be occupied the coming season by the Wm. A. Burnhams. The Burnhams spent last season abroad.

Another change of interest in this vicinity is that of the Longworth house, which has been let for the season to the Clay Arthur Pierces of St. Louis. This estate has a pretty location at Mingo Beach overlooking the bay, and it was hoped Mrs. Longworth would come to the shore herself this summer, and that her son, Senator "Nick" Longworth, and Mrs. Longworth, would spend part of the summer with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Tibbitts have had their house at West Manchester opened and will move down from town early next week for a few weeks. The place has been let for the summer to the H. S. Grew, 2ds, who had F. R. Spaulding's house at West Manchester last season. Mrs. Tibbitts will probably spend the summer in Europe.

The Tyler Morses will spend the summer in North Beverly, having taken a cottage on Conant street. It was said they had taken the house at Beverly Farms occupied last season by R. G. Shaw, 2d, but this is not true.

The W. R. Cabots have opened the Elliott house on Beach street, Beverly Farms, though they have not yet moved down from town permanently.

The Thornton K. Lothrop's have taken the Boardman homestead at West Manchester for another season, and will move down next month.

The Thomas M. McKees and the John B. Moultons arrived at their Beverly Farms places Tuesday.

Miss Adele G. Thayer and her friend, Miss Webster, left Boston this week for the southern islands to be gone about a month. On their return about the middle of May, Miss Thayer will open her beautiful place at West Manchester, "Uplands." She traveled abroad last season and her house was unoccupied.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Head returned last week from their trip abroad, which was of very brief duration. The Heads, it is understood, will spend the summer at their Lake Champlain estate. The Kahns will be on from New York to take their Manchester estate before July 1. Mr. and Mrs. Head were down the shore with a party of friends by auto Sunday.

The Masconomo House at Manchester is to hold out a new attraction the coming season, which Prop. John B. Schoeffel thinks will make it quite the popular place for automobilists. The house is to open about a month earlier—the latter part of May—with Frederick Merrill of Boston in charge, and will make a specialty of chicken and lobster dishes, such as will attract transients and auto parties. If the plan succeeds the house will be kept open till late in the fall. Its location near Singing Beach ought to make it an attractive spot.

Society Notes

It is reported that Thomas C. Plant of Boston, who occupied the Hanks place at West Manchester last season, has bought the property, though we were unable to verify this report last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clay Frick came on from Pittsburg yesterday, making the journey from New York by their special car "Olympia," which is now on the siding at Pride's. They came on to look over their magnificent estate, which will not be ready probably till July. The Fricks will come early, however, and will spend the early summer in the gardener's house, which has been fitted up into a cozy lodge with every convenience Another Big House Going up on the Beverly Shore?

Another big land deal is now being put through at some point along the Beverly Shore, said to be somewhat in proportion to the Frick estate at Pride's Crossing, and a magnificent $300,000 mansion will be built. This statement the Breeze is able to make this morning from a most reliable source, though we are not permitted to give anything definite, as the deal has not yet been consummated.

Dedication of New School.

Dedication exercises are being held this afternoon at the John Price Primary School building. Next week's BREEZE will contain a full account of the proceedings and a complete description of the new building.

Rings made larger or smaller; new stones set, at H. B. Winchester's, 182 Main street, Gloucester.

It is understood that the drug store conducted at Prides last season under the proprietorship of F. G. Haynes, will open shortly under new management.

W. W. Main, secretary of the Mass. Bible School association, spoke very interestingly of his work at both the morning service and the Sunday school, last Sunday, at the Baptist church. In the evening the pastor preached on "Crucifixion."

By the removal of the memorial decorations from St. John's Episcopal church on Monday last, many of the flowers, wreaths, etc., were taken to graves in the Farms cemetery, the Soldiers' monument and lot receiving especial donations.

Quite a number of social events are scheduled for the future weeks. A dance is to be held in Marshall's hall Monday night, April 16. Long's Orchestra of five pieces will play.

Delegations representing the towns of Spencer, Mass., and Bragdon, Vt., were in town on Thursday inspecting the stone crushing plant of Messrs. Connolly Bros., on Greenwood avenue, with an idea of installing the same kind in their respective places.

Preston W.R. corps will give their patriotic entertainment in Neighbor's hall Wednesday evening, April 18.

The storm of Tuesday was felt quite severely at the Farms and did considerable damage, especially on estates of the summer residents, blowing down and up-rooting many valuable trees—and creating havoc in general. Reports from all over the village of broken windows and other damage were numerous. An interesting sight and one that attracted crowds was the extra high tide at the beach, which, together with the high wind and waves, made a picture rarely seen here. The surf at times submerged the ocean pier, to which considerable damage was done both to the iron railing and flooring, also carrying away a flight of steps, and breaking on the sands with such force and volume of water that for a time it seemed that the bath houses along the beach bank would be undermined.

Harvey M. Hodgkins returned to his Greenwood avenue home today, and is receiving the congratulations of his many friends upon his recovery, Mr. Hodgkins having been through a critical operation at the Beverly hospital.

Services Over the Remains of E. C. Swift Held at Little Episcopal Church, Beverly Farms Last Sunday—The Church a Bower of Flowers—Large Crowds Come by Special Train for Funeral

The little St. John's Episcopal church, at Beverly Farms, was last Sunday the scene of services over the remains of the late Edwin Carleton Swift, more impressive than which has never been held at this pretty North Shore edifice.

A special train of eight cars, one of the largest for the purpose ever made up by the Boston & Maine, brought almost 600 relatives, friends and business associates of the well-known man from Boston and from all parts of the New England States and other parts of the country, in fact, shortly before 11 o'clock, and there were almost as many more assembled from near-by places, hundreds of whom were forced to remain outside during the services, as the church did not begin to hold all.

The interior of the church was one mass of flowers. There were over 300 floral offerings. The walls were covered with southern smilax, English ivy and laurel. The wainscoting, which extended around the interior, offered an ideal place for decorations, and this was completely covered with palms and bay trees, garlands, wreaths of every conceivable flower—in season and out of season—from plain wreaths of English ivy to wreaths of most costly orchids and gardenias. There were lilies of the valley, violets, brides' and beauty roses in profusion.

In front of the chancel was a solid mass of flowers. Over the communion table was a magnificent cross of Easter lilies; the communion cloth was draped with asparagus vine, white roses and orchids, and there were vases of white roses on the altar.

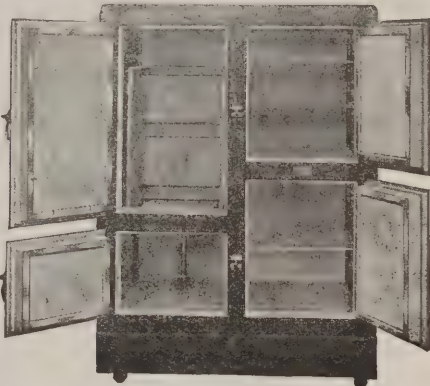

The casket, of black broadcloth, was covered with lilies of the valley, violets and orchids, as expressed in the wish of Mrs. Swift, cabled from Europe. It rested on a bank of violets and maidenhair fern.

Among the beautiful pieces was a large cross of Easter lilies from Mrs. Clarenc Moore and a wreath of orchids and other rare flowers from Mr. and Mrs. Moore. So great was the number of floral offerings that the church could not hold them.

The funeral left "Swiftmoor," in Pride's Crossing, just before 11 o'clock, the casket being drawn by Mr. Swift's favorite horses and driven by the family coachman. When the casket was brought into the church the procession moved up the main aisle, the impressive Episcopal service, beginning with "I am the resurrection and the life," being chanted by the Rev. Eugene J. V. Huiginn, rector of the church and of St. Peter's Episcopal church in Beverly, who was assisted by the Rev. Dewitt S. Clark of Salem, who married Mr. Swift.

The family pews on the right were occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Moore, Mr. Swift's son-in-law and daughter; Noble Swift, Mr. Swift's only living brother; Mrs. G. F. Swift, widow of Mr. Swift's brother of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hallett, F. E. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Dannels, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Swift, M. Harry Swift, Miss Helen Dowell, Mrs. Edward Morris, Charles H. Swift, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Everse, Mrs. William Swift, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Piper, Clayton W. Swift, Dr. and Mrs. Hartshorn, Dr. De Wayne Hallett, H. H. Hallett, Mrs. D. M. Anthony, Mrs. L. A. Worcester, Mrs. L. J. Piper, Miss Sophia Carl, relatives of the Swift's; Mrs. F. G. Macomber, Misses Fannie and Bessie Osgood and Miss Ella Fiske.

On the opposite side of the church were the bearers, A. T. Hunnewell, H. W. Heath, F. W. Crocker, Walter E. Glidden, W. H. Noyes, J. F. Lockwood, C. A. Cushman, F. C. Clark, H. B. Peters and R. A. Skinner, while occupying seats in the center of the church were the honorary bearers.

The combined vested choirs of both the churches, with over 30 men and boys, under the direction of choir-master and organist Leo C. Demack sang their various selections with excellent expressions. After the services the casket was opened and hundreds took a last look at the body, it taking 35 minutes for the crowd inside and outside the church to pass up the aisle and view the remains.

The ushers at the church were: C. B. Bingham, C. W. Benjamin, Walter C. Merrill, H. F. Russell, E. D. Whitford, A. H. Handy, F. C. Basset of Boston and Gen. William Stopford, Edward W. Rogers, Charles P. Chase, J. M. Publicover, Charles Woodberry and W. B. Publicover of the Beverly and Beverly Farms churches.

Interesting services were held at Forest Hills cemetery about 4 o'clock and the casket was placed within the tomb where it will remain until further disposition is made of it by Mrs. Swift who has probably arrived home from Europe by this time.

Mrs. Gordon Prince's beautiful place at West Manchester will be occupied this summer by the William C. Sheldons of New York.

Hamilton R. Squier of New York will open his cottage, off Pine street, Manchester, next Saturday, for the season.

The "Bobbie" Shaw, 2ds, will join the Beverly Cove colony this summer, having hired the Saltonstall cottage. They were at Beverly Farms the past two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis H. Luke have opened "Pitch Pine Hall" their pretty summer place at Beverly Farms.

The Horse Show opens in Mechanics hall, Boston, Monday, and will continue through next Saturday. The North Shore colony is to be well represented in the ring as usual. Judge William H. Moore of New York, who, by the way, is to open his place at Prides Crossing a little earlier than usual this spring, is to be one of the largest exhibitors. He has 100 entries in all, though he has not anywhere near that number of horses entered of course.

Among the North Shore contingent who are box holders at the coming Horse Show are: Francis Peabody, Jr., No. 1; Bruce J. Allan, 5; R. L. Agassiz, 6; Judge W.

H. Moore, 7; Oliver Ames, 8; Washington B. Thomas, 11; Q. A. Shaw, Jr., 18; A. S. Bigelow, 20; Eben D. Jordan, 27; Thos. G. Plant, 36; W. D. Sohler, 63; and Robert S. Bradley, 66.

The R. T. Cranes of Chicago will occupy the Hugh Cochrane cottage, near Singing Beach, Manchester, this summer.

The Fellner house, nearby, will be occupied this season by the Lucius J. Knowles of Worcester.

The S. B. Danas of Cambridge plan on moving down to the Knowlton cottage, near the Beverly Farms station, on the 28th of this month. This is the same house they have occupied the past two seasons.

Real Estate

And Improvements

Manchester

Ground was broken Wednesday for the Benjamin H. Corliss residence on Lincoln street, corner of Arbella street.

Ground was broken Wednesday, also, by Messrs. Connolly Bros. for the construction of a splendid range of glass houses on the beautiful summer estate of Edward S. Grew at West Manchester, from designs of Lord & Burnham Co. The main greenhouse is to be about 100 feet in length and 25 feet wide. There will be a conservatory of artistic design in the centre from which an ell is to be constructed, some 25 feet square, to be used as a workshop. This will be a valued addition to Mr. Grew's well appointed estate.

Pride's Crossing

At the H. C. Frick estate work is being rushed on the filling in and other rough work in line with transforming the place into the ideal spot Mr. Frick is aiming after. Very little grading is being done, though this will be the next thing in line. Loam is now being brought to the estate by the train load, from Ipswich. D. Linehan & Son of Prides have full charge of this part of the monstrous work now going on at this estate.

E. P. Motley's house at Pride's Crossing, on which quite a large addition has been built by Publicover Bros., of Beverly Farms, is now already for occupancy. The addition includes a large number of servants rooms, the addition of three or four bath rooms, and a number of guest chambers, the third story being rearranged for that purpose.

Beverly Farms

Work was started this week on the rebuilding of avenues, grading, and also on considerable landscape work at the Frank B. Bemis estate at West Beach. Messrs. Connolly Bros. are the contractors.

Publicover Bros., are building over a two story cottage for Luther Ober on Haskell street.

The quite extensive alterations and addition to the Charles Storrow cottage at Beverly Farms, occupied by the Philip Dexters, is about completed. Several chambers, three bath rooms and servants rooms have been added. The Dexters will be down to the Farms about the middle of this month.

Miss Nellie Preston is convalescent from a severe illness of tonsilitis.

Miss Annie McEachern of Boston is spending a few days with Mrs. John Prince, Hart street.

Capt. J. Frank Blaney is hard at work repairing the damage to his fish weir caused by the recent storm.

Mrs. Frank T. Mitchell and daughter, Miss Marguerite Mitchell of Pawtucket, R. I., are being entertained by Postmaster and Mrs. Elmer Standley.

Daniel McSweeney left this week for Irvington-on-the-Hudson, New York, to take charge of Messrs. Connolly Bros.' work there.

It is to be deplored that so many of the young boys of the Farms are to be seen loafing around town when they should be in school, and it seems as though some one should be censured pretty sharply for allowing this condition of affairs to exist.

Carloads of first class loam are daily arriving at the local freight yards for the Frick and Moore estates, coming from the Messrs. Connolly Bros. and Jackman farms at Topsfield. A special freight train making two trips a day was put on duty Friday to handle the same.

The Hardy club ball team is practicing daily for the game to be played with the "Old Timers" in the near future. The Old Timers claim they do not need any training to trim the youngsters.

In commemoration of Easter week St. Margaret's church has held special services, a pleasing feature of which was that on Thursday and Friday mornings when the children of the parish gave a floral procession, the choir (to which has been added many new voices), rendered fitting selections. Excellent sermons, together with the usual devotions, were also a part of the services.

The sale recently of a house lot from the Trowt, or Marshall field, so-called, which abuts the rear of the engine house, ought to serve as an incentive for action on the part of the Ward 6 members of the city government, toward securing more land in the rear of the building for the purpose of making needed additions and improvements and such alterations as must come sooner or later. The place is used now not only for the purpose of an engine house but as headquarters for the street department in this section, thus making things rather cramped at times. Should this matter be neglected the chances are that this property will be sold, and if so, would serve as a serious obstacle in line of making the improvements necessary.

The opening of the baseball season at Peabody's field next Thursday, when the Beverly club will play the Cuban Giants, will attract a large delegation of lovers of the sport from Ward Six.

Mrs. M. Hanson and the Misses Hanson of Vine court are contemplating spending the summer at the native home of the former, in Sweden.

"Butt In," a smack little 21-foot motor boat of 4-h. p., has been purchased by John Daniels, the Central square provision dealer, who anticipates many hours of pleasure on the waters of the bay during his leisure hours the coming summer.

Dr. Blackburn of Salem preached at the Baptist church Wednesday evening, and at communion services held Thursday evening. Rev. Mr. Parker of Wenham preached. Last evening there was a union service between the young people from the Centerville church and the local society.

The sixth in the series of whist parties given under the management of the K. of C. and Foresters, omitted this week, will be given in Marshall's hall next Wednesday evening.

A delegation of 40 or more Italians arrived at the Farms Monday night carrying their entire earthly effects in bags, boxes and trunks, in full hopes of "spending the season on the shore," and while waiting at the station for a pilot to escort them to their quarters they gave quite an entertainment in the waiting room with their various musical instruments, etc.

John Woodbury is at Wyatt's market for the season, after a winter spent in Washington, D. C.

White & Marsters' store is now open till 6.45 instead of 5.15 P. M., as formerly. Saturday evenings open till 9.30. *

Patriot's Day will be observed at the Farms by the members of Preston Post and friends by patriotic exercises in commemoration of the day, and the anniversary of the Post will be observed at the same time. A supper will be served in G. A. R. hall and an excellent entertainment in Marshall's hall, the affair to conclude with a dance. The members of the Post, W. R. C., associates and invited guests will be present. The affair will take place next Thursday evening.

Much interest is centering in the pitch tournament among the members of Preston Post and associates, the fourth in the series taking place after the meeting Thursday evening. As the scores are very near even at present each team is striving hard to secure the prize.

Com. Charles H. Day, Eben Day, Theo. A. Holmes and George W. Larcom represented the local Post at the campfire of the Phil H. Sheridan Post in Salem, Tuesday evening.

The extreme low tides of the past week have offered an inducement to many to secure a mess of the luscious bivalve, the deep sea or hen clam, which can be found in this vicinity only at the Beverly Farms beaches.

W. H. Caverly, a familiar figure at Wyatt's market for the past six years, has accepted a position with a Beverly concern.

Five of the young ladies' classes of the Baptist church Bible school held a social at the church last Friday evening.

Gloucester Horse Won

The trotter, "Cheerful Harry," owned by King Rogers of Gloucester took three straight heats in the best three out of five, from the bay pacer owned by Orrin A. Martin of Manchester, on the state highway speedway at Magnolia Wednesday afternoon in the presence of a large gathering of horsemen who had gathered to witness the event.

This race had been arranged to take place several weeks ago, but many postponements were necessary on account of the several snow falls, which left the road in rather bad condition.

A forfeit of $25 was posted by the owners of the horses, and this was to be increased to $50 each on the day of the race

The Coming Seaside Resort.

High and airy, about an hour's ride from Boston by rail, with thirteen trains a day from the West Gloucester station only twenty minutes' drive distant, Willoughby Park, with its beautiful ocean and river views, has promise of being the coming seashore resort of Cape Ann.

The park is in close proximity to the far famed Wingaersheek beach with its two and a half miles of hard sandy surface, offering facilities for promenading, horseback riding, automobiling and driving, 667 feet in width at low water, one of the finest beaches on the New England coast.

There are fine facilities for yachting, fishing and power boating on the Annisquam and Essex rivers, Ipswich bay and Gloucester harbor with their varied attractions. Situated in the midst of the most delightful drives through West Gloucester, the city proper, Manchester, Magnolia and their beautiful surroundings, it will prove a paradise for automobilists and all who are seeking a seaside summer resort combining the country and seashore in all their varied beauties, where nature has been lavish of her gifts with hills and dales, various forest trees, sand dunes, ravines and other attractions.

This tract contains 156 acres, nine of which have been sold to most desirable parties, and the first summer residence will be erected in time for this season's occupancy. The lots average one acre and will be divided to suit purchasers. Now is the time to secure them. Careful restrictions as to building and every safeguard to render this resort first-class in every respect.

Automobile

owners and Chaffeurs will be interested in the ingenious "CINCH REPAIR KIT" for inner tube tires.

A little brass seal, in section as above, does the trick in a twinkling. No cement is used and therefore no time is wasted for cement to dry, as in road patches. The puncture is found, and a special cutter reams out a clean hole, which is distended by a wire spreader into a slit. The rubber covered, double headed seal then goes in easily and is crushed down with the powerful Cinch pliers as shown in cut. One jaw of pliers presses top of seal, the other presses on bottom through inner tube. A little soapstone is added and the tube is ready to blow up. The device has had a season's trial on various cars and is about to be marketed.

The price of Set complete for 12 Repairs is

$5.00

tion which has made a complete conquest of this week's audience at the Tremont theatre, Boston. Mr. Hackett and Miss Mannering have several times appeared in Boston as separate stars, but it has been years since they have played together. They have individually gained so much in importance, theatrically, that to see them in the same cast comes in the nature of a real treat. In looks Miss Mannering has improved since her last Boston appearance. She seems even younger and prettier than ever. The Hackett-Mannering support is undeniably a strong one and the

And the old axiom of "Beauty is as beauty does" takes none of the charm away from it, for it wears and holds its color better than anything we know of that could be compared with it.

The dainty designs that have come out for spring throw everyone into enthusiasm at the first sight of them. There's not a carpet woven with the soft tints and shadings in them that these

They are made up into rugs, also from the little door mats way up to the big carpet sized rugs that make beautiful coverings for chambers. Rugs for this particular purpose that you could find nothing else so pleasing as.

Miss SARAH LOUISE ARNOLD who made the principal address at the Primary School dedication last Saturday, in Manchester.

MANCHESTER'S NEW PRIMARY SCHOOL DEDICATED.

Exercises Held in the Assembly Hall of the New Building Last Saturday Afternoon. Interesting Biographical Sketch of Deacon John Price After Whom School Is Named, by A. S. Jewett. Miss Arnold of Boston Made the Address of the Day. Description of the Building.

The John Price Primary School building, Manchester's latest acquisition to her already well equipped school system, was dedicated last Saturday afternoon. The new building is located on Norwood avenue, corner of Brook street, just a few minutes' walk from the Geo. A. Priest school, on land adjoining the Brook street playgrounds. The cost completed, including land, and interior furnishings, is about $43,000.

The town of Manchester can feel proud of owning one of the finest schools in the Commonwealth, as the building was constructed with the aim of getting the very best that could be built. In the setting and arrangement of the school the plan and standard established by use in the city of Boston have been faithfully followed. A perusal of the description of the building in another column will bear out this assertion.

Interesting, indeed, were the exercises held in the assembly hall of the school last Saturday afternoon, in connection with the dedication. The room was crowded, despite the threatening weather, and several hundred people attended the exercises and inspected the building.

After selections by the orchestra and prayer by the Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln of the Congregational church, Robert D. Andrews of Andrews, Jacques & Rantoul, the architects, presented the building to the Building Committee in a few well chosen words. He said in part:

The Presentation.

"The work has been done well and faithfully and it is our hope it will be of some good and pleasure to all who enter therein. In this building is a school that gives to all the assurance of the health and comfort of the children. In plan and arrangement the standards established by use in the city of Boston have been faithfully followed. The building is as good as can be made. It was on August 1, 1905, the contract was signed by Roberts & Hoare and in six months the building is finished. I wish to thank the builders one and all for the way the work is done, and the building committee. And Mr. Chairman, I wish formally now to turn this building over to your care."

Edward A. Lane, chairman of the building committee, said in accepting the building from the architect:

Response to the Architect.

"In behalf of the members of the building committee, whom I have the honor to represent upon this occasion, it gives me great pleasure to accept from you this beautiful building, a result of the careful study and architectural skill of you and your associates.

"I wish to extend to you our appreciation of your effort and success in erecting for the Town of Manchester, a building that will be not only a convenient and pleasant home for the younger portion of our community during their school hours, but an ornament to the locality, and a credit to the town.

"I also wish to express our appreciation of the interest manifested by those having the contract in charge, for the faithful manner in which they have performed their work, and their readiness to make such changes and additions as have been suggested from time to time during its progress.

"That the building may long stand as a memorial to the generosity of our citizens, a credit to the architect and builder, and an inspiration to the young people of our town is our earnest hope."

Mr. Lane said, in turning the building over To the Selectmen,

"It becomes a pleasant duty to me, occupying as I do the position of chairman of the building committee, to return to the inhabitants of the Town of Manchester, through you as their representative, the fulfillment of the trust confided to us one year ago, embodying the erection and completion of this Primary School Building and grounds. How well we have executed that trust we are content to leave with the sober judgment of the people to determine. We have endeavored to complete the work with the funds placed at our disposal, and we are pleased to say that we will be able to do so without depriving the children of anything needed for their comfort during the early years of their school life.

"It is a pleasure to me, as it must be to those having the welfare of the children at heart, to feel that we are able to give them so many advantages during the time spent in the school room, and it is my earnest wish that they might profit by the privileges they enjoy."

Mr. Swett Accepts for the Town

Fred K. Swett, chairman of the board of selectmen, accepted the building from the committee in a few well chosen remarks. He said in part:

"Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen: In making this speech of acceptance (which by the way is my maiden speech) I feel very much the same as the little boy who on his first day in school was brought to account for squirming around in his seat, but accounted for the condition, by informing his teacher that he had eaten eels for dinner.

"This modern and well equipped Primary School building, is in striking contrast to the school of years ago, where we find in the old colonial records that in 1647, two years after Manchester was incorporated, an ordinance was passed to this effect: 'That learning may not be buried in the graves of our fathers. It is hereby ordered, that every township in this jurisdiction, after the Lord hath increased it to the number of 50 house-holders, shall forthwith appoint one within their town, to teach all children to read and write.' Then again in 1785 we find that this town voted to build a schoolhouse 21 feet wide by 26 feet long, and as a matter of historic interest, this same house now stands on the easterly corner of Brook and School streets.

"I recall these facts to your mind that one may perceive the growth of educational facilities has kept pace with the steady advancement and prosperity of our town.

"No more common remark is heard from the parents of children than this: I lacked these school advantages in my youth but whatever befalls me, my children shall enjoy them, and to that end the good citizens of Manchester ever stand ready to give to her pupils the best schools that money and brains can supply.

"A building such as we dedicate today, situated in the most beautiful town in the state, apart from the commotion of city life, with a sunny exposure and plenty of pure air, gives it surroundings that should be conducive to the study of nature without and the concentration of one's thoughts and ideas within.

"Therefore, Mr. Chairman of the Building Committee, I accept in the name of the Town of Manchester, the John Price Primary School Building, and desire to thank through you, the members of your committee, for the careful and efficient manner in which they performed their duties. Another pleasant duty now befalls me and that is to again turn over to other hands this same school building, and as Chairman of the Selectmen of this town I give to you, the Chairman of the School Committee, this John Price Primary School Building, for the use, benefit and occupancy of the school children of Manchester.

"In the words of our late Governor Greenhalge: 'A Commonwealth can only rest on the foundation of the Free Public Schools.'"

Mr. Lane said in Response to the Selectmen:

"As Chairman of the School Committee, I accept from you, for my associates and myself, this added responsibility that has been placed upon us, and assure the citizens of the town that we consider it a sacred trust. The opening of this building for school purposes, is a step forward for the cause of education in Manchester, and enables the committee, with the liberal appropriations provided each year, to place our schools upon an educational basis second to none in the state. It has always been our aim to provide all that is good for the education and welfare of the boys and girls in the Town of Manchester."

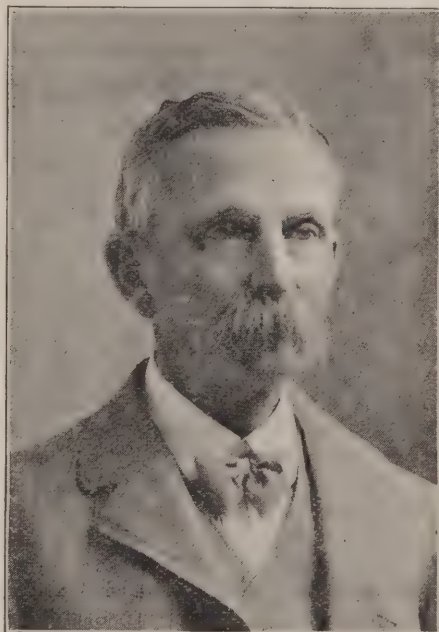

After a selection by the orchestra Town Clerk Alfred S. Jewett was called upon, and he gave a very interesting sketch of Deacon Price's life and influence. He said:

Address by A. S. Jewett.

Ladies and Gentlemen: Through the kindness of the School Committee I have been invited to say a few words upon this exceedingly interesting occasion with reference to the beloved teacher and public spirited citizen whose name has been honorably connected with this latest acquisition to the educational equipment of our beloved town.

When the names of several of our citizens who had rendered such conspicuous service as to place them in the list of eligibles to the honorable distinction, were suggested, and our mind passed in rapid review their life work in this community, it was no easy task to single out from this noble company one who should command the united support of all the people regardless of age or sex. However, the time finally came when the choice must be made, once and for all, and when the motion was offered that the new primary school be called the "John Prince Primary School," not a dissenting voice was heard. No doubt it will be interesting to some who are here present today, to take part in this dedicatory service, to learn somewhat of the history of the man thus brought prominently into notice.

Deacon Price, as he was familiarly called and known to his widely extended circle of friends, first saw the light of day in a little hamlet at the base of Mt. Chocorua, known as the village of Tamworth. In this mountainous region he passed his boyhood days, gaining that knowledge of practical life which the daily duties of the farm so thoroughly teach.

At 17 years of age, anxious to be of service, he secured the position of teacher in the near-by town of Ossipee. Stalwart in size, although of youthful appearance, the scholars soon realized that the committee had succeeded in hiring a master who would teach them not only traditional three R's, but also that which for true success in life is of equal importance—good manners. It was our good fortune that in some unaccountable way his steps were turned toward this famous seaport town and in chill November, 1828, he was placed in charge of what was known as the Newport school. Remaining here but a few months he was promoted to the principal school in the centre of the town where he taught acceptably for five years.

After a brief absence in Salem of a little more than two years he returned to Manchester and opened a private school, in which he labored with great success for 21 years.

During this prolonged period his success as a teacher had become so widely known that not only foreign countries sent their eager youth, but even the isles of the sea had their representatives. The commanders of merchant vessels of former days, brave and hardy men, made known to these far away people the man to whom they were indebted for their splendid training. Possessing a heart so warm and tender that even the hardened culprit nursed no revengeful purposes, but accepted his deserved punishment with the feeling he had received only what was properly his due.

He was of a commanding appearance, erect in form, stately and dignified in manner, courtly in address, yet withal so approachable that the door of his hospitable home seemed ever on the swing, so wide and extended was the circle of his acquaintance. The desire which for a long time had been welling up in the hearts of many of his former pupils, to give expression in some public manner to their kindly feelings, found vent in 1891 on one September day. Never before had the Town hall witnessed such a gathering. They came from all directions, from the north and south, the east and west, to lay upon the altar their tribute of love and esteem. Our honored friend was at his best; his cup of joy seemed to be running over. His declining years were filled with pleasing memories of that resplendent Red Letter day.

Perhaps some stranger may inquire, what further claim had he upon the good-will and esteem of his neighbors and friends? For 62 years every Sabbath found him a devout worshipper at the church he loved so well, save temporary absence on account of sickness, or being away from town. For 33 of those years he could be found at his accustomed place as the faithful superintendent of the Sunday school, giving to it that electric impulse which his abounding vitality could so easily impart. As an honored member of the Board of Selectmen for the period of three years, the town was enriched by his service. Chosen to fill the responsible position of Town Clerk, for the same number of years, he became so interested in its early history that it seemed as though he would never tire of poring over musty volumes to discover and bring to life those rich treasures of the past. As a member of the Historical Society, we all remember the eager interest he took in every paper, every contribution to the archives of the society. As a member of the Board of School Committee it was my high privilege to enjoy his closer companionship and become better acquainted with his genial, kindly nature.

His fertility of mind made him a most interesting and delightful companion. No one had less of bitterness in his nature and a sunny atmosphere was diffused about him. Can we properly estimate the influence of such a man? By what scales shall we weigh, by what measure gauge and test the capacity and influence of men of this large mould? How many lives have been ennobled and enriched, how many of the aspiring youth throughout all of our New England communities have received their first stimulus by the reaction of such large hearted, generous natures? Prodigal in the expenditure of vital force, they are continually giving out, it would seem, their very hearts' blood for the elevation and moral uplift of those about them.

His life was typical of many lives, consecrated to noble living. They look for no reward. It is enough for them the consciousness that they have acted well their part. And finally when called upon to give an account of their stewardship they can truthfully say that they have consecrated the talent with which they have been entrusted to noble Christian work. Their highest joy has been found in the developing and disciplining of youthful minds and the building of characters, strong in integrity and the love of truth and righteousness.

Miss Arnold's Address

The address of the day was made by Miss Sarah Louise Arnold, dean of Simmons College, and one of the best known authorities on the training and education of children in the country. Miss Arnold's talk was of a general nature, bearing on education. She said in part:

"I am glad to be able to attend exercises for the dedication of a building given over to little children. A person must be very well educated if he is to teach grown up boys and girls, but we are beginning to realize that it is very essential to our educational system that we have teachers who can get at these little children.

"I congratulate you most heartily that you have provided a place in which all the little ones shall have a chance. Some will not be so fortunate as to be able to go to high school and to college. But we should not look despairingly at those children who have to leave school before their education is completed. I also congratulate you because you have given this opportunity when it is of the greatest worth. We are not yet half wise enough as to what it means to give to children the right beginning.

"Your building first of all expresses your ardent desire to give good gifts unto your children. Your most earnest aspiration is that they should walk into paths which you could not enjoy. What does it mean? Why do we sacrifice so much so that they might come here? If you were giving nothing more than teaching them to read you would be giving much. No man can get out of a book what he does not bring to the book. The thing which explains the word to us is our own experience. The greatest knowledge for all of us is the knowledge of life. The child who learns of life about him will enable himself to understand his book.

"Childhood is the time for path making. There is for every child a place where he is the center. In the school we must measure ourselves with others. One of the essential things of school is that we learn to live together."

When Miss Arnold had finished her address the children of the three lower grades marched up stairs and into the room with little Alfred Annable Needham, Helen Cheever and Donald Height as color bearers of grades I, II and III, respectively.

Then followed the singing of the hymn of dedication written for the occasion by Dea. J. A. Torrey, after which benediction was pronounced by Rev. E. Hersey Brewster of the Baptist church and the children filed out of the room.

During the exercises Long's orchestra played "Priscilla," "Soldiers of the Field" and "Robinson Crusoe's Isle."

Hymn of Dedication

Thou who in wisdom didst create
And bless with love our humankind,
Assist us while we dedicate
This temple sacred to the mind.

Let Knowledge unto Wisdom grow
By slow degrees, and more and more
To higher levels rise, that so
Thine image, lost, we shall restore.

Let Order reign — Heaven's primal law —
To curb the course of wayward youth,
And sweet persuasion gently draw
The callow mind to love of Truth.

Be Knowledge taught in love, not fear,
Obedience by compulsion mild,
The text unblurred by childish tear,—
While spared the rod, unspoiled the child.

Loyal to Truth, to Man, to God,
Here let fair women, noble men
Be trained in paths of Duty trod,— Wife, Mother, Brother, Citizen.

THE NEW BUILDING.

Description of the John Price Primary School Building.

The John Price Primary School building in Manchester, dedicated last Saturday, and used for school purposes for the first time this week, is proclaimed by the architects and builders to be the best that could be built. In the building is embodied everything to make the structure up-to-date and modern in every sense of the word.

In giving a description of the building it might be said first of all that the need of a new building has been agitated for some few years, but it took no definite form till Superintendent C. E. Fish took charge of the schools. He recommended in his report, in 1905, that some action be taken, and the attention of the town was called to the matter at the March meeting. At an adjourned meeting, March 20, 1905, it was voted to purchase the Morley, Flatley & Co., Lucy Carroll and J. J. Winn lots at a cost of $8300. Plans were prepared for a building by Cooper & Bailey and by Andrews, Jacques & Rantoul, the latter's being accepted after a lengthy discussion. Ground was broken in May, a year ago, but actual work on the building was not started till six months ago.

The building stands on land facing the corner of Norwood avenue and Brook street, there being carriage entrances from either of these streets to the ends of the building, while the main entrance faces the corner.

The building is painted white, with green blinds, and has a cupola. The extreme length of the structure is 107 feet, and width 66 feet. The central and main body is 45x32 feet. The height from sill to coping is 39 feet, while from the weather vane to sill is 64 feet.

From the corner leading to the main entrance is a concrete walk, with the flagpole standing in a circular space about midway. The flagpole, by the way, was presented to the school by Gardner M. Lane, a member of the summer colony. Quite imposing, indeed, is the entrance. The portico is supported by two large, plain Doric columns. The large vestibule is finished in white, the ceiling being domed, and the sides being laid out in panels. It was the original intention to have plaster casts in the two large panels, and four plate glass mirrors in the smaller ones on either side, but the cost was such that it was dropped for the present.

Going from this into the main corridor one is at once struck by the attractiveness of the place. The hall runs the entire length of the building, there being steps at either end leading up stairs to the assembly hall, and down stairs to the east and west entrances. A radical departure is at once noted in the finish of the hall. Instead of the conventional paint and whitewash, the walls are covered here, as well as throughout the whole building, with the exception of the assembly hall up stairs, with fabricona, or burlap, as it is more commonly called. These are of pleasing and harmonious tints, that of the hall being colonial yellow and brown. The wood finish is of selected brown ash.

The first room on the right is the teachers' retiring room. The walls are covered with maroon colored burlap, and there are rugs on the floor. This is also equipped with a hospital couch, a medicine closet, a table and toilet.

Next along the hall is Grade II room, Miss Nellie Leonard, teacher. The room is 30x24 feet and 12 feet stud. The walls, above the blackboard are of olive green burlap, while the dado is dark brown. Around the room, just above the boards, is a space for exhibiting cards, and other work of the pupils. A cloak room opens off this room, as in all the other rooms, commodious in size and provided with brass coat and hat hooks, with brass holders for umbrellas and iron drip pan beneath. A row of steam pipes run the length of the room and these are to be covered with iron grill. The walls of all of the wardrobes are light green, and a light brown dado, with the latter painted, thus making it water-proof. Each has its individual ventilating system. The doors are lifted a little from the floor, thus aiding the circulation.

Across the hall is located Grade I, Miss Norton, with Miss Sanborn, assistant teacher. The description of this room is practically identical with that just described, and the wardrobe is the same, with the exception that there is a closet here for the teachers' use.

Following along the hall is the boys' lavatory. This has an asphalt floor, built up seven inches, with round corners to aid in washing with hose. In the corner is a slate sink, for the janitor's use, and a water fountain is nearby. The urinals are of oil slate. There are four closets. The ventilating space behind these is a new feature.

SCHLEGEL & FOTTLER CO.
26-27 South Market St., Boston

Beyond this is the girls' lavatory, provided with eight closets, slate partitions and asphalt floors.

Next is the room to be used later as a kindergarten. Here at present are four board tables and a dozen chairs for kindergarten purposes, and the room is being used as an overflow room from the three grades.

Across the hall is Grade III, Miss Carolyn E. Allen, teacher. In this room are the electric buttons connecting the large bells out of doors and in the basement.

Next in order along the hall is a small room, similar in size to the teachers' retiring room. It is in a kind of "Alice blue" finish, and will be used as a supply room.

A small, but important thing noticed in walking up stairs, are the very low steps, they being only 6½ inches. On either end of the hall is a landing and from this are a few more steps to the upper floor, on which is a large hall, 31x46 feet, which will be used for a drill hall for the children, and for exhibition purposes. The walls are in white skim finish. The hallways are finished in yellow, with brown dado. Leading off from these are store-rooms for each of the rooms down stairs.

In the basement are the play rooms, one in the west end for the girls and one in the east end for the boys, each 30x65 feet. As the building rests on a granite foundation averaging four or five feet above the ground, the light in these rooms is excellent. The floors are of Portland cement—the best thing that can be made. The iron supports are to be covered with hair felt, and all the steam pipes are to be covered so as to offer the least chance for the children to hurt themselves.

Between these two rooms is the janitor's "play room," 25x45 feet, and leading from this is a work shop, 10x15 feet, with bench and tools. The boiler room, too, leads off from the large room. Here is installed the horizontal tubular boiler, rated at 50 h. p., and made by the Roberts Iron Works of Cambridgeport, considered the best in the country. The boiler has been tested to 150 pounds pressure by the inspector of the Hartford Insurance Co. with water heated to 125 degrees. The damper is controlled by the Spencer Damper regulator. The floor of the boiler room is brick laid on edge in Portland cement. Off the boiler room is a coal bin of 50 tons capacity.

A special feature of the plumbing throughout the building is the fact that every fixture has its own stop valve, so that in case anything happens to any part of the system it can be cut out without disconnecting the rest.

The building is equipped throughout for electric lights, which will probably be turned on in the fall. There are electric door bells, with annunciator in Miss Allens room, where are also the buttons which connect the two 14-inch gongs in the east and west doors, and the two 8-inch gongs in the play rooms.

There is a telephone system connecting all the rooms, and it is expected there will be clocks in each room with the electric attachment to correct the time hourly.

The desks in the rooms are cherry, finished in natural color, with iron supports to the adjustable seats and desks. The ink-wells are of the patent kind. A new oak desk is provided in each room for the teachers. The blackboards are of solid slate and the ceilings of ornamental iron.

One nice feature as to the cleanliness of the building is the fact that there is no corner between the baseboard and the floor, but this is concaved so as not to catch the dust and dirt.

The building is equipped throughout with the Johnson shade adjusters, which permits the whole curtain to be raised to any part of the window, thus giving the best light.

DAY & HOYT COMPANY

217 ESSEX STREET, SALEM, MASS.

In fact the lighting arrangement has been thoroughly looked after. It is even, and there is hardly a corner in the whole building where the light is not good.

Working always for the comfort of the little ones, every little detail has been looked after by the architects and committee. For instance, all the radiators and pipes, which may at times be hot enough to burn the little ones, will be covered by iron grill, and other pipes and places where they might fall and hurt themselves are to be covered with soft material.

It is at the east and west doors that the children will enter, the boys in the east end, the girls the west. These are fitted up very prettily. The vestibules are finished in white enamel, with the dado of burlap painted white. The porticos are supported by large white Doric columns, the same as at the front entrance. Driveways come in from the streets, so that the children can be left right under the portico in rainy weather. As one enters either of these doorways, one small flight of stairs goes to the corridor of the main building, while another goes down stairs to the play rooms. All of the doors in the building have brass toe plates.

Every inch of water pipe in the whole building is brass, including that around the boiler, which is polished brass. The pipes in the boiler room, both water and steam, are covered with 85% magnesium, the most expensive and best covering made. The pipes outside the boiler room are covered with felt. There is a small boiler of about 5 h.p. in the boiler room to be used in the warm months for ventilating purposes only, namely, to draw the foul air out of the rooms.

The building is heated by the gravity indirect system; or to put it more plainly, the steam pipes, or coils, are enclosed in metal box with an opening out of doors; as the cold and pure air is heated it rises into the rooms, at a point near the top of the room and leaves the room by another opening near the floor, all the foul air leaving the building by way of the cupola. An interesting feature of the heating system, generally omitted in most heating systems, is the foot warmers, two of which are in either end of the main corridor. The air is heated in the same manner as explained above, and there are shallow pans for water which evaporates and moistens the air, thus keeping the humidity up.

The drainage of the building has been as thoroughly looked after as the other details. A drain pipe has been laid about the whole building to carry away the water from the roof and other drains from inside the building not connected with the sewerage piping. These all meet in a nine-inch pipe and carried to a dry well almost down to the brook.

In the cupola are two dampers that control the foul air system and these are operated by chains from the boiler room. In the cupola also is a big copper pan, that catches all the rain and snow, and from this pan is a pipe which empties into the sink in the boiler room.

FRED K. SWETT,

Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, who accepted the building for the town.

As a precaution against fire the doors of the building have been built so as to all open out, and while they cannot always be opened from the outside, they can always be opened from the inside by simply turning the knob.

If we have omitted any points in the above description of the building we might sum the whole thing up by saying that the best of everything that money can buy or ingenuity suggest has entered into its construction. While it might be the disposition of some to look at the building and wonder why the building should cost so much more than much larger school buildings, they have only to compare the two to realize the difference. Manchester now has a school of which very few cities or towns of the state can boast. The work has been done under the direction of a building committee consisting of the school committee, Edward A. Lane, L. W. Floyd and Rev. W. H. Ashley, who was succeeded by A. C. Needham when the former went west, and also by Supt. of Schools Charles E.

Fish, Henry T. Bingham, Raymond C. Allen and B. S. Bullock. Mr. Lane was chairman of the committee.

Messrs. Roberts & Hoare were the general contractors and the various sub-contracts were let as follows: D. Linehan & Son, foundations and grading; G. S. Sinnicks, plastering and brick work; Edward S. To Improve the Essex Road.

It will be a matter of interest to the summer contingent who delight in wood drives to know that steps have been taken and work will soon be started on improving the road from Essex to Manchester. This is one of the most beautiful stretches for an afternoon drive, the trees overhanging the road and meeting overhead all the way, but the condition of the road has been such that driving the past year or two has been very bad, that is, on the Essex end of the road, which is more than half the distance. The Manchester end has been kept in good condition. Through the efforts of Col. Wm. D. Sohier some $900 is to be spent on the Essex end of the road this spring, $400 of which will be paid by the state, $225 by Essex and $225 by Mr. Sohier. Manchester guarantees to keep their end of the drive in as good condition as the other end is kept.

The C. L. Nichols of Chicago and Salem, who had the James Beaton cottage, corner of Lincoln and School streets, part of last summer, will have it again this season, and will move into it May 10.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hoare and family have closed their School street house and moved to Mrs. Hoare's house on Smith's point, this week.

The harbor and land commission gave a hearing at the State house, Wednesday, at 11 o'clock, on granting a license to construct and maintain a pier at the Beach street park, also a retaining wall and float, and to fill in solid. Park Commissioners Sinnicks and Beaton, and Engineer R. C. Allen were present. There was no opposition. Work will begin as soon as a reply can be obtained from the commissioners and the contract can be awarded.

Miss Mabel Morgan spent the holiday in Boston with Miss Eleanor Andrews, who is a student at Posse.

Mrs. David Fenton was in Sharon over the holiday visiting her daughter, whom we are pleased to report is much improved in health.

The telephone company started this week on equipping their new office in Pulsifer's block, and expect to be ready to change over about May 10. The switch boards arrived Wednesday and yesterday a force of men started on connecting the wires in the office and preparing to connect with the cable when the time arrives.

Mrs. Roland Lincoln of Boston and Manchester Cove is to spend the summer in travel abroad.

Hugh Burke of Charlestown, messenger for Smith's Express Co., last season, has resumed his services with the company, as driver.

Russell Stanley of Portland, O., has been spending the week in town visiting his uncle, Herbert Stanley, Summer street. Mr. Stanley is a son of Paul Stanley, formerly of Manchester, but removed to Oregon a great many years ago. This is the young man's first visit to Manchester and he was highly delighted with the place.

Mrs. Ella Williams of Merrimac spent the holiday with her sister, Mrs. Chas. E. Bell.

Miss Cora Howe is home from Boston for a few days with her parents on Pleasant street. Miss Laura Howe of Beverly was their guest over the holiday.

Miss Bertha Stone has returned to Manchester after a winter spent in Groton. She has recently been to Washington.

MAGNOLIA

A course of three popular Sunday evening sermons on the best Bible stories is to begin at the Village church tomorrow evening. Ruth, Esther and Daniel are the three stories to be discussed. The music will be in charge of the Young Folks' choir, as during the previous course by Rev. Mr. Libby. All will be welcome.

Cottages and rooms are letting well for the summer, and a good season is predicted by those who ought to know.

The handsome new soda fountain recently installed in the drug store of A. M. Lycett & Son was formally started Tuesday, when all customers drank free soda to the prosperity of the firm.

Rev. M. W. Stackpole and family have taken the upper Alleyne cottage for the summer and will occupy it probably the latter part of May.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Foster of Winchester are in town over the weekend, guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elbridge Foster.

It will be a matter of interest to the Magnolia summer contingent to know that $1,000 has been appropriated for macadamizing Magnolia avenue.

It is a common occurrence, especially this time of the year, to see innumerable white caps off the shore, but the oldest fisherman hereabouts cannot remember of ever seeing any of them floating ashore. This, however, is just what happened one morning the first of the week, for strewn all along the beach were found a great number of caps. Instead of being white, however, these are black, and instead of water they were of felt. It is thought that either a bundle of the hats fell off a passing vessel or that they drifted in from some wreck along the coast.

Miss Jessie Andrews of Dorchester was here over the holiday, guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jabeth Dunbar.

Richard Wilkinson and family, who have been living on Western avenue, moved this week into one of the Knowles cottages.

The following guests have been spending the week at the Stanley cottage: The Misses Woodbury and Higgins of Beverly, Miss Selfridge of Boston and Miss Harriet Stanley of Brookline.

The Travel class held its last meeting of the season at the home of Miss Addie Stanley Wednesday evening. They have been making a tour of Italy of late, and it was very proper that they should stop at an "Italiani Ristoranti" to dine. This they did this week, and a delightful meal was served. After supper Rev. Mr. Libby read a story of six chapters on Italian life, written by different members of the class. The meeting was very well attended.

The William Malansons have moved into the Henry Butler cottage on Magnolia avenue this week.

A. M. Lycett is having the foundation built on Raymond street, near the Davis stables, for his building, now located on Magnolia avenue, which will be moved very shortly.

John Tracy of Peabody spent the first of the week here, a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoysradt.

Miss Amy Lycett returned Thursday from Lynn, where she had been spending a few days visiting her aunt, Mrs. Martha Stone.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Lycett have been entertaining this week Miss Edith Cunningham of Gloucester.

Thomas H. Hunt of Gloucester entertained a party of friends at the Oak Grove cottage on the holiday.

The Appalachian club of Boston stormed Magnolia on Patriot's Day. They came down by special train about 10 o'clock and spent the day tramping about the shore and through the woods.

The singing at the Village church last Sunday has been highly complimented on all sides. An anthem was included in the services in the morning, while the concert in the evening was exceptionally good. Easter plants, which made a very pretty effect, were distributed to the children of the parish after the evening service. The plants were very kindly presented to the church by one of the summer residents.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton have opened their cottage for the summer.

Magnolia Minstrels

Everybody in Magnolia will be out to the minstrel show in Liberty hall, next Wednesday evening, April 25. THE BRIGHTNESS AND CHEER

THAT New Mattings bring to the home surely compensates the housewife for all the hard work of house-cleaning time. Besides being clean, healthful, inviting floor-coverings for whole rooms, matting may be used as a foundation for rugs, or to cover up neatly any part of the flooring which may not be presentable. Its popularity as an all-the-year-round floor-covering is coming to be recognized more and more each year in many city and suburban residences.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen on Lincoln street was the scene of a very pleasant surprize party Wednesday evening when a number of friends of Mr. Allen called to help him celebrate his 24th birthday. Though taken wholly unawares "Bob" was good for the occasion and a very pleasant evening was passed. Whist was played, and the company was entertained by songs by Mrs. Henderson, Mr. Hawkesworth and Mr. Allen, and by graphophone selections. Mr. Allen's guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Beaton, Mr. and Mrs. George Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Lodge, Mr and Mrs. Wm. Hawkesworth, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Dennis, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Henderson and Mr. Henderson's brother Miss Theresa Walsh and Harold Stanley. Among the serveral gifts by which Mr. Allen was remembered was a desk. Refreshments of ice cream cake and fruit were served.

Charles E. Bell, was the floor director, and the assistant floor director was Curtis B. Stanley. The aids were: E. W. Baker, W. R. Bell, E. R. Sargent, Benj. Stanley, T. A. Baker, Arthur Smothers, Harry Sweet and H. C. Sweet.

SOME PEOPLE

Try to make fine chocolates out of cheap materials — and then wonder why they do not continue to sell them. Lincoln's adage about fooling all of the people all of the time is as true as ever. There is but one way to make fine chocolates — chocolates that make friends — and that is "PALACE OF SWEETS" way.

Two judges of candy laud the output of our candy factory; say nice things about our chocolates and ice cream. These sayings are merited. We exercise care in making our candy and ice cream, and for that reason are supplying Essex county with pure, good goods, while others are thrown out.

Thomas H. Reed, attorney for the New York State Anti-Saloon League, will speak in the First Baptist Church Sunday morning in the interests of that organization.

Miss Mary P. Story of Fairhaven spent Sunday in the city as the guest of her father, David L. Story of Broadway.

The Grand Army Fair has been the attraction for the week at City Hall, and crowds have been present every evening. The receipts will be deservedly large. During the last quarter the relief committee spent nearly $600 aiding old soldiers and their families. It will thus be seen that a large amount of money is annually needed to support this work, and the people of Beverly are always willing to assist.

The Oakland Club held an Easter party at Commercial Hall on Monday evening. A host of young people from Beverly, Salem and Peabody were present and enjoyed the revelries of the evening. The grand march was led by Arthur Downing of this city and Miss Katherine Elliott of Haverhill, some fifty couples following. Mrs. Annie Downing, Mrs. Cyrus Lord, Mrs. John Pettengill and Miss Katherine Elliott officiated as matrons.

VOLUME 3.

NUMBER 16

SATURDAY, APRIL 21, 1906.

The sincere sympathies of the whole nation, and from all parts of world, in fact, are extended to the unfortunate thousands made homeless in San Francisco by the recent unprecedented earthquake horror. What we have read in the papers this week depict but scantily the real disaster. Not alone is the city in ruins and millions of dollars' worth of property destroyed, but think of the hundreds and thousands of homes afflicted! Already in various parts of the country relief funds have been and are being raised. Let all take hold with a will and do our part to send relief to the sorrowing and afflicted ones! We do not know how soon such a calamity may be even nearer our own homes that the distance across the continent. This morning's reports from San Francisco say that the fire has been stayed, but starvation is now the menace feared. The total loss of life is estimated at 300; injured 2000. The area of the fire following the earthquake includes more than 12 squares miles and 300,000 people are homeless.

We call the attention of our readers this week to the large number of new advertisers in our columns. Today's issue of the BREEZE is but two pages less than that of last season's busiest week, in July. There is but one inference, the BREEZE is recognized as the proper medium to reach the class of trade the merchants want along the North Shore.

WM. E. KITFIELD

Manchester Selectman Passed Away Suddenly
This Week

William E. Kitfield, a member of the Manchester board of selectman passed away Thursday morning at his home in Manchester Cove, at the age of 48 years. Death resulted from pneumonia.

The news of Mr. Kitfield's death came as a shock to his many friends and associates in Manchester, very few of whom knew of his illness, and it cast a gloom over the Cove district in particular. He had been able to attend to his duties at the selectman's office last week as usual, and with Mrs. Kitfield he spent Sunday visiting friends in Boston. He received a severe chill while returning home on the train Monday, and this later developed into pneumonia, which spread to both lungs. Wednesday noon he became delirious, a state in which he remained till the end came Thursday morning about 6.30, not once regaining consciousness.

Mr. Kitfield was born in 1858, in the old Kitfield homestead, still standing at Manchester Cove, a house which has been owned by the family since 1768. During his youth he attended the Cove school and later, Deacon Price's school at Manchester. He afterwards attended Bryant and Stratton's school at Boston, for two years. The rest of his life he has spent at Manchester, engaged for the most part at farming.

His parents were Jacob and Sarah (Littlefield) Kitfield. Five years ago last November he married Miss Katherine Kennedy.

He was a member of Magnolia lodge, 149, I.O.O.F. of Manchester, which order will attend the funeral tomorrow in a body. He was also a member of the Manchester club.

In 1900 Mr. Kitfield was elected to the board of selectmen, being one of the board of five which served that year. He was elected again in 1901, and was the choice of the citizens in 1903, '04, '05 and '06. He leaves an unblemished record, his services being considered of much value, especially in the matter of assessing property.

He is survived by a widow, a mother, Mrs. Jacob Kitfield, a brother, Jacob H., and two sisters, Mrs. Edward Griggs of Boston and Mrs. Philémon Sanborn of Manchester.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon. Prayers will be said at his late home at the Cove at 2 o'clock, and services at Crowell Memorial chapel at 2.30 o'clock.

EASTER AT THE CHURCHES

Easter Sunday was not all that could be desired as far as the weather was concerned, yet while the gentle rain descended in showers, doing good to the thirsty soil, in the various churches were blossoming beautiful flowers. The showers came in the afternoon, but for the Easter concerts, when the sweet voices of children told the story of the resurrection in song and story, the weather was clear.

Congregational Church.

The rostrum was banked with beautiful flowers, both cut blooms and scores of potted plants, which were later distributed to the members of the Sunday school. In the midst of the mass of flowers stood a cross of white, with Easter lilies and asparagus vine encircling it. The decorations were in charge of Miss Amy B. Haskell.

There was no special music at the morning service. Rev. C. A. Lincoln preached from I Cor. 15:22, "For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive."

At the church in the evening the Easter programme as printed in last week's Breeze was carried out, and was much enjoyed by the large congregation.

At the Baptist Church.

The decorations at the Baptist church were beautiful, and consisted of a semi-circular arch of evergreen inlaid with white roses, beneath which reposed a cross of fern, among which nestled Easter lilies. The platform was flanked with palms, marguerites and other potted plants, cut flowers and Easter lilies. Suspended over the pulpit was a beautiful green and white bell. The choir rendered as an anthem, "Rejoice, Oh sons of earth, Rejoice!" Mrs. J. W. Lee sang an offertory solo.

The pastor took for his theme, "Easter's Invitation." Math. 28:6, "Come see the place where the Lord lay," from which he deducted four propositions. The sepulchre in which Christ lay entombed was a place of apparent defeat, a place guarded by enemies, a place sealed with the seal of Roman sovereignty, and a place of death.

The Sacred Heart Church.

At all the services held at the Sacred Heart church last Sunday crowds assembled and taxed the capacity of the structure. A solemn high Mass was celebrated at 10.30, with an appropriate Easter sermon. The singing at the church, without exception, was the best heard there for many years. At 7.30 in the evening the church was not half large enough to hold the crowd and many could not hear the very able sermon presented.

The decorations were the most beautiful ever seen at the church, surpassing those even of Christmas, which were considered extremely pretty. A large Roman arch was over the main altar, while two gothic arches were on either side, one over the Blessed Virgin and the other over the sacristy. The arches were of laurel and with the white electric lights peeping out through the green made a very pretty effect.

The whole made a charming effect because all the flowers were white, with just a suspicion of purple. There were white pinks, Easter lilies, marguerites, spirea, cyclamen, palms, auricularia, drecenia, snap-dragons and roses. The bank effect from the floor was very pretty. English ivy entwined the towers and the pinnacle of the altar. Streamers of ivy made a very pretty background. The decorations were done entirely by J. J. Gorman.

The Ministering Circle of Kings' Daughters will meet with Mrs. Anna Phillips, Monday evening. Topic: "Temptation."

New Member to the Board of Selectmen Must Be Elected.

Following the death of Selectman Wm. E. Kitfield of Manchester, the question arises as to filling the vacancy on the board. The law on the matter states that in case of a vacancy, by death or otherwise, the vacancy shall be filled by a regular election, after nomination papers have been filed in due course, and a special election called for as required by law. In all probability this will not come till after the middle of May.

Fire at McMillan Estate.

The Manchester fire department was called out about 10.40 Wednesday morning, by an alarm from box 61, on Sea street, for a fire at "Eaglehead," the summer estate of the McMillans. Fire started at the hennery, probably from the explosion of a lamp in one of the incubators. Three of the houses were burned, and some 100 or more chickens were either burned to death, or suffocated. Five brooders were lost. The chickens were for the most part valuable white wyandottes and white Plymouth Rocks. It was a sight to see the hundreds of chickens that had escaped the fire running freely about the grounds, and two mountain goats, with long, streaming white beards, that had been kept in one of the small houses, added to the picturesqueness of the sight. The fire, of course, was not near enough the large house to cause any alarm, and the quick appearance of the fire department on the scene soon brought an end to the ravages of the flames. The loss is estimated at about $500.

Annual Meeting.

The annual business meeting of the Story High School Alumni association will be held next Monday evening, April 23, at the home of Mrs. Blaisdell, Union street. The officers for the year will be elected and other important matters of business will come up. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock.

Society Notes

Edward S. Grew's house at "Glass Head" is being opened and the family will move down from Boston next week, probably.

The Henry S. Grews will not arrive at "The Sumacks," Manchester, till May 4.

Dr. Tenney's cottage at Manchester Cove is open for a week or ten days, though the family will not move down till late next month.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Monks are spending a fortnight at their cottage on University Lane, Manchester Cove. The house will be occupied May 1 by the E. B. Hills of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Walker will sail for Europe next Tuesday for a two months' stay, when they will return to Manchester for the balance of the summer.

Samuel Carr intended to leave this week for a stay of a month or six weeks in California. The Carrs will open their house at West Manchester June 1.

Summer Cottages Rented at Magnolia.

Below we are pleased to print a partial list of the summer cottages rented at Magnolia for the coming season, through the office of Jonathan May, the Magnolia real estate agent:

The W. O. Underwood house, Shore road, to the Geo. P. Wilshires of Cincinnati.

C. A. Houghton cottage, Norman avenue, to Mrs. Selfridge of Lexington, Mass., widow of the late Captain Selfridge, U. S. A.

The F. F. Story cottage, to the Borden Covels of Audubon road, Brookline.

The E. F. Butler cottage to Mrs. M. K. Baker of "The Buckminster," Beacon street, Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Smith of Germantown, Pa., have taken the Young Cottage on Lexington avenue for another season.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas F. Emerson of Titusville, Pa., have taken the Ferguson Cottage, on Lexington avenue.

Mrs. S. M. Stelwagon and family of Philadelphia will have the Island View cottage again.

The John R. McGinleys of Pittsburg have taken the Knowles cottage.

New Steam Roller Arrives.

A handsome new "bubble," straight from the factory, arrived in Manchester this week. It is a beauty, in its line, and weighs 32,000 pounds. Superintendent George Kimball is proud of his new charge, and Manchester's streets will be rolled flat as a pancake now. The new roller arrived the first of the week and was unloaded Tuesday, which, by the way, is no easy task. It is a Buffalo Pitts, and contains all the newest and up-to-date appliances. Twenty-three of them have been sold in this state this season, which speaks well for the make. $3500 was appropriated for the roller at the March meeting.

Miss Alice Bolam has been spending her vacation visiting relatives in Boston.

Mrs. Frank T. Mitchell and Miss Mitchell of Pawtucket, R.I., concluded their visit with Farms' friends the early part of the week and returned home, Mrs. Benj. Hawkins, jr., accompanying them for a few days' stay at Pawtucket.

Mrs. Thomas J. McDonnell and Master Thomas, her 8-year-old son, are to spend a month at Topsfield.

Miss Addie L. Day, the popular Farms school teacher, is taking in the sights at the national capital.

The new Larson fish market, on Haskell street, opened for business this week and has put an order wagon on the road.

Patriots' Day at the Farms passed off in the usual quiet manner. "Old Glory" was at mast head on all the local liberty poles, and most of the business places were closed. Many of the summer residents spent the day about their estates. Many of the Farms people who sought entertainment went out of town, and a large delegation attended the opening of the ball season at Peabody's Field, Montserrat.

William Neville is to commence his duties as superintendent and caretaker of the West Beach corporation property on May 1, there being considerable work necessary in making preparations for the coming season.

This has been vacation week for the scholars of the public schools, and being blessed with fine weather they have enjoyed it immensely, especially the boys, who seem to have played ball continually from morning to night.

Alexander Campbell is in Needham, having charge of Messrs. Connolly Bros.' work there upon the estate of Mr. John T. Morse, jr.

Mechanics are busy in the store adjoining the post office in Neighbor's hall block, in preparation for opening early next week, possibly on Tuesday, of a first-class provision, fruit and game store under the proprietorship of Messrs. Preble and Co. of Boston, who have a large business located on Boylston street. The Farms store will be under the management of Mr. Thomas Wheelen.

The Beverly Farms Baptist church, Rev. Clarence Strong Pond, pastor. Morning theme, "God is Love;" evening at 7 o'clock, "Earthquake, Fire and Death: Lessons from the San Francisco disaster."

Miss Elsie Preston is visiting a college chum at Topsfield.

Miss Irene M. Fay of Boston has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Morgan, West street.

There is a movement on foot hereabouts to start a fund for the unfortunate people at San Francisco.

The well-appointed tonsorial parlor of Mr. F. P. Gaudreau has recently received a pleasing new feature in the installment of an excellent 8x5 foot plate mirror, which is to be in keeping shortly with an additional barber's chair which this progressive establishment intends to add, thereby increasing the number of barbers for the summer's convenience.

Miss Nellie Preston is improving slowly after a critical illness of nearly two weeks.

The pupils of Miss Annie K. Holmes will shortly give a recital, assisted by some excellent talent from out of town. The recital will take place in the Assembly hall of the Beverly Farms school.

Miss Pearl Wyatt has been spending her vacation visiting relatives in Wellesley and Natick.

The stone crushing plant of Messrs. Connolly Bros. off Greenwood avenue, seems to be quite the model hereabouts, for towns in various parts of the state have been sending their officials to view the plant before making purchases for their respective places. The town officials of Dighton, Mass., were here Monday.

Mrs. George Pierce of High street, whose health has not been the best of late, went to Magnolia, Monday, for several weeks' stay with her daughter, Mrs. Arthur M. Lycett. Charles E. Pierce, her son, will visit friends in Woburn.

The dance and social held in Marshall's hall on Easter Monday night, proved a highly delightful occasion, everybody seeming to enjoy themselves to the utmost.

The North Shore Pharmacy at Pride's Crossing, formerly managed by Frederick G. Haynes, opened for business Monday, under the proprietorship of John Trowt, son of former Alderman C. H. Trowt. Mr. Trowt has with him a competent druggist from Boston.

Miss Florence Bean, supervisor of drawing in Hartford, Conn., paid a visit to Mrs. Lewis Williams, Tuesday evening.

A small office building will shortly be erected upon the property of the Beverly Farms Coal Co., on Oak street, near the station. Mr. Dow has secured the services of F. Leslie Woodbury as bookkeeper.

Neighbors' hall held an enthusiastic audience Thursday evening when the local W.R.C. gave an entertainment consisting of the drama "Banquet of the nations," and patriotic tableaux. Fifty children took part, and much praise belongs to Mrs. Alice Preston, pres.; Mrs. Mary Wood, patriotic instructor; Miss Hull, who taught the singing; Miss Jane Watson, who taught the dancing. The entertainment was held to raise money towards the "Union Jack" which the W.R.C. wishes to purchase.

Handsome Granite Drinking Fountain for the Farms

A handsome granite drinking fountain is soon to be installed in Central square at Beverly Farms, if the offer of Mrs. Evelyn O. Weston of Boston, widow of the late H. C. Weston, is accepted by the city.

A communication has been received this week by the city government offering to present the fountain to the city, to be installed at the junction of Hale and Hart streets, to take the place of the old-fashioned iron one now standing there. As is customary in such matters, the communication has been turned over to the committee on streets and will, no doubt, eventually be thankfully received by the city.

Located in the center of the square, and on the main line of travel down the North Shore, the fountain ought to make a very fine appearance, and will make an ornament which everybody will appreciate. The roads from Manchester, Wrentham and Hamilton, and from Beverly meet at this point.

The fountain is from a design of Little & Browne, architects, 70 Kilby street, Boston, and when the final acceptance is made operations will commence toward installing it, by Messrs. Connolly Bros.

It is reported on excellent authority that the German Ambassador will spend the summer on the North Shore, though we are not able to state in this issue to just what part of the shore he will come. He has hired a house, one of the choicest locations along the shore, and will come on here as soon as the season closes at Washington.

The D. B. Wentzes, Philadelphia, will be among the new-comers to the North Shore this season. They have hired the Motley Palfrey house at Prides Crossing.

Miss Fannie Stotesbury of Philadelphia sails next Tuesday from New York for Europe, where she will spend the summer. Miss Stotesbury will be greatly missed along the North Shore, as she was very popular among the younger set, and she always entertains considerably. Last season the Stotesburys had the Eben D. Jordan house at West Manchester. The Jordans will spend the summer on the shore.

The W. J. Boardmans, who let their house at Manchester last season to the John Markles of New York, are to return to the shore this summer. Last season Mr. and Mrs. Boardman spent abroad, while the Misses Boardman were on the Taft trip to the Philippines.

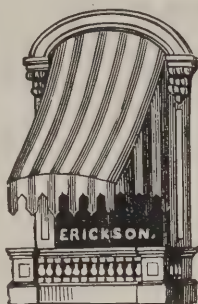

Among the Manchester arrivals next week will be Mrs. R. C. Winthrop and the Misses Winthrop, the Gordon Abbots and M. Woolsey Borland, all of whom will come down from Boston next Thursday.

Dr. Reginald H. Fitz's house at West Manchester is being opened in anticipation of the arrival of the family from Boston next week.

Mrs. William Endicott, Jr., sailed last Saturday to spend the summer in France, Italy, England and Scotland. She will return in September, and will probably spend the early fall at her Beverly Cove place.

The R. H. Dana house at Dana's beach has been open a few days this week, and the boys have been down the shore to spend their vacation, while Mr. and Mrs. Dana have been here nights. The family will not move down permanently till June.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ames are to close their town house on Commonwealth avenue next week and take up their abode at North Easton for a few weeks, until they open their house at Prides Crossing. Mr. and Mrs. Ames and their children have been quite in evidence at the horse show this week.

The Henry R. Daltons of Boston have taken the beautifully located summer home of Mrs. Frank Morison, near West Beach hill, Beverly Farms, and will move down from town very soon. Though very frequent visitors to the Shore the Henry Daltons have not yet had a house here. They will be very close neighbors to Mr. Dalton's brother, Charles H. Dalton.

On the out-going Kaiser Wilhelm der Gross this week was Mrs. Frank Seabury of Beverly Farms, who, with her friend, Miss Jackson of New York, will remain abroad till about June 1. The rest of the family are still at the Farms.

The Quincy Challenge Cup Races.

Circulars have been sent out by Messrs. Richard DeB. Boardman (chairman), John L. Bremer, Reginald Boardman and Edwin A. Boardman, the special committee of the Manchester Yacht club having in charge the arrangements for the Quincy Yacht Club Challenge cup races, stating the rules and regulations governing the match, which are extracts from the deed of gift of the Quincy Yacht Club Challenge cup. The circular states that:

"At a joint meeting of the Quincy Yacht club and Manchester Yacht club special committees, it was decided to amend the deed of gift of the Quincy Yacht Club Challenge cup so that a more serviceable type of boat can be used than developed in the past. With that idea in view, and also owing to the fact that the challenge from the Quincy Yacht club would only be forthcoming under those conditions, the rules in force for the match for the Roosevelt cup between Germany and America, to be held under the auspices of the Eastern Yacht club at Marblehead this September, were adopted.

"There will be trial races held to select a defender, and every member of the Manchester Yacht club owning a boat, and conforming to the class restrictions, is urged to enter. The date of the trial races will be announced a little later."

HENRY CLAY LEACH

HENRY C. LEACHSudden Death of Well-Known Manchester Man

Henry Clay Leach, a native of Manchester, and one of the best known and most respected citizen of this section of the state, passed away very suddenly Tuesday afternoon. He was at the rooms of the Essex Institute in Salem, attending a special meeting of the members, and as he rose from his chair in the office of Secretary Geo. F. Dow, as if to speak, he instantly dropped dead.

In his death Essex county loses one of its representative sons, for Mr. Leach comes from old Puritan stock. He was a son of Benjamin Leach and Lucy Story Allen. He is descended on his father's side from Lawrence Leach, a member of Governor Endicott's party which landed in Salem in 1628, who was given a grant of 100 acres of land, part of which is that in Manchester in the possession of Mr. Leach, who has always made this his summer home. The title of the land has remained in the family since 1640.

On his mother's side Mr. Leach was a descendent of William Allen, who is said to have come to New England from Manchester in the mother country. At any rate, he was a member of the Dorchester company which settled at Cape Ann in 1624. The company moved later to Naumkeag, where Gov. Endicott found them upon his arrival in 1628. William Allen was one of the petitioners to the general court asking that Jeffries Creek might be made into a village, and he was one of the first board of selectmen, Manchester, in 1645.

Thus it will be seen that Mr. Leach was of the real Puritan stock, and his whole life was characteristic of his early ancestry.

Mr. Leach received his early education in the Manchester schools, graduating from the high school in 1848. After this he went to Boston and was a salesman in the furniture house of Allen & Beal, and continued with the firm after the former withdrew, and when the firm was known as Jas. H. Beal. He remained here five years, when he left and spent three years in study at the Suffield (Conn.) Literary institution.

Then he went to St. Louis and joined his elder brother (half-brother), John Leach, in the wholesale grocery business. After two years his brother died and Mr. Leach engaged in business for himself, supplying steamboats on the river, a thriving business in those days. When the war broke out the business went to pieces.

He was an active participant in rescuing St. Louis and the State for the union. His health having failed he came East shortly after that.

He remained here about a year and a half and then went to Denver, where he was connected with the house of Tappan & Co. He was active in the political movements of the new State. For two years he was a member of the territorial council (senate) and served as president. He was in the Colorado senate when the vote was passed to make Colorado a State. Owing to the corruption of the vote he went to Washington to oppose the bill, and succeeded, with Sumner and others, in stopping it. After he left the adverse vote was reconsidered and the bill was passed. Mr. Leach had left his facts and figures with Frank P. Blair, then senator from Missouri, and Mr. Blair presented them to President Andrew Johnson, who made them the basis of his veto of the bill.

Mr. Leach's home affiliations have always been strong and at the death of his mother in 1889 he purchased of the heirs the homestead, which he has since occupied as a summer home. He lived in Salem winters. He has always been deeply interested in the affairs of the town, especially in the old church, though he was a Baptist himself. He was a conspicuous worker at the time Dea. Price's pupils had their reunion. His relations to the 250th anniversary in 1895 was in the capacity of chairman of the day, and he made an address.

He always maintained a deep interest in the Historical society and the Elder Bretheren, and its success has been largely through his efforts. He was a man of genial ways socially and very affable. He always made friends wherever he went.

He leaves a brother, Samuel Leach in Denver, Col., a half sister, Miss Susan Leach, and a half brother, Geo. Forster Allen, both of this town, also two sons, Henry R. of Salem, and Osborne of Manchester.

Whist Party at Manchester

The first in the series of whist parties under the auspices of the Ladies' Sodality of the Sacred Heart church, Manchester, in Lee's hall, Tuesday evening was well attended. Mrs. John Ferguson won the ladies' prize, a large plant; Archibald MacDonald, the first gentlemen's, a box of writing paper. Patrick Cleary won the first prize in the game of "45." The next in the series will be next Tuesday evening.

Club and Lodge

Manchester

Wednesday evening, May 2, will be a gala one in the history of Conomo tribe, 113, of Red Men, as the 13th anniversary of the tribe will be celebrated on that evening. An excellent entertainment will be furnished by a dramatic company from Marblehead, and this will be followed by a dance. Members of the tribe should secure their tickets from the entertainment committee, of which George Gould is chairman, as soon as possible.

The First Degree will be worked at the next meeting of Magnolia lodge of Odd Fellows. There are two candidates.

The members of the Haphazard club spent a delightful evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Needham, Monday.

North Shore Lodge, A.O.U.W., enjoyed a "hot dog" supper after their meeting Tuesday evening.

Miss Annabel Haraden, one of the Rebekah Assembly officers, was in Wakefield on Patriot's Day to a gala Rebekah affair. Miss Alice Haraden and Mr. and Mrs. William J. Johnson went as her guests.

MANCHESTER

Henry B. McCollum, who is employed by the Agricultural Department in collecting statistics in the western part of the state, was home over Sunday.

The float at the town wharf has been put overboard this week, some repairs having been made on it, including the addition of an extra pontoon. $50 was appropriated for this purpose at the March meeting.

The many friends here of Miss Isabelle Jennings will be interested to learn of her marriage a week ago Wednesday to David Warren Creelman, in Brookline. Miss Jennings was governess for Mrs. A. L. Lindsay the past two years, at Norton's Point.

Mrs. H. W. Clark and Miss Alice Clark have been spending the week visiting relatives in Marlboro.

Miss Statira Macdonald was home from Boston over Easter.

Semons & Campbell, the Pulsifer's block provision dealers, are out this week with their four order wagons looking bright and clean in their new coats of paint and varnish and this concern is now ready to do a hustling business this summer.

Miss Abbie Hitchcock was in town over Easter visiting Mr. and Mrs. Delucena L. Bingham.

Spring Trips to New York

Whether for business or pleasure, the month of April affords more real enjoyment to the traveler than any other season of the year. The discomforts of extremely cold or warm weather are not experienced, and the opportunities for shopping or theatre-going are unsurpassed. This trip can be made now at a minimum of expense via the Joy Line as the winter rate of $1.75 is still in force. *

The Coming Seaside Resort.

High and airy, about an hour's ride from Boston by rail, with thirteen trains a day from the West Gloucester station only twenty minutes' drive distant, Willoughby Park, with its beautiful ocean and river views, has promise of being the coming seashore resort of Cape Ann.

The park is in close proximity to the far famed Wingaersheek beach with its two and a half miles of hard sandy surface, offering facilities for promenading, horseback riding, automobiling and driving. 667 feet in width at low water, one of the finest beaches on the New England coast.

There are fine facilities for yachting, fishing and power boating on the Annisquam and Essex rivers, Ipswich bay and Gloucester harbor with their varied attractions. Situated in the midst of the most delightful drives through West Gloucester, the city proper, Manchester, Magnolia and their beautiful surroundings, it will prove a paradise for automobilists and all who are seeking a seaside summer resort combining the country and seashore in all their varied beauties, where nature has been lavish of her gifts with hills and dales, various forest trees, sand dunes, ravines and other attractions.

This tract contains 156 acres, nine of which have been sold to most desirable parties, and the first summer residence will be erected in time for this season's occupancy. The lots average one acre and will be divided to suit purchasers. Now is the time to secure them. Careful restrictions as to building and every safeguard to render this resort first-class in every respect.

For further particulars, inquire of this paper, or Proctor Bros., Daily Times Office, Gloucester, Mass. *

Church Social

The vestry of the Baptist church, Manchester, was the scene of a very pleasant church social Wednesday evening, the affair being conducted under the auspices of the Church Aid, of which Mrs. Chester L. Crafts is president. During the evening a delightful program was carried out, including readings, vocal and piano solos.

Miss Hattie Baker opened this part of the entertainment with a piano solo, followed by a reading, "Mrs. Puffer's convert," by Mrs. Charlotte Brown. Mrs. James K. Tappan sang the pretty "Lullaby song," by Nevins, and she was followed by Mrs. James Austin, who read a pleasing selection. A solo, "Tit for tat," by Mrs. J. W. Lee, was much enjoyed, as was also the beautiful spring song which she sang as an encore. Miss Harriet Brewster's reading, "Training a husband in the way he should go," was full of interesting suggestions. "The little dust man" was the name of a pretty lullaby, by Brahms, sung by Miss Olive Cook. A reading by Mrs. Robert A. Mitchell closed the program. Miss Alice Rainville was accompanist for all the vocal selections.

A collation was served at the close of the entertainment consisting of sandwiches, cake, fancy crackers and coffee. The committee in charge was composed of Mrs. Edward Crowell, Mrs. Charles Mason and Mrs. Harlan Preston.

Mitchell-Ahrenburg

Miss Mary Ahrenburg of Manchester-by-the-Sea was married to Frank X. Mitchell on Monday evening last at St. Joseph's Catholic church, Boston, the ceremony being followed by a wedding at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. James McElroy, 69 Ramsey street, Dorchester. Miss Nellie Mitchell of Roxbury was the maid of honor, while John A. Macdonald acted as best man. The young couple left on the midnight express to spend a few days in New York and Washington. On their return they will reside in Dorchester, Mass.

Carriage Shed at Tuck's Point.

The contract for building a carriage shed at the Tuck's Point picnic grounds, West Manchester, has been awarded to Chester L. Crafts, whose figure was $445. Roberts & Hoare bid $460. The appropriation was $500. Work will be started as soon as the location can be determined.

Additional Fire Alarm.

As an additional fire alarm for the town of Manchester a tapper has been placed on the bell of the Congregational church, the work being accomplished Saturday afternoon. Hereafter the daily test of the alarm will be made at 12.01 instead of 12.00 o'clock, owing to the fact that the clock is striking at 12.00. It might be said by way of explanation that the same arrangement by which the whistle is blown when an alarm for fire is rung in, works the tapper on the bell.

Bertha Kalich at the Tremont.

Bertha Kalich, who will appear at the Tremont for a fortnight's engagement beginning next week, will be seen for the first half of her stay in Maeterlinck's powerful and poetic play, "Monna Vanna," which Harrison Grey Fiske, her sponsor as a star, has produced in a lavish and beautiful manner. The introduction of Madame Kalich to the English speaking stage has added to its stars a player of apparently limitless emotional force; much temperament and finished technique. Her portrayal of the heroine of Maeterlinck's big and impressive drama has been a revelation to those unfamiliar with her work in other tongues. Vanna is a dominant figure in the modern drama, the centre in interests in a remarkable story that has back of its tremendous scenes a bold and broad philosophy. It is set in the atmosphere of medieval romance, yet the emotions and impulses of its characters are the elemental ones that ruled human nature since the world began. The story is told with fine cumulative interests and the suspense is sustained until the fall of the curtain. A

Always Something New Cropping Out

And it has reached a point now in this business where it must be practical as a primary factor; it must be artistic as a secondary consideration, and lastly it must possess that element that points to economy or it does not enter here. Parlor Furniture

We always look to them for novelty, and they never disappoint. This morning brings us a natty three-piece suite—nothing unusual about that? Well not till you know just what it is. 'Tis a sofa large enough for three, a rocker; now don't you commence to see the new. It just matches the sofa, and then a good roomy easy chair. Did you ever hear of that combination before?

Three comfortable pieces, artistic, too, for they are of the round back, tub shaped kind, upholstered seats and upholstered panel backs; the material used, a sensible wearing and very pretty tapestry.

The frames are heavy and very well finished. 'Tis a very desirable suit

CHURCH NOTES

Manchester

"Burden Bearers" will be the subject of Rev. E. Hersey Brewster's sermon at the Baptist church tomorrow morning. At the People's evening service it will be "The Tyranny of Influence."

The Boys' Brigade left town Thursday morning on the 7.32 train for the annual field day of the U.B.B.A., held in Wollaston. They engaged in the skirmish on Wollaston Heights, holding the position on the left flank. The skirmish was spectacular and satisfactory from every point of view. In the afternoon a street parade was held, ending in dress parade. The company received applause by its good marching and quick execution of marching orders. The drum corps was again given the head of the brigade and acquitted itself most creditably. The boys returned on the 5.16 train, wearied with the day's diversions, but quite content with a pleasant retrospection of events and associations.

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Dole spent the holiday visiting friends in Beverly.

BEVERLY FARMS

The sixth and concluding evening of the popular card tournament, which has been given under the management of the local K. of C. and Foresters, was held Wednesday evening, and, notwithstanding the various other attractions offered elsewhere, a large crowd gathered to contest for the prizes, which was a testimonial of the popularity and interest in these gatherings. The first ladies' prize for whist, a laundry bag, was won by Mrs. Michael Cadigan; second prize, one-half dozen table mats, Mrs. William Leahy; consolation, two doilies, Miss Mary McKeigue and Miss Abbie Williams, a tie. The gentlemen winners were: First, an umbrella stand, F. H. Pierce; second, pair cuff buttons, Frank Gaudreau; consolation, Williams' shaving soap, Aug. Callahan. The winners in the 45s games were: First, an umbrella stand, Edward Grady, and second, a pair of cuff links, Cornelius Shea.

Preston Post Anniversary

Thursday evening Preston post, 188, G.A.R., observed their 19th anniversary by entertaining the associates and the W.R.C. The evening was spent very pleasantly and will undoubtedly be the means of getting new associates in the noble work.

The exercises were opened by Com. Chas. H. Day, who also acted as toastmaster during the evening. The history of the post was presented by Adj. Eben Day, after which followed an excellent program of singing and recitations, interspersed by greetings and best wishes from the president of the W. R. C. and others. The commander then invited all to the banquet hall where refreshments were served by Chas. Parker, caterer, after which, with Hall's orchestra, the grand march was formed, led by Com. Day and Mrs. Gaul. Dancing continued until a late hour.

TERRIBLE CALAMITY

John I. Allen, Manchester Boy, Writes of the Earthquake—"Rich and Poor Are the Same in 'Frisco Now," He Writes, "And the City Needs All the Help That Big Hearts Can Do for It."

The readers of this paper will be interested in reading of the San Francisco calamity from the pen of an eye witness. John I. Allen, son of Captain and Mrs. John Allen of Washington street, Manchester, who went to San Francisco last fall to take charge of a gas and coke plant, survived the quake and from Oakland he wrote a letter to his brother, Benjamin Allen, of the Knickerbocker Trust Co., of New York. Mr. Allen sent a copy of the letter on to his father in Manchester, yesterday, and through him we are able to give the BREEZE readers some idea of the direful calamity. The letter is as follows:

OAKLAND, CAL., April 21, 1906.

"Dear Brother: Oh, Ben, it's awful what has happened to 'Frisco. The city is burnt down,—this a fact. All business buildings are flat; though along the water front there are a few buildings left, such as the S. P. Ferry house, etc. Now I want to let you know all I can about the condition of the Gas company, as you must be anxious to know the facts of the real condition.

"The earthquake came at 5.13 A.M.; it was just breaking day and I was sitting out in the yard along-side of two boilers, which are kept with steam all night. I was with the man who tends them, talking, when I noticed the pipes began to rattle and the man ran out of the shack. I did not know what it was, but it began getting worse, so I ran for the governor's room, or at least tried to, but the ground under me was heaving to and fro, just like the waves of the ocean. I fell down and got up and tried to run again, but fell again. I finally succeeded in standing up and looked

No Improvements for Manchester Harbor This Year.

The appropriation by Congress of money to complete the work started some years ago in dredging out Manchester harbor, it appears, will not be forthcoming this year. A committee was appointed at the annual town meeting to take the matter up with Congressman A. P. Gardner.

W. W. Lufkin, private secretary to Congressman Gardner, in his last weekly letter to the Beverly Times, said:

"Congressman Gardner waited on Chairman Burton, of the house committee on Rivers and Harbors this week, relative to the matter of the continued improvements of Manchester harbor.

"In the summer of 1903 the board of engineers of the war department made an examination of the harbor and reported that it would be necessary to appropriate $18,000 to continue the dredging up to the town wharves, and recommended that if this amount be appropriated that it be in one sum and that no further improvements of this harbor be considered. In spite of this report, however, the Committee on Rivers and Harbors, failed to include any appropriation in the last river and harbor bill, taking the ground that it was an inner improvement and that the commerce carried on did not warrant it.

"At the last annual town meeting a committee was appointed to come to Washington and investigate the question with a view to influencing the committee to change their decision and grant an immediate appropriation to continue the work. Chairman Burton informed Mr. Gardner that the committee would hold no hearing this session, except for emergency work, and he did not consider Manchester one of the emergency cases. Accordingly, no hearing will be held this session;

THE THEORIES OF EARTHQUAKES.

Some Famous Disturbances and Various Scientific Conjectures on the Causes of the Trouble.

By W. S. C. Russell.

(Breeze readers will be interested in reading extracts from an article written by W. S. C. Russell, a former Manchester teacher, but now head of the science department in the Springfield (Mass.) High school, published a few days ago in the Springfield Republican.—Ed.)

The present earthquake in California will go down in history as the greatest catastrophe on this continent within recorded time. It is now fresh in every mind, and the event so closely following the violent outburst of Vesuvius, has led many to connect the two as cause and effect. Earth tremors have received so much scientific study within the past 50 years that physicists are pretty well agreed as to the cause of such phenomena. This material is so much involved in lengthy discussions and deductions that it is not within the reach of the average reader. For this reason a brief statement of seismic history and a presentation of the present views on the subject may be of interest.

Earthquake phenomena have been recorded from nearly 20 centuries B. C. These notes are prominent among the scientific writings of ancient times, not because there was much exact knowledge relative to them, so far as cause and effect were concerned, but because of the consternation and superstition which the swift destruction of life and property engendered.

In the account last week of the John Price Primary School dedication exercises we neglected to mention the large oil painting of Deacon Price which hung on the wall of the corridor, in front of the main entrance. The painting was done some years ago by Miss M. A. S. McKenzie, of Tamworth, N.H., a niece of Dea. Price. It might be said, too, that the old farm where Dea. Price was born in Tamworth was bought some few years ago by Ex-President Grover Cleveland and with others, go to make up the extensive summer home of the ex-president.

Minstrel Show a Grand Success

All Magnolia was out Tuesday evening for the minstrel show in Liberty hall, when the program as announced in last week's Breeze was carried out. The affair was a grand success in every way; so much enjoyed was it, in fact, that there is some talk of repeating it. William McAuley's selection, "I'll be back in a minute, but I've got to go now" was one of the hits of the evening. He was called back for a number of encores during one of which he was presented with a bouquet by some of his Gloucester friends. Daniel Chane, Michael Kehoe and all the numbers on the program in fact were given in a manner which merited much applause. The jokes hit well and there were plenty of them.

The move of Alderman Desmond in the Board of Aldermen on Tuesday evening requesting the appointment of a committee to consult the officials of the Boston &
Maine railroad with a view to better train service in the early and late parts of the day is undoubtedly a good one. There is an hiatus between the times of departure of the late trains that is, to say the least, disheartening, and it is to be hoped that some good will come from the proposed conference. The matter of Sunday trains eastward might also be considered. One train early in the morning and another late in the evening is extremely inconvenient.

Mrs. Marv A. Foster, who has been spending the winter with her daughter in West Somerville, spent a few days at her North Beverly home this week.

Walter Bernard is on a trip to California, and will see the ruins of San Francisco before he returns.

Mr. and Mrs. Hezekiah A. Taylor are spending a vacation with friends in South Orleans, Mass.

Mrs. H. F. Gouch entertained the members of the Monday Evening
Whist club at her home on Mulberry street on Monday evening.
Five tables were in play and a delightful evening spent over the cards.

Republican Club Minstrels.

City hall was filled on Tuesday evening with a representative high-class Beverly audience to witness the minstrel performance given by the Republican club in aid of the Beverly Hospital. The decorations from the Grand Army fair had been kept upon the walls, and were very pretty. The circle appeared in dress suits and without blackened faces, presenting a pretty spectacle upon the stage. The jokes were new and some of them extremely funny, and the whole performance was carried out well. The various songs were well done, that of Mr.
Odell being the most pleasing in the way of artistic merit, while Mr.
Bartlett's "Way Down East" was a close second. Mr. Morgan's tenor solo, "A Touch of Humanity," was well received. Mr. Willard's "Moving Day" was received with great glee, and he was obliged to respond to two encores. The closing chorus, with the appearance of the pages and a male quartette from the club, was well received, and was most pleasing. The olio which followed the performance was on the whole interesting, the work of Henry Myers, the monologist, and little David Manuel, the four-year-old harmonicist, being deserving of the applause which was given. The participants in the performance were as follows:

The committee on fire department has awarded the contract for the new chemical engine to the Combination Ladder company of New York and Providence. The machine is to have two double horizontal tanks, with a capacity of fifty gallons each, rubber tired wheels, 250 feet of hose, and two ladders, with all other necessary appurtenances. The engine is to be delivered in ninety days.

A delightful invitation party was that of Wednesday evening at City hall when the Literary Society connected with St. Peter's parish gave a concert and dance. Whitaker's Orchestra rendered a pleasing programme and the devotees of Terpsichore enjoyed a selected order of dances. The list of matrons and patronesses comprised some of the best known ladies in the city.

Forman A. Crosby and Edgar J. Caldwell have been spending a few days at Mr. Crosby's summer estate at Gilmanton Iron Works, N. H.

William H. Woodbury, the new spare driver of the fire department, has been presented with a handsome whip by his former associates and friends.

Arthur C. Wallis spoke interestingly on his recent trip to South America before the members of the Board of Trade on Wednesday evening.

The 87th anniversary of the institution of Odd-fellowship was celebrated by Bass River Lodge at its rooms on Thursday evening in a fitting manner. Several of the officers of the Grand Lodge were present and Ocean Lodge of Gloucester came up in a body and worked several degrees.

Rev. Edwin H. Byington of the Dane Street church spoke before the members of the Girls' club at the Baptist church on Wednesday evening.

The members of the Civil Government class at the Beverly High school attended the session of the Superior Civil Court at Salem on Tuesday afternoon and heard the cases of Newhall vs. Boston & Northern street railway tried.

The land and buildings of the Beverly pottery have been sold to Solon Lovett.

Contributions in aid of the San Francisco sufferers were taken up in nearly all the churches on Sunday and large responses were made. At the Dane Street $129.30 was received; Unitarian, $51.02; Methodist, $51; Baptist, $66, and Centreville chapel, $17.81. The Washington Street collection was taken up on Wednesday evening and was of large proportions. St. Peter's church will receive its offering tomorrow.

Leroy P. Henderson, Tech, '06, was one of the principals in the musical fantasy, "The Freshman," which the Tech boys gave on Thursday in Boston, Friday in Malden, and on Saturday before an audience of Brown and Princeton undergrads, at Providence.

Mr. Henry Bond, the new Business Secretary of the State Missionary Society, Dr. W. H. Eaton of Boston and Rev. F. W. Padelford of Lynn, addressed a large audience at the First Baptist chapel on Tuesday evening on the work being done in the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Rand of Rye, N. H., have been the recent guests of relatives in town.

The members of Friendship Rebekah Lodge went to Reading on Tuesday evening and assisted the lodge in that town in the observance of the anniversary of Odd-fellowship.

The Saturday evening band concerts will be inaugurated on the 28th and will continue well into the fall. The merchants find that the investment is an excellent one, as the attraction of the band draws the crowd and much buying results.

Society Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Head arrived at their Manchester estate Tuesday for a few weeks before going to their Lake Champlain country seat for the summer. Wednesday, their son-in-law, William A. Russell, and Mrs. Russell, arrived by special train from Boston, Mr. Russell's health having improved sufficient to warrant him being moved to the shore. With them on the train came Mr. and Mrs. Philip Stockton, Mrs. Russell's sister and brother-in-law, who have taken the Sampson cottage at Manchester Cove, but who will not move down till next week. The Otto Kahns of New York will have the Head house again this summer, arriving here about the middle of June.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Shaw have opened their house at West Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Bement arrived at Prides Crossing Wednesday and are located at one of the Luke cottages, which they had last season.

"The Riverhouse," the beautifully located summer home of the E. C. Fitches at Manchester was opened today for the summer, though only part of the family will be here for the present. Mr. Fitch and his two sons, one of whom spends most of his time in Montreal, where business takes him most of the time, will be here for a few weeks, when they will be joined by Mrs. Fitch and Miss Helen Fitch, who are in Europe. They sail on May 8, and will arrive by the 15th, when they will come immediately to Manchester. Last week there arrived at the Fitch stables on Norton's Point a pair of chestnut coach horses for Mrs. Fitch's use, and said to be among the best that ever came to Manchester. They have exceptionally high action and beautiful conformation, fit for any show ring. Mr. Fitch will also have a new auto this season, having purchased a handsome 45 h. p. Packard. Mr. Fitch intends to have extensive alterations made to his house next fall and winter, including the building of a good sized addition.

Mrs. Edwin C. Swift arrived at Pride's Crossing last Saturday. She was traveling in Europe at the time of Mr. Swift's death and started for home as soon as she was apprised of the fact, arriving on the "Coronia" last Wednesday.

The L. L. Hopkins of Boston will open their cottage at West Manchester, May 10. Mrs. Hopkins was down looking over her place, Wednesday.

Dr. R. H. Fitz and family will move down from Boston to their house at West Manchester the first of next work.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Hooper are now located at their West Manchester estate, moving down from town Friday. Mr. Hooper who has been in England for a brief holiday, returned last week on the "Coronia" in time to take in the last few days of the Horse Show. The Hoopers did not go to Readville this spring as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Tucker, Mrs. Ethel Tucker Lindsay, Master Wm. Tucker Lindsay and Miss E. K. Foster were down the Shore in Mr. Tucker's auto last Sunday and lunched at the Manchester house.

Mrs. T. M. Clark has been down to her cottage on Blossom Lane, Manchester, part of the week.

The Gordon Abbott cottage at Manchester has been opened this week, and the family came down from town today.

Mrs. E. A. Whipple and son of Boston are expected at their West Manchester cottage the last of next week.

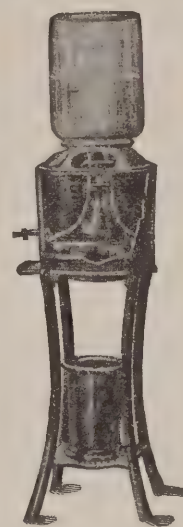

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Heaton, whose house at Beverly Farms has been kept open all winter for weekends, moved down from town permanently Thursday.

Norman Prince, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Prince, who are in France, met with quite a painful accident while engaged in target practice at "Princemere" last Saturday, by accidentally shooting himself in the right thigh.

TERRIBLE CALAMITY

around me. Such a sight I never saw. Big gas holders were rocking and the water splashing out of them. After about 30 seconds the motion stopped, and I ran into the governor's room, and immediately saw it was out of commission, so ran and turned on the valve, giving the city full holder pressure. From there I ran to the boiler room, and found everything o.k. It is a miracle that they did not burst. The damage to the plant in my mind is very small. The new 2,000,000 cubic-foot holder is not damaged so far as the man who is building it can see; it being set on such a solid foundation saved it. The 200,000-foot holder is strained some, but not seriously. It was full of gas through the quake and supplied gas to the city until 10 A.M. that morning when it was shut off by Capt. Lyman's orders. The gas ovens are not seriously damaged. We made gas in the old oven after the quake and found it o.k. With the exception of one pipe that broke apart due to the ground settling, there was no damage to it. The new ovens are cold now and I cannot ascertain exact facts about them, but from an outside examination they are all right, with the exception that they have settled down in the ground some.

This is not serious to the running of machinery though. This oven did not have the pile foundation under it. Mr. Stutt says the damage to the yard is very little. The office at 420 Powell street burned flat,—nothing saved that I know of. I saw the office at 7.30 A.M. after the quake, and it was a complete wreck from the shock; it burned down the next day. Capt. Lyman was burnt out twice, and is now living at some army quarters.

"My room also was burned but I got to it soon enough to get my trunk into the park, where there were 1,000 people with all that they could save.

"You cannot imagine what has occurred here, or what the people have had to suffer. Rich and poor are the same in 'Frisco now, and the city needs all the help that big hearts can do for it. They are working like heroes to feed the people. The day of the earthquake I went to my room and found the fire was within three or four blocks of us. I waited a while thinking it would not reach us, but was shortly ordered out, so that they could blow our block up. I got a team of horses and got the landlady's trunks and belongings out into the park nearby. Then I went back to the plant and stayed there until I was driven to the water front by the flames. Mr. Stutt was with me, he having come to the plant an hour previously. Here we were allowed to board a fire tug which had been fighting the flames. Mr. Stutt and myself were taken from there to Saulater and put ashore, but as Mr. Stutt wanted to get to his home in Oakland, we hired a launch and went from there to 'Frisco. So you see I am in good hands.

"One more thing about the Company's works. The pipes in the street were proven to be in a fairly good condition by the holder after the earthquake, as a test showed that there were only 9,000 feet going out into the street, and some of this might have been passing through broken pipes in the buildings. All meters put into the houses are a loss but I think that the San Francisco Coke & Gas Co. has suffered the least of any of the companies, and if it continues to supply gas to the new city, it will be the first in commission.

"'Frisco is building up, everybody is full of courage, and are now forming plans for rebuilding."

Higher Prices for Ice

The price of ice along the North Shore this summer will be higher. The new prices as agreed upon by Addison Davis of Beverly Farms, The Manchester Ice Co. and Ayers Bros. of Manchester, and W. A. Caldwell of North Beverly this week, will go into effect next Tuesday, May 1.

The new prices will be 40 cents a hundred to families, 25 cents a hundred to fish markets, grocery stores, boarding houses and apothecaries, and $4.00 a ton at wholesale.

From Congressman Gardner.

The following letter from Cong. A. P. Gardner is self-explanatory. The Breeze has not heard of any of the canvassers referred to being in this vicinity as yet, but should they appear the public will know how to receive them:

Editor of the North Shore Breeze: I have been informed several times that a book canvasser is now going through the District which I represent in Congress, selling a book containing steel engravings of the Presidents of the United States.

If any such agent makes any representations to the effect that I have ever authorized him to use my name in any manner whatsoever, in connection with the sale of such a book, I beg to state that such statement is untrue.

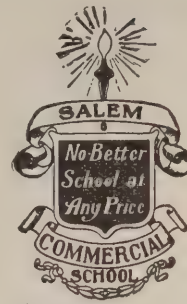

I have never heard that Congress ever allotted any publication whatever to any individual, and take this means of warning the public against any representations to the contrary.

Very truly yours,

A. P. Gardner.

A LIBERAL RESPONSE

Manchester Citizens Responded Most Generously to the San Francisco Relief Fund Collected by the Committee Yesterday—Contribution thus far $1,360.60

Manchester has responded most liberally to the San Francisco relief fund. All day yesterday the committee to whom had been given the work of collecting subscriptions for the fund received money, and the total amount figured up last night far in excess of what was expected.

The total amount received up to last night, most all of which was collected by the committee yesterday, was $1,360.60, and there are many who have not yet given, who will. Mr. Swett, the chairman, desires the BREEZE to say that those whom the committee have not been able to see, and who wish to contribute, may leave their contributions with the town treasurer, Mr. Stanley, in the town hall, on or before next Wednesday night, as the total contribution will be sent to the general treasurer next Thursday morning.

Last Friday Gov. Guild appointed Chairman F. K. Swett of the selectmen at the head of a committee to look after the local subscriptions, and Saturday evening Mr. Swett called a meeting of representative citizens in the selectmen's office. As a result of the meeting the following committee was made up: Fred K. Swett, Alfred S. Jewett, Wm. J. Johnson, Edward A. Lane, Oliver T. Roberts, W. F. Powers, George Kimball, E. H. Brewster, C. A. Lincoln and Edwin P. Stanley. This committee organized with Mr. Swett as chairman, A. S. Jewett as secretary and E. P. Stanley as treasurer. They decided to make a canvass of the town and give everybody an opportunity of giving, however little or much they please.

The following circular was distributed around town Wednesday, and yesterday the committee made their rounds collecting the subscriptions:

Manchester, Mass., April 24, 1906
Fellow Citizens:

In accordance with the request of the Governor to the Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, a committee was appointed to solicit subscriptions in aid of the sufferers by the dreadful catastrophe which overwhelmed and nearly destroyed the principal seaport of our western coast. The undersigned were appointed to canvass the town in furtherance of this cause. The devastation and havoc wrought by these elemental forces was so overwhelming that unparalleled activity became necessary to alleviate the great suffering and hardship which followed in consequence. Governmental protection has been thrown about them for the time being; but the need of continuous aid for some time to come is very apparent.

What, then, is our duty in this matter? Plainly, by all the ties of a common humanity, to give of our means for the relief of our unfortunate friends and fellow-countrymen.

We appeal to you, then, fellow-citizens, to contribute most generously, according to your ability, towards this most worthy object. Let us strive, then, with a noble emulation, to make our gifts commensurate with the occasion and the pressing needs of those sorely afflicted. With and unselfish spirit and lofty devotion to duty, may we ever keep in mind that sublime utterance, "Bear ye one another's burden and so fulfil the law of Christ."

The committee will call on Friday, the 27th, and receive subscriptions.

The first subscription received was from the High School Alumni association, which voted $50 at its meeting Monday evening. The Ministering Circle of King's Daughters voted $10 for the fund on that night also.

Governor Guild met the members of the general relief committee, of which Chairman Swett is a member, at the State House yesterday noon.

Mr. Swett says that the reports made at the meeting yesterday were most encouraging. Over $775 had been received.

NUMBER 17

SATURDAY, APRIL 28, 1906.

It would, indeed, be a bad move for the License Commissioners of Gloucester to grant a license to the parties projecting the same in Magnolia. This pretty little village, the flower of the North Shore in the three months of summer, can ill afford such a malady. The storm of protest being made against it is being made justly and we hope no license will be granted.

WHISPERINGS

It is surprising how little regard some people have for the appearance of our streets. Last Saturday afternoon some clothing concern in a city near-by sent out some advertising matter through the mail in the shape of cards, and benefiting by past experience Supt. Kimball kept the "hokey-pokey" cart man at work in the vicinity of the post office a little later than usual, for he knew a great many of the cards would find their way to the street. Sure enough, by 4 o'clock a score or more had found their way to the street, and were picked up. The "hokey-pokey" cart man went home, and before 6 o'clock a score more cards found their way to the gutter, and had they not been picked up by the superintendent they would have laid on the street and in the gutter all day Sunday. It does seem as though people might be a little more thoughtful as to the looks of our streets, and if they have waste paper to throw away, do not throw it on the street.

FIRE AT BAKER'S ISLAND

CALLS OUT TWO FIRE DEPARTMENTS

Manchester Fireman Called Out at 3 a.m. only to find the Fire Three Miles out to Sea

The Manchester fire department was called out about 3 o'clock Wednesday morning to answer an alarm from Box 33, located at the telephone exchange. The heavens were brilliantly lighted at that time, and every one who saw the light decided one of the large summer cottages on Smith's Point was going up in smoke.

Five minutes after the alarm was rung in the whole centre of the town was alive with people, and the engine house presented a lively appearance. But very few realized where the fire was till they arrived at the centre of the town, a great many going directly to Smith's Point, where the fire seemed to be. The alarm was rung in by the night operator at the exchange in answer to a call from a subscriber, who saw the heavens lighted up in the direction of Smith's Point.

The cause of all this excitement in Manchester and Beverly Farms, and, in fact, in Beverly and Salem, for the illumination could be seen for miles around, was the burning of the far-famed Winne-Egan Hotel on Baker's island. The hotel was owned by Dr. C. W. Morse. All that now remains of it are two or three tall chimneys, some of them minus a part of their old-time height, for the house was burned flat to the ground.

The first inkling of the fire came to Caretaker Frank B. White through the barking of his dog Sport, who, not content with trying to rouse his master the gang leaning up against the building to move. The crowd of young men did it without a murmur, and as the officer moved along I noticed another of our respected blue coats, whose duty, I was led to think was to keep order in the center of the town, standing along side of another building, just as the crowd had been, nearby.

Lecture on "Grumblers" by Rev. Dr. P. S. Henson of Boston

The Manchester Town hall was crowded Wednesday evening, when Rev. Dr. P. S. Henson of Tremont Temple, Boston, gave his famous lecture on "Grumblers," which, though full of fun contained a deal of sound philosophy. Dr. Henson's lecture was bubbling over with the good humor for which he is famed, and his flow of oratory at times impressed upon his hearers his position as one of

Box 57 called out the Beverly Farms Laddies and set all Beverly on the Qui Vive

The flames were eating up one of the summer cottages along West Beach, Beverly Farms, about 3 o'clock Wednesday morning, in the mind of Night Officer Webster K. Bray, and he pulled in an alarm from Box 57, which called from their beds not only the Beverly Farms firemen, but those of all Beverly.

The first arrivals in Central square could swear the fire was at the Haven estate, for the flames were shooting up through the trees in that direction. An investigation soon showed that the fire was neither along the beach, nor on Misery island, but three miles beyond—Baker's island.

It seemed as though all Beverly Farms was out, but all took the joke, that was not a joke, good naturedly. Many went to the beach and watched the fire till it began to burn down and die.

by the barks, ran up and down his body until he awoke.

Caretaker White found the fire raging fiercely in the kitchen, and called on Lighthouse-keeper Rogers and his assistant, Cameron, but the men could do but little.

It is said that Henry R. Morse, the proprietor, had not intended to open the hotel this year, and had offered it to General Manager Charles Prescott of the Salem Bay Navigation Company, but terms had not been arranged. The hotel was insured, but the exact amount is not known, as Mr. Morse is in California.

the foremost platform orators of the day. His lecture has been too widely talked about to give any lengthy extracts from it here. The men's class of the Baptist church, under whose auspices the lecture was given, are to be congratulated on securing such an entertaining as well as convincing and eloquent speaker.

There was a slight mix-up in the train service on the local branch Thursday morning, caused by the engine and mail car on the first train down the line leaving the rails just before reaching the Rockport station. It was fifteen minutes late anyway because of some trouble on the main line. As it was necessary to get a mail car from Boston the train which comes down the branch about 9 o'clock was delayed almost an hour and the 10.21 train from Manchester was over half an hour late.

Andrew Jackson Crowell.

Andrew Jackson Crowell passed away at his home on Hart street, Beverly Farms, last evening, after only a few days' illness. Death resulted from pneumonia, though he has not been well all winter. He was born in Manchester Feb. 18, 1835.

Mr. Crowell was a Grand Army man. He enlisted from Hamilton, Aug. 20, '62, in Co. K, 38th Mass. infantry, in which he was a corporal. He was discharged July 12, '65. He saw much service in the war and was engaged at Port Hudson, Red River, Opequan Creek, Fisher's Hill and Cedar Creek. In the same company with him were A. S. Jewett, Charles Gilson and Larcom Story, of Manchester. He was incarcerated in Libby Prison.

Deceased was a charter member of Post 67 of Manchester, and was its first quartermaster. In 1881 he left and was one of the charter members of 188 of Beverly Farms, rejoining the Manchester post in 1899. He is the fourth member of the local post to die since last October. He is survived by a widow and an adopted daughter, Mrs. Emma Davis.

Funeral services will be held probably on Monday, though at the time of going to press it had not been decided.

MANCHESTER

Mrs. Anna Phillips received a letter from her niece, Miss Edith Giles, a teacher in San Francisco, yesterday, stating she was well and had survived the terrible calamity. Miss Giles is well known in Manchester where she has been a frequent visitor. She will be engaged in Red Cross work for the present.

The Haphazard club will meet Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Rand, Union street.

We have been requested by Mr. Senter Stanley to correct the statement in last week's paper that the Erickson boy ran into Mr. Stanley's team while riding his bicycle down North street hill. Mr. Stanley asserts that it was not his vehicle.

Wm. Pierce, who worked in Manchester at one time, applied to the overseers of the poor for aid, the first of the week, and was sent to the almshouse. Yesterday he was sent to his home in Stoughton.

The bazaar to be given by the local W.R.C. will open on May 9, continuing till the 11th, when it will close with a grand military ball. Donations for the various "forts" may be sent to the members or to the chairman, Mrs. H. G. Tappan.

E. K. Banks, formerly with A. C. Titus & Co., of Salem, has just installed a carpet cleaning plant in Beverly which is a little in advance of anything heretofore existing outside of the big cities. He takes your rugs and carpets just as they come from the floor, places them in a large cylindrical machine and as the machine revolves a set of rotary carriers elevate the carpets and drop them, thus loosening the dust and dirt. He also uses a disinfectant on the rugs that kills all the germs that may be lurking in them. Mr. Banks' advertisement will be found in another column. *

The Coming Seaside Resort.

High and airy, about an hour's ride from Boston by rail, with thirteen trains a day from the West Gloucester station only twenty minutes' drive distant, Willoughby Park, with its beautiful ocean and river views, has promise of being the coming seashore resort of Cape Ann.

The park is in close proximity to the far famed Wingaersheek beach with its two and a half miles of hard sandy surface, offering facilities for promenading, horseback riding, automobilizing and driving, 667 feet in width at low water, one of the finest beaches on the New England coast.

There are fine facilities for yachting, fishing and power boating on the Annisquam and Essex rivers, Ipswich bay and Gloucester harbor with their varied attractions. Situated in the midst of the most delightful drives through West Gloucester, the city proper, Manchester, Magnolia and their beautiful surroundings, it will prove a paradise for automobilists and all who are seeking a seaside summer resort combining the country and seashore in all their varied beauties, where nature has been lavish of her gifts with hills and dales, various forest trees, sand dunes, ravines and other attractions.

This tract contains 156 acres, nine of which have been sold to most desirable parties, and the first summer residence will be erected in time for this season's occupancy. The lots average one acre and will be divided to suit purchasers. Now is the time to secure them. Careful restrictions as to building and every safeguard to render this resort first-class in every respect.

SCHLEGEL & FOTTLER CO.

San Francisco Horror Subject of Sermon by Manchester Pastor.

At the Baptist church, Manchester, last Sunday evening, Rev. E. Hersey Brewster took for his theme, "Echoes of the Earthquake," and spoke from the text: "After the earthquake a fire, and after the fire a still small voice."

By way of introduction Mr. Brewster described the situation in San Francisco as given by the latest newspaper despatches, and commented briefly on what he termed the magnificent attitude of the nation aroused by the still small voice of sympathy as it had not been aroused since the guns of Sumter spoke.

"From all over the country the voice of sympathy is heard," he said. "The city of San Francisco in rising from the ashes of its ruins finds the nation standing at her side with outstretched hands. The best things survived the shocks of the earthquake and the scorching fury of the flames. The ties of friendship and of love were never stronger, never sweeter than when threatened with dissolution in this catastrophe. Not only did the voice of sympathy come to these sufferers, but also the voice of encouragement. Subscriptions from all over the world are pouring in to their relief. In this way we are getting out from beneath the shadow of our own peculiar griefs and are learning what it is to bear one another's burden."

"The San Francisco people will take a stronger hold on the future, because of the encouragement which they have received. This voice is also a voice of warning. To the man who has never recognized God in the daily concerns of life, this voice of warning especially comes. To the man who has not understood that in the Scriptures are found predictions of all such events, this voice especially comes. It has been said that it is a fearful thing to die without a moment's opportunity to repent. But is it not as dreadful a thing for a man to live without repentance and in the very face of such disasters not to spare one moment to think of his spiritual condition? It is no worse to live in sin, than to die in sin. This voice is the voice of God. Beneath the shattered columns of beautiful buildings, back of the tears and griefs of the people, lie the purposes of God. To many in that city, as well as to us, the event which has darkened this decade with its shadow will bear messages which the clearness of the telephone cannot excell. God's love is also pouring out itself in healing streams among these bereaved people. It is filling the gaps that look to us so awful in their depth and breadth. It is sustaining those whom the foundations of the earth refused to sustain. Over all this event hangs the rainbow of promise. The American people confidently and with reason look to see the queen city of the coast become still more beautiful and and powerful than she has been, and many lives that heretofore have trusted too fully to the indestructibility of fortunes, will for the first time begin to understand how fleeting are the prosperities of life."

Society Notes

Mrs. Robert de W. Sampson will not come to the North Shore this season, but will sail next month, with Prof. and Mrs. William Thayer and daughter, for Europe, to be gone a year. They plan on touring the British Isles this summer and will spend the winter in Italy.

The A. S. Covels are expected at their Magnolia cottage today for the season.

Col. and Mrs. Harry E. Russell, who have been spending the winter at the Lenox, in Boston, moved down to their cottage at Manchester Cove yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jameson and family of Boston have been spending the week at their cottage on the Flume road, Magnolia.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Lincoln intend to sail next Tuesday for England, to be gone six months.

Auto Line for Manchester and Magnolia

A new business enterprise has been consummated for Gloucester, which will engage in running public automobile lines. That preliminary steps to form the company had been taken was published in the BREEZE a few weeks ago. The company is an assured fact, and will be incorporated at once under the laws of Massachusetts with a capital stock of $20,000.

The company has already ordered two fine motor cars, each with a seating capacity of 20 people. Lines will be run from this city to Magnolia and Manchester, also from the Gloucester depot and from the Magnolia depot.

The lines will be placed in active operation just as soon as the cars arrive, which will probably not be for a few weeks.

BEVERLY FARMS

The central telephone office in Marshall's block was opened Monday for the summer, the "cut-over" being made Saturday night and Sunday. Miss Alice Sawyer of Portland, Me., is the operator in charge at present, and Proctor Denno is doing the night work. Farms people, meanwhile, are wondering how soon the reduced rate promised by the company goes into effect.

Capt. J. Frank Blaney and Thomas Neville are investigating the case of a recent visit to their motor boats anchored off West Beach, when the visitors tried to start the engines and did considerable damage. They left in a hurry, apparently, forgetting to take with them a revolver, axe and several articles of clothing which were found in the boats.

Miss Mary McDonald is in Antigonish, N.S., where she was called the first of the week by the death of her father.

The sixth night of the G.A.R. and Associates pitch tournament was played on Thursday evening and, like the preceding ones, was a matter of much interest. As the end is drawing near, considerable interest centres in the pairs who are working hard for the silver cup.

The provision store of Messrs. Preble & Co., in Neighbor's hall block, was opened for business Thursday.

If you did not get "taken in" about 3 a.m. Wednesday morning you are to be congratulated, as a great many turned out at that hour in response to the fire alarm from box 52. From appearances it would seem that one of the large summer residences along West beach was going up in smoke, but fortunately for the Farms, the fire was on Baker's island, where the old Winne-Egan house burned to the ground. It was a spectacle worth beholding.

Patrolman Webster K. Bray is putting on the finishing touches to his cottage at Conomo Point, Essex.

Much needed improvements are being made by the street department on Greenwood avenue, after which, it is hoped, the section of Hart street, from Perry's corner, so-called, to Hale street, will not be overlooked.

A very generous collection was taken up at the evening service of the Baptist church last Sunday for the San Francisco relief fund.

Sam'l F. Currier was missed from his duties at the local station part of this week having been on a visit to W. G. Tuckers at Gloucester, and points of interest around the Cape.

Miss Nellie Preston is the new bookkeeper for Messrs. Pierce & Pierce plumbers, and Miss Maude Cullert has accepted a like position with Howard Doane carpenter and builder.

Repairs are in progress at the West Beach Engine house, including painting, papering and the laying of a new floor.

Contractor John A. Gaffey who is building the section of road from Mingo Beach hill to the Frick estate for the Mass. State Highway Com. has torn up the road and is hard at work sub-grading it causing most of the travel to go by the way of Common Lane. The bad corner near the Gardner estate has now been blasted and the ledge removed, and has resulted in a great improvement.

The BREEZE sent by mail to any part of the U.S.—1 year 1 dollar. *

Miss Nannie Blake returned to her home in Newton Thursday, after a pleasant visit with Patrolman and Mrs. Calvin L. Williams.

The will of the late Thos. A. McLaughlin, who recently passed away at the home of his nephew, Thos. J. McDonnell, was proved at the Probate court in Salem this week, and it contained a number of bequests for charity, among which were several public charitable institutions in Boston.

Quite a number of the members of St. John's Episcopal society attended the social and dance of the St. Peter's Literary society in City hall, Beverly, Wednesday evening.

Miss Bessie Williams is to resume her former position as bookkeeper for Smith's Express Co., at their office opposite the depot, which will be opened next week.

This month's issue of the Beverly High school Aegis contains an interesting account of "A Trip Down the Hudson," by George S. Day, a Farms' member of the '06 class, who made the trip last fall.

An Italian, 21 years old, and in this country only 25 days, was stricken with heart failure on Haskell street while going to his work Tuesday morning and expired before any aid could be summoned. He was taken in charge by Samuel A. Gentlee, the Beverly undertaker, and was buried in the Catholic cemetery in Salem Thursday.

Mrs. F. E. Gole returned to her home on Hart street, Wednesday, after undergoing a serious operation at the Beverly hospital for appendicitis.

Thomas J. McDonnell has plans out for a fine residence and shop combined, to be erected soon on the lot recently purchased from the Mrs. Abigail Trowt heirs, and opposite the estate of Wm. Leahy.

Mrs. Delia McNeil met with quite a serious accident the first of the week, necessitating her removal to the Beverly hospital. While cutting some meat she accidentally run the knife, which was very sharp, across her hand, making a deep cut across her fingers, severing several blood vessels and tendons.

It is understood that the Beverly Farms Coal Co. has recently organized as a stock company, in which some out of town parties have secured an interest. James B. Dow will, as heretofore, be manager of the company.

Two-piece house-dresses at White & Marsters. *

The initiation staff of the John West colony, Pilgrim Fathers, went to Gloucester Monday evening and introduced 11 new members into the mysteries of the colony there.

It was a delighted audience that filled the assembly hall of the Farms school Tuesday evening for the recital given by Miss Annie K. Holmes and her pupils, assisted by Samuel A. Gentlee of Beverly, bass. Each number was finely rendered and received merited applause.

Jos. Pink & Co. have opened their harness shop in Depot square, and Silverberg, the tailor, has opened his store in Central square.

A number of Farms' residents who have friends and relatives in California have been relieved this week to receive letters and telegrams reporting in some cases that they were safe and well, but in some cases the unwelcome though not unexpected news was that homes and property had been lost.

Connolly Bros. received this week from their Topsfield farm a car load of extra fine birch pea brush, which is much sought by gardeners along the shore this time of the year.

Society Notes

Much to the regret of their North Shore friends Mrs. George von L. Meyer and her attractive daughters, Misses Alice and Julia Meyer, sailed from New York on the Kaiser Wilhelm II, the first of the week, to join Ambassador Meyer on the other side of the Atlantic. For a few months they have been at Washington, but returned to Boston a week or two ago, where they were much in evidence at the Horse Show last week. They intended to open their summer place at Hamilton early in May, but changed their plans and went abroad.

It is reported on good authority that a big house is to be built at Magnolia the coming fall and winter, for Col. Nelson. It will be located just below the Hesperus hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bemis and family will be among next week's arrivals at Beverly Farms.

Mrs. R. C. Winthrop and Miss Clara Winthrop arrived at West Manchester for the season Thursday afternoon. They will be joined next week by Miss Margaret Winthrop.

Moth Work for the Coming Season

Posters descriptive of spring and summer work against the gypsy and brown-tail moths have been issued by Supt. Kirkland of the state work and have been placed in conspicuous places the past week by the local superintendents. Tree Warden Young has placed one of these in the Manchester post office this week.

At the head of the poster appears the announcement that the destruction of the moth pests is required by law. Regarding the gypsy moth the statement is made that the caterpillars will appear about May 1. These caterpillars feed until the middle of July or later. Three remedies against them are mentioned in the poster:

spraying, burlapping and banding. Spraying should begin as soon as the caterpillars are discovered. It is most effective between May 15 and June 15.

Pictures of full grown caterpillars of both moths are shown in the poster. The poster urges all property owners to familiarize themselves with the appearance of the moths and with the most effective means of destroying them and urges co-operation if the pests are to be destroyed.

Bertha Kalich at the Tremont.

Bertha Kalich's first Boston appearance as an English-speaking star at the Tremont this week is a repetition of the success she has met with in other cities. The emotional power and finished technique of this young actress are a veritable revelation to those to whom

BERTHA KALICH

in Monna Vanna at the Tremont Theatre

until this season she was unknown. Her portrayal of the difficult role of Monna Vanna in Maeterlinck's poetic play of that name stamps Madame Kalich as a dramatic actress of exceptional talent, whose place among the foremost players on our stage is assured.

For her second and last week at the Tremont, beginning April 30th, Madame Kalich will be seen in Zola's masterly drama, "Therese Raquin," which contrasted with the Maeterlinck play will give an emphatic illustration of the range of her talents. "Therese Raquin" has all the realism which is the keynote of Zola's writings. It is life, reproduced with unsparing photographic fidelity—a story of French middle-class people, tremendous in its strength and irresistible in its progress to a climax that is literally overwhelming. In this play, too, Madame Kalich has won a triumph elsewhere, and entrenched herself in the position she has won among our foremost players.

The Hand of the True Artist==

The one of æsthetic taste never was more apparent than in the new creations we have so recently received in the line of coverings for the floors and windows, and in the papers for the walls, for this season's homes; seems as though things had gone along with bounds. As though those that have given over their lives to the creating of things beautiful for the home had received special inspirations, and the new we have to show you fairly makes us glow with pride. 'Tis a season of "specialties," and those of you having new homes to supply, or old homes to make new Dame Fortune has been very kind to.

Belmont Wiltons

A beautiful silky solid colored Carpet, made with a narrow twelve-inch border, the most fitting floor cover to accompany nice walls and rich drapings, and to serve as a background for beautiful upholstered stuffs now being used.

It has the sheen of a genuine Wilton and the fineness of design as well. 'Tis a product we truly are proud of.

For $1.25 per yard.

Our China Matting

And they are ours. We send a man right over there for them and he uses our taste in picking them out, for we tell him what we want, and we know it's what you want, because you buy them of us now so much that we know just what's your taste.

A new wrinkle with us this year. We quote you by the yard. Last year's price by the roll.

Beautiful Matting,

From 10¢.

Our Ten-Wire Tapestry

Hard as a rock, stiff as a board—the colors stand right out as clear as a bell, and they are good designs, too. Two-toned effects, many of them.

Persian designs and colorings are very apparent, many of these being made with borders.

An extremely satisfactory Carpet for one to buy.

Made and laid

For $1.00.

The Celebrated Fibres

Oh! How pretty they are growing. Every day seems to bring us some new pattern prettier than any we have seen before. Surely these are the work of an artist. Beyond anything ever created for a downright swell room—and they wear—twice as well as any Japanese Matting ever made—and many, many times more handsome.

No odor to them.

No right or wrong side to them.

No break to them.

Everything nice about them.

From 30¢.

Imported Linoleum.

Yes, we go away across the water to get it—they make it better over there, use better materials, make a surface much smother than the domestic kind, which causes it to wear much longer. The patterns are prettier, too, most all of them hard wood floor imitations, and very pretty—the great wide sheets are only 60¢.

And the narrow ones
For 50¢.

Meadow Matting.

Well, this is certainly a great success.

It is capital for rug borders, for dining rooms or halls. It looks exactly like the grass matting, but it does not sliver, or ravel out, and is very much more closely woven and will not fade.

For 50¢.

Fibre Filling.

An ideal border for parlor and living room rugs.

Made in solid colors and successfully takes the place of ingrain filling at much less expense.

45¢ and 55¢.

In 1693 there perished in Sicily from this cause 60,000 people; in 19 A. D., 120,000 lives were lost in Italy alone, and in 526 A. D., 200,000 were destroyed in Syria by this power. Throughout ancient writings are scattered many accounts of earth vibrations. It is probable that many of these are exaggerated accounts, and that others are omitted. No such pains were taken in those days to ascertain the facts as were employed in the Charleston earthquake or as will be done in the present disaster.

Memorable among seismic disturbances is the Lisbon disaster of 1755. The loss of life was above 30,000, and the tremor in varying degrees of intensity was experienced throughout France, Italy, Germany and England, extending from the north of Africa to the North Cape, covering an area of 7,500,000 square miles. Like all other earthquakes having the epicentrum near the ocean, excepting the Charleston, a violent tidal wave was set in motion, which in the case of the Lisbon calamity, rolled inland and destroyed whatever the shock had left.

At Cadiz this wave was 60 feet in height, and crossing the ocean it rolled in unusual height into the American harbors. Whether a violent tidal wave was set in motion by the California shock or not it is too early to ascertain.

In August, 1868, the Andes were terribly shaken from Ecuador south 1000 miles. Arica was entirely obliterated in a few moments. A United States steamer was lifted from her moorings in the harbor and swept inland for two miles.

The examination of a fairly complete earthquake catalog reveals a curious condition: The greatest number of shocks have occurred at the middle of each century, with a minor series toward the close and at the beginning of a new century. The experiences of Ceram, Chili, Rome, Aiden and San Francisco during the closing decade of the last century simply add to this testimony. It would not be scientific to regard seismic disturbances as periodic; the above statement should merely be regarded as a coincidence. Time has nothing to do with the phenomena. There is, however, a peculiar record distributed among the months of that eventful year, 1876, beginning with January as follows: 10, 10, 14, 8, 7, 7, 8, 5, 7, 14, 5, 9, total 104. The duration of the disturbance covers not only a few hours but days, months and even years; the proof of this is found in the fact that from 1850-1886 in San Francisco there were 254 distinct shocks, forerunners of the present cataclysm.

These shocks are so uncertain that no laws can be deduced with our present knowledge with any degree of scientific exactness concerning their action. Attempts have been made to do this, and to link them with volcanic action, and this brings us to a serious consideration of the cause of the present convulsion on the Pacific coast.

It is stated in some reports that such a scientist has said that since San Francisco is nearly diametrically opposite from Vesuvius the shock was a result of the volcanic action now in progress there. Scientific investigation of volcanic and earthquake phenomena is of so short duration compared with the magnitude of the forces that the laws of such catastrophes now given in our text-books must be given a very wide latitude. Instead of laws, they are mere generalities. We must at present regard them from their frequency and uncertainty, not as exceptional phenomena, not in conformity with any known and formulated laws, but as characteristic earth phenomena, irregular in occurrence and fairly uncertain as to locality.

Here are the theories advanced by various investigators as to the cause of the earthquake. First, the falling in of great underground caverns like that of the Kentucky limestone regions; second, a violent convulsion of a liquid interior by superheated vapors; third, the action of sun and moon upon a liquid interior as is the case with the surface waters of the globe, tide action; fourth, volcanoes and earthquakes are linked as cause and effect.

It thus remains for the geologist, a master of physical laws, to advance a theory in accordance with recognized data, the sliding of the strata, folding or faulting. It seems that the cause of such disasters as the recent one is due solely to the shrinking of the earth, and to elevation and subsidence of immense land areas, whether above or below the level of the waters. The surface of the earth is a series of huge balances, some areas are sinking while others are rising. This necessarily produces a strain which sooner or later must rend the strata. An earthquake then correctly defined is the yielding of the earth's surface to a strain produced by centuries of rising and sinking of the strata. Motion continues several centuries in one direction and then is often reversed.

It is in this manner that mountain ranges were formed, are being formed today, then once more submerged only to rise again. Sea shells and various remains of marine life in the Rockies, the Alps and in the Himalayas afford indisputable testimony. When the strain becomes too great the substrata yields. Deep down they begin to crack, fissures run for miles irregularly, jointing is carried on, faults form, rents and fissures open everywhere, as in the yielding of plate glass to steady increasing stress. The strata ultimately reach the limit of tenacity when subjected to stress so tremendous, and when they do yield the result is a mighty shiver, a quake, a quiver transmitted in undulatory waves in all directions, with a velocity regulated by the density of the strain through which the tremor passes.

Earthquakes are the mightiest of agents which have fashioned the surface of the earth, and the work is still in progress. Some mountain ranges, like the White mountains, are comparatively free from such disturbances, says an opponent of our theory. They are of very ancient origin, so old, in fact, that the geologist hesitates to name the period of their formation. But they, also, have known their days of faults and quakes, when the epicentrum of the earth vibration was central above them. Their long and deep ravines, their numberless faults and great arcs of magnificent jointing show all too conclusively that they have been subjected to strains of prodigious proportions, that they have yielded and sent out vibrations and quivers wide and deep through their granite ribs, above which no human architecture could stand, no terrestrial life be secure, as is the present condition in the newer mountains of the Beautiful Mirage of North Shore Seen 60 Miles at Sea.

The officers and crew of the steamer Bethania from Hamburg, which arrived at Boston last week, had the extremely unique experience of seeing a clear and distinct mirage of this section of the North Shore, when the ship was many miles out at sea. The Bethania was 60 miles out at sea when the phenomenon was observed, and not only was Gloucester clearly discerned, but the twin lights on Thatcher's Island, Magnolia and the town of Manchester were also shown in the marvelous picture drawn by nature.

The mirage was noticed on Tuesday afternoon. At that time the weather was of the best and the Bethania was running along at full speed, the officers believing that they need give no thought to the dangers of the coast or slow up because of shallow water until they had proceeded many miles further. Suddenly the watch officer who had been gazing at the horizon ahead, gave a shout and ran into the chart house with the warning exclamation, "We are out of our course, the coast is just dead ahead."

All on board looked ahead and sure enough there was the brown line of the coast, apparently not many miles distant. As the ship's company watched, cities appeared to grow up at the water's edge with church spires and buildings and then the twin light houses on Thatcher's Island were seen. The places were made out as Rockport, Gloucester and Manchester further up the coast. But soon the real nature of the apparition was seen. The picture grew clearer and then it was seen that all the buildings and churches, the light house and the line of the shore were inverted like the reflection of objects in the water.

It was a mirage, painted by nature upon the sky, the conditions of cloud and sun making a natural camera. After a few moments the mirage faded from view, and half an hour later the ship had reached the spot where the mirage had been, but there was nothing to be seen but blue water, and Cape Ann was still many miles away.

A mirage of such plainness of detail is quite unusual in these northern waters.

Description of Roman Catholic Church To be Built at Manchester-by-the-Sea

The contract for the construction of the new Catholic church of the Sacred Heart at Manchester-by-the-Sea, Mass., will be awarded in a few days. The plans which were inspired by the previous pastor of the parish and which, on account of his death were not carried out, have been superseded by others which illustrate an entirely different type of architecture and a more enduring construction.

Realizing the primary need of a site sufficiently large to provide a dignified frame for the architecture, Rev. William F. Powers, the new incumbent, secured two adjacent lots in addition to the old church property which is so well favored a location in reference to the parochial conditions. By this means, it has been possible to give an ampler character to the structure itself and to so locate it that its tower will definitely terminate the vista as one approaches from Magnolia. The architectural type was a matter of much deliberation in view of the fine standards of the neighborhood. The plentiful supply of stone in the vicinity, the picturesque character of the town, as well as the inherent claims of the Gothic style of architecture resulted in the design illustrated herewith, which is modeled upon the mediæval type of the English village. The walls are comparatively low, but high enough to admit of a series of pointed arches on each side, the arches springing directly from the heavy

The Strange Vision of Elizabeth Allen

(From the Boston Sunday Herald)

When Manchester-by-the-Sea was very young, some 15 years before the revolutionary period, a girl dwelt in the town whose name was destined to become a synonym to later generations of strenuous virtue and thrifty womanhood. Elizabeth Allen was an extremely attractive girl belonging to one of Manchester's oldest families. She was much sought after by the beaux of the town, but among them all came no Lochinvar.

When about 17 years of age she dreamed that a handsome young man came dashing up to her door on a splendid great black charger, and that she eventually became his bride. The dream was so vivid that every detail of the scene and the lineaments of the man's face became indelibly stamped upon her mind. The next morning at the breakfast table she told the story, which was greeted with shouts of laughter. And long afterward it was the subject of frequent discussion until time faded it from her mind.

Meanwhile, on the same night in which the fair descendant of Pilgrim forefathers had her dream, a young man over in Scotland was just finishing his preparations for a long journey. It was the eve of his departure for America. He fell asleep, only to be visited by the radiant vision of a beautiful girl in the new country. This vision appeared to him for three nights, and from that time on the "dream girl" became his constant companion.

America was kind to the young adventurer, and he found profitable employment and congenial friends, but none was able to win the heart of young Sammy Samples, whose Entered Into Rest.

The many friends of Rev. and Mrs. D. F. Lamson will sympathize with them in the recent sudden death of their daughter, Florence G. Lamson, who passed away in the Sanitarium in Cambridge, on Friday, the 27th, after a rapid decline, her condition not being considered serious until a few hours before she died. Miss Lamson was of a quiet, retiring disposition, and was not known to a large circle of acquaintances, but her affectionate, devoted, faithful Christian life greatly endeared her to those who knew her. She rests from her labors and her works do follow her. She was laid to rest on Monday in the beautiful village cemetery in Weston, the native town of her parents and of ancestors on both sides for many generations.

BRIGHTEN UP THE HOME WITH A NEW RUG

We have them from $7.00 to $150.00

A SHORT STORY ABOUT SOME OF THEM :

AFGHAN

The majority of these rugs are made by the women of Bokhara. The color is usually deep red, black and a little white, the design being a repetition of rectangular figure, or flat cornered squares, the ground of the rug being red, the design black — sizes 6 x 9 to 8 x 11 feet.

KERMAN

These are made by Afshars a wandering tribe in Persia, who produce some of the finest rugs made. The weave is the finest, with a silk lustre, the designs are exceedingly handsome. They can be had in rug or carpet size.

PERSIAN

This rug is generally known by the warp, which is almost invariably of cotton, but the rule has exceptions, as some are wool. The dye used is very durable. It is conceded that rugs were made in Persia, centuries before the art found its way to Turkey and India.

MOUSOUL

This rug resembles the Persian in texture, but the weave is heavier and coarser. In design the Persian palm is prominent, but the Persian designs are reproduced. It is a popular rug and like many Persians is silky. The sizes most commonly seen are 4x7 or 4x8 feet.

MANCHESTER

Mr. and Mrs. F. Clifford Rand were in Portsmouth over Sunday.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Manchester Electric Co. last Saturday the old board of officers were re-elected as follows: Oliver T. Roberts, president; George C. Lee, jr., treasurer; Raymond C. Allen, clerk; Philip Dexter, Gordon Abbott, Gardner M. Lane and Chas. E. Cotting, directors.

A runaway on Pine street Wednesday occasioned much excitement in that vicinity and all along Bridge street to the Dr. Fitz estate, and incidentally strewed milk and cream and cans along the way. The driver of the Cherry Hill farm milk wagon had removed his horse's bridle to feed him, when the animal took fright, tipped over the wagon and skipped off with the front wheels. The animal ran up Bridge street and turned into Dr. Fitz's avenue, where it was finally stopped.

J. P. Latons is doing a hustling business at his shop on Summer street. One day this week there were upwards of 30 carriages of various kinds there being painted.

as it is from his own observation as a journalist, promises to afford a clever and absolutely novel point of view of certain phases of the American life-drama. It may not be amiss to add at this time that Mr. Williams has novelized his play under the name of "The Day Dreamer," and the book is now on the stalls. "The Stolen Story" is a graphic and intense narrative which concerns the theft of a legislative bill, the loss of which involves the integrity and honor of a statesman of reputation. Altogether, no play to be produced in recent years promises so much of novelty as "The Stolen Story," and Henry W. Savage has spared no expense to make the production a most noteworthy one in every detail. The scenic equipment is unusually heavy and complete while the interpretation of the plot is intrusted to a cast of superior excellence.

Friends of Mrs. S. Parkman Blake will regret to learn of her ill health. Very suddenly she has decided to go south to the Hot Springs (Va.), leaving Boston Thursday. In all probability the family will not come to Manchester this summer and the house may be rented. Mrs. Blake and her daughter, Miss Marion Blake, traveled abroad last summer, the Kings of New York having their place.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ames, 2d, are spending a few weeks at their North Easton estate before opening their house at Prides Crossing.

The engagement is announced of Prescott Bigelow, Jr., of Manchester and Boston and Miss Marion Burdett.

The Henry B. Kings and the W. S. Spauldings have arrived at the Prides Crossing estates this week for the season.

Mrs. Gordon Prince has been spending the week at her cottage in West Manchester, which has been let for the season to the W. C. Sheldons of New York. Mrs. Prince will spend the summer in Beverly Farms.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Porter, 2d, (Miss Wigglesworth) have taken the Dr. Rotch cottage, Manchester, for the summer.

The S. V. R. Crosbys arrived at their West Manchester estate Thursday.

T. Dennie Boardman and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Goodrich are now located at the "Chubbs," West Manchester, for the season, moving down from town Thursday. Miss E. D. Boardman, Mr. Boardman's sister, arrived at "Hill Top" the middle of the week also.

The Arthur M. Merriams were among the arrivals at Manchester Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Thayer and daughter, Margaret, are spending a few weeks at the Stanley Cottage in Magnolia prior to going abroad.

Wm. Underwood and family of Boston are spending a few weeks at their cottage in Magnolia, which has been let for the season to the Geo. P. Wilshires of Cincinnati.

Chas. P. Sampson and family are spending a few days at their cottage on Western avenue, Magnolia.

Miss Diana Rockwell's house on Smith's Point has been opened this week in anticipation of Miss Rockwell's arrival Monday.

Dr. Hall Curtis and family arrived at their Beverly Farms cottage this week.

The interest in yachting is ripening for the summer and many of the boats are being overhauled and will be put in commission soon. Wm. A. Tucker's "Khalifa" will be put in commission next week. The "Otisketa," launched from Fenton's in Manchester a little while ago, was tried out yesterday. Capt. Arthur Pettie of Detroit, representing the Columbia Yacht club of that city, came on for the try-out. The boat is to race for the Lipton cup on the great lakes this summer. White is also building one at his yard, which will be put over in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert I. Croll and family are expected at their Smith's Point cottage next Thursday. Their house has been opened this week.

ADJOURNED TOWN MEETING

The Last Session of the Annual Meeting Held Monday Evening

The final business of the annual town meeting, in Manchester, was disposed of Monday evening at the adjourned meeting, which was called to order at 7.45 by Moderator F. K. Hooper.

The matter of building a sidewalk through the Cove woods, so-called, was the principal matter of business. The committee on appropriations reported that as the plans for the sidewalk had only been out a few days they requested more time, and said they would be ready to report at a special meeting to be held the last of this month. This was voted on favorably.

W. C. Rust.—“We have a plan of that sidewalk and I think it would be a good idea to have it explained.”

Gardner M. Lane, chairman of the committee, said the plan was simply an outline of the sidewalk, showing where it was placed in the street. It was to be built on the northerly side of the street, along Mr. Coolidge's land, and continue to the junction of Ocean street. The only question was, when the road reaches the top of Craft's hill, there is a ledge extending out and part of the road used comes so near the walk, it is very dangerous for pedestrians.

It seems best, he said, to cut off part of the ledge and move the road over, making enough room for a sidewalk.

Mr. Rust said there was a place near Mr. Coolidge's farm stable where the walk would have to rise four or six feet above the level of this road. Why not cut this ledge away?

Mr. Lane replied that this would destroy the beauty of the road; it was the idea of the committee to remove the trees as little as possible.

Mr. Rust.—“The gentleman is for beauty; I am for utility. By removing this ledge you can fill in in other places.” The speaker went on to say that it would be difficult in winter for people to walk up the steep grades, and it would be hard also to get there with snow plows. “I should call it an abortion to build according to the plans.”

Austin Morley.—“I have looked the plans over as much as anyone has, and I think they could not be improved on by anybody. The grade is not steep, — only 1 in 15.”

Mr. Lane.—“The committee considered not only the beauty, but our first consideration was to get a sidewalk. The question of beauty was only secondary. The plans are based primarily on how to get the best sidewalk; second, to lay it out in such a manner as to keep it looking as nice as possible, removing as few trees as possible.”

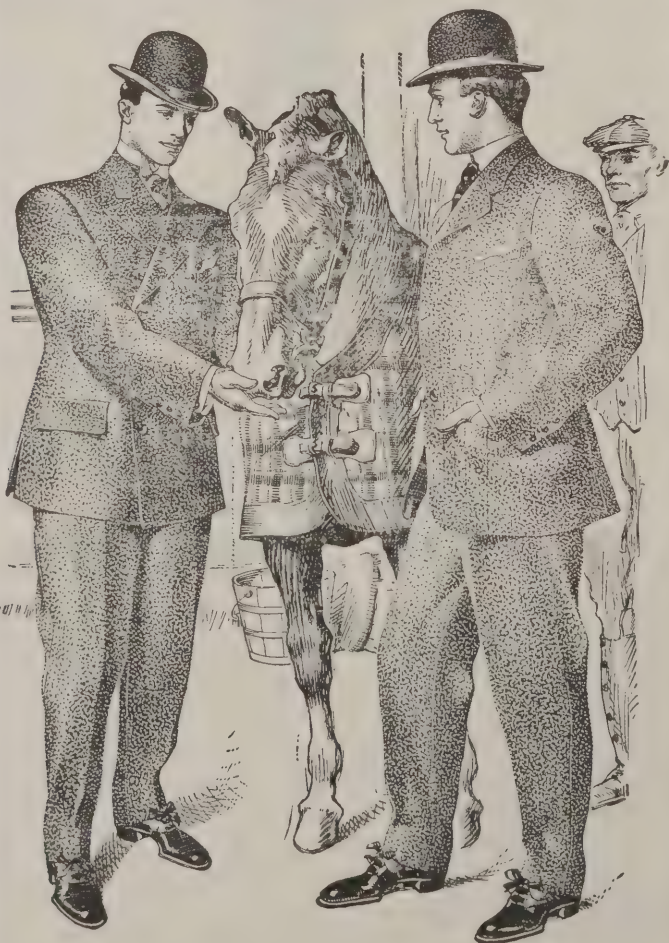

Mr. Rust thought this sidewalk should be in keeping with those in other parts of the town.

F. K. Hooper thought this plan presented was a good one, and that the town should build the walk this year.

Art. 3.—To take such action as seems proper with reference to filling the vacancy caused by the death of Wm. E. Kitfield, a member of the Board of Selectmen.

It was thought advisable to call a special meeting for the election of a successor to the late Wm. E. Kitfield.

E. P. Stanley moved that a committee of five be appointed to draw up resolutions and a that a copy be sent to the family of the bereaved and also proper respect to our late official here tonight and I think it fitting to show respect to the living officers. Ten years ago I came here and I must say I was much impressed with the way business was conducted and with the courteous treatment shown every one. The first meeting I attended you had the same moderator as you have tonight and during all those years we could not have asked for any better ruling. All these years he has served without compensation and in view of all these facts it seems but proper to move a rising vote of thanks to Mr. Hooper, for his services. (Applause).

The clerk put the vote, which was unanimous.

F. K. Hooper.—"I hardly know what to say to your unanimous expression. While I have always done my best, it has always been a great pleasure. It is an honor and I appreciate that I can say I have presided at all the meetings, regular and special, for the past eleven years. I didn't like to feel I had that little obligation and so I think it time I withdraw and you choose someone else." Mr. Hooper spoke of the introduction of water into the town, and also of the important meeting when it was decided not to allow the introduction of street railways in the town.

The meeting dissolved at 8.30 o'clock. The special meeting will be called probably on May 28.

SAN FRANCISCO FUND

Manchester Citizens Donate $1657.35 for the Sufferers—The School Children Give $20.98 Toward Memorial School Building in the Stricken City

The Manchester citizens have been most liberal, indeed, in their subscriptions for the San Francisco relief fund. In addition to the $1360.60 collected by the committee last Friday as a result of their canvass, as reported in our last issue, $296.75 was left with the treasurer at the Town hall during the week, making a grand total of $1657.35, which amount was taken to Boston Thursday by the treasurer and added to the general fund.

In addition to this the children of the town have given $20.98 toward a memorial school building fund started by the Hearst papers, for the purpose of erecting a memorial school building in the stricken city as soon as possible. This was a good means of teaching the children philanthropic giving to a noble cause.

SATURDAY, MAY 5, 1906.

The assessors and furniture movers are having their innings at present.

The carpenters are striking more this week than they have for some time.

When the vessel "Tom Lawson" is turned into an oil freighter, will she unload as easily as her illustrious namesake has always done?

The annual report of the state tax commissioner, giving the list of property in the state exempt from taxation, shows Manchester has $32,625, churches.

We learn from the president of the Thought and Work club of Salem that Professor John Duxbury of Manchester, Eng., will give his recital on the book of Job and other selections, at the Wesley church, North street, Salem, on Saturday evening, the 12th inst., at 7.45 o'clock. Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln of Manchester-by-the-Sea will be the soloist of the evening and Mr. A. E. De Normandie of Grace Episcopal church, Salem, will officiate at the organ, and will accompany Mr. Lincoln. The exercises of the evening will open with a brief organ recital by Mr. De Normandie. An entertainment of rare merit may be expected.

The Witch of Kettle Island

From the Boston Sunday Herald

Kettle Cove, now Magnolia, was joined to the main point by a bar of sand and rocks, which gave to the coast line the shape of a kettle. Many years ago, when settlers in this part of the country were few, there lived on Kettle Island an old crone, reputed to be a witch, named Gamma Dunstan. She dwelt in a little house close to the Neck, and traded upon her reputation.

One bright September day she took up her oaken staff, and, leaning heavily upon it, wended her way to the house of her neighbor and landlord, Farmer Cranford.

"Neighbor," she said, seating herself upon the top of a half-barrel, "thy son Willum loves my darter."

"Aye, Gamma Dunstan," replied the old man, "it is as thou sayest. Faith, but he eats only half his usual amount. His appetite is fair gone."

"He, he," snickered the old woman, "'twas ever so with the silly ones. A youth or a maid do take on when the lovesickness seizes them. I am an old woman. My working days are almost gone by. If my gal marries your lad she will leave me. They all fly away from the home nest when they make one of their own, and I shall be alone. I cannot let my darter go for naught, for I should ha' nothing left. Promise me that thou wilt give me the pasture rights on the land on which my house stands, as well as those of yonder point; in exchange I give my darter to your son. If she weds without my consent, my curse will rest upon her."

That afternoon, as Elsie sat by the sea, she saw a tiny boat come dancing over the blue water. In the stern sat a handsome young man gazing with wonder and delight on the beautiful maiden. Giving low orders to his men, with a courtly bow he approached her and asked to be allowed to gather driftwood. While his men were collecting it he sat beside the blushing girl and told stories of a wonderful country far away, and as he left he raised her hand to his lips and slipped a ring upon her finger, telling her he would return to make her his bride.

Hiding the ring, the girl went to the hut to prepare the frugal meal, and was told of the coming marriage. Her liking for William turned to hatred, and each day she watched for her lover's appearance. Locked in her room lest she make away with herself, the old crone watched her, but the date of the wedding a fearful storm raged, and she was allowed to go out of the house.

Wandering to the shore, she threw herself down in deep despair, when a faint shout reached her ears. There, on the dancing billows, bounded the light boat of her lover. The witch came to the shore to seize her, when, with a cry of fear, Elsie flew into her lover's arms, while her mother hurled curses after her. As the old woman fell into the sea, she cried: "Cursed be the land. Let no horned cattle live ever on its pastures."

The storm raged, and on the following morning the witch and her sheep were washed up on the sand. The roadway, covered by the sea, has remained so to this day. Be it witchcraft or natural causes, there is no visible bar that joins the island to the mainland, and it is asserted no horned cattle can live over six months on Magnolia Point beyond Willow Cottage.

Councilman and Mrs. Frank Rand spent Sunday visiting relatives in Portsmouth.

Samuel McKinnon has resumed his former position with the North Shore Fish Co.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Varney have been spending a few days this week visiting the former's relatives in Portland, Me.

The children of the Sunday School held a social and sale at the church last Saturday afternoon to raise funds for staining the floors of the primary department room at the church.

A large gang of men have been at work this week relaying the telephone conduits in the vicinity of Mingo Beach, where the state highway is now being built. The work is being done by D. Linehan & Son.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Andrew J. Crowell took place at 2 p.m. last Monday from the Beverly Farms Baptist church, Rev. Clarence Strong Pond officiating. Members of Post 67, G.A.R., of Manchester, of which he was a member, were present, as were also Preston Post 188, and the usual G.A.R. obituary services were conducted at the conclusion of the services in the church. Interment was made in the Beverly Farms cemetery.

The Gloucester brass band is to furnish the Memorial Day music for Preston Post 188.

Baseball enthusiasts, which number quite a good many at the Farms, including the fair sex, expect to attend the game on Peabody's field this afternoon, which is the commencing of the usual Saturday afternoon vocation during the season.

Tablets from 1c up; stationery of all descriptions at White & Master's. *

Last Monday evening Preston W. R. Corps gave a whist party in the G.A.R. hall for the purpose of increasing the fund towards the purchasing of the "Union Jack," an object which for some time has been sought for by these ladies and which has been at last attained, enough being secured to place the order. The flag will be used by the G.A.R. on Memorial Day. The winner of the gentleman's first prize, a pocketbook, was Lawrence J. Watson; first ladies' prize, a set of butter plates, Mrs. Elmer Standley. The consolation prize for ladies, a work basket, was secured by Miss Violet Batchelder; the gents' consolation prize, a set of coat hangers, went to Charles H. Day.

Miss Helen Callahan, after a winter spent with relatives at Hallowell, Me., returned to her home at the Farms the first of the week.

F. W. Varney, the Central square druggist, has just installed a system of electric lights in his store, and especially noticeable is the large arc light in the centre of the room.

Miss Helen Leahy has accepted the position of bookkeeper with the new provision firm of Messrs. Preble & Co.

Miss A. Frost returned to her home on Monday, after a winter's absence spent with relatives at Columbus, Miss.

Warren A. Smith and family moved down from Maplewood this week and are to spend the summer at Beverly Farms, occupying the Thissel homestead at Preston place. Mr. Smith occupies an important position with the W. W. Rawson & Co. seed concern of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Knowlton were in Kittery Point, Me., Sunday visiting relatives.

CARPENTERS' STRIKE

Demands of the Carpenters for 41 Cents an Hour, Granted by Practically All the Contractors

Tuesday morning the demands of the carpenters all along the shore for a 41 cents an hour rate went into effect, and as a number of the contractors refused to sign the schedule, work was suspended in a great many cases. All of Roberts & Hoare's men in Manchester went out, but Wilson of Nahant, who has the Frick job at Pride's Crossing in hand, kept his men at work.

Of the 45 or more concerns hiring carpenters and thereby directly affected by the demands, nineteen signed the schedule on the first day and others have signed during the week, till last night 38 had replied favorably to the demands.

Those who had not signed were Roberts & Hoare and C. L. Crafts of Manchester; Publicover Bros. of Beverly Farms; Prince Ober and Samuel Dexter of Beverly, and Pitman & Brown of Salem.

What the Carpenters Ask For.

1st—That 8 hours shall constitute a day's work.

2d—That the minimum wage of all carpenters shall be 41 cents per hour.

3d—That time and a half shall be allowed for all overtime till 10 o'clock and double time thereafter.

4th—That the business agent of the N. S. D. C. shall be given the right to appoint a steward on all jobs and have the privilege of visiting said steward at any and all times.

RED MEN CELEBRATE

The 13th Anniversary of Conomo Tribe, 113, in Manchester, the Occasion of a Very Delightful Evening

The 13th anniversary of Conomo tribe, 113, I.O.R.M., of Manchester will go down in the history of that organization as one of the red letter events of its life, for the occasion was indeed one of a most delightful nature.

The affair was held in the Town hall, which was well-nigh filled by the members of the order and their friends.

The entertainment, furnished by Lancy & Blaney of Marblehead, with a strong personnel assisting, was one of rare merit, and it is safe to say the combination is hard to beat. Al Meader, the reader, was the star of the evening. His humorous selections and character sketches hit well and kept the house in a continuous roar of laughter. Mr. Kelley, tenor, was in fine voice and his selections were much enjoyed, while Messrs. Lancy and Blaney were right at home on their several instruments. Mr. Barry was at the piano.

Refreshments of ice-cream, cake and crackers were served after which the hall was cleared and dancing was enjoyed till midnight. The grand march was led by Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Swett, followed by 30 couples. The committee in charge was composed of George Gould, chairman; A. S. Peabody, Manuel Thomas, Wm. Mitchell, M. A. McInnis, W. R. Bell, L. W. Floyd and J. A. Lodge.

5th—All men sent away on jobs shall have their car fares paid by the employer.

6th—All men shall be paid on or on the bargain man — but the fact is, we, in common with other dealers, have to suffer from "Bargain House" tactics. Mattings over a year old are practically worthless for hard wear — then the straws become dry and brittle, causing the wholesaler and importer to sell out at Auction at the best prices they can get — which is very little. It is from such sales that some dealers buy most of their mattings—Our Mattings come in direct from China and Japan — You're sure to get these goods from us. It pays in better wearing carpets.

Officer Williams' presence of mind on Thursday afternoon at the Farms' station, in preventing a woman from boarding an outgoing train which was moving with considerable speed, probably averted a serious accident.

The final survey of the Trowt field and the staking out of house lots ready for the market was completed this week. This fact, however, does not appear to be welcomed by the boys and young men of the place, who have used the field heretofore as a playground.

Mrs. Sarah N. Donovan

The community was shocked Wednesday morning to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. Sarah N. Donovan, wife of Peter Donovan, who passed away at her home on High street. While Mrs. Donovan's health has not been of the best for several years, no one anticipated her demise. She was of a charitable disposition, and many of her friends and neighbors can ill afford to lose her, for she was one who was ever ready to lend aid in doing good. She leaves a husband, four sons and three daughters. Funeral services were held Thursday morning at St. Margaret's church at 9 o'clock, and interment was in the Catholic cemetery, Salem.

An entertainment of a novel character will be presented at the May meeting of the Wednesday Evening club, the 16th inst. The meeting is the last of the season and will be held in the town hall. The Floyds of Boston, furnished by the White entertainment bureau, will furnish the entire program. They are magicians and mind readers, and will be assisted by a pianist. Some of their stunts will be much after the Houdini style, it is said. The committee have arranged to sell a few tickets to non-members for this meeting, and these may be found at Cheever's drug store.

Harry Ramsdell of North Andover, the popular bookkeeper at the Essex County club, has resumed his duties there for the season. Dan McPhee, one of the bell boys, is back for the season also. The club will not be opened till May 30.

N. P. Meldrum has been kept away from his duties at the water board office most of the week by ill-health.

There was quite a rumpus in the vicinity of the corner of School and Vine streets Monday night which resulted in the police being called and one arrest following. It appears that some young men had been imbibing too freely and had gone to a barn in that section used by Hurley the lamp-lighter to sleep it off, breaking in the door to gain admittance, it is said. The occupants of a house nearby were aroused about midnight and called the police. One of the crowd was locked up and was fined $10 in court next day.

DESCRIPTION OF CATHOLIC CHURCH

buttresses. The gable of the facade, is distinguished by a great mullioned window, underneath which is the main entrance composed of two sets of double doors within two arches separated by a buttress supporting a statue of original design symbolic of the Sacred Heart.

The tower, which embraces a third entrance from the street, is a most picturesque feature of the building. Fulfilling a perfectly organic function, it is yet for most of its height quite free of the main building. The masonry at the top is terminated with a battlement outline and the thin broaching copper spire is carried beyond to a height of 115 feet from the street. The belfry is marked by a three panel mullioned window on each side with flat lintel. Towards the sanctuary end of the church on either side are two porches of stone, one of which is designed to communicate directly with the future rectory.

The church is divided longitudinally into seven bays each 13 feet long and transversely into nave and side aisles, the width being 52 feet, inside dimension. The piers are octagonal in section, with moulded plinths, and are quite without impost, the lines merging gracefully into the nave arches. The nave is ceiled with a uniform vault, whose outline is emphasized by a system of moulded wooden ribbing between the heavier lines which mark the trusses. Three dormer windows penetrate the vault on each side. Over the vestibule, which is separated from the auditorium by a screen of wood and leaded glass, is the choir gallery which is reached by a stairway from the tower.

The sanctuary is ample in scale and its square end is pierced by a richly mullioned window overhead, 15 feet in width, which is designed to form the frame for a memorial glass design of a high order, the colors to be rich and deep-toned. On either side of the chancel are flat niches for shrines. An unusually large sacristy is provided in which it will be possible to hold morning services. This also has a simple vaulted ceiling and is amply supplied with wardrobes and closets. A toilet room is provided for the use of the congregation off one of the side porches.

The floor of the church throughout is of reinforced concrete, finished with cement in which is embedded at intervals Moravian tile. The interior wood finish will be North Carolina pine, the altar being of quartered oak, partly gilded.

The building was designed by Maginnis, Walsh & Sullivan, architects of Boston.

It might be added that the rapidity with which the work on the new edifice will go on, depends on the resources at the disposal of the pastor. At all events work will be started as soon as possible after the contract is awarded. In all probability the tower will not be constructed till after the main structure is completed.

THE STRANGE STORY OF ELIZABETH ALLEN

thoughts were always with his "dream girl." Invited, not long after his arrival, to spend the Sabbath in Lynn, he attended a church service, and while sitting in the stiff-backed pew the girl of his dreams rose before his eyes, seated in the choir, in all the beauty of reality.

In the confusion of quitting the church he lost sight of her, and tried in vain for a while to learn who she was. At last he discovered that she was a Miss Elizabeth Allen of Manchester, visiting in Lynn.

Soon afterward the black horse drew up to her door; the suitor had arrived. Not in vain was his wooing, for a few months later the wedding bells rang out merrily in Manchester. The wedding ring was very curious—three circlets joined in one. At her death it was divided among three daughters; one had her ring buried with her, the second ring was lost, while the third is in the possession of Mrs. Ellen Durgin.

Sammy Samples died after a few years of wedded life, and his widow married Col. Eleazer Crafts of revolutionary fame. "Grannie Crafts" kept the first store ever opened in Manchester, in the house now owned and occupied by the family of the late Joseph Proctor, the actor. This house, about which clusters many a tradition and romance of colonial days, was built in 1741 by Mrs. Samples, who worked with the men, carrying bricks in her apron for its mammoth chimneys.

May Run Again.

Mr. James F. Shaw, Republican candidate for senator last fall, and family are at their Manchester home for the season. Mr. Shaw has put in a very busy winter, having spent much time in Virginia, where he has business interests, and in New York City, where street railway enterprises have kept him occupied. Mr. Shaw has been approached by several leading representative Republicans in this district asking that he again accept a nomination for senator, but he is giving the matter serious consideration before making a statement.—Gloucester Times.

Nance O'Neil Returns to Boston

The announcement of the return to Boston of Nance O'Neil, the distinguished young American tragedienne, whom Boston claims for her very own, will be of no little interest to local theatregoers who are very familiar with the art of this talented actress with the picturesque name and personality. The date of Miss O'Neil's opening is Monday evening, May 7th, and the attraction will be Ibsen's "Rosmersholm" which will be made known for the first time in Boston by Miss O'Neil. It is said the second week of Miss O'Neil's engagement will be given up to revivals of her great successes, and "Magda," "Fires of St. John" and "Hedda Gabler" will no doubt be seen here.

NANCE O'NEIL

Wedding presents, birthday presents, presents of various kinds, can be found at Winchester's, Jeweler, 182 Main street, Gloucester. *

Bearing none of the dignity that the other woods possess; but, rather, giving one at first sight the idea of girlishness and daintiness it most fittingly may be called a young ladies' wood.

Bird's Eye Maple

Its color is so soft and mellow as to most beautifully blend in with the delicate pinks and blues, the young misses' favorite colors. And a chamber fitted out with this pretty wood may easily be made the most attractive in the home.

Don't despond now, after this pretty picture, through your imagination having carried you into the world of impossibles, for we've a pretty Bird's Eye Maple Dresser, the foundation of the bedroom. It has two swell top drawers, the graceful oval mirror. It's all covered over with the little maple "eyes." It's a perfect little beauty.

For only $16.50

Isn't that cheap? This store never contained so many really unusual values as this season offers you.

IN THE OLD PLACES.

By Kate Restieaux.

We waited till Spring was well upon us this year, in fact it was the 19th of April that found us strolling down the pleasant path that dips so serenely into the woods, where the Essex Road divides the Longham Meadow lands. Of just such a spot as this must our poet have sung—

"Sudden as the babbling brook or robin's whistle
Spring—swift, thou art come in the old places,
In the hollow swamp-land, bloom or brake."

I am not much tempted to write verse in Spring, simply because others have written so sweetly and perfectly, and the precious, belated New England Spring is such a fleeting and sensitive thing,—here today and gone tomorrow,—that I am loathe to bring my clumsy English artifices to bear on one so lovely. Thus I go singing with Woodberry, "Was it April I heard sighing?

Was it May I heard replying?"
And I believe I am quite as happy as if I had originated the sweet idyls for which he is responsible.

CONTRACT AWARDED

Roberts & Hoare will Build the New Catholic Church in Manchester, the Stone Work to be Done by Morley, Flatley & Co.

The contract for building the proposed new Catholic church in Manchester was awarded this week to Roberts & Hoare, the well-known Manchester concern, and the stone work is to be done by Morley & Flatley.

All of the bids as first turned in were rejected on account of their excess over the architect's estimate. New proposals were therefore submitted to the lowest Boston bidder and to the lowest local bidder, for a proportionate part of the work. The result is that the work on the church this year will embrace at least the shell of the structure, exclusive of the tower and the interior finish of the auditory. It is on this much of the work that the contract has thus far been awarded, it is understood.

The pastor is gratified in being able to give the work to Manchester people. It has been determined to have the summer services of next year in the new church, even if the interior be in the rough.

A series of entertainments, sales and functions of various kinds are being arranged with the object of raising funds for the church, the first to be in the form of a reception to Rev. Fr. Powers.

FIREMEN ORGANIZE

The Manchester Companies Held Their Annual Meeting Monday Evening

The Manchester firemen held their annual elections Monday evening of this week, the board of engineers appointed by the selectmen organizing with James Hoare as chief; George S. Sinnicks, assistant chief, and Clarence W. Morgan, clerk. The companies organized as follows:

Steamer No 1.—Chas. W. Sawyer, foreman; Richard J. Baker, assistant foreman, George E. Hildreth, clerk.

Chemical.—Frank G. Cheever, foreman; Raymond C. Allen, asst. foreman; L. W. Floyd, engineer and clerk; Michael Kelliher, leading hose-man; Edward Crowell, 1st asst. engineer; Charles Morse, 2d asst. engineer; Manuel Thomas, foreman of the leading hose.

Hook and Ladder.—Granville Crombie, foreman; Thomas Baker, asst. foreman; Chas. W. Fritz, clerk.

A feature of the meeting of the Hook and Ladder company was the resignation of George D. Haskell, a member of the department for upward of 35 years, and for 25 years clerk of the Hook and Ladder Co. Mr. Haskell's resignation comes after a great many years of valuable service. Very few knew of his intention of leaving the department, till when the roll was called for those who desired to continue, he was the only one who arose and answered in the negative. He passed his keys over to the foreman with a very pretty maiden speech, and they were accepted by Foreman Crombie, who expressed his regret in having such a valuable member leave the company.

NOTICE!

IN BOARD OF SELECTMEN

WHEREAS, In the opinion of the Selectmen of the Town of Manchester, the common convenience and necessity of the inhabitants of said town require that Brook street should be re-located and widened from a point at or near the intersection of Norwood avenue with said Brook street, and running thence northwesterly to School street; it is therefore ORDERED: That due notice be given to Mary A. Gilman, Sarah and Mary D. Giles, Town of Manchester, Andrew Trowt heirs and Lizzie M. Peabody, also all other persons interested, that the Selectmen of said town intend to lay out the town way before mentioned, by taking a portion of the land of the said Mary A. Gilman, Sarah and Mary D. Giles, Town of Manchester, Andrew Trowt heirs, and Lizzie M. Peabody.

And that Thursday, the seventeenth day of May, 1906, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, at the office of the Selectmen, in Town Hall building, Manchester, is assigned as the time and place for hearing any objection which may be made to said taking.

MANCHESTER

The work of destroying the moth nests has been confined the past week to the Johnson and Hassom property on High School hill, which has been thoroughly gone over and the underbrush collected and burned. Local Superintendent Young will next confine his endeavors to burlapping the trees. He also has five barrels of oil at his disposal and with the aid of a special pump for this purpose he will soon start on burning the nests, which the eyes of the "hunters" have thus far been unable to detect. It is safe to say Manchester will be fairly rid of the pests this summer as far as having the foliage destroyed is concerned, though there will be more or less evidence of the moths.

Miss Valeria S. Goodenow of Cambridge, a former teacher at the High school, but now teaching in Winthrop, was in town over Saturday and Sunday visiting at Mrs. J. W. Campbell's.

Miss Elizabeth Meldrum spent Sunday in Danvers visiting her sister, Mrs. Putnam.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Haraden are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a baby boy in their home Monday morning. Mr. Haraden has been passing the cigars this week.

Mrs. John Scott left Monday for a three weeks' visit with her son, George E. Scott, and Mrs. Scott, in New York City.

John E. King, who sold his place here and moved to Stoughton a few weeks ago, has just bought a farm on Wenham street, Danvers, where he has moved with his family.

Bruce Wallace Brotherstone, a senior at Andover Seminary and Prof. E. Y. Hincks of Andover, are to supply the pulpit at the church the next two Sundays while the pastor is on his vacation. Mr. Libby is to preach in Montpelier, Vt., during his absence supplying for his friend Rev. L. F. Reed.

A very enjoyable May Festival was participated in by a small company at Freshwater Cove last Wednesday evening, the rain preventing more general attendance. Handsome baskets filled with goodies had been prepared by the ladies and were auctioned off to the men. Between three and four dollars was cleared from the entertainment. The proceeds will go towards a new organ.

Five members were added to the church last Sunday. They were Misses Bertha Chapman, Carrie Dunbar and Ruth Scott and Charles G. Hoysradt and Frank W. Dunbar.

John Phalen, who for the last six years has been in the employ of Edward Heath, has resigned his position and bought a naphtha launch which he intends to use in fishing. He intends to buy a weir so as to engage in the fishing business.

The Young Folks' Choir club recently organized, undertook a picnic last Saturday, planning to call on the hermit. The rain interfered with their plans and they are waiting now for settled weather.

The contractors, Ballou and Brown, have 48 men employed in various places about Magnolia at present, and more are needed. Work in their line is booming.

The digging for the foundations and cellar of the projected Young Woman's Club house is being pushed vigorously. The intention is to have the building ready for occupancy July 1st. The BREEZE will publish soon a full description of the house proposed. Contractors are to bid on it the first of next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. H. Hunt have opened the Oak Grove House for the summer.

Norman Cottage has been opened and is being prepared for early comers.

Miss Helen Lycett has resumed her former position in the postoffice for the summer.

Everett Sanborn of Nashua, N.H., was home the first of the week. Mrs. Orrin Sawyer of Winchendon and Mrs. Ernest Dunbar of Boston were home over Sunday.

Albert Anderson, for the past six years private gardener for James S. Lee has just started a Manchester-Salem express, with headquarters at Manchester.

Mrs. W. R. Boyd, Miss Alice Story, Miss Frances Libby and the pastor, Rev. F. J. Libby attended the Essex South Conference of Congregational churches at Essex Wednesday

Rosary, Instruction and Benediction Sunday evenings at 7.30 o'clock. Women's Sodality Thursday evenings at 7.30 o'clock. Devotions in honor of the Sacred Heart of Jesus on the first Friday of each month at 7.30 P. M.

A Teacher's Training class has recently been organized at the Baptist church, designed to prepare for teaching in the Sunday school those who have as yet had no experience. The text-book used is Hurlburt's Revised Normal Lessons. The class is to meet bi-weekly, meeting for the first time at the parsonage last Monday evening. Fifteen have joined.

"Arousing Considerations" will be the theme of Rev. E. Hersey Brewster's sermon at the Baptist church tomorrow morning. At the People's evening service at 7.30 he will speak on "Martyrs of the Kitchen," the first in a series of Sunday evening sermons on "Village Homilies." The rest of the series will be: "Patchwork," "Water Pitchers," "An old Turnstile" and "Spare Rooms."

Beginning tomorrow evening the hour of the evening services at both the Congregational and Baptist churches will be at 7.30 instead of 7, as during the winter months. The young people's services will be at 6.30.

The interior of the Baptist church is undergoing a thorough house cleaning. The services will be held in the auditorium tomorrow, however.

Last Sunday at the Baptist church 22 received the Right Hand of Fellowship,—four by letter and the rest by profession of faith.

At the Congregational church last Sunday two new members joined,—Misses Agnes Sjolund and Mabel W. Lodge.

The delegates to the Mass. General Assoc. of Congregational churches, which will meet in Worcester May 15-17, are Geo. W. Jewett and Dea. O. T. Roberts.

Rev. Mr. Lincoln will exchange pulpits with Rev. Mr. Pond of Beverly Farms, tomorrow morning, at the Congregational church.

Next Friday evening Rev. Mr. Lincoln will conduct the prayer service at the Village church, Magnolia, in the absence of Rev. Mr. Libby.

The Essex South Conference of Congregational churches met at Essex Wednesday. A delegation of some 25 members from here attended, most of them going by barge. Dea. J. A. Torrey and C. C. Dodge were the delegates.

Extensive plans are being made by the Boston & Northern Street Railway Co. for some very costly improvements in its track equipment in this city. It is proposed to put in a vastly heavier construction, and the work will be done early this year.

On Rantoul street, from near the Broadway turnout to Cabot street, over a mile of the 35-pound T rail will be replaced by the heavy 95-pound Pennsylvania steel girder rail.

New special work will be installed at the switches and at Pond street.

On Elliott street, from Cabot street to Bridge street, Danvers, the 60-pound T rail will replace a mile and three-quarters of 40-pound T rail. New special work will also be put in at the turnouts, and the plain dirt-fill of the street will be changed to macadam.

The company has also petitioned for the right to put in a new turnout near the United Shoe Machinery Co.'s works for the better accommodation of the employees there.

The Junior Epworth League of the Methodist church held a pleasant May party at the vestry on Wednesday evening.

Rev. C. W. Chamberlin of the First Baptist church gave the right hand of fellowship to twelve new members at the communion service last Sunday.

Society Notes

The Studebakers of Indianapolis, Ind., will be among the newcomers to the North Shore this season. They have taken the J. W. Merrill, Sr., house on Smith's Point, Manchester. Mr. Studebaker is at the head of the Studebaker Automobile Co. of South Bend, Ind., and will, of course, bring on an automobile or two for the summer, and a garage is to be built on the property at once. He will also bring along a string of seven horses.

The foreign legations are to be still further represented on the North Shore this summer, the Belgian minister and Baroness Moncheur having taken a lease of the von L. Meyer residence at Hamilton for the season.

The Albert Ivins Crolls are now located at their Smith's Point summer home for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Parker Bremer, whose house at Manchester has been opened, are spending a few weeks at their farm in Walpole before coming to the shore permanently.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Denegre, who are touring Europe by auto, leaving here about the first of the year, expect to sail for home June 15, and will come at once to their beautiful villa at West Manchester. Mr. Denegre bought a handsome American car for his trip.

Hon. T. Jefferson Coolidge, who has been touring Italy and France in his auto, is now in London visiting his granddaughter, Mrs. F. L. Higginson, Jr., and Mr. Higginson, and has planned to sail for home on the Ivernia May 15. He will come at once to his house at Coolidge's Point.

The William A. Tuckers are expected to arrive at their house on Norton's Point, Manchester, today. Their house was opened during the week.

Thornton K. Lothrop, Jr., has named his 33-foot racer, soon to be launched at Marblehead, the "Little Hope," for an island in Nova Scotia waters.

The Henry R. Daltons of Boston, who have taken the Morison cottage at West Beach Hill, were among the arrivals at Beverly Farms the first of the week.

Robert Bacon and family of Boston, it is understood, will spend the summer on the shore. Mr. Bacon is assistant secretary of the navy. The family were at Beverly Farms two seasons ago.

The Clay Arthur Pierces of St. Louis, who have taken the Longworth place at Mingo Beach, arrived for the season last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryce J. Allan went to Montreal the first of the week for a short visit with the former's brother, Hugh Allan.

Miss Olivia Thorndike, a favorite among the younger set in North Shore society circles, will be missed here this summer, for she will spend the summer months in Europe. The family will spend the summer at West Manchester as usual.

It is reported that Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pratt McKean and family of Philadelphia, who will come on to their place at Prides Crossing very shortly, will sail for Europe toward the end of June to spend the summer, returning to the shore again for the fall.

"The Ledge," Dr. George A. Webber's estate at Smith's Point, has been opened for the season.

The secretary of the German legation has hired a house on Vine court, opposite the Beverly Farms station, and will spend the summer here.

The R. D. Smiths of Boston will move down to their West Manchester cottage next Monday.

Carpenters Difficulty Settled

The carpenters' trouble has been satisfactorily adjusted and the men returned to work in all but one or two shops in Beverly Monday morning. Roberts & Hoare signed the schedule last Saturday evening, and were followed by Messrs. F. A. P. Killam & Son, C. L. Crafts and Lewis Killam. Publicover Bros. at Beverly Farms signed the schedule Monday morning.

Two Candidates Have Taken Out Papers for Selectmen

The political situation in Manchester is warming up a little, two candidates taking out papers this week for the vacant birth on the board of selectmen, caused by the death of the late William E. Kitfield. Walter R. Bell, who missed winning out at the March election by the narrow margin of six votes, is being boosted for the position and not a few voters are open to their opinions that he will win out at the special election the last of this month.

Former selectman Benj. S. Bullock, who has represented this district in the general court, is the other candidate. Though not seeking the office Mr. Bullock has permitted his name to be used, and papers were taken out the first of the week. He has a strong backing and many look to him as a sure winner.

Other names mentioned were W. W. Hoare, James Hoare and T. B. Stone, but all these gentlemen have stated positively to the BREEZE they are not in the field.

Fern-Croft Inn Burned

Historic Fern-Croft Inn at Danvers, a popular resort for North Shore autoists, was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning, causing a loss of $15,000. The house was formerly owned by Walter S. Harris of Salem, but in recent years Harry K. Mansfield of Salem has been the proprietor, and for a number of years the house has proved a big money maker. It is probable that the inn will be rebuilt on a larger scale than ever, for the location was ideal.

on the bargain man — but the fact is, we, in common with other dealers, have to suffer from "Bargain House" tactics. Mattings over a year old are practically worthless for hard wear — then the straws become dry and brittle, causing the wholesaler and importer to sell out at Auction at the best prices they can get — which is very little. It is from such sales that some dealers buy most of their mattings — Our Mattings come in direct from China and Japan — You're sure to get these goods from us. It pays in better wearing carpets.

A good season is anticipated at Magnolia this summer. The cottages have been going exceptionally fast and the booking for all the hotels is said to be far in advance of last year at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Paine, jr., leave Boston Saturday for Europe. They intend to return the latter part of June, when they will open their cottage at Coolidge's Point.

HAT PINS

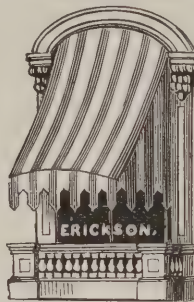

A better assortment of hat pins than we offer would be hard to find, and you will say that the prices are small when you see the artistic, snappy designs.

In sterling silver we have about one hundred designs and priced from 30c to $1.00; in gold plate we have a nice choice and priced from 35c to $1.00 each; in 10K gold the prices range from $1.50 to $3.75; in 14K gold, from $2.00 to $8.00. And the designs are varied to suit all tastes.

The Roberts cottage at West Manchester will be occupied again this season by Major Geo. F. Barstow, this being his eighth season there.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. McGinley and family have arrived at Magnolia for the summer, where they are occupying the Knowles cottage.

The Robert S. Rantouls of Salem have opened their cottage at Beverly Farms for the season.

A. Koshland of Boston, a wealthy wool merchant, has taken "Wyndhurst," one of the Kimball cottages at Manchester, and will occupy it with his family the last of this month.

The Flying Fisherman will make its first trip of the season this afternoon, and will return to town Monday morning at the usual time, about 8.30, from Manchester.

Mrs. Walter J. Mitchell and Miss Mitchell returned from New York the middle of the week.

Mrs. H. M. Curry and family of Pittsburg have opened their house at Magnolia this week.

Among the families expected at Magnolia the coming week are the James S. Lees and the A. W. Jones of Boston.

The Edward B. Hills have arrived at the Monks' cottage in Manchester Cove for the season.

In Yachting Circles

Yachting matters are very busy about Manchester at present, and the many new boats now in the course of construction at the boat yards are being pushed along. The 21-footer, "Olsikela," built by Fenton for Detroit parties, has been tried out. She proved to be about two inches too long on the water line and will have to be changed before going to the lakes.

The "Toledo," another 21-footer, designed by Small Bros. and built to race for the Lipton cup, will probably be tried out at Manchester to-day. Frank Frey and another member of the syndicate which built her are expected at Manchester today. As soon as her balance is adjusted she will be shipped on the cars to Chicago.

George Lee's 22-footer, the "Peri II.," designed by E. A. Boardman, was launched at Manchester Wednesday. The boat is an improved 22-footer, of easy form, well balanced and well built. She is now being rigged, and will be ready for her try-out the latter part of next week.

C. Howard Clark, jr.'s handsome new auxiliary schooner yacht "Savara," designed by Arthur Binney, was launched from Lawley's yard, So. Boston, Wednesday. The Clarks are from Philadelphia, but spend their summers on the North Shore. The boat is 113 feet over all, with 10 feet draught, and has a steel hull, with a 100 h.p. engine. The owner's quarters are finished in mahogany and white enamel, and consist of a main saloon, four staterooms and a bath. Miss Amy Clark christened the boat as she glided into the water.

One of Whittier's Heroines

(From the Boston Sunday Herald)

From the borders of Whittier's beloved Merrimac, about a mile out in the quiet little hamlet known as Rocks Village, is a grave which long ago marked the finis of an interesting romance. Whittier, in his poem entitled the "Countess," has immortalized the woman who sleeps here, but few of the increasing number of pilgrims who find their way each year to this peaceful spot are familiar with the details of her story.

Count Francis de Vipart, grandson of the Marquis de Vipart, with his cousin, Joseph Rochement de Poyen, in company with a number of other notable exiles, fled from Guadeloupe on board a brig bound for Newburyport in the year 1792. De Vipart and De Poyen found their way to Rocks Village, putting up at the tavern with swinging sign opposite the house of Mary Ingalls.

De Poyen married Miss Sallie Elliott, while De Vipart married Mary, daughter of Henry and Abigail Ingalls, making her the first American countess in New England. She was about 18 years of age, the belle of the village, of medium height, with long golden curls, violet eyes and a fair complexion. Unlike modern aspiring parents, who are so eager to secure titled sons-in-law, it is said Mr. and Mrs. Ingalls were at first opposed to the marriage.

March 21, 1805, was the wedding day. The bride wore a gown of pink satin with an overdress of white, and white satin slippers, gifts of the groom. Their home was in the simple house owned by the parents; a substantial white cottage that is standing today, the chamber occupied by the countess being still shown to the visitor. It is in the old ell of the house, looking upon the Merrimac. For a year she lingered, and then passed away, from consumption. Of her Whittier said:

"Each grew to each in sweet accord
Nor knew the gazing town,
If she looked upward to her lord
Or he to her looked down."

In the lovely little cemetery known as Greenwood, on the outskirts of the town, she was laid at rest, her grave being surrounded by a wire. On the stone is the following inscription: "Mary, wife of Francis Vipart of Guadeloupe, died Jan. 5, 1807, Aet. 21."

It's a Wonderful Persuader

This 3-Store Combination of Ours.

Makes lots of difference, our answer "yes or no." Many's the factory whose employees are receiving a full week's pay, who go home Saturday nights with the assurance of work the following week through the combined orders of our three big stores. Don't you suppose these factories feel that they can execute our orders for less and take extra pains with our goods when we work to their advantage so well? It makes itself felt all over our store.

Perhaps no better place to show it than in our

Dining Room Furniture

Sideboards

We're so proud of these it's hard to tell about them without exaggerating. They're quarter sawed oak all over, and the grain is exceedingly fine.

This one at $19.00 has a full swell front, divided top drawers, one of these lined; French legs at the base, a pattern French plate and a pretty arched top.

One at $22.00 is quartered all over, has a full swell front, great heavy columns for supporting the mirror, a great wide shelf, a beauty for the money.

The one at $30.00 within the past month has been said of by many customers the like of other people's boards at $40.00.

It has heavy ball feet, fluted columns on the front, a double serpentine top, quartered oak posts, with pretty carved tops to hold up the shelf. It has a surface like a mirror, and is truly very pretty.

Dining Tables

Round tops, of course, pedestal bases without question, those are the things to buy, they look so costly and can be set around so conveniently.

Think of this one, a 45-inch round top, pretty wood, a round column base, great heavy outstretched arms with claw feet at their extremes, for only $12.50.

A beautiful quartered oak one with a fluted round column, a three-knuckle claw polished from top to bottom, for only $17.50.

And this one with a 12-inch pedestal quartered as finely as the top, a hand-carved base, with a four-knuckle claw and nail, a wonderful table, made with a 48-inch top, for $22.50.

And a 54-inch top, the flake of the wood nearly as large as the palm of your hand, so pretty you would almost believe it were painted instead of being natural, a great heavy base, with the ascanthus leaf carving, for $34.50.

Wonders in Dining Chairs from the solid oak cane seats as low as one dollar to the French leg box seats for an even two dollars, up to the mahoganys as high as $15.00.

Dining Room needs wonderfully supplied—may we not demonstrate?

NUMBER 19

SATURDAY, MAY 12, 1906.

Wanted: A warm wave.

The railroad commissioners will pay their annual visit to the Gloucester branch next Wednesday, stopping at all the stations on the way.

The investment of the many millions of dollars of the money in the different sinking funds that the state is accumulating to pay off the different bond issues at maturity is one of the many duties of the state treasurer.

That Manchester is not overlooked in these investments is shown in the treasurer's annual report which shows the following: State Highway Loan Sinking Fund—Manchester note, $10,000; Metropolitan Water Loan Sinking Fund—Manchester bonds, $4000; Metropolitan Parks Loan Sinking Fund—Manchester notes, $10,000.

Better Mail Service

A better mail service is in store for Magnolia if the recommendations of Inspector Owings are carried out. He has recommended that the Post-office at Magnolia, Annisquam, Lanesville, Bay View and Pigeon Cove all be made sub-stations of the Gloucester Post-office, and that free delivery be granted to all these communities. If this recommendation goes through it will place the postal business of the entire territory of Cape Ann, with the exception of Rockport, under Gloucester, and will be a great improvement in the way of increased mail facilities to the people of the places above mentioned.

Another Auto Line

The North Shore, it would seem, is to have plenty transportation service at its command this season. Besides the company recently organized in Gloucester to run an auto line between that city and Magnolia and Manchester, another company, known as the North Shore Auto-Passenger Co., was organized last Saturday evening, in Beverly, with a capitalization of $50,000. Alderman S. Harvey Dow was elected president and City Solicitor U. G. Haskell, treasurer. The company appointed a sub-committee of experienced directors to purchase the automobiles to be used in a passenger service between Beverly and Manchester. The fare, it is understood, will be 25 cents from Beverly to Manchester.

Nathaniel P. Sanborn

After a lingering illness Nathaniel P. Sanborn passed away at the home of his son, at Coolidge's Point, last Saturday morning at the age of 89 years, 3 months.

He had been ailing for some months and he had not left his room since last September.

Mr. Sanborn was born in Andover, N.H., in February, 1817, but came to Manchester when quite young. He was one of the first keepers of the almshouse, serving first in the 40's, and serving several terms since then. His time was spent for the most part at farming, always living in the easterly section of the town.

He leaves two brothers, John and Horace, both of whom live in New Hampshire; three sisters, two of whom live in Rockport and the other in Milton, a widow of the late B. F. Tuck, and a son, Philemon Sanborn, who lives at Coolidge's Point.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the home of his son, Rev. Mr. Libby of Magnolia and Rev. Mr. Brewster of Manchester officiating. Interment was in Rosedale.

JOHN A. TROWT, Propr.

F. W. Varney, the Central square druggist, has been passing around some complimentary telephone registers the past week which are very neatly gotten up and, needless to say, they are much appreciated by the recipients.

Owing to the uncertain weather prevalent at this time of the year the floats and runaway at the West Beach pier will not be put out till about May 20.

Messrs. Preble & Co.'s show window in Neighbor's hall block has a fine display of fruit in fancy baskets, vegetables, jar and can goods.

The cemetery commissioners are thinking of putting in two driveways of asphalt or some other prepared pavement at the Farms cemetery. Wednesday commissioners Andrew Standley of the Farms and Frank Woodberry of Beverly visited Worcester to look over the Hassam pavement which is being used in that city.

Ira B. Case is the new druggist at the North Shore Drug Co. store in Pride's Crossing.

Eben Day is reported improved after a week's illness at his home on Valley street.

Wm. Roberts formerly gardener at the Winthrop estate in West Manchester is acting as temporary superintendent of the E. C. Swift estate at Pride's Crossing.

Dr. P. S. Henson, pastor of Tremont Temple, Boston, and one who is familiar to many here because of his recent lecture on "Fools," will deliver the memorial address before Preston Post, No. 188, on the evening of Decoration Day, at the Beverly Farms Baptist church.

A large delegation representing the Baptist church Sunday school attended the convention in Swampscott on Wednesday.

Dept. Inspector Mrs. Beal of Rockland paid the local W.R. corps a visit last Thursday evening and inspected the workings of the order for the exemplification of the ritual work of the corps, which takes place in June, the local corps being one of the few selected to exemplify the workings to the other corps, which are, at certain dates, expected to visit the Farms and witness the proceedings with the view of benefiting their respective orders. Mrs. Beal, during her visit here, was a guest of the president of the corps, Mrs. Alice Preston.

Wilbur J. Pierce and Howard E. Morgan have jointly purchased a camping-out cottage situated on "Briar Neck," Gloucester, near Long Beach, where they expect to while away many leisure hours this summer.

James E. McDonnell, Daniel Horri-gan and Peter McLaughlin leave this afternoon for a few dars' vacation trip to New York city, and will return by way of the Hudson river and the Fitchburg railroad through the Berkshire hills.

Preston Post, No. 188, will attend divine service on Sunday morning, May 27, at the Baptist church, upon the invitation of Rev. Clarence Strong Pond. They have also accepted the cordial invitation of Rev. Fr. Nicholas R. Walsh, pastor of St. Margaret's church, to attend the evening service at his church. The W.R.C. and associates are also invited to attend with the post.

WHISPERINGS.

F. P. Gaudreau, the popular ton-sorial artist in Central square, has been unable to attend to the wants of his patrons the past few days due to the fact he has a great liking for "garden sauce." He has recently leased a nearby piece of land and his ardor in getting the same ready for an early spring crop has brought numerous blisters to his hands, unaccustomed to this kind of work, as well as leaving him with a "broken back." To his troubles also might be recorded a recent fishing trip when he strenuously tugged at the oars without seemingly any progress, till he finally discovered that the anchor was still dragging on the bottom.

W. R. Traver, formerly with Mrs. Atkinson's restaurant, Boston, is the new baker at Parker's.

The companies at the local fire station held their annual meetings Monday evening and named the leaders for the year, which was practically a re-election of the old officers, as follows: Engine 3—Captain, John F. Bennett; lieutenant, Duncan T. Smith; clerk, J. M. Publicover. Ladder 2—Captain, Lewis G. Williams; lieutenant, E. Fred Day; clerk, J. A. Mayberry.

Messrs. Preble & Co., the Neighbor's hall block provision dealers, have put another order wagon on the road this week. Chas. Dix is the driver.

Repairs and improvements are under way at West Beach and during the week quite a number of bath houses have been rented for the season.

Miss Mary McKeigue has entered the employ of Walker Bros. as bookkeeper for the summer.

A first-class house for summer boarders is a possibility of the near future. Mrs. Hennessey of Boston, a sister of Mrs. Delia McNeil has leased the Larson cottage on Hart street and is furnishing the same with the intention of conducting a boarding house. This cottage has heretofore been used as a resort for private families.

It is reported that Herman Brett, superintendent of the E. C. Swift estate, has tendered his resignation to take effect in the near future.

The lighting up of Messrs. Preble & Co.'s provision store in Neighbor's hall block adds materially in giving Central square a cheerful appearance, as the store is kept open evenings.

A. G. Monteiro Writes of the Great Catastrophe —Mechanics of all Classes Much in Demand

OAKLAND, CAL., May 7, 1906.

Oakland, being only a few miles across the bay from "Frisco," can consider itself mighty lucky, the damage done by the quake being comparatively small. It is calculated that $2,000,000 will cover it.

It is an old saying that it is an ill wind that does not blow some one some good. This is true now, as far as Oakland is concerned. The future prospects of this city are now better than ever before. Every house hereabouts is let, and more are being built as fast as possible in order to accommodate the large number of people who are expected to make their homes here.

This is owing to the fact that a large number of old San Francisco firms are locating here permanently. Factory sights are in great demand. It is expected that the population will more than treble in the next six months.

While San Francisco is being rebuilt, Oakland will naturally avail itself of all the opportunities to grow. Mechanics of all classes are now wanted.

Those who had intended to come out here and may now be afraid, on account of the earthquake, should consider that their chances are now better than ever. As far as earthquakes are concerned, scientists seem to be of the opinion that we are now more exempt from a repetition of the great shock than any part of the country.

A. G. MONTEIRO.

N. S. Horticultural Society

At the regular meeting of the North Shore Horticultural society last Friday evening, May 4th, the subject for discussion was "Tree pruning." The discussion was opened by Wm. Till, who made a very good address, treating the subject from a scientific as well as a practical standpoint. He described the growth of a tree in its different stages,—seedling, sapling and finally the tree itself and its relation to human life, its manner of growth and its food,—the latter derived from the atmosphere as well as from the soil.

At the next meeting, May 18, the same subject will be taken up again. Mr. Till will open the subject, and the discussion will be general.

Manchester Corps Concluded a Very Successful
Three Night Sale Last Evening—
Interesting Entertainments

The bazaar which opened in the Manchester Town hall on Wednesday evening, under the auspices of Allen Relief Corps, came to a very successful close last evening with a grand military ball.

Despite the rain Wednesday evening, when the bazaar opened there was a goodly number present, and Thursday evening the hall was crowded. The entertainments on both evenings were of a very interesting order.

The May pole was the feature of the entertainment on the opening night. Dorothy Blaisdell was the May queen and she had two little pages—Gordon Baker and Roland McNeil. There was also a piano solo by Miss Alice Latons, and selections by the school orchestra. Little Pauline Semons spoke a pretty little selection "Our Baby," which was well taken.

Thursday evening the Pedlar's Parade was the attraction. The costumes of the "girls" and young women taking part in the parade were particularly fetching. Mrs. Hattie Perkins made the hit of the show. Mrs. J. S. Reed's solo, "Apples," drew much applause also. This was preceded by a piano solo by Miss Hattie Baker and by a sketch by six little girls, representing dairy maids. They were Hazel Semons, Dillon Sjolund, Gertrude Ryan, Beatrice Long, Dora Marshall and Annabel Lodge.

The hall was prettily decorated with flags and bunting and the various booths were nicely decorated. Mrs. Hannah Tappan was chairman of the general committee, and Mrs. A. E. Hersey was chairman of the entertainment committee. The booths were in charge of the following: Ice cream and refreshments, Mrs. Jennie Walen, Mrs. Dennis.

Candy, Mrs. Lizzie Floyd and Mrs. Chas. Morgan.

Apron table, Mrs. Emma Howe.

Art table, Mrs. Lewis Latons.

Tree, Mrs. C. J. Morse.

My woodpath skirts the meadow, but the slope rises abruptly on the left through a fringe of oaks and maples to a most entrancing wilderness. It is all pines and firs and birches, none large enough to keep out the sun,—a scrubby growth; but the wonder is in the carpeting of this Arcadian retreat. I have always associated mosses and ferns with spots

"Where the wet, bright grasses blow,

In moist places warm and low."

But this hillside rises swiftly from the pathway, yet retains that beautiful carpet of innocent primeval things. Such stretches of brown-green mosses and fresh green ferns I have seldom seen. They are ever-green ferns and have lived under the snow all winter. I caught up a quantity, and like a sheet, several feet in expanse, they came off in my hand. There was a fine net work of roots at the back and almost no soil. Then there are the real creeping foliage, such as ever-green and foxberry, with pink and gray lichens to make up this woodland tapestry. It seems a sacrilege to walk on them and still worse to go away and leave them in these sylvan haunts, where it seems as if truly

"The violets of five summers reappear and fade, unseen by human eyes."

In that is the fascination to a lover of the fields and woods. Just as with the scientist there is a great desire to discuss what has hitherto remained unknown, so to my mind comes a fullness of joy, as I search out these unfrequented beauty spots. In early spring the attraction is multiplied.

It was the 19th of April, but not in '75. I wonder if people found time to enjoy nature in those days. And I wonder as I read of class struggle and race hatred if we may not have times quite as bad in our near future. I hope not. At least, I shall be no less able to face them for enjoying this one Spring.

So I sit here on a slanting rock, in the sun. It is a hard, but warm couch, and, ceasing to chatter with my two babies, who have climbed a small pine tree and are making believe they are Christmas presents, I hear suddenly a strange music. It was sounding the whole while, but my ears were filled with the jangle of street cars and the babble of human voices. No, my soul's ears are open and I hear a grand chorus. It comes from the great meadows at the foot of the hill. It is the Spring Song, not Sinding's, nor Mendelssohn's, but the glad sonata of the innocents, and it rises from the throats of hundreds of speckled green choristers who have just awakened from their winter's sleep. It is the Easter greeting from Frog-land. This is the season when "froggie would a-wooing go." And how the name suits these tuneful, shining, aquatic fellows!

Do they recollect, I wonder, anything of last summer's activities? Boys and girls, as you glide, steel shod over the meadows, do you give a thought to those queer hibernating creatures who, by hundreds, sleep in the soft mud just below the frost line? What tells them when it is time to rise and sing and let their light shine? What, indeed, but "old mother nature," who, with her cap strings of green freshly tied beneath her ample chin, bids all her children to the feast of new life!

Often, as I have walked through the woods in winter, when the "white hush" of which Bliss Carmen sings is all about me, I have thought of the myriads of living things sleeping away the long night, and often have I wished that I might emulate their woodland ways. Some wise-acre has said that for all we sleep we pay by forfeiting just so much of life that we may as well be dead as asleep. But I take exceptions. I am sure we may as well be dead as half awake these glorious spring days. As far as the majority of persons are concerned, it seems to me they are awake too much of the time. Certain senses are on the alert, but the really fine instincts that transcend ordinary things are quite snuffed out by this too "strenuous life."

As I reclined on my rock, looking lazily up at the clear blue sky, I became aware that I was being watched in turn, and looking around I saw a small brown striped snake, that had just emerged from his house to sniff the spring air. It was only a few inches out when I first saw it, and I had a chance to note how prettily the tiny ferns festooned his doorway. Seeing me he did not offer to retreat, but glided out and down the hill at a rate that was truly appalling, frightened, no doubt, by the cries of the children. I possess the usual human horror of snakes, though not in so great a degree as some. Having ceased to credit the story of the serpent's part in the down-fall of our parent pair, and having no justly grounded antipathy to the innocent reptiles of our fields and pastures, I simply turn from them because of their distrustful dispositions. Then, the celerity of their movements is particularly disconcerting to one bent on meditation. So I confess I removed myself from the immediate vicinity of that rock, lest Mrs. Snake and all the little snakelets should put in an appearance.

We heard many bird calls. I do not know them apart, but I enjoy them just the same. If the birds and the frogs could appreciate the fact and sing oftener or more sweetly because I knew their names and habits, I would do much to attain to such knowledge; but alas! they will sing just as sweetly for me as for the most learned naturalist who ever spied upon them. I doubt not that I enjoy them more, taken as a part of the Spring, and the sunshine, the rippling brooks, and the budding flowers and, from my frequent visits to their haunts, they may in time safely conclude that I at least know they are there.

Real Estate

And Improvements

Manchester

Plans are out and contractors are now preparing bids for the construction of a road through the Philip Dexter property located in the northerly part of the town. The road will run from the extension of Forest street, it is understood, and will come out near the Magnolia station. From the main road will be side roads running to the various good locations for houses, and there will also be built about a mile of bridle paths. Work will be started probably in June. The roads will open up many very desirable locations for summer homes.

The J. W. Merrill, Sr., house on Smith's Point, to be occupied by the Studebakers of Indianapolis this season, is being fitted up with electric light fixtures. Clark & Mills have the contract. An automobile garage is to be built on the property at once.

The conveyance has been recorded of 20 acres and seven rods of land in Manchester, by Philip Dexter, to Agnes R. E., wife of A. Lithgow Devens of Hamilton. This is part of the extensive property owned by Mr. Dexter off Forest street. Mr. and Mrs. Devens are abroad at present. They sold their estate in Hamilton last fall to Royal Robbins. It is rumored that Mr. Devens may build at Manchester the coming fall.

Clark and Mills Electric Co. have the contract for wiring the E. C. Fitch stables, Norton's Point.

Prides Crossing

Henry Clay Pierce came on from New York Tuesday to view the extensive improvements which have been in progress most all winter at his estate in Prides Crossing. The improvements include drainage, paths, walls and also a new system of telephone conduits which has just been started by Messrs. Connolly Bros.

Work was started the first of the week laying a conduit service for telephones to the "Old Fort," F. L. Higginson's estate at Prides Crossing, where there is also in progress considerable new landscape work, which is being done by Messrs. Connolly Bros.

Magnolia

George Conner of Malden is the general contractor for the Col. Nelson house at Magnolia, work on the foundations for which was started last week.

For the convenience of any person having business with the School Committee or Supt. of Schools, Mr. CHARLES E. FISH, the Superintendent, will be at the office of the School Committee, in the Town Hall Building, Thursday afternoon of each week, from 3.30 to 4.30 o'clock.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

Success of "The Stolen Story."

"The Stolen Story," with its absorbing plot and fine cast, made an instant impression at the Tremont and is another instance of Mr. Savage's sagacity and liberality as a producer. George Marion, his general stage director, also comes in for his usual praise. The play has a distinct novelty in theme and brings a new element of life before the public. Never before have newspaper people and their surroundings been pictured as they are. The final scene, showing Billy Woods turning out his stolen story, is most vivid and has the tensity of William Gillett's earlier plays. This scene is carried through at a swift pace by Jameson Lee Finney and Edwin Holt, both admirable actors, and has as a background the confusion and bustle of a great newspaper office in the early morning. In the third act Miss Dorothy Tennant has her principal opportunity. It is here that the reporter-hero gets possession of the original draft of General Cunningham's park bill, which gives him the evidence of a huge political plot. Others in the cast who have shown their fitness are Ralph Delmore, R. Peyton Carter, Joseph M. Sparks, Wright Kramer, Marion Abbott and Fanny Marinoff.

Relief for the Business-Man.

The facilities afforded by the all water service of the Joy Line are proving particularly attractive to business-men who find it necessary to visit New York at this season. The trip enables one to obtain a sniff of old ocean and a daylight view of Long Island Sound with timely arrival at the metropolis and only one day's absence from business—the delights of the journey more than compensate for this. Steamers on this line are scheduled to sail from Boston every Wednesday at 5 P. M., returning from New York every Saturday at 6 P. M. This company also operates steamers every week-day between Providence and New York.

Reservations may be made and full information obtained by addressing B. D. Pitts, agent of the line at 214 Washington St., Boston.

BREEZE subscription $1.00 a year.

MAGNOLIA

Edward Dennison, the popular agent at Magnolia station, spent a few days this week in North Weir, N.H., visiting friends.

Mrs. Anna Nickerson of Gloucester has been spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. Willard Boyd.

Mrs. Benj. Williston of Lowell has been spending the week a guest of James Scott and family.

Dr. Dakin is shaking hands with old friends again, after a pleasant winter in Jamaica.

Miss Jessie Andrews of Dorchester was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jabeth Dunbar over Sunday.

While driving F. L. Hunt's wagon from Magnolia station Thursday morning, Daniel Chane was thrown from his seat to the ground receiving some minor bruises about the body. The harness broke when coming down the hill near the Cove schoolhouse, frightening the horse, which ran away. The horse was stopped near the Lily pond.

Miss Minnie Silva of Gloucester has been spending the week with her sister, Mrs. D. C. Ballou.

John Allyn and sister, Miss Alice Allyn have been spending a few days at the Stanley cottage.

The private dancing party in Donchian's hall, Thursday evening, was a very pretty affair and was well attended. Edward Ballou, Harold Erickson and Fred Staples gave the party. A number of young people from Manchester attended.

Mrs. Annie C. Thornton arrived Thursday from Bermuda where she and her daughter, Miss Mary, have spent the winter.

Tree Warden Young has been setting out some new trees along the highway the past week, planting maples along both sides of Norwood avenue extension, elms on School street in the vicinity of Vine street, and in various other sections of the town.

An accident of a most serious nature was very narrowly averted Tuesday evening at the junction of Bridge and Central streets. An Italian was riding a bicycle down Bridge street. A butcher wagon, owned by out-of-town parties and driven by a pair of horses, was coming up Central street. When opposite the house of J. F. Rabardy the rider, who was apparently a little nervous, plunged in between the pair of horses, and those who saw him never expected to see him come out alive. Such was not the poor fellow's ill-fortune, however, for when the dust was cleared away he was sitting on the step of the wagon, and away from the furious kicking of the horses; but the bicycle, which was almost new, had lost its identity, and nothing but a mangled mess of iron remained. The man was attended at the office of Dr. Blaisdell. His injuries were slight.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry S. Gilman of Boston were in town over Sunday.

Men's hosiery from Philadelphia's best manufacturers. *

The members of Magnolia lodge of Odd Fellows enjoyed one of Charlie Howe's delicious cock stews after their meeting Thursday evening. Refreshments of ice cream and crackers were also served. The third degree was worked on two candidates.

Neat line of shirts at Bell's. *

The selectmen are calling a hearing for next week on the proposed widening of Brook street. This street is narrow in places and is not built with much regularity as to width. Now that the Primary School is built and a great many children pass through there, and that the Brook street extension into Summer street takes a lot of the heavy teaming, it seems necessary to widen the street and make it more of a thoroughfare. It is proposed to make it 30 feet wide throughout, with a wide sweep on the northerly corner at the junction of School street. The proposed line will cut the M. D. Giles house on the corner equally in two, taking 758 sq. ft. of land; on the opposite side a small corner of about 30 sq. ft. will be taken from the M. A. Gilman land; further up the street 207 sq. ft. will be cut off the front of the Mrs. Andrew Trowt land, and on the corner of Brook and Norwood ave. 490 sq. ft. will be taken from the S. A. Peabody lot, which means a strip about 5 ft. wide running the whole length of this lot.

Will be open until the first of November every morning, except Monday, from 9 to 10.30; every afternoon from 2 to 5, and Saturday evenings from 6.30 to 8.30. Sundays and holidays are excepted.

BURNED TO THE GROUND

Barn on the Augustus W. Smith Estate, Manchester, Destroyed by Fire Early Last Sunday Morning

The Manchester fire department was called out just after midnight last Sunday morning for a fire in the barn on the Augustus W. Smith estate, off Proctor street, Smith's Point. Despite their quick response, however, the building was wholly destroyed, together with about six tons of hay and farming implements, lumber and other articles in the building. The loss is placed at about $2500, on which there was $1800 insurance—$1300 on building and $500 on the contents.

But for the fortunate direction of the wind, which was quite brisk, there is no doubt but that the residence nearby would have gone also. As it was, however, the house was not scorched.

It was about 12.40 that the blaze was discovered. Officers Andrews and Lee were both on their beats returning to the police station. When Officer Lee crossed the bridge between the station and Sheldon's market he noticed a faint light at the Smith's farm. Closer inspection showed the place was on fire and he ran to the fire station and pulled in an alarm from Box 52. Driver Connors was on the way to the fire with the

May Flowers

BY JOSEPH A. TORREY

When April snows were lingering in the woods,
I sought again the sylvan solitudes,
Tracing the path thro' devious ways and dank,
To where the sunlight kissed a sloping bank.

With eager eye and hand I stooped to trace
The early May-flower, genius of the place.
With tender grace the pale-pink clusters grew,
But Spring was laggard and its mates were few.

Its rusty leaves hugged round its shrinking form,
Nourished and fenced it from the cold and storm,
The while, obedient to the season's date,
It raised its head and bravely dared its fate.

So bloomed the flower centuries ago,
The first wee blossom after Winter's woe,
That smiled upon the Mayflower's dauntless crew—
So like what erst in English meadows grew.

Their homesick hearts rejoiced when thee they saw,
And hope revived by Nature's kindly law;
This truth writ plain, they read on leaf and stem—
The God who planted thee would shelter them.

Preach thou that living lesson unto us,
Brave, modest, faithful, trusting Arbutus!

WEDNESDAY EVENING CLUB

Slight of Hand Performer and Mind Reader
Entertained the Members at the Last Meeting of the Season at Manchester

The members of the Wednesday Evening club were treated to a different kind of a program than usual at the last meeting of the season held this week in the Town hall. The Lloyds of Boston, including a slight-of-hand performer and a mind reader, furnished the program, which was very much enjoyed by the audience.

The performance consisted of many of the customary slight-of-hand tricks, by Mr. Lloyd. Mrs. Floyd was the mind reader and her performance was exceptionally good. This was followed by a few more slight-of-hand tricks, and the evening closed by the amazing and ever puzzling trunk trick in which Mr. Lloyd was handcuffed, placed in a canvas bag and the end tied securely. He was then placed in a trunk, and this was tied with ropes by A. Cunningham and R. L. Cheever and was afterwards locked. It was placed within an enclosure on the stage. Within a minute Mrs. Lloyd, dressed in the costume of a page, entered the enclosure on one side and Mr. Lloyd who had been locked in the trunk came out the Reception to Fr. Powers.

Plans are now being formulated for a reception to Rev. Fr. Wm. J. Powers in the Manchester Town hall on Thursday evening, June 14, and the indications are that the affair will surpass anything of the sort held in Manchester for some time. The hall is to be dressed into a veritable fairyland, the decorations abounding in flowers and potted plants. Miss Annie Clark, Mrs. M. J. Callahan, P. H. Boyle and John Desmond will assist Fr. Powers in the receiving line. The clergy of the town will be among the invited guests. Dancing will follow the reception.

New this Week.RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were prepared agreeable to a vote of the town, passed at an adjourned meeting held April 30th, 1906:

WHEREAS, The citizens of Manchester are deeply greived by the death of William E. Kitfield, late member of the Board of Selectmen, Assessors and Overseers of the Poor, for six years intrusted with the administration of those duties pertaining to membership in said board, in the execution of which trust a quiet and sure judgment was displayed and a modest demeanor maintained; and

WHEREAS, In his sudden death, cutting short a life so really devoted to the interests of our town and to every cause which had its rise in some desire for the advancement of our welfare, we are reminded of the excellence of good citizenship and its accompanying virtues; therefore it is

RESOLVED, That in the death of William E. Kitfield the town of Manchester has lost an honored and careful official, the members of the Board of Selectmen a helpful and generous colleague.

RESOLVED, That we do extend our sympathy and condolence to the family of the late William E. Kitfield. It is further RESOLVED, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted forthwith to his family and a copy spread upon the records of this town.

John O'Leary is back to Daniel Casey's blacksmith's shop for the summer rush. He has been in Boston all winter.

Work was started this week on macadamizing Magnolia avenue, and it is intended to rush the work along so that it will be completed before the busy season.

John Stainwood is planning on having the old stable near Raymond street lifted and another story added, turning it into an auto garage.

Arthur Martin of Manchester has resumed his position as instructor and superintendent at the Kettle Cove golf club for the season.

Miss Alice Story and Mrs. Harry Foster have been spending a few days this week at Mr. Foster's camp, Wheeler's Point.

Raymond Symonds, who has been spending the winter at Gardner, Me., with his grandmother, is back to Magnolia renewing acquaintances.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newton and family of Revere have arrived here this week for the summer. Mr. Newton is proprietor of one of the large bathhouses at the beach.

Joseph Ballou of Quincy was a guest over Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Ballou.

John Burnham has sold his property on Magnolia avenue to Charles Billings this week.

Mrs. F. L. Hunt has opened her store on Magnolia avenue for the season, when she will be prepared to show the usual good variety of merchandise for the summer trade.

John F. Howard & Co. electricians of Gloucester, have a lease of the small store on Magnolia avenue, near the Davis stable, and are now located there for the season.

The play to be given by the Magnolia girls has been set for the last of the month.

The young people who attended the dancing party given in Donchian's hall last week by Edward Ballou, Harold Erickson and Fred Staples, will be pleased to know another party is to be given by these young men next Thursday evening.

Next Friday evening Mrs. Margaret Miller of Gloucester, whom many recall as having sung so enjoyably at the Choral society last winter, will sing at the prayer service in the church. Mrs. Michael Kehoe will lead the meeting; topic: Robert Burns.

The coachman's club will probably occupy the entire basement of the building recently moved to Raymond street by Arthur Lycett.

The local contractors, Ballou & Brown, have a large force of men at work here about, 74 being employed this week.

The local American Express driver owes a great deal to a popular Magnolia young woman, Miss Nora McCarthy, who found his purse the other day, containing $65.00 in bills and change. The facts have just reached the ears of the Breeze man. Mr. Webber lost the purse three weeks ago and he feels most grateful, indeed, to the finder.

Mr. and Mrs. James Beaton, who have let their house, corner of School and Lincoln streets, for the season to the C. H. Nichols, will move into the Swett house on Central street today. Mr. Nichols and family expects to move to Manchester this evening.

John Cabral of Boston has started work at Pink's Harness store for the summer.

Levi A. Dunn is now sending two teams over the road to Salem daily and by the heavy loads of merchandise which these bring down to Beverly Farms and Manchester each night it would seem that Salem gets good patronage from shoppers in this section.

An automobilist from Boston who wanted to have his electric car charged in Beverly Sunday found he could not get home without an additional lot of the "juice," which could not be obtained in that city. After some telephoning he found Dyer's Auto Depot in Manchester could supply his wants and he made his way here. Mr. Dyer generates his own electricity.

Rev. and Mrs. D. F. Lamson moved down from Boston Wednesday and are now located at their house on School street for the summer.

Alfred Walen has resumed his former position as clerk at Cheever's Drug store for the season.

The friends here of W. S. Rolls, formerly coachman for F. M. Whitehouse, will be pleased to learn he has an excellent position on a private estate in New York, where he is in charge of over 50 horses. Mrs. Rolls returned to New York the first of last week on the Arabic after a winter spent in Scotland.

The local police force has been augmented this week by a day officer, William Lomasney, who was on night duty last year, taking that position.

Israel Martin commenced operations at the brick-yard this week.

Ernest Howe has entered the employ of Bullock's bakery for the summer.

ARTISTIC PICTURE FRAMING

MANCHESTER.

The political situation remains about the same this week, there being still only two candidates for the vacancy in the selectmen's office,—Walter R. Bell and Benj. S. Bullock. The special election will be held Monday, May 28.

Houdini, the famous handcuff wizard and jail-breaker, was not in town last Sunday afternoon, though it is said his double was here. At any rate the chief locked a Manchester young man who had been imbibing a little too freely in one of the cells. He left the station and when he returned he found that Houdini 2d had opened the cell door and escaped.

Jos. Pink & Co., are out this week with a new order wagon to assist in handling their business.

Lawrence J. Watson who has been in Plainfield, N.J., the past two winters, returned to Manchester this week and will probably spend the summer here.

At her home on Washington street, last Friday, Mrs. Mary Young passed her 92d birthday very quietly. Until very recently Mrs. Young was very active, but for the past year or two she has been quite feeble, though she has not lost her wonderful memory, and she can still relate with interest events of years and years ago. She makes her home with her son, Tree Warden Wm. Young.

A hearing was held at the selectmen's room Thursday afternoon on the proposed relocation of Brook street. Mrs. S. S. Peabody offered objections to taking a strip from her property on the corner of Brook street and Norwood avenue on the ground that the property was intended for two house lots, and by taking from it would destroy the value of the land for that purpose. Jos. Lipman, representing the Giles estate, said their property was a family homestead, and the taking of the land would necessitate their going elsewhere, as the lot was small, but they had given the town an option of the whole thing if they choose to buy.

ing which by this time was burning rapidly. The six tons or more of hay were easy prey for the flames.

The cause of the fire is a mystery, though it is very generally thought to be the work of an incendiary. It started in a corner of the building where a door opens into a small room, but which does not open into the main building. The place was not occupied last season and the barn has not been used for some weeks.

It is known that about a year ago someone tried to set the building on fire, but failed. Entrance was forced there through a rear window; paper was placed in a box and lighted, but it is thought the breeze blew out the incipient blaze before it grew strong enough to live. At any rate the charred paper was found some days later.

Whatever may be the outcome of this apparent successful attempt at burning the building, if the criminal is found it will go hard with him.

The estate is owned now by the Augustus W. Smith heirs.

Roberts & Hoare. The house, which is of wood, shows on its front elevation a pitched roof marked by large dormer windows, and among other features are new bay windows, piazzas roofed in spandrel effect, and brought forward like two wings. At one end is a projecting gable, providing a loggia below, in which the heavy timber work is a feature. The exterior is still further set off by stone chimneys of big size. On the first floor are: A large living room, spacious dining room, several halls, a den, children's dining room and the customary service department. On the next floor are good chambers with baths, a nursery and servants' rooms, while on the upper floor are several rooms and baths for occupancy of guests.

The house has been so thoroughly changed and made over, in fact, that one would scarcely think it the same as occupied formerly by the R. S. Minots. It has a most picturesque location and from the road reminds one decidedly of a mountain scene, with a broad green field running up to the house, which has a setting of tall trees, and above which rises the hill.

T. Jefferson Colidge, Jr., has applied to the court to have the title to property owned by him in Manchester confirmed.

The house which is to be built at Magnolia for Col. Wm. R. Nelson of Kansas City is to be of stone and wood, and is to be 80 by 70 feet in dimensions.

Work has been started this week by D. Linehan & Son of Prides Crossing on a house at Hamilton for Charles F. Ayer, this concern having the contract for the stonework and foundations and also for the landscape work. Mr. Ayer bought an estate near the Hamilton Four Corners district last fall, and it is his intention to have a substantial house of English type built for all the year round occupancy. It will be chiefly of brick and stone, although it will be in part plaster as to outside finish. It is understood the house will cost in the vicinity of $75,000. It will have an elevation of 193 feet, and will be picturesque in its long, rambling appearance, being 140 feet or more long. The living room will be large in size, and will be a feature of the house, with its large fireplace. A tower will distinguish the outside elevation, near the main entrance, and in this will be the stairs.

The library is to be panelled in oak and will have a beamed ceiling. The dining room will also be panelled and is to be finished in white. There will be about ten master's bedrooms and several baths on the second floor, together with other rooms. A terrace on the south side of the house will afford fine and widespread views of the surrounding country. Parker & Thomas are the architects and Pray & Gallagher are the landscape architects.

Necessity for Continued Assistance.

The local California Relief committee this week received a circular from the Massachusetts general committee in which were extracts of letters received from their representative in San Francisco. A perusal of these letters would show the necessity for continued assistance for the people of the stricken city. Under the date of April 30, John F. Moors writes Major Henry L. Higginson of Manchester and Boston, a member of the general committee:

"The one thing most needed here is simplification, and the best thing that has been done has been the putting of all purchases into hands of a special committee. All needs are reported to this committee, and orders are sent out by it with an inclusive knowledge of all the conditions. Individual appeals, based on very partial knowledge, will continue the chaos from which all the wise people are doing their utmost to emerge.

"It would make you heartsick to see the city. What is left is hardly more than the suburbs, and a large part of that has been knocked out of shape. The people are the tragic thing—the refugees fighting their way out with their small belongings, the swarms of idle people in the parks and streets, the quiet, brave people, facing the loss of everything with simplicity.

"The time is surely coming when money can be so distributed that it will be like seed planted in the ground, capable of multiplying itself a hundred fold. The awfulness of this disaster must not blind us to the fact that the poor, paralyzed place must do its best to regain its life. The idleness here is appalling. Some of it will last till the poor old people, the fat and the thin, and the sick and the nondescript, are gathered to their fathers."

Mouldings and Plate Rails in all sizes at proportionately low prices.

Society Notes

The Robert T. Crane, jr., of Chicago, who are to have the Cochran cottage at Singing Beach, Manchester, again this season, are expected Monday.

Mrs. Edward Wigglesworth moved down from Boston, Thursday, and is located at her estate off School street, Manchester, for the season. Her daughter, Mrs. Alexander Porter, and Mr. Porter are still abroad, but will return shortly and will occupy the Dr. Rotch cottage near Singing Beach.

Most prominent among the newcomers to the North Shore this season will be the John D. Rockefeller, jr., of New York, who have taken a lease of "Pitch Pine Hall", on Juniper street, Beverly Farms, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Otis H. Luke. The cottage is of the colonial type, and is one of the most delightfully located on the shore, though not particularly portentous. There is a good-sized stable connected and the grounds surrounding are well arranged. For the past two seasons the house has been occupied by the Costello C. Converses of Malden, but the year previous Att. Gen. Know of Pennsylvania had it. The Rockefellers will not move on to the North Shore till after the middle of June.

The George A. Goddards were among Thursday's arrivals at Beverly Farms.

The Misses Bartlett arrived at their cottage at Old Neck, Manchester, yesterday, for the season.

"Cragside," the summer home of the George N. Blacks on Smith's Point, has been opened in anticipation of the arrival of the family Monday.

Alexander S. Orr and family of Detroit have taken a lease of the "Owl Cottage", at Beverly Farms, for the summer.

The plans for the club at Magnolia this season, where the famous and ever popular Tea House was located, have been carried out successfully and will open June 15. It will be in charge of a superintendent.

A Mr. Baer has taken a lease of the Mrs. E. S. Tappan cottage, Sea street, Manchester, for the season, and are expected the first of next week.

Mr. and Mrs. McInnis and family have taken the Conway house on Sea street, Manchester, for the season and were among Thursday's arrivals. Mrs. McInnis is a sister of Mrs. McTaggart, who has a cottage on Smith's Point.

The George M. Morgans were among yesterday's arrivals at Manchester.

The group of stores which Miss Stearns has had erected at Magnolia on her grounds between what was known formerly as the "Tea House" and the New Magnolia hotel, is now very nearly completed, though it will take some weeks yet before the stores will be ready for occupancy. All the stores have been taken on three years' leases and the high-class patronage which these attract will no doubt make them much in popular favor. E. T. Slatterly & Co. of Tremont street, Boston, have taken two of the stores, as have also Houghton & Clark, landscape gardeners and florists, of Boylston street, Boston; the Grand Maison de Blanc of 308 Fifth ave., New York, whose exclusive linens and laces are well known to the smart set, will have a store; Gardner & Nunston, and Notman of Boston will also have stores.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Whitehouse are back to Manchester again after an absence of over a month, most of which time they spent at their hunting box in Virginia.

IN YACHTING CIRCLES.

The "Velthra," S. Parker Bremer's steam yacht, arrived at Manchester late Thursday afternoon after undergoing a thorough overhauling and re-fitting in New York since February. The yacht, which by the way is one of the finest in North Shore waters, is 850 h.p. and has a speed of 23 miles an hour. She has a new boiler, new dynamo, new upholsterings, new and larger propellers, etc. She has also been fitted for electric lights around the entire deck and she will, no doubt, be one of the best dressed boats in the flotilla at Marblehead this summer when the big racing events come off. Capt. W. C. Wheldon is still in charge and Serena Abrahamson is mate; F. G. Keene, engineer; B. F. Chase, steward, and there are besides several other hands.

Three yachts from Manchester yards have been shipped to various parts of the country this week. All of them are to be used for racing purposes. One, from the David Fenton Co., went to Philadelphia by rail Tuesday, and two were shipped the latter part of the week, one from White's to Toledo, and another from D. Fenton's to Detroit.

The club house at the Manchester Yacht club will be opened for the season on Wednesday, May 30, with Severin Olsen, janitor. The concerts and entertainments of last season seem to be so well received that they will probably be continued the coming season, including Children's Day, Moonlight Concert and "Illumination, and Water Sports.

A 16-foot power tender came on from Detroit this week for Wm. A. Tucker, Manchester.

Real Estate and Improvements

The extensive improvements in progress as the Washington B. Thomas estate, Pride's Crossing, have just been completed, and the estate was turned over to the owner for occupancy this week. The work is certainly a credit to all concerned, as the estate is now one of the most beautiful on the North Shore. Operations were started last fall, including a large addition built of stone in which is a music room.—the finest on the shore, together with other large living rooms, hallways, entrances and verandas. There is also a large terrace wall with sandstone balustrade. The grounds have also undergone a complete change, new avenues being built, and there being also extensive landscape work, together with a fountain which is located in the centre of the lawn, on the terrace. Messrs. Connolly Bros. were the general contractors.

After a continuous period of labor extending from last October to the present time, during which time employment has been furnished for an average of 100 men daily, the magnificent estate of Judge Wm. H. Moore, "Rockmarge," at Pride's Crossing, has been completed and was turned over to him this week.

The alterations and improvements have been for the most part upon the grounds and consist chiefly of the building of a high terrace wall of Rockport block granite with granite cut spiral steps, leading down to the lawn with landings, either of grass or stone. The spacious lawn between the mansion and the ocean has been greatly improved by raising the grade, this work necessitating the removal of a vast quantity of sod and earth after which a large amount of filling was hauled in and the whole leveled and graded off. The lawn on the other side of the house, as have also the other areas about the house, received attention in the shape of grading and landscape work, and numerous large trees were brought from a farm in Hamilton and transplanted.

The old avenues have been replaced by new ones, built upon much larger and better lines in new locations. Changes have also been in order upon the croquet grounds. Italian gardens, rockeries, flower gardens, together with numerous amounts of shrubs, go in making the estate all that could be desired. Connolly Bros. of Beverly Farms were the contractors for the whole work.

Miss Edith Giles Writes of the Recent Earthquake to Relatives in Manchester

Manchester and Beverly friends of Miss Edith Giles will be pleased to read the following extracts from a letter which she sent to relatives in this town this-week:

"It was such a tremendous thing that words cannot describe it, and I haven't the heart to try. The experience itself was so exciting, and called forth so much strength and courage and calmness, that we lived it to the full extent of our power, and did not realize the sadness of it as we do now. As I look from my window I see bare hills covered with rubbish where I used to look for the homes of my friends and for the church, and for the little interests that were most closely connected with my daily life.

"All that afternoon we watched the fire sweeping all over the hills on the water side, and at night we almost held our breath, expecting to see it sweep up and engulf the school, but just when it seemed as if it must go the wind turned, and it was safe for that night and day. Neither of these two nights we had any shelter, nor anything but the earth to lie on. We slept a little from utter exhaustion. But we were in the midst of such a multitude, of all sorts and conditions of men—there was too much going on. It was dreadful to see the people watching Russian hill, and finally with 'there goes our house,' turn away. But everybody was just as brave as could be; nobody fussed and moaned and cried. It was wonderful, the courage and the thoughtfulness. The next day the fire came nearer and nearer, and that was the only time in the whole experience that I was alarmed.

"We suffered very little from the earthquake—even the chimneys stood—still I never care to have another such shaking. I kept in bed until it was over, and as my ceiling didn't fall it was the best thing I could do. We spent that night on the hill and watched the great wall of flame reaching from earth to sky, pushing steadily forward and devouring everything before it.

"The sky was lurid, and the bay so distinctly lighted up that you could see everything as in daytime. But it was beautiful and calm and the sky was full of stars, and we were away from the great crowd. It did us all good, and I understood how such things could be and come out right. By the next morning the fire was checked, but it had swept away two-thirds of the city—12 square miles—450 blocks is the latest estimate."

Hangs Out Shingle in Needham

The Manchester and Beverly friends of Robert Scott Catheron, a former student at the high schools in both places and a graduate from both will be pleased to learn through the BREEZE that Mr. Catheron has opened a dental office in Needham and is meeting with good success.

Dr. Catheron was graduated from the Harvard Dental school last June, where he was very popular among the members of his class, being selected class president, and at the alumni dinner at Young's hotel he spoke for the undergraduates. At the Beverly High school he was vice-president of his class and secretary-treasurer of the Essex Interscholastic league. He entered Bates college in the class of '03, but left there before graduating to enter the Dental school at Harvard. At Bates he was treasurer of his class, assistant manager of the 'Varsity baseball team and was a leading spirit in other departments of the college life. A year or more ago he shot the notorious highwayman, Hartnett (now serving sentence), when in the act of looting the cottage on the estate at Needham of which his father is superintendent.

His many friends in this vicinity will be pleased to learn of his continued success in his profession. He is located in the Kingsbury block in Needham.

"Peace Day" exercises were held yesterday in the high school and in the upper grades of the grammar school, the purpose of the exercises being to impress on the children's minds such economic facts as they would appreciate, and also the history of the peace movement in recent years, especially since the opening of the Hague Tribunal, May 18, 1899.

It will be particularly pleasing to those parents who are especially interested in the progress of the school children to know there are extremely few cases this year of children not advancing to the next grade. The few exceptions are due to immaturity. The natural inference is that the system is better than formerly. The new ungraded class in the G. A. Priest school has proved a great success in its brief existence.

The whist party in Lee's hall Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Ladies' Sodality, was very well attended. Robert Allen won the gentlemen's prize and Miss Chisholm of Smith's Point the ladies' prize.

Mrs. Helen Willmonton left Wednesday for a visit with her sister in Philadelphia, to be gone a number of weeks.

The members of North Shore Lodge, A. O. U. W., held another of their very pleasant socials after their meeting Tuesday evening. A clam chowder formed the principal part of the collation.

Iced crushed stone has been quite the thing at the stone crushing plant this week. As the workmen dug away the top of the stone for the macadamizing being done on Central street they struck solid ice and frozen snow, covered last winter, no doubt, as the stone was crushed. This is something unusual for this season of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester S. Reed and young son are making an extended visit with the former's father, J. S. Reed and Mrs. Reed at the Beach street cafe. Mr. Reed has been connected with the train dispatcher's office of the N. H., N. H. & H. R. R. in Taunton, but his health failed him and he comes here to recuperate.

Results Tell the Story.

There are insurance companies that exhibit schedules of assets that remind one of an astronomical equation. These companies are very ostentatious and frequently call the attention of the public to what they have.

In the event of a loss what they have will not do you any good unless you can connect yourself with this huge pile of cash.

What the insuring public wants is a company that will make a prompt and liberal adjustment in case of loss. They do not want to be required to use a microscope to find their award when the proofs of loss are signed.

The companies represented in this office have plenty of capital and ample surplus to protect the policy holder. This office has the reputation of making quick and satisfactory adjustments. Results are what tell the story. Results are what you get in this office.

Mrs. Charles Aldrich has leased the Dr. Channing cottage at Manchester Cove for the season and will move down from town shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Moore left Prides Crossing Tuesday for a three weeks' trip to New York.

The Henry P. Kings are now located at their Prides Crossing estate for the summer. Though their house was opened some weeks ago the family did not move down permanently till last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Cushing are now located at their cottage in Beverly Farms for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Orison Underwood, who are spending a few weeks at their Magnolia cottage, are to spend the summer abroad.

Major and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson arrived at their estate, in West Manchester Monday for the season.

Mrs. Wm. G. Preston of Brookline was down to her cottages in Beverly Farms Tuesday in preparation to opening the houses, both of which have been leased for the season.

Though Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth are sailing on the St. Louis June 2 for the London season, where they will be guests of Ambassador and Mrs. Reid, they will return in August and very likely will make a short visit to the North Shore.

Mrs. Reginald Foster and family came down to their cottage at Coolidge's Point Thursday for the season. The house was opened some weeks ago, and Mr. Foster has been spending most of his time there.

Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Bigelow and family have opened their cottage at Manchester Cove for the season.

The House of Seven Gables

From the Boston Sunday Herald

The "House of Seven Gables," so connected with the life of Hawthorne, in Salem, was the scene of a romance practically unknown, the truth of which is vouched for by one of Salem's antiquarians and verified by friends of the great author.

Capt. Samuel Ingersoll, the father of Miss Susan Ingersoll, a direct descendant of Richard and a relation of Hawthorne, followed the sea. He had one daughter, Susan, best known as the "Duchess," who was the last of the family to live in the "House of Seven Gables." Miss Ingersoll was a belle, and although not remarkably beautiful, possessed a wonderful charm of manner and expression of countenance that won the praise of many a notable.

The Ingersoll house was in those days noted for its hospitality. Here Capt. George Crowninshield and the officers who brought back from Halifax to their native land the bodies of the gallant men of the Chesapeake and Shannon, Capt. Lawrence and Lieut. Ludlow, were entertained in 1838. It does not require a strong imagination to reproduce those splendid assemblies, when the house rang with laughter, jest and song.

While at the height of her conquests a young medical student was one day introduced to Miss Ingersoll. It was an event which controlled the remainder of her life. Miss Ingersoll fell deeply in love, and the youth, who seemed to be a most excellent and desirable person, appeared fully to reciprocate her affection, the result being they became affianced.

Attending a party given at the house of the Hon. Nathaniel Silsbee, now the residence of Mr. Frank R. Kimball, Miss Ingersoll chanced to overhear a conversation between her lover and a friend, in which he declared he was marrying her for money, not love. Shocked by the discovery, she broke the engagement and wrecked her life. From being a gay society girl, she was changed to a recluse, her parents and near relatives being all dead. Closing the grand house against the world, she shut herself up inside, and spent her time almost in solitude. Not long after her separation from her lover, Mollie Clough, a family servant, gave birth to a son, who, at the age of three months, had so twined himself into soll told her adopted son who his real mother was. He sent to Boston for a sculptor and had a cast made of her face, from which was painted the portrait which today hangs in the upper alcove of the Essex Institute in Salem. He also took his boy friends in to see the dead woman, and said, as they looked upon her: "This was my mother."

Devoted to Miss Ingersoll, at her death he had a cast made of her face, from which a portrait was painted that now hangs in the "House of Seven Gables." The house was left by Miss Ingersoll to her adopted son. It was filled with most beautiful furniture, pictures, articles of wearing apparel and costly fabrics, including whole pieces of India silk and Canton, half-made gowns and others that had never been worn. Not knowing what to do with them, Mr. Bettis, who has just passed away, said that he took a room in a block on Essex street and disposed of the contents of 17 trunks.

In the safe was a great deal of silver, but this, as well as the fine old furniture, pictures and family relics, were disposed of or given away piece by piece until all of it was gone. Mr. Ingersoll could not bear to live on in the old house, and so rented it for seven years to Mr. Bettis, but long before that time was up he became so homesick that he asked to return.

Mr. Ingersoll's last days were spent in poverty, his wants being supplied by his friends. At his death he left one trunk full of treasures to the late Hon. William D. Northend of Salem, among which was the cast taken of Miss Ingersoll, which was sent by the family to the Essex Institute, where it can be seen today.

Whew! This Is Going to Make the Ice Melt.

Just think how much each water drop is going to cost, with ice the price that it is.

If you ever studied economy in anything at all, guess you'll do it, to keep your ice bill down this summer, if you can.

Be as careful as you may, though, watch the refrigerator as much as you will, Old Sol will be on the alert working when you are not thinking and you'll be at poor odds lest you have a refrigerator he can not affect.

He can go right through wood, he can heat any metal, he can temper open air,
BUT HE CAN NOT TOUCH MINERAL WOOL.

It's the greatest non-conductor of heat known to science. Red hot heat on one side of it, ice on the other, heat doesn't affect the ice. How's that for a refrigerator packing?

That's What the RANNEY Has.

That's why it keeps cold so well—that's why it costs so little to run it. All hard wood, all galvanized lined, entirely removable ice chamber, adjustable shelves,

PROF. DUXBURY'S RECITAL

Appreciative Audience Heard the Famous Elocutionist at Manchester Wednesday Evening

Prof. John Duxbury, the well known elocutionist of Manchester, England, who has grown much in favor in the American cities during his visit here, with his readings, was heard in Manchester Wednesday evening of this week, when he recited Tennyson's "Enoch Arden" at the Congregational church. From here Prof. Duxbury makes a brief tour west before returning to his home across the waters.

Previous to the recital the audience had the pleasure of listening to a number of selections on the organ by Jas. K. Dustin of Lanesville, the well-known music teacher. His selections were:

- (a) Festal March.....Calkin
- (b) Interlude.....Debois
- (c) Offertory.....Lemaigre
- (d) Postlude.....Stern

After Prof. Duxbury's recital of "Enoch Arden" Miss Carolyn E. Allen sang in her usual fine voice the following:

- (a) "The Years at the Spring"....Beach
- (b) "Calm as the Night".....Bohm

Prof. Duxbury's recital of "Enoch Arden" was very much appreciated. His portrayal of the scenes of the simple village life, quiet, yet effective at first, grew in vividness and power with the unfolding of the dramatic elements of the story. So beautiful is the language of Tennyson that without a masterly reading of "Enoch Arden" one's mind is diverted from the movement of the story to a pleasing contemplation of the phrases of which Lord Tennyson was master. But Prof. Duxbury was equal to the occasion. By intonation, facial expression, gesture, in short by his attitude of mind and body, he vivified the various characters of the tale in a remarkable way, held the attention unwaveringly to its dramatic movements, and used the incomparable language of Tennyson to further the dramatic impression. It was in every sense a masterly rendition of the beautiful poem.

By special request Prof. Duxbury read an interesting and amusing selection original with himself and based on the famous classic, "Little Jack Horner." His closing recitation of Poe's, "The Bells," was very much enjoyed. His unusually resonant and musical voice was very effective in imitation of the silver, golden, brass and iron bells and the audience was loth to let him finish with this reading. Should Prof. Duxbury ever return from Manchester, England to Manchester-by-the-Sea, he may be sure of a hearty welcome.

Contract Goes to Beverly Concern

The bids for building a 284-ft. retaining wall at the Beach street park, Manchester, extending from the street to the pier, were opened last Saturday evening in the presence of the several contractors. The bids were as follows:

Daniel Edgecomb,	$6,572 00
Morley, Flatley & Co.,	6,450 00
S. Albert Sinnicks,	6,450 00
Thos. Fitzgibbon (Beverly),	5,575 00

The park commissioners voted to award the contract to Thos. Fitzgibbon of Beverly.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Arrangements Have Been Made by the Manchester Post for Fit Observance of the Day.

Memorial Day will be observed in Manchester next Wednesday much in the same form as in other years. Post 67, G. A. R., has made arrangements for the day as follows:

The Post members will meet at headquarters at 1 o'clock P. M., and escorted by Col. H. P. Woodbury Camp, 149, S. of V., will march to the Town hall in season for the exercises at 2 o'clock.

Rev. Dillon Bronson of Brookline, a Methodist minister, well known as a public speaker, and formerly pastor of a church in Salem, will be the orator of the day. The Schubert quartette of Boston has been engaged for the singing.

The programme will consist of a selection by the Manchester Brass band; singing, quartette; invocation; reading of the general orders by Post Adjutant James H. Rivers; singing, quartette; address, Rev. Dillon Bronson; singing, quartette.

At the conclusion of the exercises the line will form on the Common and march to the different cemeteries to decorate the graves, with exercises at the vacant lot, Rose-dale cemetery, and at the town wharf. There will be a concert on the Common by the band after the exercises, and patriotic exercises will be held in the Town hall in the evening, to which the public is invited. Post associates are invited to take part with the Post in all the exercises of the day.

General orders from headquarters say that "Flags at Post quarters should be placed at half mast in the morning to remain so until noon and then hoisted to top of staff for the remainder of the day." citizens are requested to follow this practice.

Assessors' Notice

To the inhabitants of the Town of Manchester and all other persons, firms or corporations, liable to pay taxes therein:

You are hereby notified to bring in to the Assessors of said town on or before June 1st, 1906, true and perfect lists of all the polls, and schedules and estimates of all the personal estates and real estate for which you are liable to pay taxes.

Persons holding estates in trust, whether for minors or otherwise, are particularly requested to furnish the Assessors with statements in relation to such estates.

When the estates of persons deceased have been divided, or have changed hands from other causes during the past year, the executors, administrators or other persons interested, are required to give notice of such changes, and in default of such notice will be held to pay the taxes assessed.

Blank forms for "Return of Property for Taxation," containing revised requirements, in detail, can be procured of the Assessors.

The following may serve as a general guide to assist in making up Schedules and Statements:

Number of polls 20 years of age and upwards; money at interest; amount of money on hand, including deposits in banks, etc., other than savings banks incorporated under the laws of this Commonwealth; railroad, town, city, state and other bonds (except those of the United States); shares and stocks of insurance, manufacturing and other incorporated companies chartered or organized under the laws of any State other than Massachusetts; goods, wares, merchandise and other stock in trade, within or without the State; household furniture, exceeding $1,000 in value; horses, mules, carriages, oxen, cows, other neat cattle not less than one year old, and swine and sheep not less than six months old; income from profession, trade or employment exceeding $2,000; personal property held in trust or by wife or minor children.

Attention is hereby called to section 32 of chapter 12 of the revised laws: "Whoever, with intent to defeat or evade the provisions of law in relation to assessment or payment of taxes, delivers or discloses to an assessor or an assistant assessor a false or fraudulent list, return, or schedule of property as and for a true list of his estates, not exempted from taxation, shall be punished by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars or by imprisonment in jail not exceeding one year."

MORTGAGED PROPERTY—A mortgagor or mortgagee of real estate may bring in to the assessors of the city or town in which it lies, within the time prescribed by the notice under Sect. 41, a statement under oath of the amount secured thereon or on each separate parcel thereof, with the name and residence of every holder of an interest therein as mortgagor or mortgagee. If such property is situated in two or more places, or if a recorded mortgage includes two or more estates or parts of an estate as security for one sum, such statement shall include an estimate of the interest of the mortgagee in each estate or part of an estate. The assessors shall, from such a statement or otherwise, ascertain the proportionate interests of the mortgagor or mortgagee, respectively, in said estates, and shall assess the same accordingly. If, in any year, such statement is not brought in, the tax for that year on such real estate shall not be invalid merely for the reason that the interest of the mortgagee therein has not been assessed to him.—Sect. 45, Chap. 12, Revised Laws.

When a statement in conformity to the law above quoted is brought in, the real estate therein returned will be assessed under Sects. 16, 17 and 18 of Chap. 12 of the revised laws. But in cases where the mortgagor of the estate has agreed in writing to pay all taxes assessed thereon, no statement or return is required from either the mortgagee or mortgagor unless requested by the assessors in writing.

MANCHESTER

Herbert W. Clark, who has been at the W. D. Denegre estate, West Manchester, till a few months ago, has just accepted a position in Swampscott, on a private estate owned by Andrew W. Preston, president of the United Fruit Co., and assumed his duties there Monday. Mr. Clark was at Mr. Denegre's for eight years and built up the landscape feature of the beautiful estate, and his work at Swampscott will be along similar lines, in that he will build up a grange of greenhouses on the estate. A gardener's cottage is now being built and Mr. Clark and family will occupy this next fall.

The Memorial exercises at the Story High school will be held on Tuesday, at 11.45. All friends of the school are cordially invited to attend.

Rev. E. Hersey Brewster will deliver the Memorial Day address at Barre, Mass., Wednesday. From there he will go to New York, where he will spend Sunday.

The last in the series of whist parties under the auspices of the Ladies' Sodality will be given in the Town hall next Tuesday evening. Whist will be played from 8 to 9, and dancing will be from 10 to 12. Cook's orchestra will furnish the music.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lodge were in Lowell, Tuesday, to the golden wedding anniversary of Mrs. Lodge's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hadley. Mr. Hadley is the third brother to celebrate the event in the last six years, a rather singular coincidence in one family.

C. H. Nichols, who is spending the summer in the James Beaton cottage, School street, arrived last Sunday with his daughter and grandson from St. Louis.

The whist prizes at the party in Lee's hall, Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Ladies' Sodality, were won by Mrs. Robert Allen and Archie Macdonald.

Robert Curran and family have moved down from Allston this week for the summer. Mr. Curran is coachman at M. B. Mason's.

Terhune and Douglas shoes at Bell's.

Fourth of July Celebration

The committee having in charge the arrangements for a Fourth of July celebration in Manchester this year are going to spring something new,—that is, something new for Manchester. While the morning will probably be given over to sports (mostly water sports) in the afternoon there will be a speaker in the Town hall. Rev. Peter MacQueen of Charlestown will be the orator, and there will probably be singing appropriate to the day.

In the evening it is expected there will be a big electrical illumination in the center of the town, and it is probable 1200 electric lights will figure in the display. Teele's Military Band of Boston will furnish the music.

with quite a painful accident while working on moving the Staples cottage Monday afternoon. He was putting a wedge under a beam when the wedge slipped and the beam came down on his hand, crushing it severely. The building had to be jacked up before he could extract his hand.

A piece of rusty metal that was formerly part of the brake on a vehicle would have very little attraction for most people, yet to Officer Martin Burke who now possesses such a thing it forms a choice treasure, for it is part of the old hand-tub "Bunker Hill." This old fire fighting tub was formerly owned by Charlestown, but some 40 years ago it was bought by the City of Gloucester. In 1858 Mr. Burke was a member of the Charlestown Fire association, thus his interest in the tub dates back almost 50 years. This spring Gloucester sold the tub to a junk dealer, and it is through him Officer Burke obtained the souvenir.

Harry Lycett who has been spending the winter in Boston, is back with his brother Philip, for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. James French of Andover were in town over Sunday visiting their many friends.

The local fire department was called out to a brush fire at Freshwater Cove Wednesday evening, which burned over quite a large piece of land before the flames were extinguished.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather Thursday evening the dancing party given in Donchian's hall under the auspices of Edward Ballou, Harold Erickson and Fred Staples was well attended. A few young people from Manchester and Gloucester were noticed on the floor.

"The Man from Now."

At the Tremont theatre for the spring and summer season, Mr. Henry W. Savage is to present that unique comedian, Harry Bulger, in a striking musical comedy, "The Man from Now," and it is promised that it will be one of the most complete and elaborate productions ever made in Boston. The book and lyrics of the new play are by John Kendrick Bangs, one of the foremost of American humorists, and Vincent P. Bryan, than whom there is no more versatile writer of lyrics in this country. The part given to Mr. Bulger is most congenial and no doubt he will score new successes by his delineation of the role. In his support will be found other deservedly popular Boston favorites, including Helen Hale, Walter Lawrence and Charles Meyers, all of the "Woodland" organization, Frances Demerest, John Keefe, George O'Donnell, Lucy Tonge, and an unmatched singing and dancing chorus. The story of "The Man from Now" will be told in a prologue and two acts and

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Moore came on from St. Louis Sunday for the summer and will occupy the W. G. Preston cottage at Beverly Farms as soon as the house is ready. They have been spending the week with Mrs. Moore's parents Mr. and Mrs. John McGinley at Magnolia.

The B. F. Yoakums of New York, who are having one of the J. Warren Merrill cottages at Manchester, have arrived for the season. Mr. Yoakum is president of the Long Island railroad.

Dr. and Mrs. James Anderson, who are to occupy the Lily Pond cottage at Coolidge's Point again this season, are expected today.

Dr. Henry F. Sears has arrived at his summer home on Hale street, Beverly Cove, for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Chick are located at their cottage in Magnolia for the season. Mr. Chick has recently returned from a trip to the Orient.

It will be an item of news to North Shore folk to know that Houghton & Clark, the well-known florists of 396 Boylston street, Boston, have taken a store at the Colinnades, Magnolia, and will open about June 15 for the season.

The Essex County club will open next Wednesday, Decoration Day, for the season. Manager John Griffin has been in Manchester most of the past week getting the club house ready for opening.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Codman have opened their cottage at Beverly Farms for week-ends till the last of June, when the schools close and they will move down permanently.

Mr. A. Henry Higginson will give a hound show on May 30 at his kennels in South Lincoln. The show will be managed on the lines of the celebrated Peterborough show in England, and classes will be made up for both the English and American types of hound. Cups will be offered as prizes by the Duke of Beaufort, F. P. Sears, Samuel D. Parker, A. H. Higginson, George S. Mandell, H. G. Vaughan, Austin Wadsworth and a number of other masters of foxhounds.

The work of the various classes was displayed, and a committee, consisting of Misses Anna Kilham, Bessie A. Baker and Sarah Creesy judged the work. The first prize for the best general collection of work, a five-dollar gold piece, was awarded to Miss Myra Sawyer, and the second prizes, two dollars and a half in gold, each, were awarded to Miss Susie Dodge for girls over seventeen and to Miss Ivy Lyons for girls under seventeen. The announcement was received with great applause. The club presented two clever dramas in which the members appeared in the various roles, and musical selections were rendered. At the close of the entertainment refreshments were served.

H. F. Gouch has been re-elected president of the Dane Street Men's club. Plans for the coming year's work were talked over, and two outings planned for the summer.

Born Sunday, May 20, a son to Mr. and Mrs. James Scott. Mr. Scott is the gardener at H. L. Higginson's.

Yesterday afternoon a horse from the Denegre estate at West Manchester took fright, either at the steam roller or at a large auto van in the centre of the town, and shied suddenly, throwing a lady, who is a housekeeper for Mr. Whiteley, the gardener at W. D. Denegre's, into the street. She was injured in the side, though her injuries are probably not serious. She was taken into the police station and was attended by Dr. Glendenning, after which she was taken home in a stable hack.

Chas. Chadwick the New Driver

The board of engineers of the Manchester fire department have appointed Charles Chadwick as driver of the fire horses, to succeed John Connors. Mr. Chadwick has been in the employ of Chester L. COMMUNICATIONS

"Unprejudiced" Has a Word*Editor of the North Shore Breeze:*

It is high time that the voters of Manchester awoke to the fact that the office of Selectman, Assessor and Overseer of the Poor was not a mere honorary position to be tendered to some citizen simply because he is a good fellow. While there is nothing in the world against the character and integrity of Mr. Bell I am of the opinion that a person of more mature years and experience could be selected for this office at this time. A board of selectmen should be composed of the very best business men of the town; men who will command confidence at home and respect abroad. There are many matters which the selectmen are called upon to decide that require judgment, that is only acquired by experience, and it appears to me that the town would make a mistake to put another man on the board at this time. Mr. Bullock is a man of experience having served the town in this capacity for five years and has also served the town in the General Court. He is a man who has been identified with the business interests of Manchester for many years, and is a citizen who contributes quite materially to the financial income of the town and who never can possibly seek political return. I trust that the better judgment of the citizens will assert itself at the polls.

"UNPREJUDICED.""Reasonable Voter" Favors Mr. BellEditor of the North Shore Breeze:*

Among the older citizens of the town you occasionally hear the remark that Walter Bell is too young to be a selectman, yet five years ago you elected him as your town auditor, which position you gave him for three straight years—and must admit his work was satisfactory to all.

Give the young man a show for the remainder of this year, and see if you think 27 years of age is too young for one of your selectmen.

A REASONABLE VOTER.

SATURDAY, MAY 26, 1906.

WHISPERINGS

An amusing incident occurred at the Magnolia station last Sunday afternoon. William Nelson, the colored porter on the private car, "Rockmarge," which brought Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Moore on from St. Louis, saw a wood-chuck disappear in a hole near the side-track. The idea occurred to him that he might capture Mr. Wood-chuck by means of a hook and line. Baiting the hook with a tempting morsel of cabbage he pushed the hook far into the hole with a piece of telegraph wire. Then, returning to the car, he awaited results. Not many minutes passed before he felt a vigorous pull on the line. Promptly hauling it in he was surprised to find he had captured Mr. Wood-chuck, which was later given to Mr. Moore, who took it with him to be used as a pet.

I heard whisperings a few days ago of a certain well-known Manchester man who tried to bring a cat—a pretty little kitten—home from West Gloucester. His friend here in Manchester, who owns a horse and buggy, offered the fellow the use of his rig any time he was not using it himself, so Sunday he came around and borrowed it. He went to West Gloucester for the day, and during his visit he was presented with a pretty little kitten. The question of getting it home to Manchester was not a very hard one, for he borrow a covered basket and, as he thought, securely locked Miss (or Mr.) Pussy inside. But to his surprise, when he reached home and unfastened the basket the little feline was not within; it had apparently performed a Houdini stunt. Not to be outwitted by a little cat however, the fellow went to his friend again Monday night and borrowed the horse and buggy the second time, explaining he wanted to go back over the route in hopes of finding the kitten in the Cove woods or still farther down the road. I have not heard how he came out.

We are reminded of the humiliating experience of some New Yorkers who came to Boston to attend the Myopia races some years ago. They hired a carriage and told the driver where they wanted to go, pronouncing the name of the club under whose auspices the races were held as well as they knew how.

"What's Myopia mean, anyhow?" said one of the New York gentlemen to the driver.

"Myopia," answered the accomplished Boston hackman, "is derived from the Greek and it signifies nearsightedness."

"Drive on!" said the New Yorkers.

GREATER PARAGON PARK

Season at Nantasket Beach Resort Begins
June 16

Greater Paragon Park—and it will be "greater" in fact as well as in name—will begin its second season at Nantasket Beach on Saturday, June 16. Greater Paragon Park for 1906 will bear the same relation to Paragon Park of 1905 that an electric light does to a tallow candle. Last season it was the greatest amusement park New England had ever seen, yet withal it had its faults, as every amusement park will during the first season of its existence. In Greater Paragon Park these faults have all been overcome, and New Englanders will see this year not only a greater park than ever before, but the most absolutely perfect amusement resort in the world.

ment resort in the world.

It will be the Park de Luxe of Greater Boston, and, as its name implies, "a model for parks everywhere." One of the biggest of the new shows is "Hell to Paradise," the duplicate of which is this year being installed as the biggest new feature at Luna Park, Coney Island. Another big new feature will be "Lover's Lane," an absolute novelty, the invention of a Boston man.

Pleasant Party at the Farms.

The vestry of the Baptist church was the scene of one of the most pleasant gatherings of the season, Thursday evening, when a supper "for men only" was served. A royal good time was enjoyed by the large number who gathered for the occasion. The committee in charge was composed of Messrs. Herman Macdonald, Richard Davis, Frank Preston, I. Erwin Davis, George Larcom, Edward May and Mr. Wallace, representing the Lyceum club of the church. There were over 40 men present.

Rep. W. R. Brooks acted as toastmaster after the supper and spoke briefly on the work of the legislature. Among those who responded to toasts were: Otis Davis, "The Ladies;" Willis Pride, "Waiters;" Postmaster Elmer Standley, "United States Government;" Comm. Charles H. Day, Pond also spoke briefly, the sentiment expressed by the latter especially being that a permanent organization should be effected of the Young Men's club for the spread of influence and power toward formulating public sentiment.

The committee in charge were instructed to make arrangements for a day's outing some time during the summer.

Eleanor, the 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. The local G. A. R. was given a pleasant surprise Wednesday evening, when their associates and the W. R. C. paid them a visit and presented a handsome Union Jack. After presentation speeches by Mrs. Alice Preston, president, and Mrs. May Wood, patriotic instructor, of the corps, Com. Charles Day replied with an excellent speech, followed by remarks from several other members of the Post. It was the wish of the W. R. C. to present the flag before Memorial day, and it was a matter of much pleasure to the members to be able to carry out their desires. After the speeches a collation was served.

The street department has been busily engaged the past week in making needed repairs on the portion of Hart street between Haskell street and Perry's corner, so called.

Preston post, 188, G.A.R., the W. R.C. and Associates have accepted invitations to attend memorial services at the Baptist church tomorrow morning at 10.30, and also at the Catholic church in the evening at 7.30, and will assemble at headquarters at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m., respectively, for this purpose.

Get your ice cream order in early for Memorial day. Parker's. *

Joseph Haskell and family who resided on Vine court removed to Revere the first of the week. Mrs. Haskell who has been ill for several weeks past, is much improved.

Two new mails have been added to the service of the local postoffice the past week through the efforts of Postmaster Standley, one arriving from Boston and points west, at 9.15 a.m. and the other departing for these points at 6.30 p.m.

A move in the right direction is that of the park commissioner's who have recently asked the city government for an appropriation of $200 for the purpose of cleaning up the play grounds. It is to be desired also that after this work is done that no more dumping of rubbish be allowed.

Work was started this week by Messrs. Connolly Bros. on the exercising track, lawns and grassy areas adjoining, of Judge Wm. H. Moore on Hale street, Pride's Crossing. The principle feature of the work will be the removal of the tan bark which has heretofore formed the finish surface for the track and substituting a material of a different nature which is expected to contain the qualities most desirable for a purpose of this kind.

The need of a "hokey-pokey cart" or some other system of street cleaning is very apparent and the condition of Central square and the streets leading therefrom for the past two weeks has caused much unfavorable criticism as no small amount of rubbish and debris have accumulated, and no efforts of any kind have been made to keep the business portion of the Farms, as it should be—in a clean and desirable order.

An evening which is being looked forward to with keen interest and much anticipation of pleasure is next Tuesday, May 29, at Neighbor's hall, where an excellent concert and assembly will be given in aid of St. Margaret's church. The earlier part of the evening will be devoted to a concert and entertainment, in which will appear a large number of artists both local and out of town, and includes a sketch by members of the St. Alphonsus Dramatic association of Roxbury. From 10 to 1 a.m. dancing will be in order.

A handsome new sign with gilt letters bearing the words, "Preble's Provision Company," was put up over the store in Neighbor's Hall block on Thursday. *

Memorial Day

The program for Memorial Day at Beverly Farms is practically the same as in former years. The line will form on West street at 2 p.m. and with the Gloucester band at the front, will march to St. Margaret's church, then countermerch to G.A.R. hall, where the invited guests will be received; march then continues through Hale and High streets to the cemetery, where the usual memorial services will be held and graves decorated. Line will then re-form and march through Hart, Hale and West streets to West Beach, where the services in memory of the sailor dead will be conducted by the W.R.C. and the school children. Return will then be made to G.A.R. hall by way of West street and the line dismissed.

In the evening the post and associates will re-assemble at the G.A.R. hall at 7 p.m. and march to the Baptist church and listen to an address by the Rev. Dr. Henson of the Tremont Temple, Boston. There will be a male quartette from Beverly.

Preston post desires all the soldiers and sailors of the civil and spanish wars to join with them in the parade, and also to all citizens to lend their co-operation in carrying out the program of the day.

The service afforded by the steamer "Old Dominion" of the Joy Line is unequalled, in that it enables the traveler to enjoy all the delights of a daylight view of Long Island Sound and the East River. It seems impossible to describe adequately the delights of the trip, but those who have availed themselves of this service unite in the statement that the view of the Long Island shores is unsurpassed in beauty. The steamer "Old Dominion" performing the direct service departs from 308 Congress street, Boston, every Wednesday at 5 P. M. The trip consumes about 24 hours. This company also operates steamers every week day in both directions between Providence and New York. Full information may be obtained by addressing Mr. B. D. Pitts, Agent of the Company, at 214 Washington street, Boston. No. 6.

Special Town Meeting

Called for Next Monday.

A special town meeting is called in the Manchester Town hall for next Monday at 11.30 A. M. The polls will be open at noon for the election of a member to the board of selectmen and will close at 5.30. The remaining articles of the warrant will come up probably at 7.30 P. M. The articles of the warrant are:

1—To choose a moderator.

2—To choose by ballot the following town officer: One selectman, who shall also serve as assessor and overseer of the poor, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late William E. Kitfield. For this purpose the polls will open at 12 M. and be closed at 5.30 in the afternoon.

3—To see if the town will build a sidewalk from the railroad track on Summer street to the house of Randolph Taylor, then concrete the sidewalk from said Taylor house to the plank walk at the entrance of Magnolia avenue; also to hear and act on the reports of the committees on said sidewalk and appropriate money for the same.

4—To see if the town will accept and allow Brook street between School street and Norwood avenue as laid out, altered and widened by the selectmen and reported to the town at this meeting and to appropriate money for the construction of the same.

5—To see if the town will purchase from Sarah W. and Mary D. Giles the land and dwelling house situated on the corner of School and Brook streets and appropriate money for the same.

6—To see if the town will accept and allow the extension of Norwood avenue as laid out by the selectmen and reported to the town at this meeting and appropriate money for the construction of the same.

Autos Must Obey Rules of the Road Literally.

The Massachusetts Highway Commission this week issued a statement announcing that in the future it will suspend or revoke the license or certificates of registration of autoists who do not obey to the letter the regulations printed on the registration certificates.

The board says it will take pains to co-operate with the police and other authorities of the various municipalities in enforcing compliance with the regulations upon automobile owners and drivers in this commonwealth.

The second lecture will be on the "Beauties of Jamaica or a Peep into Paradise." Dr. Dakin is to be the lecturer and in order to do justice to his theme his pictures will be the finest colored slides. The third lecture will be by the pastor of the church on "The Famous Cities of Italy." This lecture will include pictures of Venice and Florence, of Rome and Naples with Pompeii and Mount Vesuvius. Dates and price of tickets will be published next week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Pratt of Schenectady, N.Y., have been spending the week here guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Douglas.

A course of stereopticon lectures is to be given in the village church in June to test the new arc-light stereopticon. The first lecture will be by the pastor on the subject, "The Yosemite Valley and San Francisco," describing a stage-coach journey to the Yosemite through the Big Tree belt, the beautifier of this remarkable park, and San Francisco as it was and as it looks since the disaster.

The Young Woman's Club house, work on which has already been started, is to be built by the day, and not by contract, Michael Kehoe being in charge of the job.

A small party from Magnolia attended Prof. Duxbury's recital in Manchester Wednesday evening.

"Rubber Boots" is the name of the play to be next Tuesday by the young ladies of this section. During the past few years a number of the girls have given a play each spring. Thus it is that the play next week is looked forward to with keen anticipation.

The Ladies' Aid society is to meet with Mrs. Philemon Sanborn next Thursday, probably for the last time this spring, since excellent provision has been made for a well furnished fancy table at the annual July sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Emerson of Salem spent Sunday here guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jabeth Dunbar.

Society Notes

The Edward Blairs of Chicago are to occupy the "Jumloo Cottage" at Beverly Farms this season, and are expected here next week. Last season they had the Lyman cottage, while the latter were in Europe.

The Edward Robinson cottage off School street, Manchester, has been opened for the season.

George P. Black and family of Lakewood, N.J., arrived Thursday and are occupying the Southerland cottage at Coolidge's Point. They have spent a season or two at Magnolia previous to this year.

Mrs. John Sturgis arrived at her cottage, Manchester Cove, Wednesday.

C. W. Jones and family arrived at their cottage in Magnolia, Wednesday, for the season.

Among Thursday's arrivals at Manchester were the Edward S. Grews and the Geo. N. Blacks, who are now located here for the summer.

Gen. and Mrs. Draper were on to Manchester this week looking over the Field's cottage on Smith's Point which they expect to occupy June 15.

The Dr. Franklin Dexters and the Dr. James M. Jacksons have arrived at their respective cottages in Beverly Farms.

Among the more recent arrivals at Beverly Cove are Mrs. John B. Silsbee and her daughter, Miss Martha Silsbee, the artist.

Henry Havelock Pierce, formerly of Newport and New York, but now located at 729 Boylston street, Boston, has opened an office in the store with Clark & Mills Electric company, in the Postoffice building, Manchester, and will make a specialty of photographing people in their own homes by his new system of artistic and natural portraiture. By appointment Mr. Pierce will make sittings at all of the principal places along the North Shore.

BOOK REVIEW

"Camp Kits and Camp Life" by Charles Stedman Hanks (Niblick) author of "Hints to Golfers." Published by Charles Scribner's Sons, New York. 53 illustrations in tint, 253 pages, $1.50 net.

Although there are all kinds of books for those who go into the woods in search of pleasure and recreation, "Camp Kits and Camp Life" is neither a book of literary reflections nor a book of scientific observations nor a story of adventures but a practical hand-book, which the veteran sportsman, as well as the neophyte, will read with profit. This new book on the wilds, just published by Charles Scribner's Sons, is written by Charles Stedman Hanks, a well-known Boston man, who has a wide reputation as the author of "Hints to Golfers," which has had a large sale both in this country and in England. It is the condensed wisdom of a sensible, outdoor man who has the knack of imparting information with a snap which sticks like a burr, and those who have been promoted from all-day picnics to camping-out trips will find it crammed full of information put in a most entertaining way. It is also enlivened with good stories, and considerable wit in statement. The 53 green tinted photographs directly apply to the different subjects which the author discusses, and were not put in as illustrations simply because they made good pictures. The peculiar style of the author with his sharply cut sentences, without the embellishments of superfluous words, go straight to the point, and the simplicity with which it is written is its chief charm. It is not only entertaining as a general reading, but is also as good hand-book for the woods as has yet been published.

In Everything Men Do They Leave the Indelible Imprint of Their Minds.

Following out this suggestion how possible it is to recognize the honest effort, the simple, direct, natural thinking of those men of old Colonial Times in the furniture produced during that period. It almost bears out the thought, "I am genuinely good as the man that created me was genuinely good."

This being true, is it any wonder that the makers of

Parlor Furniture

today seek the old and re-produce it in the new?

Isn't it really commendable in them?

Aren't they in this way preserving the old, and handing it down to posterity?

A 3-PIECE PARLOR SUIT placed on our floor but a day or two since inspires in us this sentiment. It has the high backs and the ear laps of the old fireside chairs. Sit in it and you almost can roll around in it. 'Tis purely a copy. Of course that means a saving in the designing. It is upholstered in an old Gobelin Tapestry, comfortable, dependable and only $55.00.

HONORED NATION'S DEAD.

Beautiful Lessons in Patriotism, Love of Country and Reverence for the Dead Taught by Impressive Exercises Wednesday. Ideal Weather Favors Veterans.

Memorial Day, the most sacred of all the Nation's holidays, growing more pathetic, impressive and sacred as the years come and go, was observed Wednesday with exercises of a most appropriate nature, teaching the youth a beautiful lesson in patriotism, love of country and reverence of the dead.

With public exercises in the Manchester Town hall in the afternoon, including an address, followed by

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING

Manchester Voters Elect W. R. Bell to Fill the Vacancy on the Board of Selectmen—Also Voted to Build Sidewalk Through the Cove Woods and to Accept Relocation of Brook Street.

The special town meeting held in Manchester Monday, one of the chief purposes of which was to elect a member to the board of selectmen to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Wm. E. Kitfield, resulted in the choice of Walter R. Bell over former selectman Benj. S. Bullock. Mr. Bell lost at the March election by a margin of only six votes, but Monday's vote had no such margin, Mr. Bell winning by 88 votes. The total

MANCHESTER

The members of Magnolia Lodge of Odd Fellows were treated to a very interesting talk on California by Mr. Samuel Knight, at the meeting of the lodge Thursday evening. Mr. Knight has recently returned from spending the winter in Southern California, where he was located at Pasadena, which was described as being a most delightful winter resort. He described the climate, the products of the country, the scenery and the means of enjoyment, speaking briefly of the trips to and from California, the mountains, soil, means of transportation, etc. Though his remarks dealt for the most part with Pasadena, he spoke also of Los Angeles, 'Frisco, and other points of interest in that delightful country. Refreshments were served in the banquet hall after the meeting.

Thomas Nickerson, former station agent at West Manchester, but now at Hyde Park, and Wm. Nickerson, spent the holiday in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Macdonald of Chelsea were in town the first of the week, and over Memorial Day guests of the latter's mother Mrs. Mary Stanley.

Miss Emma Johnson was home from Lynn to spend the holiday.

Mrs. Ernest Mead (Miss Etta Woodbury) has been spending the week in town visiting relatives. Mr. Mead and son were on from Wellesley Farms over the holiday.

Mrs. Henry Brown and children were up from Magnolia Memorial Day visiting Mrs. Brown's mother, Mrs. McCormack, Summer street.

Desirable line of "King Pin" Waists at the Old Corner Store. *

Linwood Young, at Dennis' garage last season, is chauffeur this year for the Boylston Beals.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stanley were on from Woburn over the holiday guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey T. Stanley.

Mrs. Chas. E. Bullard of Peterboro, N.H., is paying a visit to her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Lodge on Desmond avenue.

The meeting of the North Shore lodge, A.O.U.W., next Tuesday evening will be of unusual interest as the lodge will have as guests at that time Grand Foreman Isaac Webster, D.D. G.M.W. Pawley, and a delegation from the Salem lodges. Among the latter will be John Lovett, first Master Workman of John Endicott lodge of Salem.

Souvenir Postals—over 20 local scenes, at Allen's. *

Miss Susie Hancock of Boston was a guest over Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Johnson, Bridge street.

Joseph N. Lipman left Tuesday for South Royalston where he has charge of extensive landscape work on a private estate. He will be absent about a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Dillon and daughter of Roxbury were guests over Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. John Dillon, Brook street.

Miss Marjorie Choate of Beverly was a guest over the holiday of Miss Flossie Allen.

Miss Maude Farrell of Lynn spent Wednesday a guest of Miss Ethel Stanley.

Dr. Merritt A. Long has resumed his former position as one of the clerks at Lee's Drug store for the busy season.

Miss Nannie Sjolund was home from Newburyport over the holiday.

Additional Mail Service.

Beginning tomorrow the Manchester post-office will be open on Sundays throughout the summer from 9 to 10.30 o'clock in the morning, and a mail will arrive from Boston about 9.15, and a mail for Boston will close at 9.50. The daily service will be augmented by two mails, one from Boston at 9.15 a. m., and one closing for Boston at 6.12 p. m.

The course of stereopticon lectures at the Village church will begin with a lecture on San Francisco and the Yosemite Valley next Wednesday evening at 7.45. It will describe a stage coach journey to the Yosemite Valley through the Big Tree belt, and a week's tenting and tramping experience in this singularly beautiful region. Then will follow pictures of San Francisco as it was before its disaster, showing its parks, business blocks and the curious Chinatown, and then the latest views of the city. The lecture will be by Rev. F. J. Libby. Admission, 25 cents; reserved seats, 50 cents.

The Hotel Aborn will be open to receive guests June 16. It will be under the management of Mrs. E. A. Carney, for many years proprietress of the Red Rock House at King's Beach.

The Ladies' Aid society wishes through these columns to tender a very warm vote of thanks to the young ladies who directed or took part in the recent play.

"The God to Whom we Pray" will be the subject of Rev. Mr. Libby's sermon at the Village church tomorrow morning.

Mrs. Philip Lycett, who has been ill for a few days, is reported on the mending hand.

Miss May M. Strong of Gloucester was the soloist at the Friday evening meeting this week.

Born Saturday, May 26, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Casey.

Memorial Day was observed here as usual by a brief service made beautiful by the participation of the school children, who, under the direction of their teachers, decorated the graves of the soldiers and sang appropriate songs. The service was in charge of Mr. John Dodge of the G.A.R.

The Young Folks' Choir club with their friends went on a picnic to Centennial Grove Memorial Day. Baseball, games and athletic contests made the day pass pleasantly.

Mrs. Wm. S. Douglass left Saturday with her daughter for a brief visit to Schenectady, N.Y.

The Staples cottage has been removed this week from its old location near the Hesperus hotel to the Henry Butler property, just across from Mrs. John Wilkin's cottage.

"Rubber Boots" and "Miss Fearless & Co."

Library hall, Magnolia, has seldom contained a more happy crowd than that which thronged it to the doors Tuesday evening when the Magnolia young ladies presented their two comic sketches, "Rubber Boots" and "Miss Fearless & Co." The good words of praise for the young people have been universal and everyone pronounces the evening's entertainment the "best yet." Among the spectators were a number of the summer guests.

"Rubber Boots," though short, was a funny little sketch and depicted the experience of three sisters, Pauline (Ethel May), Lou (Anna Chane), and Sophia (Marjorie May), with an awful tramp (Colby Staples), at a country house, during the absence of the owner and his wife.

"Miss Fearless & Co.," made the hit of the evening. It concerned the happenings of Miss Henley, an heiress (Miss Alice Sanborn), her friends and guests on Spook Island, whither they had gone under solemn contract that they would not speak to any of the male gender. Mrs. Willard Boyd took the part of Miss Sarah Jane Lovejoy, who was a whole show in herself. She was the old maid of the party and considerable of a gossip. Miss Sadie Abbott characterized "Katie O'Connor," the maid, perfectly. Miss Helen Crispin took the part of Miss Euphemia Addison, and the guests were: Misses Helen Lycett, Katherine McCauley, Mary Abbott and Carrie Dunbar.

Both sketches were nicely staged and the different characters were all well presented. Special mention should be made of Mrs. Boyd and Miss Sadie Abbott. The music for the evening was furnished by Long's orchestra of Manchester, their various selections being very much appreciated.

Society Notes

The J. Theodore Heards have just closed their town house at 20 Louisburg square, Boston, and are located at their Magnolia cottage for the season.

Dr. Benjamin Tenney's cottage at Manchester Cove was opened the first of the week, Mrs. Tenney and children arriving Tuesday. Dr. Tenney is expected home from a short trip to the Maine woods.

Mr. and Mrs. Boylston Beal and family were among the arrivals at Manchester this week. They came Monday and are occupying the J. Randolph Coolidge, Jr., cottage at Smith's Point.

The beautiful summer home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Wood, on Cobb avenue, Manchester, was opened a day or two ago for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Kemeys of Cambridge, who have the Heminway stone cottage on Smith's Point, formerly occupied by the Hamlins, were among the early week arrivals at Manchester.

The Oliver Wendall Holmes cottage at Beverly Farms has been opened this week, though the Chief Justice and Mrs. Holmes have not yet come on from Washington.

The Arthur Edwards of Boston, who have the Pump cottage at Beverly Farms this season, were among Thursday's arrivals.

Mrs. Daniel Ahl, who has again been touring Europe by auto the past season, is expected at her Pride's Crossing estate to-day. The house has been open for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Sears, jr., and their daughter, Miss Eleanora Sears, are now located at their pretty Beverly Farms cottage for the season, being among yesterday's arrivals.

The Robert G. Shaw, 2ds, are expected at Beverly Cove today, where they have taken the Saltonstall cottage for the season.

The R. H. Stevensons were among yesterday's arrivals at Pride's Crossing.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Preble Motley, whose house at Pride's Crossing has been open several weeks, came down to the shore yesterday.

The Edward T. Blairs of Chicago were among Monday's arrivals at Beverly Farms.

Society Notes

North Shore folk will be interested in the announcement that Mrs. J. Russell Selfridge has leased the Clement S. Houghton cottage at Magnolia and is to conduct a Tea House at that popular resort this season. The house, which, by the way, is one of the prettiest at Magnolia, is located on Norman avenue, near the library, and is now being fitted up for the innovation. An additional porch is being thrown out and Florentine awnings will be hung and, with numerous bay trees, plants and vases, the cottage and grounds will be turned into an ideal place for a Tea House. Mrs. Selfridge is now at Magnolia getting ready for the season and expects to open before the middle of this month. "At the Sign of the Dolphin" is the attractive name selected by Mrs. Selfridge for the Tea House. In the rooms downstairs petits diners will be served to order. Large glass doors open onto the beautiful, spacious piazzas where tea will be served. There will also be charmingly appointed bridge rooms. This will be a particular interesting feature inasmuch as there is to be a lady instructor, who is to have classes in bridge, and as these bridge rooms can be rented for private parties, or one or two tables can be hired for smaller parties. Mrs. Selfridge has taken great care in providing for the culinary department of the house and is fortunate in being able to secure the cook who was for three years with Mrs. George L. von Meyer and later with Mrs. Larz Anderson. Several novelties in the line of choice dishes will be introduced, including Charles Dicken's famous "Moonbeam punch," concocted by the writer himself when he entertained his friends at Gad's Hill. Another novelty will be the cake figuring in Owen Wister's new book "Lady Baltimore." Mrs. Selfridge, by the way, is a widow of the late Captain Selfridge, whose sudden death last September from apoplexy just as he was about to take command of the Missouri, was a severe shock in navy circles. She is a daughter of the late Col. Kearny of New Jersey. Her large circle of friends along the North Shore who are eager to see her succeed, coupled with her exquisite taste in making a place of this kind what it should be to attract the smart set, already assures her success. Her younger daughter, Miss Virginia Selfridge, will have a gift shop at the Tea House, with glass doors opening out on the porch. She will carry a beautiful assortment of Boston Arts and Crafts goods, including hammered silver, old Sheffield plate, old pewter, etc. She will also carry assignments of the Russian Importing House goods, and from the Swedish Handicraft and the Gruevy Faience Co., which alone bespeaks the exclusive line of wares to be found and the consequent popularity of the place.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pickering will close their town house the last of next week and will come to Manchester for the season.

Mrs. Dwight Brewster and sister of Dorchester are spending a few weeks at the Wigglesworth cottage, Old Neck, Manchester.

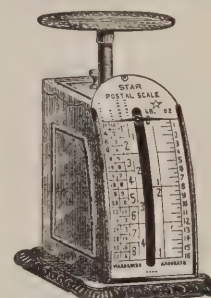

Mrs. John L. Bremer and Miss Bremer, her daughter, arrived at their Smith's Point estate Monday for the season. Dr. John L. Bremer, the son, is spending a few weeks at Cohasset before coming to the shore.

Dr. and Mrs. Ellingwood of Utica, N. Y., who had "Wyndehurst," one of the Kimball cottages at Manchester, last season, have taken another of the Kimball cottages, the one by Seaside Grove, which they had two seasons ago, and will occupy it before July 1. Dr. Ellingwood is a lover of fine horses and always brings on a string of good roadsters with him.

Mrs. Henry C. Weston has just closed her town house at 177 Beacon street, Boston, and moves to her pretty summer home off Hale street, Beverly Farms, today.

Rosamond Saltonstall, one of the best known young ladies of the North Shore summer colony, is to be a June bride. The wedding is to be a very quiet affair, and will take place June 15, in the Saltonstalls, Fairfield street home, Boston, where Miss Saltonstall has always spent the winter months. The groom, Charles C. Auchincloss, a Yale graduate and a New Yorker, will give a farewell bachelor dinner at Delmonico's previous to the wedding. From the present plans Miss Saltonstall, who will wear white satin for her wedding gown, will be unattended and the affair will be a very simple one. The honeymoon will be spent in Europe. The Saltonstall cottage at Beverly Cove has been let for the season to the Robert G. Shaw, 2ds.

Mrs. Thomas E. Proctor has opened her cottage, near Mingo Beach, Beverly Cove, and was among Thursday's arrivals.

Miss McNamara of 665 Boylston street, Boston, who is located at 39 School street, Manchester-by-the-Sea, for the season, is prepared to do shampooing, marcel waving and manicuring. Telephone connection. *

was neither warm nor yet too cold, and the veterans were able to enjoy the day to the utmost.

The address of the day was by Rev. Dillon Bronson of Brookline, a former Salem pastor, who paid a glowing tribute to the Grand Army of the Republic. The Schubert Male Quartette of Boston sang at the exercises in the Town hall and at the service at the vacant lot they sang "Old Glory."

Rev. Mr. Bronson said in part:

"Once again we enter upon holy week in our Nation's calendar. Once again we go to God's acre to lay our floral tribute above the dust of those who died for us. Once again we are reminded that the old soldiers are disappearing rapidly, and what we do for them must be done quickly. It is very meet and right that all our people should keep Memorial Day and recall the sacrifices of those who preferred death to disunion and dishonor. I would like to see the date changed to the last Sunday in May, that it might be a holy day instead of a holiday, and that the sports of unthinking people might not cause so many to forget the original purpose of this sacred celebration.

"We ought to take the children to the cemeteries this day and, showing them the little tents of green over which our dear flag waves, tell them what it means. We ought to remind them of the lavish and uncalculating offering of life on the part of our best American homes five and forty years ago; and we ought to tell them of the many brave fellows who sleep in unknown graves in the swamps of Virginia and the Carolinas. In the words of our eloquent friend Dr. Hillis:

" 'To sound of life and drum they marched away, these loved and loving fathers, brothers, friends, soon to return again, they said, when we have freed God's children and made our country one. But their good Father, God, planned better for them than they knew. Theirs the martyr's death, theirs the patriot's crown; striking chains from fettered slaves, God freed them from the fleshly bond. Seeking to keep their country one, God brought them to His eternal city, for they had fought a good fight, and though lost to sight, they still to men are dear.

" 'Today the magic wand of memory hath brought their names and faces back to us, but their graves we never shall strew with sweet and silent tokens of our grief. No man knoweth their sepulchre. Under scorching summer skies, overcome with heat, some fell naked and starving; some died in prisons damp and deadly; under smoking sulphurous clouds, that seemed to rain on their devoted heads, the hissing shot and shell most fell on bloody battlefields, now hallowed by their graves. And so we know where some do lie and some their final resting place we know not of. But who shall say that He who clothes His lilies does not mark soldiers' graves?

"In God's deep glens and forest aisles they lie. Their graves are strewn with grasses green and flowers gay. Each purpling summer day God's clinging vines fall over them, and when the autumn's frost hath splashed the leaves with blood and gold, the forest trees then drop their wreaths upon their billowy graves, while to the music of God's winds the weeping vines, the sobbing vines, the mournful elms, sound out their solemn requiem. There let God's heroes lie till the last trump shall sound."

"It is said that we who were born after the war cannot appreciate the work of the Grand Army, but we have seen the results and have read history and we know that secession and slavery were blind sisters who led each other and both fell into the ditch. We know the insane attempt of the South to break away from the Union was as suicidal as 'twould be for our earth to break from the solar system and wander alone in winter and eternal night."

"Had the war for the Union failed we should have had a score of rival republics in North America. We would have had standing armies and opposing tariff laws and slavery would have made our brothers aliens from the commonwealth of civilization, the scorn and contempt of the Christian world.

"The men of the South were skilled in military science. The army of the North was made up of farmers and merchants and professional men and boys, and they were transformed into soldiers on the field. For two long years the issue was very doubtful. Washington was in peril. England and France stood ready to recognize the Confederacy if they won a single great victory. Lincoln was advised by Greeley and others to resign, but after Gettysburg he went again to his knees and said we will hold on a little longer. Grant was discovered. Sherman marched to the sea. Sick men enlisted. Wounded men went again to the front against surgeons' orders and the greatest hero of the Civil war, the common soldier, 'held on' with 'Father Abraham' and moved forward until Appomattox dawned, and then generals and colonels and commanders became farmers and shop-keepers, manufacturers and preachers again, and the long war passed away like the storm of the last three days.

"Since the war with Spain which united our whole land and bound us again to England, we have acquired colossal wealth. We have become a great world power and put our hand to the plow in the Orient, where we dare not look back. We believe there is a divine purpose in all this and that God means we shall play a part in the christianization of the Asiatic consciousness, which is the great problem of this new century.

"We have no outward foes to fear. Our foes are all of our own household. Vice and crime and low ideals, which measure success by money only, are too common among us. The worst corruption is often where there is the smallest per cent. of foreign population, so we cannot lay our dangers to immigration any longer.

"Wealth is yellow and vulgar in the house of mirth. Business is to a considerable extent dishonest, and politics too often is a business in the hands of boodlers and bosses who would sell the Christ himself for the market price in Judas's time. We have 'good men' who are indifferent and callous, good for nothing in civic life. Columbia is calling for a new kind of patriotism, that which will be as true and unselfish now as our fathers were in '61, that which will stand on the firing line of good citizenship, and meet the gold intoxicated traitors who would destroy our democratic institutions."

Carriages with Veterans and Guests

March was made through Union and Washington streets to the Summer street cemetery where eight graves were decked; countermarch through Washington street, North street to School to Union cemetery where seven graves were decked; thence to Rosedale cemetery where 53 graves were decked and services were held at the memorial lot in memory of 16 unknown dead. Respects were paid in all to 84 deceased and unknown veterans. The line then countermarched to the town wharf where services in memory of the sailor dead were conducted by the Relief Corps and school children, and flowers were strewn upon the water.

SERMON BEFORE G. A. R.

Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln Preached the Memorial Sermon at Manchester Last Sunday. Services Well Attended.

Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln preached the Memorial sermon at the Congregational church last Sunday morning before the members of Post 67, G. A. R., and auxiliary societies. The services were well attended and the sermon listened to with rapt attention.

The pulpit was draped in the Stars and Stripes and there were simple floral decorations. The singing was by the congregation. Rev. E. Hersey Brewster of the Baptist church read the scriptures, portions of Isaiah 64, and Luke 4, and he offered the prayer.

"Think not that I am come to send peace on earth: I come not to send peace, but a sword" (Matt. 10: 34), was the text selected by Mr. Lincoln, who said in part:

"These words, startling as they may seem, all agree, come from Jesus Christ. They clung to the memories of His disciples and have come to us through the ages because of their peculiar significance. There are at least two explanations as to their meaning: (1) that they are wholly symbolic and (2) that whenever a man takes a stand for right and truth he must take all persecutions that come to him."

The speaker referred to the many wars that had been waged in the cause of religion from the time of Christ to the present day, saying that these people thought God sanctioned war in the cause of religion.

"But we today believe that God never sanctioned a war for the cause of religion. In the recent Russo-Japanese war in one or two days' fighting some 8000 soldiers were killed; but there marched out after them a small army of Red Cross nurses. To me these represent the Knights Templars of the Middle Ages, who carried with them the sword of God. These men most truly represent what the cross of God stands for.

"Can we believe that the sword waved in our Civil war was paled on white-faced men in defense of God-like principles and God-like country? No one can say but that when you went forth for the defense of your homes and families that you drew the sword of the Lord.

"Henry Ward Beecher in his biography is reported to have been found in his study by his sister moulding bullets, and when she asked him what they were for his grim reply was 'To kill men.' He also raised money to send rifles to the Union army, which the soldiers called 'Beecher's rifles.' There were thousands of others just like Beecher who, though they did not see service at the front, worked for the cause. And when you found a man not willing to work for the cause you found a coward.

"The spirit of the sword of the Lord is the spirit of true Christ-likeness. There are three elements entering into this—the sense of personal responsibility that made millions of men lay aside work at home and go forth and risk their lives. They felt this is my country, my home; these are my principles. It is this same sense of personal responsibility we need in this country today, and thank God, we have some such men.

"Another element is courage—not alone the courage of soldiers, the brave men who risk their lives for their country's sake. It was not alone these men who went into the war that had courage. I have no need to recall to you those dark days when men and women at home suffered and prayed, and sang songs of joy even when the day was dark. All over this land we found the spirit of the Lord.

"Still a third element was the determined persistence in well doing. 'I intend to fight it out along these lines if I fight all summer,' was the spirit.

"But all these elements are elements of Christ-likeness. You may become Christ-like and feel the consciousness of God. A man who always puts himself on the side of right will always come to know God.

"We can best give our testimony to these beloved memories, not by assembling in the house of worship, but by every day deeds of justice; not by tears, nor by laying tributes on the biers of those whose lives and actions we would emulate, but by emulation and action we take upon ourselves."

Real Estate and Improvements

Another real estate deal has been consummated in Manchester this week by which Michael E. Gorman adds about 20 acres of land, mostly woodland, to the already extensive batch of land which he has bought in the western section of the town, off Pine street. Thomas R. Tannatt of Spokane, Wash., and Harlan F. and Alice E. Eveleth of Arlington convey to Leonora F. Gorman, wife of M. E. Gorman, three lots, comprising about 10 acres; Daniel Allen et al. convey to the same person a lot containing about five and a half acres, which property is what is known as Mears' strawberry farm; and Eunice A. and Alfred W. Friend of Minneapolis, formerly of Manchester, convey about 4½ acres in the same vicinity. This added to what Mr. Gorman already controlled in that vicinity makes a total of some 186 acres of land.

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING

vote was 398 : Mr. Bell receiving 242, Mr. Bullock 154, blanks 2.

Quite a little speculation centered in the choice of a moderator to succeed F. K. Hooper, who had served the town for 11 years in that capacity, and who had announced that he would not be a candidate for election at any future meetings. C. C. Dodge was a candidate for the position, as was also Raymond C. Allen. There were but 28 ballots cast at 11.30 when the vote was taken, Mr. Dodge receiving 8 and Mr. Allen 20.

The matter of a sidewalk through the Cove woods was favorably decided on and $5000 appropriated for the purpose. The article relating to the relocation and widening of Brook street, brought out quite a wrangle, but it was finally decided to accept the layout and rebuild the street, and $5680 was appropriated for the purpose,—$2240 for damages and $3440 for construction.

It was also voted to accept and allow the layout of Norwood avenue extension from Vine to Lincoln streets, and the sum of $300 was appropriated for land damages. The work will not be done this year.

The total appropriation of the meeting was $11,030, which amount added to the appropriation of the annual meeting brings the total to $197,578.

What Was Said and Done at Special Town Meeting

The meeting was called to order at 11.30 by Town Clerk Jewett who read the warrant after which the election of a moderator was in order. Twenty-eight ballots were cast, 8 for C. C. Dodge and 20 for Raymond C. Allen.

The polls were open at 12 o'clock for the election of a member to the board of selectmen, assessors and overseer of the poor, and it was decided to close the polls at 6.30. Three hundred and ninety-eight ballots were cast, despite the pelting rain which continued all day, only 50 less than at the March election. The result is announced in another column.

The evening session was called to order at 7.30 by Moderator Allen, but no business was transacted till almost 8 o'clock, so few voters were present.

Article 7—To hear reports of committee, was first called for. E. P. Stanley of the committee on harbor dredging reported that nothing could be done this year, but that Manchester would probably be included in the bill to be presented next year at Washington.

F. K. Swett said the stage curtain was getting to be in a rather delapi-tated condition and asked for $50 to repair it. Voted.

3—To see if the town will build a sidewalk from the railroad track on Summer street to the house of Randolph Taylor, then concrete the sidewalk from said Taylor house to the plank walk at the entrance of Magnolia avenue; also to hear and act on the reports of the committees on said sidewalk and appropriate money for the same.

The moderator read the report of the committee presented at a former meeting, which had been referred to the finance committee. Secretary Needham read the report of the finance committee containing the recommendations that the town adopt the plan and recommendations of the committee as presented and that $5000 be appropriated for the construction of the walk, but that the matter of concreting the walk at the Cove be postponed.

F. K. Hooper moved that the report of the committee on sidewalk be accepted and so many of their recommendations as was included in the report of the finance committee be accepted and adopted. This was passed by a unanimous vote. There was some question as to the scope of the motion and it was again put, after the motion was put in writing by Mr. Hooper. The vote stood 60 to 0.

A. Cunningham asked if the cost of concreting the sidewalk at the Cove next year was included in the $5000, which was answered in the negative.

W. C. Rust asked if the committee did not recommend how the road should be built. The clerk read the report to the effect that the sidewalk should be built as soon as possible and that the plans and specifications be followed under the guidance of the selectmen and G. M. Lane. Mr. Swett asked it it was the sense of the meeting to let the work out to contract. No action was taken on this.

4—To see if the town will accept and allow Brook street between School street and Norwood avenue as laid out, altered and widened by the selectmen and reported to the town at this meeting and to appropriate money for the construction of the same.

It was reported that the damage to various estates were estimated as follow: Giles estate $2100, Peabody $100, Trowt $40, Gilman, nothing.

The financial committee recommended that the town accept the relocation and that $3440 be appropriated for construction and $140 for land damage.

D. L. Bingham moved that the town accept the layout of Brook street as reported by the selectmen.

E. P. Stanley thought that if the town was going to accept the offer of the Giles estate it had better act on that matter first.

D. L. Bingham stated that he was of the belief a mistake had been made. The Misses Giles, he said, did not want to part with their land and house.

E. S. Knight said an option was brought to him offering to sell the place to the town for $3500. Mr. Swett read the option.

Mr. Bingham again stated that the Misses Giles told him they wanted to keep their house.

E. A. Lane stated that the Misses Giles had told him they did not want to give up their house.

O. M. Stanley understood there were two proportions: They would sell the place for $3500 or let the town have what land they needed for $2100.

J. N. Lipman said there were two plans,—one to clean off the place, the other to move the house back. They understood this first plan was intended. If the Misses Giles must sell they said they wanted $3500, but if they could keep the place they wanted it.

Samuel Knight thought the town should decide on the acceptance of the layout. He asked if the town had the right to buy the property. He was of the opinion the town could take the property, use what was necessary for a highway and do what they please with the balance.

The clerk read the law on the subject, showing that the town could buy the whole property under the law.

After considerable discussion as to the purchase of the Giles estate it was voted to pass over Art. 5, which was as follows:

5—To see if the town will purchase from Sarah W. and Mary D. Giles the land and dwelling house situated on the corner of School and Brook streets and appropriate money for the same.

Art. 4 was again taken from the table, and, assuming that the Misses Giles would accept a land damage of $2100 it was voted unanimously that the layout be accepted. It was voted that $5680 be appropriated for the layout of Brook street.

Samuel Knight asked how this money was to be raised. F. K. Hooper was opposed to doing the work this year. F. K. Swett stated that in the $88,000 to be raised by taxation was included $13,000 to cover some of these proposed expenditures.

6—To see if the town will accept and allow the extension of Norwood avenue as laid out by the selectmen and reported to the town at this meeting and appropriate money for the construction of the same.

It was voted to accept and allow the layout and that the sum of $300 be appropriated for land damage.

Resolutions on the late Wm. E. Kitfield, as published in these columns some weeks ago, were read by the moderator.

The meeting adjourned at 9.35, after a rising vote of thanks had been extended to the moderator for his services.

Dr. Hall Curtis Dead

Dr. Hall Curtis, of Boston, passed away last evening, a little before 10 o'clock, at his summer home in Beverly Farms.

Society Notes

Among the smartest events thus far announced for the coming season on the North Shore will be the series of six recitals to be given by Mrs. J. Russell Selfridge at Library Hall, Magnolia. The first of these will be a song recital by Madame Schuman Heink on Saturday, June 30, at 4.30 o'clock. This will be the last time Madame Schuman Heink will be heard before sailing on July 7, to sing in the Wagner festival in Germany this summer.

Countess von Sternberg, wife of the German Ambassador, who has taken the Arthur Little cottage at Beverly Farms for the season, has arrived, but will not be joined by the Ambassador till well along in June. The Countess de Faramont, wife of the French Naval Attaché, has been spending the week a guest of Countess von Sternberg.

N. S. Simpkins, jr., was on to Beverly Farms over the holiday. His parents are expected on from Washington shortly.

Samuel Green of Boston spent Sunday in town a guest of Ernest Howe.

Miss Catherine Turbet of Salem was a guest of Miss Helen Coughlin over the holiday.

Lawyer Charles Hennessey of Gloucester was a guest of P. H. Boyle and family over the holiday.

Misses Annie McDonald and Christina McKenzie of Boston have been spending the week in town visiting friends.

There were 30 tables at whist in the town hall Tuesday evening for the last party in the series given by the Ladies' Sodality. Miss Eva Crombie won the ladies' prize and T. A. Robbins the gentlemen's prize in whist, and Eddie Neary and Michael Horri-gan captured high honors in "45." Following the whist the hall was cleared and dancing was enjoyed for the remainder of the evening, the hall being well filled. The music, which was said to be of a very high order, was by Cook's orchestra, which orchestra, by the way is doing splendid work and is getting to be much in favor

The "Gloriana," is 46 feet long and is 70 feet over all. She is one of the fastest boats on the shore. Last season Mr. Abbott made quite a long cruise down the coast and he will probably repeat the trip this year. He is rear commodore of the Eastern yacht club, Marblehead, this year. Capt. John Krognos is again in charge of the yacht.

Ball Game at Manchester

Though advertised very little before hand the baseball game on the Brook street play grounds on Memorial day morning, attracted a good sized crowd. The game was between picked teams selected from local young men and known as the "Overalls" and the "Underalls." The "Overalls" won 12 to 10. The line up:

Overalls—Shechan lf, Edgecomb ss, N. Cheever 1b, Crocker p, Pinette 3b, F. Miller cf, Hugh Burke 2b, A. Noyes rf, Wade c.

Memorial Day

All of Beverly Farms joined heartily in helping the veteran members of Post 188 properly observe Memorial Day, that most sacred of the nation's holidays. The day was perfect as regards weather conditions. The veterans, with an escort of citizens and members of the fire department, started from Central square at 2 o'clock and marched to the cemetery where the impressive services over the graves of the deceased soldiers were carried out. From there the procession went to West Beach where the services in honor of the sailors who lost their lives in the service of their country were held. On the return to Central square the large throng which had followed the services, listened to a concert by the Uaino brass band of Lanesville. In the evening the procession again formed and marched to the Baptist church where Dr. P. S. Henson gave one of his stirring patriotic addresses, lauding the services of the boys of '61, and emphasizing the work to be done by the boys of the present generation. The day was, withal, one of the most important in the history of the local post.

Challenge.

The Manchester clerks hereby challenge any picked team, composed of residents of Manchester, to a game of base ball on the Brook st. grounds on July 4.

The North Shore Breeze Ball-Team.

The Breeze has a namesake in a junior base ball team composed of Manchester boys. They call themselves the N. S. B.,—North Shore Breeze—and were to play Miss Clara Winthrop's class of boys from Boston at Tuck's Point this morning. The team is made up as follows:

Evans Spaulding, capt. and 2b, Francis Spaulding ss, Myron Wick 1b, Jack Merril 3b, Junius Richards p, George Lyman lf, Amory Coolidge rf, Roger Putnam cf, John Spinney c.

MANCHESTER

Few people who heard the selections played by the band Memorial Day realized that one of the numbers was composed by a Manchester boy,—Chester Cook. Mr. Cook is to be warmly congratulated on his work. He has worked hard to get the piece out and put into sheet form in time for Memorial Day. He has named the march, "Col. Woodbury's March."

Manchester friends of Rev. and Mrs. John Hastings Quint who have recently gone to Rockland, Me., will be interested to know that Mr. Quint was formally installed as pastor of the Congregational church at that place a week ago Wednesday evening. Rev. and Mrs. Quint were given a public reception in the church parlors Thursday evening. Mrs. Quint is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Lane of Manchester. Mr. Quint recently resigned his pastorate at Falmouth, Mass., to accept this call to Rockland.

The Ministering Circle of King's Daughters will meet next Monday evening with Miss Emma Stanley. Topic: "Pride."

There will be a meeting of the High School alumni at Mrs. Blaisdell's next Tuesday evening.

BEVERLY FARMS

The question is now being asked, "Is Beverly Farms to have its usual July 4th celebration?" The BREEZE man has made inquiries, and feels hopeful that the splendid celebration which has been in the past few years the pleasure and enjoyment of the whole community will again take place this year. The usual July 4th committee have not as yet had a meeting, but will no doubt get together very soon and formulate plans. This committee has to secure all its money by popular subscription, which is a hard and oftentimes unpleasant task, and much credit and also aid should be given them in their efforts to make the day at the Farms a complete success, which has certainly been the result at their hands in the past.

Messrs. This work included not alone a large amount of carpentry work, but also required considerable grading and leveling of the grounds. Last Saturday the Fox Hound show was held there under the auspices of the Middlesex Hunt club, of which A. Henry Higginson of Lincoln and West Manchester is the M.F.H., and was a huge affair, a large representative gathering. Connolly Bros. are also busily engaged there in the final completion of a race track, some mile and a half in length, and have also a large force of men at work in connection with the landscape design around the new residence of Mr. Higginson.

Miss Nannie Blake of Newton has been visiting Miss Bessie Williams, Vine court.

Messrs. Connolly Bros. started this week with a large force upon the new estate of Mr. John T. Morse, 3d, at Needham, which will include the construction of a residence and stable of ample proportions, avenues, paths, drainage, grading and landscape work.

Mrs. Rose Williams spent Memorial Day in Topsfield.

Arthur Harlow has resigned as clerk at the Central market, and has entered the employ of Messrs. Publicover Bros. to learn the carpenter trade.

Try a home-made squash pie, at Parker's, 12c. Money back if you are not satisfied. *

A benefit sociable is to take place in Neighbor's hall on Friday evening, June 8, under the management of the local court of Foresters in aid of a worthy family living at the Farms, who are in somewhat of a needy condition, due to sickness, the head of the family being unable to work and is confined to the hospital.

Decoration Day was opening day for the cottages along the beach bank at West Beach.

Mrs. George A. Bennett of Ashland has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Culbert, Greenwood avenue.

Miss Laura Bennett is renewing old friend acquaintances at the Farms, after an absence of two years spent in Washington, D.C.

Mr. John Burchstead is making alterations in the building formerly used by him for a store, and when completed will be a fine tenement, to be occupied by Mr. Donald McKenzie and family.

We have cherries, peaches, canteloupes, melons, and all the latest fruits of the season. Preble's market, Neighbor's block. *

F. P. Gaudreau, the local tonsorial artist, Andrew Standley, the shoe man, and Postmaster Elmer Standley are passing out to all those who desire complimentary time tables of the summer train arrangement, also the schedule of the mail service, on neat and handy cards, just the proper size for the pocket.

Clarence Preston is the new order clerk at Messrs. Walker Bros. & Co., Central square.

At the Beverly Farms school patriotic exercises were held by the children Tuesday. Members of Preston post and a large gathering of parents and friends were present.

Daniel W. Hardy and family have moved for the summer to their Valley street house.

Before selecting your butcher for the season visit Preble's market for prices and quality. Neighbor's blk. *

The concluding feature of the card tournament carried on during the past Lenten season by the Knights of Columbus and Foresters in aid of St. Margaret's church was in the form of a concert and assembly in Neighbor's hall, Tuesday evening, at which time silver cups were awarded the winners of the highest total scores for the six evenings. Miss Margaret Tully won the whist prize for ladies, and Wm. F. Eddy that for gentlemen. At 45s the winners were Michael Cadigan and Cornelius Murray, who played as partners. These trophies are of good quality, a splendid design, and will not only be appreciated as an ornament for the sideboard or mantel, but will also be a souvenir of an exciting and pleasant contest.

Henry Apel, one of the staff of barbers at the Hotel Touraine, Boston, is the new artist at Gaudreau's for the summer. Mr. Gaudreau has just had a telephone installed at his shop.

Full line of gents' and ladies' hosiery from 15c to 50c at White & Master's. *

NARROW ESCAPE.

Californian Writes Friends in Manchester of His Hair-Breadth Escape; His Eight Companions Swallowed Up in Mountain Slide.

J. W. Walker of Alma, Santa Clara Co., California, who had a most fortunate escape from death in the recent calamity, writes of the affair to Israel Harvey and family, friends of his in Manchester. He is employed by a wealthy Californian and was with the family at their mountain home 40 or 50 miles from San Francisco. He had left for the city the day before the 'quake, while those whom he had left behind were swallowed up in a mountain slide and killed. In his letter he says:

"I must say I never want to go through another such time. I might have been killed with some of the unfortunates, but it was not my lot. 'J. W. Walker' was reported to be one of nine buried in a mountain slide, but I left there the day before on horseback for Alma, and was riding through the mountains when the earthquake nearly frightened me to death. The mountain seemed to rise up and the trees bent every way; my horse tried to go over the mountain side—the ground opened and she fell with both hind feet into the crevice. It was something terrible.

"On arriving in Alma on the morning of the 18th I found railroads, telephone and telegraph all cut off. Buildings were down in all directions; the people all in despair. Then I began to despair for my baby. I could not leave until next morning. We all slept on the hill that night, or rather camped there, for very little sleep was possible for the earth trembled quite often.

"Early morning I saddled up and struck out for Mt. View; I could stand the pressure no longer for I wanted to see my little baby; it was the ride of a life time. I passed Agneus Asylum where 120 were killed and all stone and brick houses were down. When I came in sight of home my heart near failed me. The tank house, 45-foot high wind mill, and tank with 7500 gallons of water were down, and I could see a big hole in the roof, about 8 feet square. The chimney had fallen and gone through the kitchen into the basement, but you can just imagine how I felt when at last those little arms clasped around my neck. I thanked God from my heart and am not ashamed to say

THE NEW AUTO LAW.

Autoists May Travel Faster, But Reckless Driving Will Be Dealt with Severely.

Automobilists are given a little more freedom in the new automobile law, signed by the governor last Thursday week, and which goes into effect on June 24, but though more freedom is allowed, punishment is doled out more severely when the statutes are broken.

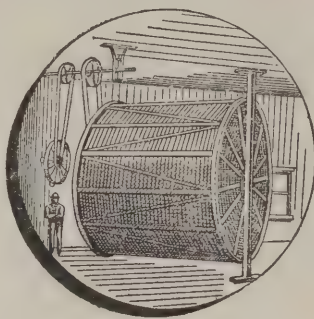

The new law allows greater freedom in the way of speed, as the limit has been raised to 20 miles on the highway, 12 miles in cities and towns, and eight miles around curves or crossings, where the operator's view is obstructed.

The law carries a provision that on the highway a car shall be timed for at least one-fourth of a mile when charged with overspeeding. This will prevent traps a few hundred feet long, such as many officials used. Many times a car might spurt up a little over the limit on a particular section, yet keep within the provisions of the law by a big margin by slowing up at various places. In the cities or towns the distance for evidence of speeding is set at an eighth of a mile.

The provision for imprisonment does not apply to speeding as some of the motorists believed. Fines are fixed for exceeding the speed limit, but for reckless driving and for operating a car while under the influence of liquor fine or imprisonment with a revocation of the license is the penalty.

The section that carries a provision that any person charged with violating the law shall be reported to the highway commission is still retained, and the provision curtailing the time allowed visitors from other states to drive here without registering their cars from 15 to 7 days was also passed. How this latter proviso is going to be carried out is a problem.

The rights of towns and cities to make special speed regulations is protected to some extent, but not as fully as the officers of some of the towns hoped for. There is a provision allowing town or city governments to make special regulations. But there is a proviso curtailing the powers, for, if within 60 days the highway commission gets a petition or protest regarding the action of town or city officials, the new regulations are not valid until the highway commission approves of them. The new state law allows the towns or cities the privilege to increase the speed limit, but few, if any, towns will do that.

"The Mayor of Tokio."

The critical playgoers of New York, Chicago, Boston, and Philadelphia have stamped with their enthusiastic approval, "The Mayor of Tokio," Richard Carle's farcical opera which will be seen at the Colonial Theatre, Boston, June 4.

The piece has made an instant hit everywhere it has appeared. In "The Mayor of Tokio," Mr. Carle has gotten together a company of talented people. In fact, the playwright's present support displays the most evenly balanced cast that theatre patrons have had the good fortune to see in a long time. In this new sparkling operatic offering, Mr. Carle has made a decided advancement as a librettist. Its lines are bright and very smart. Mr. Carle has the best chorus en tour in the past decade. The girls are not only charmingly pretty, but they can sing and dance as well. Particularly noteworthy is the work of the eight nimble-footed little dancers, who are styled by Mr. Carle the "Peanut Ballet." The big individual hit of the piece is scored by Mr. Carle, but aside from his personal success, the strongest artistic impressions were made by three women—Miss Emma Janvier, Miss Adele Rowland and Miss Ada Mitchell.

New Time Table

The new time schedule of trains for the summer service goes into effect Monday morning and a complete time table will be found next to the last page of this issue. It will be noticed a new station has been added to the Gloucester Branch—Bass Rocks—built late last season for the convenience of the summer contingent at East Gloucester and Bass Rocks. It is located about midway between Gloucester and Rockport. Three new Sunday trains have been added, while the daily service remains about the same, with the addition of a Saturday afternoon train.

Mrs. Susan Morgan.

The remains of Mrs. Susan Morgan, who passed away at Boylston, Mass., last week, were brought to Manchester last Saturday noon for interment in Rosedale cemetery. Deceased was a widow of the late Benjamin F. Morgan, a native of this town, and a brother of Lewis Morgan. Her age was 75 years.

Another Tremont Success.

Henry W. Savage has scored another positive success at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, where last Wednesday afternoon he presented Harry Bulger for an all-summer engagement in the new musical fantasy, "The Man From Now," by John Kendrick Bangs, Vincent Bryan and Manuel Klein. Monday will usher in the second week of the engagement, which gives promise of being one of the most satisfactory in the history of the Tremont Theatre. It is a pretty chorus, too, and it seems that every individual member of it could sing and act almost as well as the principals. The engagement of "The Man From Now" at the Tremont is for an indefinite period, and during its stay the regular matinees will be given on Wednesday and Saturday in pursuance of the long established custom.

The Joy Line Habit.

The reasonable rates and the good service of the Joy Line are proving irresistibly attractive to hosts of commercial travelers who make regular trips to New York. Those who have availed themselves of the service are united in praise of the courteous treatment and reasonable dining room charges. The habit of using the Joy Line is easily acquired, meaning, as it does, more money in pocket for incidental expenses at the metropolis. Steamers of this line are carrying their complement, and accommodations should be reserved well in advance by addressing Mr. B. D. Pitts, Agent of the Company, at 214 Washington street, Boston. Concert in the Evening.

The Town hall was crowded for the concert and entertainment at 7.45 o'clock in the evening. Sen. V. Com. Enoch Crombie was master of ceremonies. The program was of a very interesting nature, with readings and musical numbers, interspersed with selections by Long's orchestra which rendered a very good program during the evening. They played "My Maryland Medley," "Dixieland," "National Medley," "Apple Blossoms" and "Priscilla."

Com. E. P. Stanley of the Post when called upon for remarks spoke of the very evident need of a new town hall. "You have good schools," he said, "and as I look around me tonight and see the hall and entry crowded, it appears that the town of Manchester needs a new town hall, and it has certainly got to come. We need a building large enough to accommodate these children and their parents and friends."

"In past years we have done our small part to educate the American citizen and those who come to our shores in lessons of loyalty and patriotism,—the kind that leads to peace. It seems quite evident that the days of war are a thing of the past. The minds of the people at large turn to peace. All difficulties must be settled by arbitration and this is being led by the United States of which you and I are a part.

"After the struggle of '61-'65 the world learned that the United States could settle its own difficulties and the result is the world has flocked to our country and made it what it is today. The few members of the G. A. R. left feel that we have made it so."

The feature of the evening's program were the illustrated songs sang by Harry S. Tappan, including "Starlight," "When the Whip-Poor-Will Sings Marguerite," and "Bunker Hill." Between songs some views of Washington, Lincoln, McKinley and Roosevelt were thrown on the screen, closing with the verses of "America" being thrown on the screen, the audience joining heartily in singing.

Following is the program :

Selection by Long's Orchestra.

Remarks, E. P. Stanley.

Post Quartet, "When Johnnie Comes Marching Home" and "Massa in the Cold, Cold Ground."

Reading, "The Battle of Lookout Mountain," P. H. Boyle

Diary of an Automobilist.

Saturday—It's come! She's a beaut! Took her up to the grub-bish place, or whatever it is called. She's got lots of underpinning, but she's alright in the top story.

Sunday—Tried her. Ran away with me three or four times, but I didn't let on to ma and the kids. I feel like a flee riding on an elephant's back. Guess I'd hit it about right to say we drove one mile and ran away ten.

Monday—Skipped the office at five, picked up the family and some company and showed off on a 20-mile stretch. Stuck in the mud twice, water up to wheel tops, rescued the women by impromptu plank bridges, while we rolled the machine to dry land. Casualties, one cat, one black eye.

Tuesday—Left at 4.45. Time to Blankville, 18 miles, 'steen minutes minus two hats and a lace handkerchief. Return three hours, plod-horse time. "She" came back by freight. Casualties, one leg and a telegraph pole splintered.

Wednesday—Gave her a vacation.

Thursday—Courage good again. One dog deceased. Company retiring in the face of alluring invitations.

Friday—Stock going up with guests, but down with farmers. Casualties, one hen heady for plucking, two cows partly skinned, one whiffle tree smashed. Vocabulary increasing, cash diminishing.

Friday—Two lawsuits instituted. Chauffeur engaged, guaranteed liable for vicarious atonement. Interrupted, one courting spell on a country highway. Lad and lassie greatly surprised. Casualties, four runaways, seven doctors, one hospital, bills! bills! bills! An auto be d—d.

Fern-Croft Open for Business.

North Shore autoists will be interested in the announcement of the Fern-Croft Inn company that plans have been perfected to provide for the wants of the patrons of the old inn, despite the recent fire which destroyed the historic inn. A large cottage on the estate has been fitted up for the convenience of patrons and a large addition for kitchen purposes has been constructed. A dining pavilion has been added which will give ample capacity for guests. The place is now ready for business, but in a few months it will be reproduced in its original Colonial form, but with the addition of many conveniences for the comfort and pleasure of its guests.

Passed Away During the Year

Allen Post, 67, lost four members during the year, as follows: Benjamin F. Tuck, Co. H, 19th Mass.; Co. D, 2d Mass. Cavalry; died Oct. 6, 1905. Buried, Milford, N.H.

William H. Haskell. Co. D, 24th Mass; died Feb. 23, 1906. Buried, Rosedale cemetery, Manchester.

George Willmont. Co. A, 45th Mass; died, March 15, 1906. Buried, Rosedale cemetery, Manchester.

Andrew J. Crowell. Co. K, 38th Mass; died Apr. 27, 1906. Buried, Beverly Farms.

A large number of flowers were sent in Tuesday evening and Wednesday forenoon to be used in decorating the graves, among which was a bounteous supply of beautiful cut flowers from the Major Henry L. Higginson and Philip Dexter estates.

Delegates from the Post and Sons of Veterans, composing the cemetery committee, spent the forenoon placing flags on all the graves at the various cemeteries, under the direction of James H. Rivers, the chairman.

A delegation from Col. Henry P. Woodbury camp 149, S. of V. of Manchester, placed a beautiful wreath on Col. Woodbury's grave in the Hale street cemetery Beverly, on Memorial Day.

Full of Trusts

So much of it going on you don't know what's coming next. Seems as though everything we ate, drank, or needed for any purpose whatever, was being tied up in some kind of a combination.

It's in the air, it's contagious. It struck the carpet business here in Salem not long since. The custom of making and laying Carpets free of charge was suggested to be withdrawn. It might have been done.

Titus Said No

Why? Didn't believe in combinations, and thought there wasn't the need—for him. Result—a saving to you of ten cents per yard on every carpet you buy.

That isn't the only way that pennies are saved you in this carpet department of ours either.

Wilton Velvets cost but $1.50 here.

Worsted Faced Velvets, as many yards as you want for $1.10.

Best Quality Tapestries only $1.00.

Heaviest All Wool Ingrains only 75¢.

Great Sheet Linoleums, all the year round, 60¢.

Finest China Mattings only 35¢.

Bigelow Wilton Rugs, 9x12, but $35.

Body Brussels Rugs, 9x12, for $25.

And lots of other things just the same way.

And—all delivered in our new auto, you know.

Quite swell and no extra cost.

THOUGHTS

BY JOSEPH A. TORREY

Thou mournest the dead? Not so thy life declares;

He mourns the dead who shapes his life by theirs.

The Christian may go where he please,
If only he go on his knees.

When I am dead I may not hear
Your tender words of loving cheer;
So, if you please, I think as how
I'd rather you would speak them now.

Two prisoners gazed thro' the same prison bars;

One saw the mud; the other saw the stars.

Would you your faith regain?
Would you your faith retain?
Obey! obey! obey!
It is the only way.

Two classes there be that we view with misgiving:

Who live without work, and who work without living.

—Christian Endeavor World.

Popular North Shore Scene

West Beach, Beverly Farms, is probably one of the most popular beaches along the North Shore. The accompanying view, looking along the beach towards Tweed's point, gives the spot a picturesque setting. The cut is used through courtesy of F. W. VARNEY, Beverly Farms.

The school committee are having the tennis courts at the Brook street grounds regraded and resurfaced, and a pipe rail fence, ten feet high, is being built around the courts. D. T. Beaton is doing this work and Chas. Littlefield the resurfacing.

George Gardner of Boston is the new meat cutter at Sheldon's market for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Sawyer entertained a party of friends at their home on Vine street, Wednesday evening.

Lewis Hooper, Worcester Tech., and Chester Standley and Fred Andrews, Mass. Ins. Tech., have completed their studies for the year, arriving home this week.

Through a peculiar coincidence the drinking fountains in either end of the town have been out of commission this week, caused by automobiles or heavy vehicles striking against them. Saturday the fountain at West Manchester was run into and the water had to be turned off Monday, and Tuesday the fountain on Summer street was almost completely turned over. Some drivers, both of carriages and automobiles, are not content with the whole road, they want still more.

Mrs. J. W. Marshall has moved her millinery rooms from the first to the second story of her house, at 31 Central street.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Forster Allen have been spending the past few days at New Boston, N.H., where they went for the "Old Folks' Day" celebration Thursday.

Experience and excellent workmanship are good qualifications for one in the hairdressing business. Call at Keenan's—under the postoffice—and test his work. *

Thomas Lethbridge succeeds Chas. Chadwick as driver for Chester L. Crafts. Mr. Chadwick assumed his duties as driver of the fire horses last week.

Morley, Flatley & Co., have sold the house on Norwood avenue extension which they recently moved from School street, to John Holloran.

The Allen Family Reunion.

Invitations are being issued for the Allen family gathering to be held June 27 at Tuck's Point, Manchester. These are sent to all the Allen kindred as far as can be known. The invitation, however, is general to all who are connected by blood or marriage with William Allen the Planter.

Band Concerts

The first in the series of band concerts to be given in Manchester this summer will be given next Wednesday evening from the band stand recently set up on the Common. The second concert will be two weeks afterward, June 27. The dates for the rest of the series have not yet been decided upon, but it is probable they will be given weekly during July and August. The Manchester Brass band has been hired for the first two concerts.

MAGNOLIA

The Magnolia library time schedule for the summer months goes into effect next week. The hours will be from 9 to 12 each day.

Mrs. Frank Story has been spending the week in Newton, a guest of Mrs. Charles Haskell.

Everett Butler and family, who have leased their cottage for the summer, have moved into the Frank Story cottage on Magnolia avenue, this week.

Children's Sunday will be observed at the Village church next Sunday by a sermon to the children at the morning service; the Young Folks' choir leading the singing in exchange with the regular morning choir.

Visner Seltzer Waters are the best. Leave orders at Lycett's Drug store, Magnolia. *

Narrow Escape

Joseph Crispin had a narrow escape from death Tuesday, and he can feel merciful that he escaped with nothing more than severe bruises. He was working with his son removing shutters from the Clark cottage on Coolidge's Point. His son, Gilbert, was inside the house unfastening the shutters and passing them to his father. Mr. Crispin had very nearly reached the top of a 25-foot ladder and in reaching for the shutter he lost his balance and fell over backward, landing on the ground 25 feet below. Mr. Crispin was stunned for a moment. He was carried to his home in a carriage, and has since been confined there. The fall was most fortunate, indeed, for had he landed a few feet from this spot he would have fallen on a ledge and the result would probably have proven fatal.

At the Allen family gathering on the 27th inst. Dr. F. A. Gardner of Salem, vice-president of the Old Planters' society, will give an account of William Jeffery, the original Proprietor of Jeffries creek, now Manchester.

Jos. Vasconcellos, the barber, has not returned to Manchester yet, despite current rumors, and is not expected till the last of this month.

Friday, June 1, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Solomon A. Parsons, School street.

Mr. and Mrs. George Matheson have moved to the King cottage, on Rose-dale avenue, which Mr. Matheson has just bought.

Tuesday evening the members of North Shore lodge, A.O.U.W., had as their guests Grand Foreman Isaac Webster of Newburyport, D.D.G.M. W. Wm. Pawley of Salem, and representatives from the Danvers and Salem lodges, among the latter being John Lovett, the first master workman of John Endicott lodge of Salem. Previous to opening the lodge the visitors examined the school exhibit in the hall below and expressed themselves as very much pleased with the work of the pupils. There was a special installation, conducted by the guests, Senter Stanley being installed guide to succeed Wm. Mitchell, who recently removed to Beverly. After the business of the meeting remarks were in order. A collation of ice cream and cake was served.

Joseph Lloyd, after another winter at Pau, France, returned Sunday to assume his former duties as golf instructor at the Essex County club, this being his 12th season. Mr. John Griffin, who is again back to Manchester as steward at the club, is here for his tenth season.

The Heath Co. of New York, the well-known bric-a-brac and novelty concern, who have been located at the Tea House in Magnolia the past five seasons, have taken rooms at Mrs. J. W. Marshall's, 31 Central street, Manchester, for the season, and came on the first of the week.

Dr. Hall Curtis.

Funeral services over the remains of Dr. Hall Curtis, whose death at his summer home on Hale street, Beverly Farms, was recorded last week, were held at King's Chapel, Boston, Tuesday, June 5, at 12 o'clock. A large gathering of relatives and friends were present. The burial was private.

Dr. Curtis was one of the old-time residents of the North Shore, coming here a great many years ago. He was born in Boston July 7, 1834, and was therefore almost 72 years at the time of death. He was a son of Nathaniel Curtis. In '54 he was graduated from Harvard, and took his M. D. from Harvard Medical school a few years later. He served in the Civil war and was a surgeon in the 24th Mass. For half a century he was a practicing physician in Boston, his town home being at 2 Spruce street.

He was a member of the Somer-

Mrs. Francis I. Peabody and family have closed their Berkeley street home, Boston, and are located at their summer estate on Ober street, Beverly Cove, for the season.

Ladies along the North Shore have found the Beverly and North Shore employment bureau of Beverly to be a great advantage to them in obtaining thoroughly reliable help. This bureau, catering as it does to the wants of this distinct class, has furnished help for scores of families all along the shore, as well as in the hotels.

Their success is due largely to the fact that they make a specialty of investigating the people whom they have on their lists before recommending them. They can furnish anything in the line of help—gardeners, coachmen, hostlers, cooks, maids, seamstresses, etc.

Letter Carrier and Mrs. Charles H. Dockham have the sympathy of the community in the sudden death of their son, Stephen, aged three, who was run over by an ice wagon on Wednesday noon, sustaining fatal injuries. Little Stephen was playing with some other boys on Vestry street about the ice cart, and in some manner got underneath the wheels which crushed the little life out. Mr. and Mrs. Dockham lost another son, Ellis, only a few weeks ago, and this additional bereavement comes especially hard.

Plans for the Fourth

The Manchester Fourth of July committee have made further plans for the celebration of the Fourth as follows:

Water sports at Beach Street park at 8 o'clock, consisting of tub race, swimming race, walking the pole, skidoo race for boys under 16. Central square at 10 a.m.; pie race, tilting race, 250-yard dash, 100-yard hurdle race, doughnut race, distance run around town hill, potato race. There is also a possibility in arranging a water basket-ball game, and the exciting greased pig race.

In the afternoon will be the lecture and in the evening the electrical illumination. Commodore S. Parker Bremer of the Manchester Y. C., has kindly consented to add to the illumination by lights on his steam yacht, Velthra, which will be anchored in the inner harbor.

Interesting Pamphlets

Some very artistic and attractive illustrated descriptive folders have been issued by Passenger Agent H. A. Faulkner of the Boston & Northern and Old Colony Street Railway companies, and are now being distributed among the people who are fast learning the real pleasure that may be obtained from trolley riding followed intelligently.

There are three booklets in this year's series, one describing the parks, groves and various seashore and other outing resorts on the lines of the two companies, another giving schedules of running time, distances and fares on the various routes of the Old Colony system, with well written descriptions of some of the principal trips that may be taken, the other giving similar matter pertaining to the Boston & Northern system.

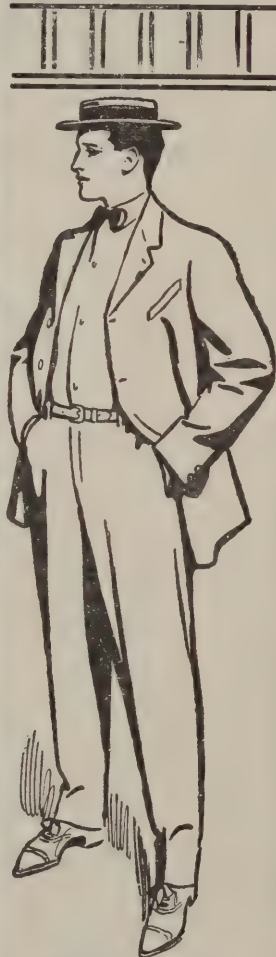

Announcement is made that they will be sent to anyone free upon application to the Passenger Department, 309 Washington street, Boston.

Notwithstanding the uncertain weather Wednesday evening a good-sized audience greeted Rev. F. J. Libby in the first of the series of stereopticon lectures at the Village church, Magnolia. The subject treated was the Yosemite Valley and California, and was an account rather of the personal experiences of the speaker than of knowledge gained from reading. The views were excellent, especially those of the Yosemite Valley, and of San Francisco before and after the earthquake. Mr. Libby delivered his lecture in a very entertaining way and held the attention of his audience for over an hour. The object of these lectures is to raise funds for the church. About ten dollars was realized Wednesday evening. Chester Knight operated the stereopticon machine.

John Ferguson has returned from the Provinces and is again employed at the Coolidge estate for the summer.

Rev. Mr. Stackpole of Boston, former pastor at the Village church, with Mrs. Stackpole, arrived Wednesday for the season, and are occupying the upper Allyn cottage.

During the thunder storm Wednesday afternoon lightning struck the Underwood cottage near the Aborn hotel. One of the ridge boards and some shingles torn off the roof was the extent of the damage, outside the fright given the servants in the cottage. Mrs. Geo. P. Wilshire of Cincinnati, who has hired the house, was expected Wednesday, but fortunately she did not arrive on that day.

William Silva of Gloucester spent a few days at Magnolia the first of the week with his sister, Mrs. D. C. Ballou.

Misses Clara and Maude Butler of Salem and Boston, respectively, were home over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. John Burke, who have been spending the winter with the former's family, Officer and Mrs. Martin Burke, have moved into the Tarr cottage on Western avenue.

Hearing on Widening Street at Magnolia.

An informal hearing was held before the board of aldermen in Gloucester, last Friday night, on the proposed widening of Raymond street, at the entrance into Magnolia from Manchester. Among those who spoke in favor of the move were Arthur Lycett, James S. Lee, Joseph Sargent, Jr., Jonathan May, Charles W. Jones, E. C. Richardson, Gorham Davis and Lafayette F. Hunt. The only objection was raised by Lincoln S. Simonds, counsel for Mr. Stanwood, whose property is on the corner of Raymond street and the shore road. As the proper legal notices had not been given, the hearing could not be held only as informal. A regular hearing will be held later.

As a result of this informal hearing, the members of the board of aldermen, accompanied by Mayor MacDonald and City Engineer Webber, went to Magnolia Monday afternoon and inspected the property of John J. Stanwood on the corner of Raymond street and the Shore road. Several of the Magnolia property owners who favor the change were present, and the city officials were given the opportunity to view the property for themselves. On the return to Gloucester the party had dinner at the Savoy hotel.

Orders for Visner Seltzer Waters may be left at Lycett's Drug store, Magnolia. *

SCHOOL EXHIBIT

Annual Display of Work of the Manchester School Children Very Much Appreciated by Crowds Who Attended

The second annual exhibition of the work of the Manchester schools was held in the Town hall, Tuesday afternoon and evening and was very largely attended, both by the parents and friends of the children, and by those who are interested in building up the educational system of the town.

One particularly noticeable feature of the exhibit was the increased attention given to the manual training in all the grades. For the first time an exhibit was made of the paper sloyd in Grades I, II and III. This was not started till the middle of the year, but the results obtained were most gratifying; manual training certainly develops dexterity and skill in children.

The drawing, too, was another feature. While the usual exhibition was made so far as subjects are concerned, it was noted that there is much more free hand drawing and freedom as to the matter of taste in coloring. There is less drawing from outline.

The increased tastefulness of all written work,—such as the neat way the booklets were bound together—was another noticeable feature. Originality is displayed everywhere.

In everything was there apparent an increased interest on the part of the children themselves; they seem to be gaining a comprehensiveness of their work and are taking a more exalted interest in their efforts. Especially are such exhibitions to be commended for this, if for no other reason, that they spur the children on to better work.

It was also evident from the public sentiment expressed that these exhibitions are helpful in giving to the public schools that element of public sentiment which they need. There was a large number of visitors who might be classed outsiders.

It will be of interest to know that the exhibition will be put in the hall of the John Price Primary school building for a few weeks for inspection by any teachers, educators, or anyone who might want to examine the work. The display represents the actual work being done in the public schools of the town.

On the left of the entrance was displayed the work of grade I., and at the right grade II., with the other grades following around the room.

Grade I, Miss Laura Norton, teacher, Miss Alice Sanborn, assistant; 44 pupils. The paper sloyd work was introduced this year in the three lower grades, and the results obtained are most encouraging indeed. In the first grade the free hand cutting was an interesting feature. The work of these tots attracted considerable attention, especially such work as the Hiawatha study. The Sunbonnet Baby booklets were very neatly gotten up, the crayon work being especially good. The clay models and the calendars were also very good.

Grade II., Miss Nellie M. Leonard, teacher; 43 pupils. In this grade the paper sloyd has advanced to the point where accuracy of measurements count, and some very neat results were shown. The booklets made by the children as a result of their study of the Esquimaux and of the Thanksgiving of the Pilgrims attracted much attention. The May baskets were rather cute. Simple weaving is taken up in this grade. A chart showed the progress made in writing during the year, from September to May.

Grade III, Miss Carolyn E. Allen teacher, 50 pupils. In this grade the sloyd work grows more difficult. More accuracy is called for in measuring, and objects made call for greater skill. Two large raffia pillows attracted much attention and many were surprised to learn they were made by the children. "My Bird Book" depicted the good work of the children in this subject, treating of the best known and most familiar birds. The children spent a month this winter in study of the rooster, until they could cut and draw them. So good results were obtained, in fact, that the work was taken to Lowell for inspection by the teachers there. The free-hand cutting and calendars made by the children, were features of the display.

Grade IV., Miss Lila Goldsmith, teacher; 44 pupils. In this grade more attention is given to language work than in the lower grades, the pupils taking up letter writing, stories from pictures, reproduction stories, etc. Wood sloyd is started in this grade also, while the girls take up card-board and crepe paper work. This room goes more deeply into the study of nature, and their color sketches of the birds were very good. The study of the oriole was particularly good.

Grade V., Miss Lina Tozer, teacher; 40 pupils. The advance of the children is getting to be very apparent in all lines of work. Some designs for doilies—original with the children— attracted much attention.

The ink drawings of the pussy-willow and the ships were very commendable. Map drawing has its start in this grade, and some very good results were obtained. The booklets, "A Visit to Other Lands," attracted much attention.

Grade VI., Miss Ina Eldridge, teacher; 40 pupils. The technical work in grammar is taken up in this grade. The booklets, "Autobiography of My Life," contained much food for thought for older people.

An interesting feature of the work done by this grade was "The Quaker Poet" booklet, which one boy, after preparing a very attractive cover and enclosing a picture of Whittier, dedicates "To My Aunt." The work was in connection with language study. In the preface which follows he says the book is composed of "John G. Whittier" (a sketch of his life), "The Poem of 'The Barefoot Boy,'" and a story from the poem. That this line of school training brings out originality in the pupils is shown by the following sample:

"The high society people have, when they go to a hotel, an orchestra to play for them while they eat, so the Barefoot Boy must have one, too: the frog, the wind and the cricket for his orchestra, with the firefly to light up the band."

And again:

"Some of the blessings of the Barefoot Boy are, he can go to bed and sleep as sound as a rock all night, and he is healthy. * * * Some of the ways that the world was his pleasure house are that he had outdoor life most of the time and never went to shows and circuses."

Grade VII., Miss Avis Antill, teacher; 32 pupils. Some very good work was found in the display in this grade. The drawing work was a particularly interesting feature, Miss Antill having her pupils do considerable drawing and sketching from their own observation. The maps drawn from memory might be called a feature of the display, while the bird chart and the perfectly blended colors in the sketches attracted much attention.

Grade VIII., Miss Annie Clark, teacher; 26 pupils. The work here shows signs of considerable advancement, as the more difficult subjects are introduced. "Longfellow's Magazine," with a sketch of the life of the poet, a treatise of the origin of Evangeline, and a list of the author's works, showed the pupils had a good understanding of the subject studied. The maps and drawings illustrating various points in history were a feature of this grade's work.

Grade IX., Albert Mead, principal; Miss Larah Fish, assistant; 20 pupils. In this grade the subjects preparatory to High school studies are taken up, such as beginner's Latin, elementary algebra, etc. Picture framing has been a feature of the sloyd work. This branch of the school work is playing an important part in the up-building of the school system of the town, as was seen by the display as a whole.

Among the out-of-town visitors noticed were Judge Cate of Amesbury, Principal Brown of the High school, Miss Carr, one of the assistants, and Supt. Robinson of Peabody.

June 14—next Thursday—will be Flag Day.

The coming reunion of the Allen family, at Manchester, revives an interest in our local annals. Now is a good time to refresh the memory by re-reading our admirable Town History.

Of the total county tax of $341,600 levied by the county commissioners the apportionment for Manchester is $13,350.20, only $10,000 less than the city of Salem. The tax last year was $12,506.

The third Essex district, according to the new senatorial redistricting bill, includes Gloucester, Manchester, Rockport, Essex, Hamilton, Wenham, Topsfield, Ipswich, Rowley, Newbury, West Newbury, Newburyport and Salisbury. The towns added are Salisbury and West Newbury, which are transferred from the fourth district, and Topsfield from the fifth. Otherwise there is no change.

While Salem and other near-by cities and towns are sweating under the pressure of the so-called ice trust, and people are getting only 12 to 15 pounds of ice for ten cents, Manchester people can feel happy of the fact they can get 25 pounds for the same amount. Though this is five to ten pounds less than previous years the local ice-men say they may be sorry for such low prices before the summer is over, and they are unable to get enough ice to supply their customers at any price.

What's the matter with us here in Manchester the last three or four years? Why can't we get together and have a rousing good water carnival? With so many boats of various kinds, motor launches, yachts, large and small, dories, sail boats, and cruising yachts, and apparently some good yachting spirits, why not put some of our enthusiasm into a water carnival? Our harbor has been a splendid place for such things in the past, why not try it again?

A Communication

Editor of the North Shore Breeze:

What is the matter with the citizens of Manchester?

When the greatest of all songs was being sung at the Town wharf yesterday at the services in honor of the sailor dead the writer could see only two men who took off their hats. If there be anything for which we ought to take off our hats, it certainly must be when "America" is being sung. There was shown very little reverence for the same hymn at the conclusion of the entertainment in Town hall in the evening. A great many were struggling for the doors as if a fire were raging under their feet. We ought to know how to conduct ourselves when we go off to such a celebration as that of yesterday, in honor of the Nation's dead. Let us try to improve this a little.

Just a few words to you boys before concluding: When you want to honor any of our heroes or statesmen do not yell as demonstrating Russians; but if you want to express your feelings let it be done through a clear cheer. Do not let us stain such occasions with any beastly outbreak; there is time enough for that between our national holidays, and let these be kept free from all everyday disturbances.

T. A.

Manchester, May 31, 1906.

WHISPERINGS

Whisperings have come to my ears of a couple of popular Manchester High school boys, who celebrated Decoration day with a number of other Manchester fellows seeing the sights at Revere Beach and Wonderland. They all enjoyed the day immensely, but as they were partaking of some of those fried clams for which the beach is so famous, about 6 o'clock, the eyes of two of the boys fell upon two fair Boston damsels about their own age. It took but a little time to break the ice and before long they were seeing Wonderland. The evening passed all too quickly, and so much taken were the two lads from the seashore with their city friends that the last train for Manchester had gone. They reached Lynn by the narrow gauge, however, about 2 o'clock and vamped it home from there, reaching Manchester Thursday morning about an hour before the first train.

A westerner tells the story of an automobilist who met an elderly couple driving a skittish horse which decidedly objected to passing an unknown vehicle. The driver of the car stopped to offer his aid, but the man declined it with the remark:

"If you lead my old woman by, I guess the boss and I can make it all right."

Society Notes

E. M. Padelford of Washington, D.C., has rented the old school house, so called, on Haskell street, Beverly Farms, and will move to the shore next Monday.

Major Geo. F. Barstow is expected at the "Old Corner," West Manchester, today. The house was opened yesterday.

The A. F. Bemises are expected at their Manchester estate today.

Mrs. James T. Fields has arrived at her cottage on "Thunderbolt Hill," Manchester, for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby are spending the week end in Lancaster, making the trip in their new Pierce-Arrow car.

The Thornton K. Lothrop's arrived at West Manchester this week for the season and are again located at the Boardman cottage, which they had last year.

Hon. T. Jefferson Coolidge is being congratulated on having become a great-grandfather, a little baby boy arriving in the London home of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Higginson, Jr., the first of this week. Mrs. Higginson was Miss Hetty Sargent, the favorite granddaughter of Mr. Coolidge, who spent some time at her home on his recent trip abroad. Mr. Higginson's father, F. L. Higginson, is in England now, but will sail for home about June 22, and will join his family at Prides Crossing.

No recent announcement has been of so much interest as that of Wednesday when Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Boardman announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Josephine Porter Boardman, to Senator Winthrop Murray Crane, ex-governor of Massachusetts. The wedding, it is said, will take place at "Wyndcliffe," the beautiful summer home of the Boardmans, off School street, Manchester, in July. The President and Mrs. Roosevelt will, if no untoward circumstances prevent, be present at the ceremony, and in all probability Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, who is an intimate friend of Miss Boardman, and Mr. Longworth, will return to America in time to attend the wedding. Miss Boardman is one of the most popular and most prominent society women in Washington, and has done conspicuous work in various charities. She is noted for her attainments in languages, music and affairs of state.

Baron von Sternberg, the German Ambassador, the Countess and family, are now located at the "Little cottage," Beverly Farms, for the summer, arriving last Saturday from Washington. Monday the Ambassador goes to Chicago, where he is scheduled to deliver an address before the students of the University of Chicago. The Embassy headquarters, by the way, will no doubt be the centre of attention the latter part of the summer, when numerous German nobility will be on to the shore for the German-American races off Marblehead.

Henry Havelock Pierce, formerly of Newport and New York, but now located at 729 Boylston street, Boston, has opened an office in the store with Clark & Mills Electric company, in the Postoffice building, Manchester, and will make a specialty of photographing people in their own homes by his new system of artistic and natural portraiture. By appointment Mr. Pierce will make sittings at all of the principal places along the North Shore.

William A. Russell

William Augustus Russell passed away at Manchester Wednesday evening at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Head, after several months' illness. Funeral services were held at Trinity church, Boston, this morning at 11 o'clock. Burial was private.

Mr. Russell was in his 33rd year. His marriage last September at the Emmanuel Church, Manchester, to Miss Mary Lovering Head, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Head, was the social event of the season. His death is a very sad affair, indeed, and has cast a gloom over a large circle of friends. Death resulted from cancer of the stomach.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell returned from their wedding trip in December and though Mr. Russell had been in poor health for some months, the seriousness of his trouble was not apparent till some month or two ago. He was brought to Manchester in early May, but despite all that was done for him, the end came Wednesday night.

Elected Clerk of Board

Walter R. Bell, the newly elected member to the board of selectmen, has been elected clerk of the board. Mr. Bell, by the way, is the youngest member ever honored by an election to the town fathers in Manchester. He is 27 years old. Chairman Swett was 27 at the time of his election, but he was a few months older than Mr. Bell is now.

Sixth Annual Event of the Manchester Alumni Held Last Evening

The sixth annual reunion of the Story High School Alumni was held in Manchester Town hall last evening, and was a very successful affair. Following a short entertainment, consisting of tenor solos by Samuel Bell of Beverly, whistling solos by Mrs. Flanders of Salem, and readings by Miss Beth Lefavour of Beverly, there was a reception, dancing starting at 9.30 and continuing till 12 o'clock.

The program was as follows:

Whistling Solo.....Richmond March
Mrs. Flanders of Salem
Reading....."An Old Man's Dream"
Miss Elizabeth Lefavour of Beverly Solo.....{ "Star of My Life"
 { "The Little Dutch Garden"
 Samuel Bell of Beverly Whistling Solo....."Robin's Return"
Mrs. Flanders
Reading....."A Sisterly Scheme"
Miss Lefavour
Solo....."My Dreaming Daisies"
Mr. Bell
Whistling Solo....."College Life"
Mrs. Flanders
Reading....."A Similar Case"
Miss Lefavour
Solo.....{ "My Sweet Wild Rose"
 { "Sing Me to Sleep"
 Mr. Bell

Miss Lefavour is a student at Emerson college in Boston, and her selections were greatly enjoyed.

The matrons were Mrs. John Baker and Mrs. Lyman W. Floyd, who were assisted in the receiving line by Bernard J. Boyle, '00, president of the association. Mr. Boyle led the grand march with Miss Etta Taylor, '04. The music was by Long's orchestra. Refreshments were served during the evening.

The committee in charge was composed of: Walter R. Bell, chairman; Wm. J. Dougherty, Dan'l J. Sheehan, Misses Etta Rabardy, Katherine Watson, Elisabeth Jewett and Edith L. Wheaton.

The North Shore Blue Book.

The list of summer residents from Nahant to Rockport will be published in the North Shore Blue Book, which makes its appearance soon after July 1.

The list includes some of the most prominent American statesmen and business men, as well as foreign ambassadors. There is no more attractive place to draw the noted citizens for their summer homes than the beautiful points along the North Shore.

The winter addresses will also be published, as well as the summer, and a map given to each subscriber.

Price will be same as last year,

$1.50. E. A. Jones, Publisher, Old South Building, Boston.

In Autodom.

E. C. Richardson is having a small auto garage built at his estate in Magnolia, where he will have installed his new Pope-Waverly and Autocar. Clark & Mills Electric Co. are installing the charging apparatus.

Two auto parties came to grief at Magnolia Sunday afternoon while trying to drive on Hesperus avenue beyond the point which, by the way, has previously and now should be labeled "Not An Automobile Road." One party tried to turn their car around at a point beyond Rowe's stable and backed down an embankment. It had to be pulled out by placing heavy planks under the wheels. An hour later another party, said to be from Lynn, found the road bad for travel, and at a point about 100 feet beyond where the first auto left the road, were thrown into a brook after their car left the road in trying to turn around. None was injured, although all the men and women in the party were soaked with water and one of the women was somewhat bruised.

At the Baptist church tomorrow morning Rev. E. Hersey Brewster will preach on "The Ministry of Intercession." At the People's evening service he will speak on "An Old Turnstile," the fourth in the series on "Village Homilies." Mr. Brewster has been spending the week in New York, going there from Barre, Mass., where he delivered the oration on Memorial Day. He writes he has enjoyed his visit very much, but will be glad to see one of our open fields, for New York "in all its glory is not arrayed like one of these."

The Teachers' Training Class of the Baptist church will meet in the parsonage Monday evening.

At the Tuesday evening prayer service next week Rev. Mr. Brewster will speak on "Types of Christian Experience," Ezek. 47. The topic Friday evening will be "Insulation."

Deacon Thos. B. Stone led the meeting at the Cove Thursday evening.

During June, July and August the Senior and Junior Y. P. S. C. E. meetings at the Congregational church will be omitted.

The Unitarian church, Smith's Point, will open for the summer next Sunday, June 17, when Rev. Dr. Samuel A. Elliot, president of the Unitarian Association will preach. Other preachers during the summer will be published from week to week in the Breeze. The services are at 10.45 A.M.

BEVERLY FARMS

A large force of employes of the city street department have been at the Farms the past few days cleaning out the gutters and making general needed improvements along Hale street from Central square to Hart street.

The North Shore gardeners' demand for birch pea brush, which material also makes excellent brush broom for sweeping avenues and paths, have compelled Messrs. Connolly Bros. to ship from their Topsfield farm another car load, which arrived this week.

The fleet of pleasure crafts off West Beach has now grown to quite a number, many of the local yachtmen launching their boats this week.

"Dancing on the Floats" to the tune of any old kind of music, is certainly the popular diversion to a large number of Beverly Farms young people who can be found most any pleasant evening enjoying themselves in this manner at the beach.

Mrs. Mattis Hanson, the Misses Clara and Jennie Hanson and Mrs. John Holtman and children, sailed on the "Arabic" from Boston on Thursday morning for Sweden, to visit the old homes of Mrs. Hanson and Mrs. Holtman where they expect to spend the summer.

The "Dedication of Infants" which was to be held in the Baptist church on Children's Sunday, has been indefinitely postponed.

Miss Sara Miller of St. Botolph street, Boston, has taken up her residence at James B. Dow's on Hale street for the summer.

John West colony, Pilgrim Fathers, have a committee at work making arrangements for their annual summer outing.

Ralph W. Osborn has purchased a cottage at Asbury Grove, where, with his family, he will spend the summer.

William Neville, the superintendent and caretaker of the West Beach corporation property during the summer season, has been made a special police officer to serve upon the above-named property.

The Ladies' Sewing Circle connected with the Beverly Farms Baptist church are to hold their annual fair and sale on Thursday, June 28. Fancy articles, cake, candy, etc., are solicited and would be appreciated. The proceeds of these fairs are each year devoted to a fund in aid of the church.

Before selecting your butcher for the season visit Preble's market for prices and quality. Neighbor's blk. *

The following are the Beverly Farms members of the Beverly High school class of 1906 who will graduate this month: Misses Sophia F. Bennett, Alice G. Bolam, Mary J. Dwyer, Gertrude H. Connolly, Elizabeth A. Toomey and George S. Day. The exercises are to be held in City hall, June 26.

It is desired that as many of the Cradle Roll as possible, or one of the family, be present at the Children's concert, Sunday evening, at the Baptist church, to receive one of the little plants to be given to each member.

Dept. Pres. Mrs. Goddard, and Dept. Inspector, Mrs. Beal of the W.R.C., will be the guests of Mrs. Alice L. Preston, Tuesday and Wednesday of the coming week.

Mrs. Emma Davis and son, were the guests of Mrs. Lizzie Williams, Thursday, at her old home in East Wenham.

William H. Preston of Hart street was quite badly injured last Saturday evening. As he was driving down Common lane he was forced to turn out to let an automobile pass, and as he did so, he struck a hydrant and was thrown to the ground.

Alderman Hodgkins is to be commended upon his inquiry made at the aldermen's meeting, Tuesday evening, concerning the delay in reporting upon the matter of $200, asked for to clean up and grade the playgrounds. It does seem that there could be no possible question as to the need of this being done as early as possible.

Many are in receipt of invitations to attend the graduation of Charles Frank Trowt with his class at the Clark school, Northampton, on Wednesday, June 13.

Michael J. Murphy, who has been in ill health for some time, was this week admitted to the Carney hospital, Boston, for treatment.

The popular demand at the Farms is that the usual July 4 celebration be held this year, and on every hand is heard the hopes that the committee, composed of representative citizens, will soon get together and formulate plans for a celebration of the day.

Frederic Ayer, who a short time ago purchased the Royal E. Robbins estate at Pride's Crossing, has applied to the harbor and land commissioners for permission to build an ocean pier off his estate, which seems to be the only feature needed to make this valuable piece of property, bordering on the ocean, all that could be desired. The plans and specifications for the pier and floats are from the office of Messrs. Connolly Bros., which firm have long ago received a well-merited reputation for being the designers and builders of many of the piers penetrating the waters from North Shore estates.

A delegation from Preston W.R.C., 93, attended the exemplification at Wakefield Thursday.

Try a home-made squash pie, at Parker's, 12c. Money back if you are not satisfied. *

The benefit dance given in Neighbor's hall last evening was well attended and was very successfully managed by a committee from the local court of Foresters. The proceeds go to a worthy family made needy through sickness.

Two eagles of limestone, which will ornament the top of the main entrance of the H. C. Frick estate, "Eagle-rock," arrived this week and are being put in position.

Lawrence Diggins, the proprietor of the Beverly Farms house, was fined $75 in the District court at Salem yesterday. This is the sequel of a successful raid made a short time ago by the Beverly police officers.

Rep. Wm. R. Brooks is being congratulated by his fellow townsmen upon a successful termination of several measures which have come up in the Mass. Legislature recently, in which he was especially interested, some of which required considerable hard work by Mr. Brooks in bringing about the good results.

Hot Corn Muffins, 6.15 A. M., at Parker's. *

M. Vinnes, the secretary to the German ambassador and three clerks are now located on Vine court, at the suite of rooms formerly occupied by Mr. Mattis Hanson and family.

The board of directors of the West Beach corporation have recently purchased the bath houses at West Beach, heretofore owned by Messrs. Publi-cover Bros. which now brings to the corporation the complete control of all bath houses used for commercial purposes.

A party of young people gave a private sociable in Marshall hall, Monday evening. Local talent furnished the music.

THE SUMMER HOTELS

There are lively doings at all the Magnolia hotels these days, but not of the sort seen there about a month hence. Work is being rushed in getting all the houses ready to open for guests the middle of this month. At all the houses minor improvements are in progress, and finishing touches are being put on everything.

Manager C. H. Mowry, who has made the New Magnolia a very popular resort in his two years as manager, is back for this season and will endeavor to make the hotel even more popular this year. Mr. Mowry has charge of the Hotel Titchfield in Port Antonio, Jam., winters. Frank L. Castner, for nine years at the Poland Spring house, will be the room clerk, and E. A. Milette, for three years front clerk at the Hotel Hamilton, Bermuda, will have this post here this season. W. A. Gardner, who has been with Mr. Mowry, both in Jamaica and at Magnolia, for a number of years, will be cashier again this season. The hotel opens next week, Monday, June 18, with an exceptionally large booking, many of whom have taken suites for the entire season.

Harry T. Miller, at the Intervale, in Intervale, N. H., last year, and for several winters at Hampton Terrace, South Carolina, will manage the Hesperus House this year. Mr. and Mrs. Miller have arrived and with a corp of servants are putting the house in readiness to open on Wednesday, June 20. An elevator is being built to be ready for use by the opening of the house.

The 57-room addition which Prop. Warren Knowlton is having built to the Blynman will not be completed for some weeks yet, though the hotel will be open week after next in all probability.

Manchester

The Masconomo hotel at Manchester was opened last week for the season, with Frederick Merrill of Boston in charge. This famous hostelry is making a specialty this season of a la carte dinners, and will be quite the center for automobile parties down the shore. F. M. Shortall of Boston is clerk at the hotel this season.

Additional Telegraph Service

Magnolia is to have excellent telegraph and call service this season, something the cottage and hotel guests will be very much interested in, as the service at times heretofore has not been all that could be desired. Through the agency of Frank G. Cheever of Manchester, a Postal Telegraph-Cable Co., office will be installed this season and will open for business June 15. The company guarantees prompt and satisfactory service to all parts of the world. Miss Bishop from the main office in Boston will be the operator in charge of the office, which will probably be located in the library building.

Work has been started this week on the construction of the overhead bridge to be built over the railroad tracks on the Manchester side of the Magnolia station, over which will go the road being built through the Philip Dexter property in the easterly part of Manchester. H. W. Ward of Lowell has the contract for the stone work.

If you want to make an improvement on your Kodak pictures, drop a line to the Robey-French Co., 38 Bromfield St., Boston, Mass., for their little booklet that tells you how to get good pictures.

"The Man From Now"

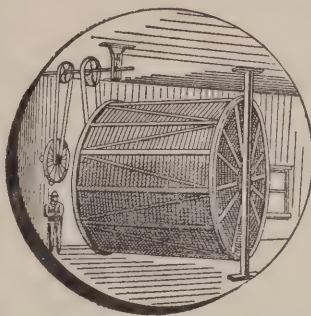

Harry Bulger, who next Monday will begin the third successful week of his engagement in Henry W. Savage's summer production at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, "The Man From Now," is the talk of the town. Nothing in the musical comedy line has scored so positive and instantaneous a success as has this production, staged with all the elaborateness which generally characterizes the Henry W. Savage productions, and no play has so teemed with broad humor and good fun as does this one. Mr. Bulger has been well fitted by Messrs. Bangs and Klein with his part, and Manuel Klein, who provided the score, has evolved some new and entrancing melodies which are the favorites of the city. Mr. Bulger has three song hits, "There isn't anything that can't be cured," "The Irresistible Tune," and "College Chums," all written in that vein for which Mr. Bulger is noted. The company Mr. Savage has surrounded his star with is an exceptional one, including as it does Helen Hale, Walter Lawrence, Frances Demerest, John Keefe, Hattie Arnold, Lucy Tonge, Charles Meyers and George O'Donnell, and the world's premier singing and dancing chorus. This chorus of beauty is a veritable sensation in Boston, for it is composed of extremely young and vivacious young women, and they all know how to sing and dance as well as how to look pretty. There is room for doubt as to whether or not its equal has ever been seen in any Savage or other musical production here. The regular matinees in vogue at the Tremont, Wednesday and Saturday, will be given during Mr. Bulger's stay in Boston.

Greater Paragon Park

Make a little red ring around June 16th on your calendar, for that is the day that Greater Paragon Park at Nantasket Beach will open for the summer. It's going to be a gala day for it begins a season of light and laughter, of freedom from care and bondage to good humor for all who visit this firefly city by the sea.

Last year there was no one big show at Paragon Park, but that deficiency has been more than met this year, for "Hades to Paradise," the biggest of the new shows cost $50,000 to build and is one of the biggest amusement devices in the world. Among other things to be seen in it is a flying ballet of handsome young women.

Another big new show that is sure to be a hit is "Lovers' Lane," which is a trip recommended for those who would not wear "Bachelors' Buttons."

Manchester Boys Win Second Place at Athletic Meet.

The Manchester boys won second place at the first annual athletic meet of the Phi Alpha Pi Fraternity held at Dummer Academy, South Byfield, last Saturday, under the supervision of the County committee of the Y. M. C. A.'s of Essex County. Of the 77 points possible the local boys captured 31, while Thompson, a young athlete, from Andover, won all the 33 points and first place for that team. Danvers won 11 points and Groveland 2.

The local boys won points in the following events: 220-yd. dash, Revere Pulsifer, 3d; 440-yd. dash, Stephen Hoare, 2d, Charles Dodge, 3d; shot-put, Frank Sinnicks, 2d, Chas. Hooper, 3d; relay race, 1 mile, Manchester team, Revere Pulsifer, S. Hoare, C. Dodge and F. Sinnicks, 1st; throwing baseball, Pulsifer, 2d, Sinnicks, 3d; run and broad jump, Pulsifer, 2d, Sinnicks, 3d; high jump, C. Dodge, 1st, Willard Rust, 2d; three-legged race, Manchester team, Pulsifer and Dodge, 2d.

Thompson of Andover won the silver cup and most all the medals, and he was very plainly not in a class with the rest of the boys. He gave up many of his medals to the boys who had taken second place in the events. The Manchester boys brought home 14 medals—Pulsifer, three gold, one silver; Dodge, two gold; Sinnicks, two gold, two silver; Hoare, one gold, one silver; Rust, one silver; Charles Hooper, one silver.

Increased Service.

Commencing with the week June 11th, the Joy Steamship Co. announce change in schedule in the service via the direct line between Boston and New York. The steamers "Old Dominion" and "Santiago" in commission, are large iron, sea-going craft, with comfortable and commodious passenger accommodations. The steward's department is particularly well conducted. These steamers will each make a trip and a half every week, and are scheduled to sail from wharf, No. 308 Congress street, Boston, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at 5 P. M., returning from New York on the same days at 6 P. M. In addition to this service, this company operates steamers every week-day in both directions between Providence and New York. Reservations should be made well in advance by addressing Mr. B. D. Pitts, Agent, 214 Washington St., Boston.

SUMMER BOARD WANTED

Each Spring and Summer hundreds of people all over the country turn to the advertising columns of the Boston Evening Transcript for information as to where the most desirable summer boarding places are located. If you intend to accommodate boarders it will be to your advantage to send us your name and address at once, together with a description of your place and of the accommodations you offer, and we will assist you in getting up an attractive advertisement which will undoubtedly bring excellent results. Advertising rates from 50c per day upward. Each season The Transcript publishes more advertisements offering board for the Summer than all the other Boston newspapers combined, proving it to be the most successful medium for this purpose. Sample copies, full information, testimonials, etc., upon application to BOSTON TRANSCRIPT COMPANY, 324 Washington Street, Boston, Mass.

IN YACHTING CIRCLES.

The last of the 15 boats that will represent America in the German-American sailfest off Marblehead in September is now being built at White's, in Manchester. The order was placed the latter part of last week by the Southern Y. C. of New Orleans. Small Bros. are the designers. The boat is to be ready the first week in July. Prominent among the North Shore colony, who will have boats in the competition, will be Herbert M. Sears, who owns the Skidoo, launched last week, Dr. John L. Bremer, Dr. Morton Prince and C. P. Curtis. Dr. Bremer's boat, designed by E. A. Boardman, registers from the Manchester Y. C.

The Manchester Y. C. has decided not to assent to a modification of the deed of gift of the Quincy cup, as requested by the Hingham Y. C., to permit the latter's challenge to be accepted after the date on which the right of lodging challenges expired, May 15. The Hingham challenge was lodged a few days after that date, under an unofficial oral understanding that a way would be found to accept it.

Bullock--Mason

A very pretty home wedding was solemnized Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Annie Mason in North Beverly, when her daughter, Miss Carrie Mason, was united in marriage to Lewis Bullock of Manchester, but now located in Dolberg, N.Y. Rev. W. H. Hodgson performed the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Boston University and has taught school for a year or two. Mr. Bullock is a civil engineer and until recently his work has been in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Bullock left on the 7 o'clock train from Beverly Monday evening for their home in Dolberg, N.Y. No cards.

Flatley--Flatley

At the Church of the Ascension in Brookline last Monday morning, June 4, at 8.15 o'clock, Domnick Flatley of Manchester, was united in marriage to Miss Nora Flatley of Brookline, by the Rev. Fr. McManus.

The bride was dressed in a gown of grey silk and was accompanied by her sister, Miss Helen Flatley, who also was gowned in grey. John Waldron of Manchester was the best man. After a wedding breakfast in Brookline the bridal party came to Manchester and a reception was held in the evening at Mr. Flatley's cottage on Vine street, which they are occupying. The groom is a member of the contracting concern, Morley, Flatley & Co.

MANCHESTER

A special car attached to the 7.25 train carried a large delegation of Manchester folk to Gloucester, Wednesday evening, to attend the recital given by Joseph K. Dustin, of Lanesville, who has a large number of pupils here. The train was over half an hour late. Among the local young people to take part in the evening's program were Gwendolyn Glendenning, Edith and Elsie Northrup, Roland Knight, Flossie Allen, Prinnie Dodge, Samuel Rowe and Samuel Knight.

At the Probate Court Monday the estate of the late John Collins was inventoried at $4800. An administrator was granted on the estate of the late Miss Florence G. Lamson.

The subject for discussion at the next meeting of the N. S. Horticultural society, June 15, will be "How to Destroy Brown tail and gypsy moths," the discussion to be opened by Mr. Morrison of H. L. Frost & Co. foresters. The time of entries for the cottage garden contest having been extended two weeks, closes June 10.

Asbestos flat-irons at Carter's. *

The crew on the night freight which arrived in Manchester after midnight Tuesday found a car containing goods for Smith's Express Co., open and a man rushed out and made his escape. The local police were on their beats, but when the freight crew reached Gloucester an officer was notified of the case and word was telephoned to Manchester. Officers Andrews and Lee quickly made their way to the freight yard and soon came upon a boy about 19 years old sound asleep in one of the cars. He was placed under arrest and taken to Salem in the morning. The judge discharged him as a tramp. No goods were missing from the freight yard.

RECEPTION TO PASTOR

Parishioners and Townspeople Join in Extending Hand of Fellowship to Rev. Fr. William F. Powers in Manchester Town Hall, Thursday Evening — Hall Beautifully Decorated.

The Manchester Town hall was not half large enough to hold the crowd that attended the reception given to Rev. Fr. William F. Powers, and the dance which followed, Thursday evening. The affair was very successfully conducted, a great many parishioners and townspeople attending to extend the hand of fellowship to the new pastor.

The reception was from 8 to 9.30, dancing followed after a half hour devoted to brief speech-making by a number of the citizens of the town.

In the receiving line with Fr. Powers, were Rev. Fr. Perry, the assistant, and the reception committee: John Desmond, Mrs. M. J. Callahan, Miss Annie Clark and P. H. Boyle. They received behind three arches covered with Southern smilax and banked with palms, bay trees, dresinias, auricarias, ferns and potted

MANCHESTER

Owing to the wet and backward spring the driving of the wells and the experimental tests at Beaver Dam Meadow has been delayed, but Supt. Andrews has begun to clear the ground and expects to have the well drivers at work next week.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Goldsmith of Winthrop, formerly of this town, are receiving congratulations on the advent of a little daughter, Helen Giles, on the morning of June 13.

Miss Susette Carter of Boston will spend the holiday a guest of her cousin, Mrs. J. S. Reed, Beach street.

The first in the series of band concerts to be given in Manchester this summer was on last Wednesday evening on the Common, the square being crowded for the event. The program offered by the band was exceptionally good. The second concert will be on Wednesday evening, June 27. L. M. Blythe, the band leader and instructor, has not been hired for the season, and will conclude his services after the next concert. The band will probably have an instructor from Boston in the future.

The street through the centre of the town, which has been in the hands of the street department the past week or two was completed Thursday. The construction—of a pitch-macadam combination—is similar to that built by Supt. Kimball along by the post-office last fall, and from the way that is wearing, it is safe to say this new road-bed will wear long and well under the torturing of the autos. Supt. Kimball says automobiles are great road punishers, but this new method of construction which he is introducing in Manchester will stand its own against anything that will come for a few years, at any rate.

Lifted body and soul out of the ground and suffering consequent destruction at the hands of the woodman's axe was the fate of a beautiful shade tree on School street, near the Catholic church property, Thursday. A steel guy line from the large steam derrick being used in connection with the construction of the new church was fastened to the tree some time ago and the strain on this Thursday morning tore the tree from the ground, destroying it.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac M. Marshall left Sunday for Indianapolis, Ind., where Mr. Marshall went as delegate to represent the New England Suburban Press association at the National Editorial convention in that city, June 12-15. The Cricket is in charge of L. W. Floyd during Mr. Marshall's absence.

Graduation Exercises.

The graduation exercises of the Story High school will occur next Thursday evening, June 21, at 7.45 o'clock in Town hall. The class this year is a large one, there being thirteen who will receive diplomas. Miss Ann Coughlin will deliver the valedictory, Miss Libby Dunn the salutatory, Miss Mabel Olsen the history, and Frank Fleming the prophecy. The other members of the class are: Bert Floyd, Bert Sinicks, Harold Betts, Misses Edna and Marion Kitfield, Mary Rust, Alice Sargent, Theresa Walsh and Mary Barry. All the members of the class will have parts.

A Generous Act.

Allen Post, 67, G. A. R., of Manchester report that the Rev. Dillon Bronson, who delivered the address here on Memorial Day, after receipting his bill in payment of services, deducted his expenses from the amount received and handed the balance, $16, to Quartermaster Haskell with the request that it be credited to the Relief Fund of the Post. The members greatly appreciate his act of generosity and have acknowledged the same through the adjutant of the Post.

Mrs. A. M. Lycett announces that she has opened the Western Union office at the Postoffice for the season. She is also to be manager of the offices in the three hotels. She has been in charge of the local office for 21 years.

Among the intended improvements at Magnolia station is the lengthening of the side track by some 300 or 400 feet, so as to take care of the increased freight traffic at that point.

A large gang of Italians started work this week on the new road being built through the Philip Dexter property and leaving the woods by way of an overhead bridge near the Magnolia station. Work on the bridge and also on the road is to be pushed forward as rapidly as possible.

The changes now in progress at the entrance from Manchester into Magnolia, in clearing away some of the tumble-down houses and reconstructing others, is a most gratifying change and adds somewhat to the appearance of the place.

MANCHESTER

On Wednesday evening, June 20, at the regular council of Conomo tribe, Red Men, the election of chiefs for the coming six moons will take place, after which the past sachems of the tribe will vote for great chiefs.

The first grand ball and chammarita of the season will be held in the town hall, Manchester, Friday evening, June 29. This will be one of the leading events of the season, as an exhibition of the chammarita, the famous Portuguese dance, will be given by professional artists on that evening. The whole affair will be conducted under the management of Peter A. Sheehan, Manuel S. Miguel and Thos. A. Baker.

Tree Warden Young has received instructions from the state superintendent, relative to the destruction of moths, that from now until Aug. 15 people who own private property whose trees have been burlapped at the expense of the state are requested to turn their burlap and kill the gypsy moths and all other caterpillars that may gather under the burlap.

Mr. Young reports that there are now 13,003 trees in town burlapped, and it is readily seen that it is next to impossible for every one of these trees to be attended to each day by him and his men.

Orrin Martin has invented a trotting hopple which horsemen who have seen it declare will turn out to be quite a bonanza for the inventor. The hopple will change a pacing horse to trotting almost immediately. A patent has already been applied for. Mr. Martin's Nelyone, whose sire is Nelson's Wilkes, and whose dam is Nelson 2.09, has recently trotted an eighth mile in 15 sec. and a quarter in 31½, and it is expected that he will show a 2.10 trotter this year.

A tour of the Mediterranean, Italy, Sicily, Switzerland, France, and England has been decided upon by Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Callahan, who will start on their trip July 9, leaving New York the 10th on the Savonia, joining one of the Pilgrim tours. John T. and George Murphy, nephews of Mr. Callahan, will be in charge of the Manchester house during their absence.

Society Notes

The coming of the North Atlantic squadron, under Admiral Evans, to Rockport, where they will make their place of rendezvous during June, July and August, is a matter of much interest to the North Shore contingent who have many friends among the officers. Considerable entertaining will naturally result, and many a brilliant social function in the dancing halls of the big summer hostelrys in this vicinity bids fair to be brightened by the presence of the naval officers, resplendent in gold lace and the trappings of their rank.

Charles H. Bull and family of Quincy, Ill., are located at their cottage on Lexington avenue, Magnolia, for the summer, being among Wednesday's arrivals.

The Harvey Childs of Pittsburg are expected at their cottage, "Pine Top," on University lane, Manchester Cove, next Saturday.

The E. L. Nortons of New York are among the new cottagers at Magnolia this season. They were among the early week arrivals, and are occupying the Foote cottage.

Dr. and Mrs. C. Alexander Porter are back to Beverly Farms for the summer and are located this year at the cottage on Valley street formerly occupied by the Charles Cushings.

H. M. Sill has leased the Malonson cottage at Magnolia and is expected with his family about July 1.

Mrs. John S. Ford of Youngstown, O., is back to Manchester for the summer and is located at "The Wickford" again.

Rear Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton, U. S. N., is a guest over the week-end of Mrs. J. Russell Selfridge at the Dolphin, Magnolia.

Mrs. George P. King and Miss Anne King of Chestnut Hill were guests over the week-end of Mrs. King's son, Henry P. King and family, at their pretty Prides Crossing estate.

Mrs. George Lee Peabody was a guest over the week-end of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Sears at Mingo Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Cummings were among the passengers on the incoming Romanic the first of the week. They are now located at their Prides Crossing cottage for the summer.

The polo practice at the Myopia Hunt club is now on in earnest. The practice is held on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Staples Potter, who have been spending two months in Europe, will return the latter part of this month and will join the Magnolia summer colony again.

An automobile party from Nahant have ordered dinner on Sunday at the Dolphin, Magnolia, for eight people. The Dolphin, by the way, is meeting with much favor, and will be quite the rendezvous for select automobile parties during the season.

The Hugo R. Johnstones of Chicago came on from New York by special car last week and are located at Hamilton for the summer. They are occupying the Garland estate.

The Hermitage Country club is the name of Boston's most recently formed organization, which will be opened the last of this month. Its membership is confined only to automobile owners and it is said to be the first of its kind in the country. Among the North Shore contingent who are members are O. A. Shaw, Jr., T. Jefferson Coolidge, Jr., Philip Dexter, S. Parker Bremer and Eliot Lee.

Mrs. Augustus P. Gardner and children are at Sagamore Farm, Hamilton, for the summer, being among last week's arrivals. The congressman will be on from Washington within a week or two.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Howard Clark, Jr., and family, who have taken the R. D. Evans estate at Burgess Point, Beverly, for the season, came on from Philadelphia Wednesday. Last season they had the Morgan cottage at Manchester.

Miss McNamara of 665 Boylston street, Boston, who is located at 39 School street, Manchester-by-the-Sea, for the season, is prepared to do shampooing, marcel waving and manicuring. Telephone connection. *

Mrs. Wm. J. Boardman of Washington, who, with Mr. Boardman, arrived at Manchester-by-the-Sea this week for the summer, says that the wedding of her youngest daughter and Senator Crane will take place at "Wyndcliffe," the summer cottage of the Boardman, on Tuesday, July 10. It will be a very quiet home wedding and will be attended by only the Boardman and Crane families. It will take place at noon. The Misses Boardman have not yet joined their parents at Manchester.

Baron Rosen, the Russian ambassador at Washington, has arrived at Manchester in time to spend the weekend with the Baroness and Miss Rosen, who came on the first of the week. The Rosens are occupying the same cottage at Coolidge's Point which they had last season. Last summer the peace conference at Portsmouth occupied much of the time of the Ambassador and very little was seen of him in the social doings of the North Shore. He will spend the entire season here with his family.

THE SUMMER HOTELS

The Aborn hotel at Magnolia opens today for the season, with Mrs. E. A. Carney, for some years proprietor of the Red Rock house at King's Beach, in charge. E. J. Remick, formerly cashier at Young's and also at the Westminster, Boston, is the manager.

James C. Ernst of Covington, Ky., president of the Covington Street Railway, has been registered at one of the Aborn cottages the past week.

The Oceanside hotel opens today with a very good booking for the opening,—in the vicinity of 100 guests, most of whom will be here for the season. Proprietor Upton has had many changes made at the hotel the past winter, included among which was the installation of a new refrigerating plant at a cost of nearly $10,000, so that he is not to be bothered this summer by any dearth of ice. A new electric plant replaces the old one. Many new bath rooms have been added and the Lawton cottage on Hesperus avenue has been practically rebuilt. Besides this there have been a great many minor changes made all over the house.

The new Magnolia opens Monday and is to be greeted on the day following with almost a house full of estrians. At the railroad crossing near the depot the gates were down for an approaching train, but the horse plunged through, breaking into bits one gate and also the iron machinery connected with same. How the runaway got through the other gate without much injury to it is a mystery. After continuing for some distance the speed of the animal became somewhat spent and it was finally stopped.

DEMACK--WOODSIDE

Popular Choir-Master Married in Episcopal Church, Beverly

A pretty wedding was celebrated at Beverly, Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, when, at St. Peter's Episcopal church, where the groom is choir-master and organist, Miss Mabelle Florence Woodside of Los Angeles, Cal., formerly of Lewiston, Me., became the bride of Leo Charles Demack.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. J. V. Huiginn, rector, the ring service being used. John S. Crowley was the best man and he and the groom were met at the altar by the wedding procession made up of the ushers, the maid of honor, Miss Isa Churchill of Boston, the bride and her father, E. C. Woodside who gave his daughter away.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion by cut bloom and potted plants. Palms and spirea filled the chancel and gave an attractive setting to everything. The decorations were in charge of Alexander Carr of Beverly Farms.

A. Scott Fraser was in charge of the music. He played Handel's Largo before the ceremony and the wedding march from Lohengrin as the procession came in. As the party went out of the church he played Mendelssohn's march. Mr. Demack's own choir sang "Ancient Days," "On Our Way Rejoicing" and "Perfect Love."

The bride wore a gown of white crepe de chine over ivory taffeta, with princess lace trimmings. Her veil was caught up with a string of gold beads.

The ushers at the wedding were Alfred E. Lunt, Harlan F. Obear, Allison Catheron, Beverly; Claude Phillips and William Staples of Salem, and Ralph Winslow, Boston.

The reception which followed at the parish house was a most delightfully informal affair. Mr. and Mrs. Demack were assisted in receiving by Mr. Woodside, the father of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Demack, brother and mother of the groom, the maid of honor, and Miss Demack.

Mr. and Mrs. Demack will reside at 86½ Essex street, after a short trip of a fortnight in the Berkshires.

Bunker Hill Day is observed next Monday, though it is not a recognized holiday only in the immediate vicinity of Boston.

Senator Schofield got a "jolt" yesterday in the Senate on his "gratuity" bill for the Civil war veterans, says Tuesday's Salem News. Everything looked pretty smooth for the bill to go through, when Senator "Si" Reed of Taunton raised a point about the legality of appropriating the money, under the constitution of the State. President Dana had to ask for time before deciding the point, and will make his ruling today. It was rather a surprise for the Ipswich man.

POOR OMAR!

BY LEWIS ALLEN

Wake! for the News has scattered into flight
Our love of tinned meats, once a great delight,
Until today we think of that report
And instantly we lose our appetite.

Before the phantom of false Ham had died
Methought a voice within the Tavern cried
"When all this Good Stuff is prepared in tin Why wait the hungry Simpletons outside?"

Come, fill the Can with breakfast food and fling
The Other Stuff into the limpid spring,
There's nothing else to do with it, you know,
Because it isn't fit to eat, By Jing!

Each morn a thousand carrots brings, you say:
With beets and turnips all plucked yesterday,
And this first summer month—but never mind,
Bring vegetables and take the Meat away!

Think, in this batter'd caravanseraï,
Whose Portals used to be "three squares" a day,
How Victim after Victim ate the Stuff
And then, within an hour, was lugged away!

We are no other than a moving fleet
Of Easy Marks that ever have to eat,
But vegetables are good enough for me,
I'd rather be a carrot than bad Meat!

Real Estate

A parcel of marsh land at Manchester Cove, adjoining Little Crow island and belonging to the Lewis estate, was purchased at a commissioners' sale Thursday by Raymond C. Allen. The sale was made through the agency of N. P. Meldrum.

John Silva has purchased on private terms the Morse estate on Morse court, Manchester.

D. Linehan & Son, the Prides Crossing contractors, have just completed the construction of a beautiful grass tennis court at "Wyvermswood," the E. B. Webster place at North Beverly, occupied this year by the Tyler Morses.

FLAG DAY

Exercises Dedicated to the Day Held in Manchester Thursday Evening

Exercises dedicated to Flag Day were held in G.A.R. hall, Manchester, Thursday evening, when a pleasant program of musical numbers and readings was carried out. The program consisted of:

Singing, "Star Spangled Banner"
Reading, "American Flag,"

Solo, "A Soldier of Japan," Miss Mabel Olsen
Reading, "Massachusetts," Mrs. J. W. Lee

Singing, "Columbia" Miss Annie Younger
Reading, "Our Nation's Flag,"

Remarks by Rev. Mr. Brewster Miss Harriet Brewster
Song, "The Old Guard" Rev. C. A. Lincoln
Reading, "History of the Flag" Mrs. R. A. Mitchell

Reading, "Patriotic Teaching" Mrs. Wm. Follett

Singing, "America" Flag Salute

Mr. Brewster's remarks were of a patriotic nature. He said: "I am very glad to take part in an occasion of this character, bringing before us as it does the American flag as a symbol of all that America stands for.

"The flag represents the unity of our people. Each State has its history, and yet the nation is one. All peoples are contributing of their number to make this nation what it is. But ours is not a conglomerate people, but a unified one. Our flag prophecies the nation's destiny; it calls us to an adherence to those ideals which have been handed down to us by the fathers, and in our response to this call, with whatever of sacrifice we may be called upon to make, rests the realization of a destiny second to no other nation upon the earth."

An old-fashioned camp-fire was held after the entertainment, and coffee, crackers, doughnuts, cheese, etc., were served.

Encircled by mountain peaks and surrounded by the fragrant spruce and balsam forests of the "New Hampshire North Woods," with cold and sparkling mountain streams and springs of purest water,

Society Notes

Miss Eleanora Sears has been making a visit with the Edgar Scotts in Philadelphia and went to New York the first of the week for the wedding Monday in Grace church of Miss Conthia Roche and Mr. Arthur Scott Burden. Miss Sears is one of Miss Roche's closest friends and has frequently been her guest.

Mrs. Samuel Colfelt and family of Philadelphia, who have hired the Sunnyside cottage on Norman avenue, Magnolia, for the season, arrived Thursday.

Miss Alice Briggs of Providence, R.I., is a guest of Dr. and Mrs. James Anderson at Manchester Cove.

Mrs. Edward Wigglesworth met with quite a painful accident while alighting from her carriage in front of the Manchester postoffice, Tuesday, about noon. She slipped, sprained her ankle and also sprained the tendons on the bottom of her foot.

Allen Family Gathering

This reunion on the 27th inst., promises to be one of unusual interest. Responses have been received from many at a distance, who have an affection for the old home and kindred. It is proposed to form an Allen Family association. More than 200 invitations have been issued to representatives of the family, from Maine to Georgia and California.

All persons of whatever name, who are descendents of William Allen the planter, are invited without further notification. The committee have found it impossible to trace the names and residence of all the kindred.

Among Our Exchanges.

The "Asbury Mentor" for June, an attractive 16-page paper devoted to the interests of Asbury Grove and vicinity, has just come to hand. It is teeming with good progressive advertising matter and is livened with breezy news items and matters of interest to Asbury Grove cottager. Miss Justine A. Riggs of Salem is the editor and the work is published from the office of the Beverly Printing Co.

Editor McMasters is making a cracking good paper out of The Commonwealth (Boston) and it is very evident he is making a hit. His utter fearlessness, we surmise, will bring some people to their feet. He hits in the right place, and the paper, or rather magazine, has come to stay, for it fills a gap which has long been offering an opening for some one.

Supt. Lovett, of the Street department, has had a large force at work all this week at the Farms cleaning up various streets and making needed repairs.

Col. Wm. D. Sohier has received a bronze medal from the Massachusetts Humane Society for an act of bravery in the saving from drowning of John Larrive who had broken through the ice at Round Pond, Chebacco woods, January 25th, at which time Col. Sohier, who was in his camp at Gravelly Pond, heard the cries and hurried to the assistance of the man, and after much hard labor and putting his own life in jeopardy, succeeded in getting Larrive to solid ice.

The committee on Fire department has awarded the contract for installing a steam heating apparatus at the Beverly Central Fire station to Thos. J. McDonnell, the Central Square plumber.

There is to be an illustrated entertainment and lecture at the Beverly Farms school today, the proceeds of which are for the benefit of the school.

In August there will be a grand fair running each evening for a week, the same being under the auspices and for the benefit of St. Margaret's church.

The Hardy club are making arrangements to hold a grand ball in Neighbors' hall on July 26th which will no doubt be the event of the season, as it is their intention to give but one party during the summer. The large committee in charge intend that the affair shall be a complete success.

Mrs. Thomas J. McDonnell, and son Thomas, have returned to the Farms after enjoying a long stay at Topsfield.

Large quantities of crated furniture have been arriving all through the week for the new H. C. Frick house.

Charles Parker, the Central Square caterer, has just had placed in his restaurant an electric fan which adds much to the comfort of his many patrons.

New line of Stocks, Ruchings, Ribbons, and Hamburg, at White & Masters. *

The committee on July 4th celebration at Beverly Farms are invited, as are all others interested and willing to help the good cause, to meet at G.A.R. hall on Monday evening, June 18, at 8 o'clock.

About 15 members of John West colony, Pilgrim Fathers, went to Gloucester Monday evening and aided the colony of that place in the celebration of its anniversary.

Flag Day at the Farms was observed by the ringing of the bell morning and night, the display of Old Glory on all the liberty poles and from many private residences.

During the week Dept. President Mrs. Goddard of Brockton, Mass., and Dept. Inspector Mrs. Beal of Rockland have been the guests of Mrs. Alice Preston, the president of the local W.R.C.

During the exercises of the exemption of the degree work by Preston W. R. corps, on Wednesday, a message of congratulations and best wishes was received from Mrs. Geo. H. Waters of Taunton, a former resident here and also ex-president of the corps, whose indefatigable labor while here is well known and appreciated.

The large circle of friends of "Bonny" Woods, the athletic instructor, are pleased to see him at the Farms again for the summer. Mr. Woods is coming to town the first part of the week.

Deacon Edwin Pride and Willis A. Pride have jointly leased the Hardy cottage on Hale street, and will shortly move there from their present residence, Oak street, opposite the depot.

John Quirk is the new order clerk at Wyatt's market.

Michael Donnigan has returned from various points in Maine, where he has been enjoying a vacation trip.

Allen A. Campbell, the proprietor of the harness store on Hale street, is confined to the Beverly hospital as the result of an injury sustained to his knee some time ago, and which, in spite of all that could be done, has constantly grown worse.

John A. Morrison and Daniel McSweeney returned to the Farms the latter part of this week, after several months' continual stay at different points in New York State, where they were foremen in charge of some of the extensive contracts which Messrs. Connolly Bros. have had underway there.

Before selecting your butcher for the season visit Preble's market for prices and quality. Neighbor's blk. *

The death of Mrs. Annie L., wife of Frank McDonald, which occurred early Tuesday morning at her latea home on Webster avenue, came as shock to the community and brings the deepest sorrow to a husband and four small children, together with a large circle of relatives and friends who mourn her loss. Services were held at 9 o'clock on Thursday morning at St. Margaret's church, and burial at St. Mary's cemetery, Salem.

Pride's Crossing avenue, so called, from the depot through the Paine place to "Rockmarge" and "Swiftmoor," and used in common by several abutting residents, is being repaired, which includes a crowning up and resurfacing of the road with fine crushed stone. Messrs. Connolly Bros. are the contractors.

Hot Corn Muffins, 6.15 A. M., at Parker's. *

To give one an idea of the ordinary traffic through our streets at the present time a casual observer took the pains last Sunday to count, and between the hours of 2.30 and 3.30 p.m. there were by actual count 99 automobiles and 67 carriages that passed through Central square. Had the account been taken a little later in the day there is no doubt these figures would have been quite a little increased.

A delegation from John West colony, Pilgrim Fathers, attended the 15th anniversary of Masconomo colony in Gloucester Monday evening.

Mrs. Alice Preston held the lucky number which drew a very handsome inlaid table at the G.A.R. fair, held in Beverly recently. The book on the table has been closed only a few days.

Everybody at the Farms is making the inquiry as to how the coming July 4th is to be spent, and on all sides is heard the hopes that the usual celebration will be provided again this year. The BREEZE man understands that the committee will get together within a few days and talk over the situation, and should it be shown that interest is such as to guarantee sufficient financial support, the day no doubt will be celebrated even better, if such a thing can be, than it has been in past years, which has certainly been looked forward to with intense interest by every Beverly Farms man, woman and child.

Harvey M. Hodgkins, whose health is improving after a recent illness, has opened his summer cottage on the Squam river, Gloucester, where he will probably spend the summer months.

Exemplification of the ritualistic work of the Woman's Relief corps was given by the Preston W.R.C. No. 93 at the Beverly Farms Baptist church at 1 o'clock on Wednesday, June 13. The corps from Lynn, Swampscott, Marblehead, Salem, Danvers and Beverly were assigned to visit the Preston W.R.C., but members of the Rockport, Gloucester and Manchester corps were also present, making about 100 members of the order present. These included the Dept. Pres. Mrs. Goddard and staff, J. V. Dept. Pres. Mrs. Wadsworth, Dept. Inspector Mrs. Beal, and National Aid Mrs. Beck. The members of Preston W.R.C. were highly complimented upon the accuracy and promptness of their work, which was done in an unusually short time. Though the corps is small in point of numbers it always accomplishes whatever it attempts. The Dept. Pres. and Dept. Inspector were the guests of Mrs. Alice Preston, Pres., Tuesday night. The corps sent some flowers to Mrs. Geo. Waters of Taunton, a former Pres. who is in very poor health. Mrs. Goddard said the Dept. of Mass. W.R.C. had sent several hundreds of dollars to the San Francisco sufferers, besides a large amount of clothing. The local corps, as usual, did their part in this work. Dinner was served the department and tea and coffee to all visitors.

Miss Eleanor Andrews is entertaining at her home on Lincoln street over the week-end Miss Olive Sorrick of Great Falls, Mon., and Miss Elizabeth Dayton of New York.

The annual rose show of the North Shore Horticultural society promises to be an exceptionally good one this year. The roses are in splendid condition, the plants having come through the winter in good shape. The season being somewhat late, it may be necessary to hold the show one week later than the date set—June 27 and 28. We hope to be able to give the definite date in our next issue.

Mrs. G. A. Knoerr returned last Saturday from a few days' visit with friends in Boston.

Dr. Glendenning attended the annual banquet of the Mass. Medical association in Boston Wednesday.

Miss Hayden substituted at the Story High school the first of the week for Miss Brewster, who was in attendance at the commencement exercises at Vassar.

Friends of Miss Helen Mason regret to learn of her continued ill health. She went to Boxford Thursday and will live on a farm there for a while.

Henry B. McCollum has completed his work in the western part of the State in connection with the agricultural statistical census, and returned home a few days ago.

"The Man from Now" a Big Hit.

Success of no mean order has crowned the efforts of Harry Bulger in Henry W. Savage's production of the new musical fantasy, "The Man from Now," at the Tremont, which is enjoying an unusual vogue for this time of the year. But the heat is not worrying the players, for the Tremont is one of the coolest theatres in America, as it is assuredly the coolest theatre in Boston. The story of "The Man from Now" is brief and simple, though at the same time it is absolutely original and extremely unique. It concerns the adventures of a college professor who seeks to peer into the future. He invents a machine which propels himself and three associates into the year 2906, and the adventures the trio go through are enough to take all the wrinkles from the brow of tired man. Helen Hale has won new honors in her role, and Walter Lawrence has done much to enhance his popularity by his clever characterization of the tenor role. Matinees are given Wednesday and Saturday.

Beginning tomorrow the regular Sunday evening service at the Village church will be at 8.15 for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Allen left for their home in Townsend yesterday, after spending a few days here this week with Mr. and Mrs. John B. Knowlton.

Rev. Mr. Libby and Rev. Markman Stackpole arrived home Thursday night after spending a few days at Andover attending the commencement exercises of the Theological seminary.

Orders for Visner Seltzer Waters may be left at Lycett's Drug store, Magnolia.

The second stereopticon lecture will be given in the Village church next Tuesday evening. The lecture will be on Jamaica, and will be given by Dr. Dakin, a man thoroughly familiar with the island.

Mrs. Jacob Kitfield returned from Boston this week where she had been spending a fortnight with relatives. She is now with her daughter, Mrs. Philemon Sanborn on Coolidge's Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Jabeth Dunbar entertained as their guest over Sunday their nephew, Gordon Dunbar of Cambridge.

Leave your orders for Visner Seltzer Waters at Lycett's Drug store, Magnolia.

MANCHESTER COVE

We are pleased to report that the condition of Mrs. Charles Sargent is much improved. Mrs. Sargent has been confined to her home the past few months from lameness.

Mrs. Henry Bickford of Salem spent the latter part of the week with Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Kitfield.

All the Way by Water to New York.

The all-water service of the Joy Line is proving most attractive to strangers who are now visiting Boston. This trip is of about 24 hours' duration. It affords a daylight view of Boston harbor, Long Island Sound and the East River, and in the journey around Cape Cod, passengers are afforded a sniff of old ocean, but at no time going out of sight of land. The accommodations are first class in every particular. The steward's department is especially well conducted. In addition to the all-water service, this company operates steamers between Providence and New York every week-day.

Full information may be obtained by addressing Mr. B. D. Pitts, Agent, at No. 214 Washington St., Boston. No. 9.

REV. FR. WILLIAM F. POWERS

RECEPTION TO PASTOR

with cut flowers, the side walls being decorated with beech boughs and wygelia.

Long's orchestra of six pieces played during the reception and also for the dance, the orchestra being partially hid behind a bank of palms, rubber plants, hydrangeas, dresinias, and auricarias, and, it being Flag Day, the stage was draped with three large American flags in honor of the day. The decorations were in charge of J. J. Gorman, who was the recipient of much praise for the result of his efforts.

Refreshments of ice cream, cake and punch were served during the evening.

Following the reception Fr. Powers stepped upon the platform and spoke a few words, expressing his thankfulness for the kindly expressions of the townspeople toward him.

Harry S. Tappan was the master of ceremonies, and he called upon several of the representative citizens for five-minute speeches. Chairman Fred K.

Swett of the selectmen was first called upon, and he extended to Fr. Powers the greetings and best wishes of the citizens of the town and wished him a long and prosperous sojourn among us.

Supt. of Schools Fish said it gave him great pleasure to welcome a man of such high ideals and liberal feelings as Fr. Powers possessed. He thought him to be a man who would co-operate with the best citizens of the town in having the school system what it should be. "In extending to him these greetings I represent these genuine feelings. If I could give directive force to education, I should seek first of all the alliance of such men as Fr. Powers. I should want to secure that citizenship which broad and liberal minded men in the church are seeking. I believe Fr. Powers is such a man."

Remarks were also made by Samuel Knight, Fred J. Merrill and John Baker. Revs. C. A. Lincoln and E. H. Brewster were also called upon but both had gone to the Flag Day exercises in G.A.R. hall. Fr. Powers again thanked the speakers and gathering for their kind expressions of fellowship. He thanked the committee for the success of the affair and Mr. Gorman for the decorations. Fr. Perry, the assistant pastor, made a few remarks.

Over 50 couples were in the grand march which started about 10 o'clock. M. A. McInnis, the floor director, led the march, with Miss Alice O'Neil; Assistant Floor Director A. B. Eldridge and Mrs. Eldridge following. J. C. Connolly was chief aid. The other aids were: D. J. Sheehan, E. F. Walsh, H. S. Tappan, John Reilly, H. O. Bohaker, J. M. Waldron and C. A. Fitz.

A good shine is more to be admired than fine shoes. Old shoes can be made to look new at Keenan's boot black stand, under Post office. *

Burial Was at Lawrence.

Relatives and friends of William Augustus Russell, who died at Manchester a week ago Wednesday evening, gathered in large numbers at Trinity church, Boston, last Saturday for the funeral, which took place at 11 o'clock. There were especially many from along the North Shore, many of whom had attended the wedding of Mr. Russell and Miss Head last September. The body was taken to Lawrence for burial.

OUR AIM

is not only to get new customers, but to keep them. To this end our stock of shoes is selected with particular care, that we may put forth nothing but satisfactory goods. You may come here and look at your pleasure, buy if you like, but with this assurance, if you change your mind, your money is returned for the asking.

Pretty Safe isn't it?

We've just received a new lot of Ladies' Oxfords in $2.50 grades. They cost enough to give you good wearing shoes, of right style and solid comfort. Some with nobby shapes and ribbon ties—others with low heels, sensible and comfortable.

WONDERLAND'S BIG SHOWS.

The Indian Congress and Wild West, Fire and Flames and Other Bounteous Attractions.

No one who has been fired by Remington's drawing, "The Fight for the Water Hole," should miss seeing "Wild Bill" Kennedy's Wild West show and Indian congress at Wonderland, Revere Beach. When he sees it he will want to mount a pony and go careering across the plains, care free and soul untrammelled. This show is the real thing without doubt. It occupies about five acres near the Shoot the Chutes and is circled by real tepees. It contains a track a quarter of a mile long, with a large, open space in the centre and a grand stand and bleachers capable of seating 2000 people. The show itself runs every afternoon and evening at intervals of 30 minutes, from 3 o'clock until 11, and while it lasts there is enough excitement and realism set loose to satisfy the most ardent and enthusiastic admirer of the large, wild spirit of the west.

This Indian congress and Wild West show is but one of many wonderful attractions at Wonderland. There is, for example, Fire and Flames, a marvelously realistic and soul-stirring reproduction of the conflagration in a city block, with firemen and fire engines to the rescue, and all the attendant awe-inspiring incidents of the real spectacle. Of equal merit and popularity are the mammoth Shoot the Chutes, the Descent to Hell Gate and the Under World, Thompson Scenic Railway, Ferrari's Trained Wild Animal Show, Princess Trixie, the wonderfully educated horse who, in point of intelligence, is emphatically an equine paradox, the Infant Incubators, a genuinely scientific, philanthropic, life-saving institution, Love's Journey, an electrical illusion, in which anyone in the audience who sees fit may become a skeleton guest at a wedding feast, the Circle Swing, House of Follies, Whirl the Whirl, Hale's Tours, the beautiful Orient and Japanese Village, to say nothing of the free Circus and countless other shows. Then, too, there is the Salem Cadet Band, always a royal treat, and those other joys, the ball room and restaurant.

The gates of Wonderland open every day at 1 o'clock, and 10 cents is the price of admission.

Jewelry of all kinds repaired.

CHURCH NOTES

Manchester

Congregational church, Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln, pastor. Morning worship at 10.45; evening service at 7 o'clock. Sermons by the pastor.

Baptist church, Rev. Edward Hersey Brewster, pastor. Morning worship at 10.45; People's evening service of song and praise at 7 o'clock.

Emanuel church (Episcopal), Masconomo street—Morning prayers at 11 o'clock. Holy communion first and third Sundays in the month.

Sacred Heart church, Rev. Fr. Wm. F. Powers, pastor; Rev. John S. Perry, assistant. Sunday masses at 7.00, 8.30 and 10.30 A. M.; Sunday evening devotions at 7.45; First Friday devotions at 5.30 and 7.00 A. M., and 7.45 P. M. Week-day mass at the church at 7.30 A. M.

Dr. Samuel A. Eliot, president of the American Unitarian association, will preach at the First Unitarian church tomorrow at 10.45 A. M., when the church opens for the summer.

Rev. Fr. Wm. F. Powers starts next week on a house to house visitation and parish census. He will probably visit the help on the various estates during the forenoon and at night the families of the town.

Beginning tomorrow the Sunday school, Sodality and Advanced Class of the Sacred Heart church will not meet during the summer, until September.

A fair in aid of the Sacred Heart church new edifice will be held in the Manchester Town hall the week of August 27. Fr. Powers will leave the fair books at various places during his visitation to his parishioners next week.

The Ministering Circle of King's Daughters will meet with Miss E. P. Allen, Monday evening, June 18. Topic, "Anger."

Rev. E. H. Brewster will preach at the Baptist church tomorrow morning on "The expulsive power of a new affection." In the evening the Children's day concert will be held.

The entertainment to be given in the Town hall under the auspices of the Father Lights will be on the 28th instead of 27th, as previously announced. The "Spinster's Return," a sequel to "The Old Maid's Convention," will be presented, and will no doubt make a hit. A "Japanese" orchestra will furnish the music.

This evening in the Congregational church at 7.45 o'clock, there will be a song rehearsal from the new Northfield Hymnal, to which all singers are invited. It is probable that a permanent young people's choir will be organized for the Sunday evening services.

The Ministering Circle of King's Daughters will hold a sale of aprons, towels, candy, ice cream and cake in the Congregational chapel, Wednesday, June 20, afternoon and evening.

Plans are under way for a concert and dance to be given in the Town hall on Friday evening, July 13, in aid of the Sacred Heart church. There will be a concert from 8 to 9.30, and dancing will follow until midnight. The concert feature of the evening will be furnished for the most part by out-of-town talent.

A Tour of the Berkshires.

To those who have some love for beauty as nature paints and pictures it, if this love for beauty is still latent, the Berkshire Hills is the place to develop it into a happy reality. One has only to go through this beautiful country in the western part of our own state to get it. The attractive new illustrated folder issued by the passenger department of the Boston & Albany R. R., entitled "A Tour of the Berkshires," contains a beautiful description of this section. A copy of the folder will be sent on request to A. S. Hanson, General Passenger Agent, South Station, Boston, Mass.

GRADUATION EXERCISES

Thirteen Receive Diplomas from the Story High School, Manchester—Very Interesting Exercises—Appleton Medal Awarded to Harold W. Betts

The proverbial "13" may be unlucky for some, but not for the class of '06, Story High school, Manchester, for in every way was their graduation exercises a success Thursday evening, and the parts taken by each of the 13 young men and women were specially well delivered. The class, one of the largest ever graduated from the local school, made a very good showing and reflected much credit not only upon themselves but upon the teachers, school committee, superintendent and whole school system, in fact.

The hall was crowded with relatives and friends of the pupils, many being forced to stand in the hallway. The stage on which were seated the entire school and teachers, with the graduates sitting in a circular row in front, was decorated with palms and cut flowers. Over the stage was the class motto "Vincit, qui se vincit,"—"He conquers, who conquers himself,"—in white, on a background of black, with a gold edge. The design and color of the class pin, bearing the numeral, hung on the wall under the clock.

The graduates were: Mary Agnes Barry, Harold Wadwell Betts, Ann Johnson Coughlin, Libbie Alberta Dunn, Frank Wiggins Fleming, Bertram Poor Floyd, Edna Kitfield, Marion Kitfield, Mabel Olsen, Mary Anna Rust, Alice Griffin Sargent, George

THE GREAT LESSON

BY JOSEPH A. TORREY

Life is a curious game of give and take,
Where each must suffer for another's sake,
The innocent for guilty good for ill.
Life's inequalities confront us still.

This, to the uninstructed, may seem hard,
But only thus can selfishness be barred.
This makes for sympathy and brotherhood,
Divinely ordered for our highest good.

Were all cups filled to brim we may believe
There were no room to give or to receive.
Vicarious suffering doth for sin atone,
And none of us may live or die alone;
Ever for other lives we give our own.

GLOUCESTER'S OLD REVOLUTIONARY HOUSE.

Preserved by a Relative of Boston's Noted Antiquarian.

Its Charming Romance of Religion and Literature.

By Mary Taylor Falt.

On Middle street, Gloucester, upon which the hand of progress is gradually making most noticeable changes and which is becoming "Doctor's Row," and assuming likewise a business aspect by the introduction of stores in several of the new buildings thereon, the "Old Revolutionary House," preserved by one of the city's well known women, stands out as a refreshing landmark of the old fishing port's quaint and individual by-gone days.

The present owner of the old mansion is Mrs. Ellen M. Shaw (nee Lowe of Essex, Mass.), a near relative of T. O. H. Burnham, the noted antiquarian, who amassed a Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Fish announce the engagement of their daughter, Larah Dwinell to Mr. Percy Allen Wheaton.

Mrs. Oscar Wing and daughter will go to Glen Falls, N.Y., Monday, to attend the Wing Family Reunion.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis L. Roberts on Union street was the scene of a pleasant gathering Monday evening when Mrs. Roberts had a number of Mr. Roberts' friends call and give the latter a surprise in honor of his birthday. The impromptu host was out at the time and when he returned to find his guests, the surprise was genuine. A dainty lunch was served on the upper veranda, the tables being decorated in red, white and blue in honor of the holiday.

George Forster Allen has been housed the past week as the result of a fall at his store Monday. He slipped on the recently oiled floor and fell on his lame leg, spraining it badly, but fortunately there was no dislocation of the joint or breaking of the bone, the fall resulting in more of a shock to his nervous system than injury to the body. Mr. Allen hopes to be able to get out to the Allen reunion next week.

There will be a meeting of the Historical society in the Public Library Monday evening.

A delegation from Wm. Jeffrey colony of Pilgrim Fathers went to Swampscott Wednesday evening on a visitation, and a jolly good time they had.

Samuel Bertram Sheldon of Buffalo, a Manchester boy, and son of the late Chas. H. Sheldon of Sheldon's Market, recently sailed for Germany in the interests of the steel company with which he is connected.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kitfield of Cambridge were guests over the weekend and holiday of the former's sister, Mrs. D. T. Beaton and Mr. Beaton.

Hammocks at J. W. Carter's. *

Miss Marie Trochster and Mrs. Comel of Boston were guests over the holiday of Mrs. J. H. Cheever, School street.

The young people away to college are arriving home for the summer. Last Saturday Miss Annie Lane came home from Smith's college; Tuesday, Lee Marshall returned from Dartmouth; Wednesday, Miss Mary Dodge came home from Mt. Holyoke, and Thursday Miss Helen Boyle returned from Wellesley. Miss Ethel Hooper is remaining at Wellesley over the Commencement exercises.

Church Notes

The summer meeting of the Gloucester district of the Mass. Sunday School association will be held at the Congregational church in Manchester next Tuesday afternoon and evening. The afternoon session will convene at 2 o'clock and the evening session at 7.30. The program was printed in full in last week's BREEZE.

First communion will be administered next Sunday morning at the 8.30 o'clock Mass to a class of eight boys and eleven girls, who have been preparing for it since last December.

Before a large audience Dr. Dakin gave the second stereopticon lecture of the series in the Village church, Wednesday evening. The subject was "Jamaica's Beauties," or a "Peep into Paradise." Colored slides were used, and these conveyed a good impression of the tropics to the minds of those who saw them. The lecture was well given, Dr. Dakin being a man well acquainted with the island. The third lecture will be given in the Village church next Wednesday evening by Rev. F. J. Libby. It will describe Italian cities and Italian life. The Italian at home is very different from the "Dago" that we know, and he lives amid more beauty than ourselves. Quiet Venice, along whose streets gondolas float and where automobiles will never be; Florence, the home of Savonarola and Michael Angelo; Rome, the eternal city, with its heroic past and interesting present; Naples, Pompeii, buried 1800 years and now exhumed, and Vesuvius, the treacherous enemy of the cities at its base—such will be the subject matter of the lecture. Tickets, 25 cents; reserved seats, 50 cents.

Tuesday afternoon a horse attached to a light democrat wagon belonging to D. C. Ballou & Co. attracted quite a little excitement by running away. The horse, which was standing in front of Lycett's drug store, was frightened by an automobile and ran away, being stopped near the school house on Magnolia avenue. The wagon was completely wrecked.

Society Notes

Bridge whist is proving one of the popular diversions among the North Shore contingent this season. There will be an evening of Bridge every Wednesday night at the Essex Country club during the summer, commencing last Wednesday. These are likely to become very popular as the series of band concerts to be held during the season are on Wednesday afternoon and not a few dinner parties are entertained at the club on that evening also. The concerts start next Wednesday and will continue till the last Wednesday in August, with the exception of July 4.

Mrs. Joel Goldthwaite and Mrs. G. F. Bouve of Boston are at the Ocean-side for an extended stay.

F. L. Higginson and daughter, Miss Julia Higginson, sailed from England yesterday for home. They will join the rest of the family at Pride's Crossing immediately after their arrival.

The Wm. C. Endicotts have opened their cottage at Pride's Crossing for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Richards M. Bradley are to desert the North Shore this summer, and instead of being at Manchester will be found at York Harbor, Me. The Bradley cottage at Smith's Point is to be occupied this summer by the Horace Brooks of Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Cabot left Manchester Monday and sailed from New York Tuesday on the Kaiser Wilhelm II for Europe. They expect to sail for home on Aug. 7 and will come to Manchester at once.

Miss Hannah Lawson, graduate of Beacon Toilet Studio, 711 Boylston street, Boston, has located at Forest street, where she is prepared to do manicuring, chiropody, scalp treatment and shampooing, and also makes a specialty of Marcel waving. Engagements made at residence or by telephone 117-4, Manchester. *

An event to which society has been looking forward for some time took place Tuesday, when Miss Rosamond Saltonstall of Boston and Beverly, and Charles C. Auchincloss of New York were married by Rev. Endicott Peabody, at the home of the bride, 30 Fairfield street. The ceremony was performed in the presence of relatives and intimate friends, and a wedding breakfast and reception followed.

Miss Josephine Boardman has been spending the week at the home of her fiance in Dalton, where she went to meet Senator Crane's aged mother and other members of his family.

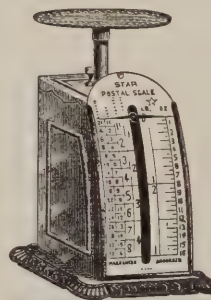

Mr. and Mrs. Clement S. Houghton of Chestnut Hill, will occupy their cottage at Coolidge's Point, Manchester, on the 29th.

The Edgar Crockers were among Thursday's arrivals at Manchester. They are located at the Cobb cottage, Masconomo street, for the season.

Dr. T. M. Rotch of Manchester and Boston was among the passengers on one of the outgoing European steamers this week.

The Edward W. Grews were among this week's arrivals at Manchester.

Society Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Head are leaving Manchester today for their country estate at Westport, Lake Champlain, where they will remain probably till September. They are spending a few days in New York before going to their estate.

The Otto H. Kahns, who had Mr. Head's place at Manchester last season for July and August, will have it again this year. They closed their New York house a few weeks ago and went to their estate at Morristown, N. J. They are expected at Manchester next Wednesday, though the servants will take possession of the house Monday. Mr. Kahn will bring on a big string of fine bred horses again this season.

Mrs. William A. Russell (Miss Head) has leased the Col. Harry E. Russell cottage at Manchester Cove for July and August. The place is next to the Sampson cottage, which Mrs. Russell's sister, Mrs. Philip Stockton and Mr. Stockton are occupying, and is across the road from the late Mr. Russell's sister, Mrs. Dewart.

Col. and Mrs. Harry E. Russell having leased their cottage at Manchester Cove, will spend the month of July at "Brownland cottages," in Manchester.

The A. G. Hodges are occupying the cottage at Prides Crossing used previously by the Philip S. Seares. They came down last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Caswell, who arrived at their Prides Crossing place some weeks ago, are on fishing trip to Causapscill, Quebec, Mrs. Caswell leaving the shore a day or two ago to join her husband, who went a fortnight ago.

The Godfrey Cabots of Boston have leased the Boardman small cottage on West street, Beverly Farms, for the summer. This is the cottage the Fred Browns had last season.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward King and family of New York, who had Mrs. S. P. Blake's cottage at West Manchester last season, are to occupy the Wales estate at Beverly Cove this year, which Mrs. Charles Frye and family had last season.

Miss McNamara of 665 Boylston street, Boston, who is located at 39 School street, Manchester-by-the-Sea, for the season, is prepared to do shampooing, marcel waving and manicuring. Telephone connection. *

Salem Commercial School.

The annual commencement exercises of the Salem Commercial school will be held in Salem theatre on the evening of June 29, 1906.

Henry M. Batchelder, President of the Salem Board of Trade, and of the Merchants' National Bank, will preside. Guy Carlton Lee, Ph. D., LL. D., of Baltimore, formerly of the faculty of Johns Hopkins and George Washington Universities, will deliver the address to the graduating class. Edwin Leibfreed, Ph. D., Dean of the American Commercial Schools Institution, will also make an address.

Diplomas will be awarded to a large class by Geo. P. Lord. The usual musical programme will be given prior to the exercises proper. Admission to these exercises will be by ticket only, and tickets will be supplied to all who make application by mail or person at the office of the school.

Letters remaining unclaimed at Manchester Postoffice for week ending June 18, 1906: Dominica Carsette, Pettie Conley, Mr and Mrs Chester Dane, Miss Cornelia Dehon, A Fredricson, Mrs J Hamlin, Wm S Haydyon, Master Samuel Mandell (2), Guy L Merrill, Charles F Merrill, Stanley J Porlaver, Miss Katie Radduan, James Richardson, Mrs E C Richardson, Mrs D A Taggart, Frank Wonson.

Mrs. Alma Goodwin and daughter, Miss H. H. Goodwin, who are on from New York for the Harvard Commencement, have been spending most of the week at the Aborn, where Wilder Goodwin has been registered part of the week also.

Seavey M. Bailey and Mrs. Anna H. Bailey of Minneapolis are among the early arrivals at the Aborn.

Mrs. W. H. Southerland, wife of Commander Southerland of the "Yankee" now stationed at Hayti, and her daughter, Miss Southerland, have begun their summer's sojourn at the Oceanside.

Among the first to register at the Oceanside for the season was Mrs. Thos. P. Proctor and sister, Mrs. S. C. Davis of Boston. Mrs. Proctor is devoted to the North Shore, especially at Magnolia, and is always the first of the hotel guests to arrive and the last to depart. She has been a regular guest at the Oceanside since the hotel was established.

Quite prominent, socially, among the new-comers to Magnolia, are Mrs. Thos. T. Haydock and Miss Haydock of Cincinnati, O., who are registered at the Oceanside.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. S. Coates and Miss Coates of Philadelphia have returned to Magnolia for the summer and are again registered at the Oceanside. Mr. Coates is at the head of a large publishing house in the Quaker city.

Dr. Edward Allen Pease and Mrs. Pease of Boston are among the new-comers to the hotel colony at Magnolia. They are to be located at the Oceanside for the summer. Mrs. Pease's sister, Miss Mohler, is visiting them for a week or so.

Misses Margaret Lewis of Brooklyn, Susan Clark and E. H. Snyder of Philadelphia, T. E. Dinkey of Rochester, N.Y., and Margaret E. Bailey of San Juan, P. R., compose a jolly party of young women, members of a private school at Harrisburg, Pa., who are located at the Oceanside for June. They are chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. David Fleming of Harrisburg.

Mrs. William Atherton and daughter, Miss Mary, and sons, E. Dwight and Percy L. Atherton, were among the early week arrivals at the Oceanside. Mr. Percy Atherton is a composer and his work has been receiving a good deal of attention in New York the past winter.

Rose Show Next Week.

The annual Rose and Strawberry show of the North Shore Horticultural society is to be held in Manchester next week on Wednesday and Thursday. Those who have attended this show in former years will note quite a difference in the arrangement and details of the exhibition this year, for the committee, profiting by experiences of years past, are always making advances in their exhibitions to make each more popular than the preceding.

In the first place the show is to be held in a large tent on the lawn near the Essex County club house, where the Summer show was held last year, though the tent this year is much larger. As it is to be held on the afternoon of the first in the series of band concerts to be given at the club again this season, the show will be particularly well patronized by the members of the summer colony who always are out in large numbers for the concerts.

Thursday evening Long's orchestra of eight pieces will furnish a select concert programme. This is another new feature and ought to attract a good crowd. Ordinarily it is hard to get the color effect of the flowers in the evening, but the committee have overcome this difficulty by arranging for a number of Nernst lights which, it is said, is the nearest to sunlight of any artificial light yet introduced. In other ways will the show be better than those of previous years. The show will be

OLD PLANTERS SOCIETY.

Allen Reunion.

The following circular and programme of the Allen reunion has been sent out this week by Lucie M. Gardner, secretary of the Old Planters society:

Descendants of William Allen, one of the original Planters of Massachusetts Bay Colony at Cape Anne (Gloucester) 1623, at Naumkeag (Salem) 1626, one of the original proprietors of the 400 acres at Jeffrey's Creek (Manchester) 1636.

The gathering will be held at Manchester-by-the-Sea, on the picnic grounds at Tuck's Point, on Wednesday, June 27, 1906.

PROGRAMME.

11.00 A. M.—Reception at Tuck's Point.

11.30 A. M.—Gathering at which it is hoped to form a permanent family organization.

12.30 P. M.—Basket lunch. Coffee and lemonade will be furnished by the local committee.

2.00 P. M.—Invocation by the Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln.

Address by Dr. F. A. Gardner, vice president of the Old Planters society, on William Jeffries of Jeffries Creek.

Welcome to the town by F. K. Swett, Esq., chairman of selectmen, Manchester.

Addresses by Rev. D. F. Lamson, Sidney Perley and others.

The Historical society, the Public Library, the Grand Army headquarters (Allen Post No. 67), the Congregational church, the Crowell Memorial chapel, the Essex County club grounds, and other places of interest will be open for inspection. You are assured of a hearty welcome by our citizens.

The large number of letters of acceptance received by the secretary insures a very successful meeting. A cordial invitation is extended to all who are connected by blood or marriage with William Allen, the Planter, and to all members of the Old Planters society.

ALLEN DAY

Are the Allens all in?
Are the Leaches sticking together?
Are the Lees on the lee shore?
Have the Knights their lance in rest?
Shall we have Brown or Wheaton bread with Hattie for Miller, Nancy for Baker, Prest into service, or is it loafing day for Allin town?
Shall we let the Crombie till we have Etta Rabardy?
Shall we Needham?
If we ask a Fish will he give us a Stone, or a Flint to Pickett Ober?
Have we sent Danforth?
Will John Winn the Captain?
Shall we have two Marsters?
Shall we salute every Mann?
Will Stanley rue fuss?
Shall Raymond C. that the Brown bred boy is the best bred man?
Would George Jewett double you?
Have you invited the Kitfield Coves?
Is Isaac West or East?
Have we any Parsons among us?
Shall we C. Arthur Lincoln?
Lo, the deacon, where is he?
Shall we put on Ayers?
Do the same tides flow sans argent?
Shall we have the Hobbs and the nob's?
Are they All in?
Then ring the Bell;
Pause ere you seek the Sabin Farm.
Fill a bumper with Mead.
Marshall the hosts.
Stir the Cricket,
Raise the Breeze,
Let the proceedings proceed!
All in!

Mrs. Nellie Cole of North Beverly is at Sharon in search of health.

The senior Greek class of the High school accompanied by Master Hurd and Miss Maleen P. Hicks witnessed the Greek play "Agamemnon" at the Stadium, Cambridge, on Saturday afternoon.

Among the graduates of Tufts on Tuesday was Marland H. Eaton of this city, who received the degree of M. D.

Dr. and Mrs. John W. Patch, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Odell and Mr. and Mrs. Roland P. Woodbury are enjoying a trip to Saratoga, Ausable Chasm, Montreal and Quebec.

William H. Wood has been enjoying a three days' outing with the Maine Pharmaceutical society at Rangeley lakes, Maine.

Rufus E. Larcom is convalescing from an attack of rheumatic fever.

The school committee have elected Augustus Klock of Concord sub-master at the High school to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Kirk W. Thompson. Mr. Klock will teach sciences. The committee has also made two more appointments to the faculty, Mrs. Ruby Baker of Lawrence, who will teach history, physics and geography, and Miss Margaret D. Webber of this city, who will teach English. The faculty now numbers twenty-four, an increase of eighteen teachers in the past decade.

At the meeting of the Beverly board of aldermen on Tuesday evening Charles A. Preston, Smith's Manchester Express, Leroy C. Temple and the Naumkeag Express company of Salem asked for leave to transport intoxicating liquor through and into the city. It is to be hoped that the aldermen, or, rather, the committee on licenses, to whom the petitions were referred, will refuse to grant leave to these expresses for the furtherance of their insidious schemes. Salem had taste of rum expresses last year and it was but a step from their regime into the present open saloon. Beverly and Manchester have always been clean, closed towns, and the granting of these licenses would mean nothing less than the introduction of the liquor traffic into the city.

Mrs. Arthur C. Macy has left for Cottage City, where she will conduct a store during the summer.

Stephen Forrant, who has been manager at Butterworth's market for the past two years, has resigned and will enter upon duties at Warren, Mass., his native village. Albert Butterworth of the firm will have the Beverly store under his charge.

Jeremiah F. Desmond has added a new depot brougham to his automobile garage. The carriage is a 16 horse-power Reo, and is equipped with all the latest conveniences.

Dr. and Mrs. G. F. Morrill of Boston arrived at their Magnolia cottage Monday.

T. A. Clark and family of Jamaica Plain arrived at their cottage in Magnolia Tuesday.

The A. W. Craigies of Canada were among the early week arrivals at Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Eben Blaine Stanwood (Miss Gladys Lawson) have taken for the summer the Pollard residence, one of the largest and most attractive of the many built by Mr. Lawson at Dreamwold on the South Shore. Mr. and Mrs. Stanwood will probably pay frequent visits to the former's family in Manchester.

The Caramba, the Boardman-designed boat built for the sonder class races off Marblehead this summer by the Fenton company for C. H. W. Foster, was launched the first of the week. The Caramba is of mahogany, 38 feet overall, 21 feet on the water line, and 7½ feet beam. She will carry half a ton of lead, which is hung nearly in the center. The Caramba is a good-looking craft, and one which should give the other yachts of her class some good racing.

Best-Campbell

The marriage last Monday, June 18, of Mr. William John Best of Manchester, and Miss Mary Campbell, was the culmination of a very pretty romance of short duration, the two young people not meeting until they came to the sea shore for the summer months. The two were joined in wedlock by Rev. Mr. Manchester, pastor of the Second church, Salem. Mr. Best is a native of England and is employed at the Mrs. Sylvester Tower estate, Masconomo street and Cobb avenue, Manchester, for the summer. The young couple will make their home on Morse court this summer.

New Teachers

At the last meeting of the Manchester school committee, held Monday evening, Miss Rachel H. Babcock of Milton was elected as teacher in the Kindergarten department to be established in the John Price primary school in the fall term. Miss Elizabeth Jewett, Story High school, '05, was elected assistant in this department.

The committee also received and accepted the resignation of Miss Avis Antil, who resigns because of the continued ill-health of her mother in Skowhegan, Me. Miss Antil has taught in the G. A. Priest school very successfully for some six or seven years and her work was regarded of a most efficient quality.

Revere B. Pulsifer has been honored by the appointment as adjutant of the Gloucester High school battalion, one of the highest honors that can be bestowed on one of the pupils, as the appointments are made among the junior class boys who have attained a proper average in their studies and deportment and are considered best fitted to the several positions in the battalion. Sayre Merrill was appointed one of the sergeants, who are appointed by competitive examination.

WHISPERINGS

A correspondent sends in the following item to the "Poultry Editor":

"Mr. Samuel Crombie of Pleasant street, Manchester, has a hen which deserves a gold medal. Some weeks ago Mrs. Hen became broody and insisted that she be given a place in which she might hatch out a brood of young chicks, but the good landlady objected and tried to "break her up," as poultry raisers say. Mrs. Crombie thought she had accomplished her purpose, till a few days ago out marched Mrs. Hen from beneath the shed with three or four beautiful little chicks. The hen had not only "stole her nest" but she stole her eggs as well."

A vacation school is the latest departure to be made by the local school department, but it is a step in the right direction. It will be held for four or five weeks this summer, or longer if necessary to help along delinquent pupils. Miss Ina Eldredge will be the teacher.

Of the four young men in the graduating class all will go away to school in the fall—Fleming to Dartmouth, Floyd to Cornell, Sinnicks to Andover and Betts will probably go to Boston University.

Miss Dorothy Giddings and Miss Alice Blaisdell left Monday for a visit at the former's home in Savannah, N.Y.

Miss Elizabeth White of Lynn has been spending the past few days a guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Merrill.

The Smith farm at Smith's Point seems to be quite the spot in Manchester for fires. A few weeks ago the stable was burned to the ground and previous to that several fires had taken place there. Yesterday afternoon about 5.15 Caretaker John Barry found a brisk blaze eating its way through the dry grass, and had it not been discovered in time some of the buildings would have been endangered. He reported the matter to Chief Peabody.

Miss Clara Sargent has been transferred from the Beverly to the local exchange for the season's rush.

Mr. and Mrs. Batchelor of Havre, France, arrived Thursday for an extended visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Rabardy.

Mrs. F. K. Swett attended the Commencement exercises of Howard seminary, at West Bridgewater, the middle of the week.

The schools closed yesterday for the summer vacation.

Benjamin L. Allen, who has been a member of the Mass. Pharmaceutical society for two years, attended the annual sessions and banquet at Maenolia this week.

Work on the new Sacred Heart church is being rushed along with the greatest despatch. A large steam derrick facilitates the work, and Morley, Flatley & Co., the contractors, are making great gains each day. The foundations have been laid and the walls are now being built up.

Manchester's share of the State tax this year will be $11,970 against $13,680 last year, a reduction of $1710.

The Overseers of the Poor having called for bids for installing a bathroom in the keeper's apartments at the almshouse received the following bids: E. S. Bradley $154, D. T. Beaton $136.30, R. Robertson Co. $135, and they voted at their meeting Thursday to award the contract to the latter.

The police station was well filled Thursday night three drunks occupying the cells. The chief took one in Thursday afternoon at the boatyard, and two more were arrested Thursday evening as the result of a row at a boarding house off Brook street. The latter was brewing all day and in the evening special officer Morgan arrested one and another was taken after chief Peabody and officers Andrews, Jones and Lomasney had made their way to the place. A fine of $10 was placed on one of the fellows.

Druggists' Convention

The 25th annual convention of the Massachusetts State Pharmaceutical association convened in Magnolia this week, and a jolly good time they all had. Their headquarters were at the ever popular New Magnolia where Manager Mowry did everything in his power for the enjoyment of the guests. That they were satisfied is evidenced from the fact that they voted to meet here again next year.

There were some 240 druggists here from all over the state, many of whom were accompanied by their wives, who thoroughly enjoyed the visit to the shore.

The business sessions was held in the Library hall, the time being consumed for the most part to routine business. Wednesday was held the election of officers, and on that evening the banquet was held in the New Magnolia. The spacious dining room never looked prettier and a more jolly crowd never assembled there. The dinner itself was of the best and Mgr. Mowry received congratulations from all sides.

Next year the associations of the six New England states will join with the Mass. associates in a grand meeting at Magnolia.

Mrs. A. S. Higginson, who spends her winters at the Stanley cottage, moved into her cottage on Summer street, Manchester Cove, this week.

Miss Farnsworth of Minneapolis has been a guest of Mrs. J. L. Brewer, Smith's Point, the past week.

Mrs. Cyrus Strong of Binghampton, N.Y., has just arrived at her cottage at Old Neck, Manchester, for the season.

The [F. C. Stevens came on from Washington a week ago and are located at their cottage on Smith's Point for another season.

Gen. and Mrs. Draper are expected to occupy "Lilliothea" at Manchester the last of next week. The house has been practically rebuilt, but the workmen are now almost through.

Dr. Ellenwood and family of Attica, N.Y., are expected at the Kimball cottage, Manchester, next week.

Fashionable Club

The North Shore Grille club opened June 22, for service to its members. The opening as planned for June 15th was postponed on account of the kitchen equipment not being in good running order.

The club starts auspiciously with an executive committee and an official staff of long experience. The manager and steward, Gustav Koenig, has been connected with many of the prominent clubs of the country; for nine years he was manager of the "The Noon-Day Club" of St. Louis, the smart lunch club there, also serving the Dedication banquet given in honor of the president and diplomatic corps at the World's fair. As many St. Louis people are residents of the North Shore it will be of interest to them to learn that Mr. Koenig will be supplemented by a very efficient staff; the chef and his assistant come from the Somerset hotel, Boston. The head waiter, Henry Stanton, brings with him, also from the same hotel, several waiters and the popular Tavern club furnishes several more. Thurmond Brown, Dartmouth 1906, Tuck School of Finance, will have charge of the books. The long list of members includes many people from prominent clubs of Boston, and more than a hundred well-known people living in Boston and on the North Shore have written letters expressing great interest in the Grille club and wishing great success for its future.

It will be of interest to members to learn that arrangements have been made whereby lobsters can be ordered when in the water and in 35 minutes served on the table. All sea foods served not later than a few hours from the water; this unique feature of the club will be appreciated by members who never have known the taste of fish except that which comes from a long acquaintance with city fish markets.

The second floor contains a number of dining rooms daintily furnished, which can be used for serving wedding breakfasts and for private dinner parties, number from 10 to 100. Strangers are admitted to the club for day membership if known to regular members or the official staff.

Manchester-in-the-Mountains, we note, is the way our sister town in Vermont is being styled.

Today's issue of the BREEZE is the largest we have yet published. Thirty-six pages—a regular magazine. Our advertising columns filled with live matter of interest to all, should be of as much concern to our readers as the news columns.

Judging from the extracts appearing in the various county dailies the indications are that Mr. Shaw will be a candidate for the state senate again this fall. The Manchester man, however, has thus far refused to say point blank just how he stands.

We would suggest to our readers that we cannot publish items of news or communications sent by mail unless the same are accompanied by the sender's name. We do not care to publish the name, but ask for it simply as a matter of good faith. Anonymous communications, if printed, might some time lead us into trouble.

It was on the 27th of June, 1629, that Rev. Francis Higginson and his company of colonists sailed into our bay, and was welcomed on shore by the Indians. Here the strangers "plucked wild strawberries and sweet single roses," and tarried over the Sabbath before entering the harbor of Naumkeag.

The 27th of June, 1906, has been chosen for the summer meeting of the Old Planters' society for their summer meeting, on these shores, and in memory of William Allen, a Puritan pioneer, one of the founders of Manchester.

In June of the following year, 1630, there anchored in these waters a fleet of eleven vessels with Gov. John Winthrop and a larger company, "with sweet air from the shore like the breath of a garden." On board the flagship Ambrose was Rear Admiral John Low, commander of the squadron. Later he settled in Ipswich, and from him has descended Manchester's grand old man, Deacon Low.

Albert Sinnicks and Marie Theresa Walsh.

The organization: Frank W. Fleming, president; Edna Kitfield, vice-president; G. A. Sinnicks, secretary, and Ann J. Coughlin, treasurer.

One particularly good feature of the program as carried out was the chorus singing under the direction of Edward M. Griffin, the supervisor of music in the town schools. The work was most complimentary of his efforts. The chorus, "The Voyagers," by Facer, was very well rendered and the chorus, "Under Freedom's Flag," arranged by McConathy, also deserves special mention.

Space does not permit a lengthy review of the whole program; everybody did well. The "Character study of Shylock" by Miss Walsh, the disputation on "Government Ownership of Railroads" between Messrs. Sinnicks and Floyd, the class prophecy by Fleming, and the valedictory deserves special mention, perhaps. The recitation, "The Death of Sydney Carton" (Dickens), by Miss Edna Kitfield, was also very well rendered.

Miss Mabel Olsen's Class History took rather well, and the valedictory was a well prepared paper. The class ode was by Miss Barry.

The Prophecy, as usual, was in a very humorous strain, and was, perhaps, most of all enjoyed by the scholars and graduates who could best appreciate the "hits." This was by Frank W. Fleming. Deep sleep had fallen over him, and he seemed to have the spirit of prophecy descend upon him. A cloud of mist enshrouded him and in a moment's time he found himself in the interior of a magnificent theatre in the centre of Paris. The leading lady, who took the part of the Queen of Sheba, soon came forward. "Her ease and beauty soon betrayed her, and I recognized my old friend Ann (Coughlin)."

He was again carried to a dingy street in the slums of London and saw the crowds listening attentively to the music which filled the hall. He saw a man and woman wearing Salvation Army suits, and the man was playing a mandolin. "Presently it flashed upon me that the man was my old friend Floyd, and the woman no other than Edna (Kitfield), his wife."

Across the Atlantic he sped and in San Francisco in a large skating rink, giving instructions in "all the latest French and English steps and the Philippine whirl" he found Miss Rust. In the interior of Africa, in the centre of a group of negroes, he found a beautiful American girl, now leading the life of an old maid missionary, he came upon Alice (Sargent). Returning to Boston he was just in time to see a great crowd striving for a seat in Symphony hall. He found the soloists were the two who had sang high soprano and low base at school—no other than "our class secretary and salutatorian (Bert Sinnicks and Libbie Dunn)." Leaving the hall, he met in a crowd, one dressed in the garb of a convent, who proved to be Marion (Kitfield). Entering a large court room he found his friend Betts cross-examining a man as to "Who lit the candle?" On returning to Manchester, "I was particularly attracted to one small building, formerly a storehouse of the L. W. Floyd establishment, but now a great business centre." One side of this building was a thoroughly up-to-date millinery store conducted by Misses Walsh and Barry. On Washington street, "McKenzie's Bakery," succeeded Bullock's and behind the counter he found Mabel (Olsen). The prophet then awoke and found himself in his own room.

In presenting the diplomas Supt. Fish said in part: "As I listened to your interesting program and then looked at your motto, I wondered who selected it for you. 'He is the real victor who vanquishes oneself.' It is difficult to appreciate the full meaning of that motto. In the battle of life that kind of conquest is the greatest conquest. This great truth I want you to keep and to remember. It will grow more full of meaning as you grow older.

"Let me suggest, young friends, one thing which will help you in this battle of life,—good work. The world never needed such men and women more than now. Make up your minds you will do this work and do it well."

Mr. Fish presented the Appleton medal for punctuality, industry and decorum, to Harold W. Betts, who is the first boy to be thus honored.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Fr. Wm. F. Powers.

GRADUATION RECEPTION

Manchester Town Hall the Scene of a Delightful Party Last Evening

The Manchester Town hall was crowded last night for the reception given by the class of 1906, Story High school. The hall was packed. The reception was from 7.45 to 9 and dancing from then till midnight. In the line were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Saben, Miss Florence Kauffmann, Miss Marjorie N. Weeks, Miss Lois B. Brewster, Miss Edna Kitfield and Frank W. Fleming, who received in front of a bank of potted plants, palms, etc. Long's orchestra furnished excellent music for the reception and dance.

In the grand march, which was led by Frank Fleming and Miss Marion Kitfield, were about 75 couple, and there were fully 150 couple on the floor. During intermission refreshments were served by the aids. Frank Fleming was floor director, Bert Floyd assistant. The aids were: Bert Sinicks, John Dillon, Sayre Merrill, Sidney Marshall, Mark Edgecomb, Harold Betts, Hollis Bell, Wm. Sheehan, Edw. Kitfield and Frank Pinette.

Presentation to Rev. Fr. Wm. F. Powers

The parochial residence on Central street, Manchester, was the scene of a pleasant gathering Wednesday ev'ng when a number of Rev. Fr. Power's parishioners called and presented him with a handsome chair, upholstered in leather, and a gift of two ladies of the church. He was also presented with a library of books. The presentation was made by J. J. Gorman.

Though not exactly in the nature of a reception the affair assumed that nature, and proved a most delightful occasion, indeed. Long's orchestra had been hired for the occasion. Refreshments were served.

The marriage of Miss Delia Ryan and Michael Lyons, both of Beverly Farms, was solemnized at St. Margaret's parochial residence last Sunday afternoon, and the happy couple have started housekeeping at Pickett's court. On Monday evening a serenade was tendered them by their young friends, in which all kinds of music(?) and red fire played a conspicuous part, and the crowd was invited in and refreshments served them by the newly-wedded pair.

The July 4th celebration committee has had several meetings during the past week, and have formulated plans which is to give Beverly Farms folk a celebration even better than has been the good fortune for the people to participate in the past. The program, which was put in circulation the latter part of the week, is somewhat changed from former years, some minor events being dropped and new and interesting features added, the principal being a particular attention given to the horse and pony running and jumping races; also a tug-of-war, which is to take place at West Beach in the afternoon at the close of the bicycle races. The schedule of events calls for a continuous performance all day long, and concludes in the evening with a grand display of fireworks, illumination and band concert at West Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberto Francini, gave a delightful recital in the Beverly Farms church last evening. Mme. Francini is a beautiful soprano singer, and her husband is organist in the American church at Rome. They will sing again next Tuesday night.

WHISPERINGS

A somewhat amusing incident happened this week to three Farms men which does not as yet strike them as very funny, but has made them the butt of this week's jokes. The three "Farmers," it appears, had been spending the evening either in Salem or Lynn, and had perhaps indulged lightly in that which sometimes dulls rather than sharpens one's wits, and were coming down the Gloucester Branch on the last train, paying no particular attention to where they were, depending wholly upon the calls of the train men to get out at Pride's Crossing, at which station they had decided they would alight. Another well-known Farms' character was on the same train, making stump speeches and otherwise showing the effects of the evening's drinking. When the train reached Montserrat this character calls out loudly "Pride's, Pride's Crossing." Thereupon the three unsuspecting men got up and left the train. As they saw the train disappear in the distance, and realizing they had got out at Montserrat instead of Pride's, one can imagine their feelings, and more so could their expressions have been heard as they charged each other with blame for the mistake, and all three united in vowing vengeance upon the "character" who was mainly responsible for their long and weary tramp, stumbling over the railroad ties from Montserrat to Pride's at midnight, and a dark one at that.

Subscription papers for funds towards giving the people at the Farms and vicinity their usual 4th of July celebration are in circulation, and your liberal contribution will be greatly appreciated. Upon the amount of money secured will depend the success of the day. This committee, which is composed of representative business men and citizens, have each year had this affair in charge and has been from the start a complete success.

Larcom Ober is learning the drug business at Delaney's drug store, Beverly.

Miss Marguerite Mitchell of Pawtucket arrived Thursday for a few weeks' visit at the Farms and vicinity, and is being entertained by Postmaster and Mrs. Elmer Standley.

Before selecting your butcher for the season visit Preble's market for prices and quality. Neighbor's blk. *

The trim and natty motor boat "Onaway," owned by Messrs. John Daniels and James E. McDonnell, was launched this morning at West Beach, and the many spectators who witnessed the ceremony were loud in their praise of the splendid craft.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Wood and Miss Violet Batchelder are the latest to yield to the attractions of camp life, having taken a cottage at Rial Side on the shores of Bass river, and will spend the next few months there.

John C. McCarthy has accepted the position of Supt. and caretaker of the George Lee estate.

The Rowley Brass Band, 25 pieces, has been engaged by the July 4th celebration committee for the Fourth, afternoon and evening, and will no doubt render the same excellent service as has been their custom in the past three years.

Hot Ginger-bread, 4.30 P. M., 5c a square at Parker's. *

The Hardy club has secured the services of Heaphy's Singing Orchestra for their grand ball, which is billed to take place in Neighbor's hall on July 26.

While the temperature of both the weather and water has been rather low the past week, the bathing at West Beach has greatly increased, and Supt. Neville reports that the bath houses of the corporation are being let daily, many of those having apartments last year reserving the same for this season.

S. Frank Currier, the popular baggage agent and gate man at the local depot, spent last Sunday and the holiday visiting relatives at Gloucester and around Cape Ann.

The new electrical concern of Bent & Preston has just submitted figures for a large amount of work to be performed in a large business block under construction at Boston.

Mrs. Lewis G. Williams has been the guest of her former classmate, Miss Florence Bean, at Everett.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Pride and son moved down from Winter Hill on Wednesday and are located at their old home on Hart street for the summer.

New line of Stocks, Ruchings, Ribbons, and Hamburg, at White & Masters. *

W. R. C. Notes

Preston W.R.C., No. 93 of Beverly Farms held their regular meeting Tuesday evening, when important business was transacted. The corps will hold but one meeting in the month during the hot weather; the next meeting will be held July 17. It caused great sorrow when the news was received that Mrs. Abbott, now of Beverly, the first president of Corps No. 93, was in very poor health, and her only son, Arthur, was in consumption.

Miss Lily Topliss of Burton-on-Trent, England, is spending her first summer at Pride's Crossing. She was a guest the early part of the week of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hawkesworth at their West Manchester home.

Thos. J. McDonnell has conveyed back to the former owner, Frank I. Lomasney, a lot of land 50x80 on Greenwood avenue, which land was purchased some time ago by Mr. McDonnell, whose intention was at the time to erect a dwelling house there.

Miss Anna C. Connolly arrived home on Thursday for her vacation, having completed her school year at the Notre Dame college, South Bend, Ind., where Miss Connolly has occupied the position of physical culture and athletic instructor.

Mrs. Clarence Strong Pond returned to the Farms Thursday, after a two-weeks' visit with relatives in Pocasset, on the South Shore.

Mrs. Lizzie Williams spent June 17 with friends in Everett.

Miss Nellie Preston spent Sunday with her brother in Manchester.

Miss Amy Thissell of Preston place has accepted a position as governess, and will spend the summer travelling.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. McCarthy and family of Boston arrived at the Farms on Wednesday and will spend the summer here, having taken the Wilbur J. Pierce apartments on West street.

It is pleasant news that the $200 asked for from the Beverly city government is now in sight, inasmuch as the board of aldermen passed the order last Tuesday evening, and the matter of cleaning up and grading off the proposed new playgrounds will indeed be welcome, as this locality has been for a long time anything but pleasing to the eye.

Lawrence W. King returned to the Farms this week after a long absence, a part of which was spent on the Pacific coast, principally at San Francisco and Portland, Ore.

Try a home-made squash pie, at Parker's, 12c. Money back if you are not satisfied. *

Capt. J. Frank Blaney, the proprietor of the fish weir located off Chubb's island, was agreeably surprised on Thursday morning upon finding some 200 or more large mackerel in his trap, which were at once marketed for good prices. The catching of this kind of fish off West Beach is somewhat of a rarity, as it has been several years since this last occurred.

MANCHESTER

The members of the North Shore Horticultural society listened to very interesting remarks last Friday evening at their regular meeting by J. D. Morrison on the method of destroying moths and how the trees can be best cared for. Mr. Morrison is with the H. L. Frost & Co., and has been on the North Shore since April. He was for seven years connected with the state in the suppression of the pest, so that his knowledge of the subject has been gained from actual experience.

Miss Margaret Foley of Beverly has been a guest the past few days of Miss Elizabeth Dillon.

Harold Erickson gave a small barn party at the Caner stable, Thursday evening.

Misses Margaret and Katherine O'Keefe of Gloucester have been guests of Miss Mary Barry, the past few days.

Mrs. Wm. Haskell, for many years matron at the Almshouse, met with an accident at her home on Vine street, Wednesday. She fell downstairs, but fortunately escaped with nothing more serious than a broken finger.

Baldwin Refrigerators at Carter's. *

As an index to the amount of business done at Sheldon's Market during the busy season an additional telephone has just been installed there that they might more conveniently attend to the great amount of orders received from customers on all parts of the North Shore by telephone. The collector of the telephone company is responsible for the statement that this concern is the heaviest toll payer of any subscriber in Manchester. Another team has also been added to the delivery service. Sheldon's Market probably has the largest business among the summer colony from Magnolia to Beverly and Hamilton of any two concerns on the North Shore.

Experience and excellent workmanship are good qualifications for one in the hairdressing business. Call at Keenan's—under the postoffice—and test his work. *

Even the engine in a motor boat "kicks" sometimes. C. H. Dennis found this out to his sorrow one day recently while trying to start the engine and has been carrying his hand in a sling most of the time since.

MAGNOLIA

Miss Addie Stanley and Miss Alice Story have been spending a week at Isleboro, Me.

The grammar school graduates from the Blynman school at Magnolia were Lyman E. Butler, Ruth I. Staples, Susie T. Symonds and Charles H. Wilkinson. The City hall at Gloucester was packed to its utmost. The stage was beautifully decorated by a delegation of young ladies chosen from the various grammar schools, of which Gloucester numbers nine. The day, Wednesday, June 20, was perfect and the young graduates were happy. The young ladies were all dressed in pure white, the dresses making a fine show against the background of laurel and daisies. The diplomas were given by Mayor McDonald. A fine feature of the program was the singing, there being several full choruses and two special choruses, in one of which, "The Shoogy-Shoo," by Mayhew, was Miss Susie Symonds.

Mr. and Mrs. Devereaux of New York, who have hired the Bliss cottage for the summer, arrived Saturday.

Mrs. Dorothy Brown and son Harold of Boston were here over the holiday, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown.

Mrs. W. H. Brown who invented a clasp or something of the kind to hold ladies shirtwaists in position, and had it patented last winter, feels hopeful of the success of her invention as a large firm is now putting the thing in the market.

Miss Bessie Thornton has been substituting at the library during the absence of Miss Alice Story.

Miss Edwina Leighton of Gloucester spent the early part of the week visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Malonson.

Mrs. John King of Danvers spent the holiday here with her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Lucas.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Boyd had as their guests Monday Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bannon of Lynn.

WONDERLAND'S PEERLESS POPULARITY.

All Roads Apparently Now Lead to This Million-Dollar Mystic City by the Sea.

Of all the great amusement spectacles ever served to people of New England to enhance their summer enjoyment, Wonderland, the new electrical city at Revere Beach, undoubtedly takes the lead. Day after day and evening after evening this superb creation, rightly called "the mystic city by the sea," has attracted thousands of people of all ages and all classes, and they have gone away delighted with its multiple entertainments, its thrilling spectacles and splendid electrical revelations.

No one should miss seeing "Wild Bill" Kennedy and his Wild West show and Indian congress.

The Chutes at Wonderland are among its proudest possessions, ranking in popularity with the famous Fire Show, Hell Gate, Indian Congress and Wild West and the Fatal Wedding. By nearly everyone the Fire Show is accorded the palm of realism and soul-stirring action. The representation of the conflagration of an entire city block, with firemen, fire engines and other life-saving apparatus in full sway, are never ending wonders to the spectators.

Among the every-day patrons are thousands of children, a fact which demonstrates the popularity of pleasure's new Eldorado.

in the new musical play "The Man From Now," at the Tremont Theatre week was inaugurated the summer price schedule, which has so long been one of the regular features of the summer attraction season at the Tremont. There has been a general reduction in the price of orchestra and balcony seats, and it will now be possible to secure two seats for what formerly was the cost of one. This reduced price season has always met with the unqualified endorsement of the playgoers of Boston. There will, however, be no change in the attraction; on the contrary, the changes which have been made have made the piece far more enjoyable than it was before. Regular matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

Miss Mary Dodge, '08, returned home from Mt. Holyoke college, Tuesday, for the summer vacation. Mrs. C. M. Dodge and young son, who were at Mt. Holyoke last week, returned home Saturday.

Work was started the first of the week in building the retaining wall at Beach street park from the pier to Beach street. Contracts were signed by Thos. Fitzgibbon of Beverly to have the work completed by Aug. 15. This concern have a large scow on hand with an immense derrick, and the work of excavating for the wall was started Monday. The wall is to be of Rockport granite with a 2 ft. 6 in. cap. A barge of stone arrived Thursday.

A number of local gardeners went to Boston Tuesday for the field day of the Gardeners' and Florists' club. They visited the Larz Anderson and Mrs. W. C. Brandegee estates in Brookline, returning to Horticultural hall, Boston, for dinner in the evening.

At the next meeting of the N. S. Horticultural society Mr. Wakefield, superintendent at the Swift farm in North Beverly, will lead the discussion on "Commercial Fertilizers." The Swift farm being one of the finest in this section, the speaker will have a good opportunity of showing the results from the use of fertilizers.

It is possible that the annual picnic and outing of the Gardeners' and Florists' club of Boston will be held at Tuck's Point, Manchester, this summer. If arrangements are successfully made, the local horticultural society will probably join with the visitors in the event and a big clam bake will form the principal part of the spread.

A good shine is more to be admired than fine shoes. Old shoes can be made to look new at Keenan's boot black stand, under Post office. *

George S. Sinnicks has been awarded the contract for the mason and brick work on the large house being built for Charles Ayer at Hamilton, and will start on the work in about a fortnight. The plans call for one of the nicest houses on this section of the shore. The building is to be of brick and plaster for the most part,—with brick for the first story and plaster for the second story and gables. The tower, some 30 feet high, will be entirely of brick. D. H. Linehan & Son are now building the foundation.

The trustees of the Misery Island Trust have sold to James F. Sheldon of the firm of Hamlin, Thompson & Sheldon, stock brokers, an acre of land on the southwesterly side of Misery island. Mr. Sheldon will erect a bungalow for his own occupancy.

GLOUCESTER'S OLD REVOLUTION- ARY HOUSE

great fortune from his book store, which his descendants are now conducting under the Old South church, Boston. Mrs. Shaw's parents were old and prominent Essex residents. Her father was Col. Joshua Lowe and her mother, Mary Burnham, an aunt of the noted antiquarian. Her grandfather, Thos. Burnham, fought under Washington during the Revolution and her brother studied law with Rufus Choate.

Thus Mrs. Shaw's taste for the antique and historical is an inherited one and for the past forty years she has collected the choicest antiques obtainable to adorn this beautiful house which has proven such a delight to the strangers from far and near who make Gloucester and the North Shore their summer home.

The "Old Revolutionary House" was originally built for John Stevens, a Gloucester merchant and trader, who had a hazardous business career and became a bankrupt and to avoid arrest for debt fled in a vessel belonging to his father-in-law to St. Eustatia, where he died.

His foreign voyages were of some fruition, however, for all the beautiful woodwork of this old mansion was brought from abroad.

Ionic and Corinthian pillars adorn the stately portico which faced the harbor in the olden days and the grounds sloped to the water to "Front street," now Gloucester's busy Main street, the grounds being laid out in terraces and tastefully arranged flower plots. The old portico still remains and a portion of the terraces. The old mansion consists of 19 rooms and was hand made throughout, as its present substantial appearance attests, and is as habitable today as when the old merchant had it built.

To appreciate its rich colonial charm, now adorned with its right-ful appointments, one must examine personally the beautifully carved and decorative mantels and fire-places, the exquisitely wrought hand-carved staircase, the beautifully frosted window on its first landings surmounted by the Corinthian pillars.

It is not surprising that the old merchant should build and adorn such a home for the daughter of his close friend, Winthrop Sargent, who, when widowed by her husband's death in a far-off land, should find consolation in love of Rev. John Murray, the founder of Universalism in America, whose first church of that denomination stands nearly opposite the "Old Revolutionary House" in Gloucester, a lasting monument of his endeavors to found that denomination.

Judith (Sargent) Stevens, who became Mrs. Murray, was a woman of uncommon beauty, gifted with a superior mind, cultivated and enriched by education and just the wife the Rev. John Murray would seek to win, as they had many tastes in common which are recorded in the histories of Gloucester, for, in 1798, Mrs. Murray published "The Gleaner" in three volumes, a romantic story of "Margretta," which was originally published in the "Massachusetts Magazine." Under the pen name of "Honorina Mortesia," she wrote poetical essays for the "Boston Weekly Magazine."

The fruits of their union was one son, who died at birth, and a daughter.

NIGHT SCENE AT WONDERLAND

ter, Julia Maria Murray, who married A. L. Bingaman, Esq., of Mississippi, the latter dying in the autumn of 1822, leaving a son, who married a Miss Livingston of New York. Mrs. Murray died at Natchez, June 6, 1820, aged 69.

The Sargent name was perpetuated through Epes Sargent, an uncle of Mrs. Murray, who was also a prominent Gloucester resident and several of his descendants became distinguished men, notably Epes Sargent, extensively known as a poet, dramatist and author of a series of popular school books. John Sargent, the famous portrait painter, traces his ancestry from these Gloucester Sargents and uncles and cousins, and even Mrs. Murray's father were warm advocates of Rev. Mr. Murray and suffered much unhappiness from the hearty welcome they bestowed upon him and their belief in his doctrines.

Thus in this old mansion lived the gifted woman who was to brighten the latter days of this admirable founder and advocate of Universalism.

He was described as a man of medium stature, of intelligent countenance beaming with good nature and benevolence. Easy in his address and the gentleman in his manners.

As a preacher, he excelled in power, ease and grace, was highly gifted with great facility and felicity of diction, and his impressive personality and the sincerity of his belief overrode the bigotry and intolerance of those who sought to destroy the views he tried to present and establish. Thus around this old mansion was woven a delightful romance of a noted personage in religious history, and it was only the thought of Mrs. Shaw, whose fine inherited taste for the richness of historical associations and traditions, has preserved the old mansion and whose own personal fortune has been used to restore its original atmosphere and give to the public a museum to visit filled with rare colonial relics.

Among the treasures now adorning the "Old Revolutionary House" are a Napoleon carved high-posted bed over 100 years old, Napoleon pitcher and bowl, Chippendale wash stand, Windsor chairs, mahogany low boys, carved Swiss table, Pier glass table, camphor wood chests, tables with feather carving, rare inlaid dining table, rare pictures and mirrors of all descriptions, antique china of all designs and patterns, 150 pieces of rose Canton, Sheffield plate, Royal Canton with birds, bees and flowers for decoration, exceedingly rare; old Satzuma Loewstoft, Spode, Staffordshire, silver and copper lustre and every conceivable style obtainable, hundreds of pieces which adorn the quaint old closets, tables, etc., old cut and colored glass utensils, rush bottom chairs, beautiful desks, gold lacquer work boxes, beautiful inlaid tables, rare old Chippendale and Sheraton chairs, Davenport sofas, rare Chinese work boxes with ivory carved appliances. Most noticeable is the French marquetry hall clock, 183 years old, valued at $1000, beautifully inlaid and on its dial two moons, a farm scene and a marine scene appear as the hours progress. There are two marquetry tables of the same period beautifully inlaid.

A camphor wood writing desk like the one Napoleon used during his island exile is another choice possession, while several rare crepe shawls, French chintz coverings, an original old Aubuson carpet, rare old books, lamps and countless other articles go to make the old mansion bewilderingly fascinating to the lover of the old-time arts.

Mrs. Shaw also owns part of the Dalton set made for Lorenzo Papanti, the dancing master of the elite of Boston three generations ago.

Thus the old mansion has been made a fitting monument to commemorate the memory of Judith (Sargent) Stevens, second wife of Rev. John Murray, founder of the Universalist faith in America.

Children's Day Concert

A very interesting program was carried out at the Baptist church last Sunday evening, on the occasion of the Children's Day concert. The rostum of the church was beautifully decorated for the occasion. An arch of green, livened up with daisies, and cut flowers was over the rostum making a pretty setting for the children who took part. The decorations were by Tony Axel.

Rev. Mr. Brewster made a short address, speaking to the children in his usual interesting way.

The program was as follows:

Organ Prelude.....
Opening Chorns..... "Praise His Love"
Seven Girls
Invocation, Scripture Reading.....
Song..... "A Greeting"
Six Girls
Recitation..... "Children's Day Greeting"

You'd Really Wonder Why

Everybody does—remarks at the tremendous stock this store carries, and asks us how it can be done in such a small community.

That's one of the secrets of this store's success—to allow no store anywhere to give you greater opportunities for finding just what you want, no matter what it is. Another is the peculiar beauty and attractiveness which seems to fasten itself to each piece of Titus furniture. Somehow or other Titus things seem different from things you buy elsewhere; there's a certain air of superiority to them, yet very often the cost is even less than ordinary looking things sell for elsewhere. That's due to the Titus way of buying three stores together, car lots mostly.

A Princess Dresser

Never was there a sweller piece of bedroom furniture. The base is of beautifully grained mahogany, highly polished supported on gracefully outlined French legs. Rising from this base is a beautifully clear French plate glass, 44 inches high and 22 inches wide, swinging in polished standards that follow gracefully the unusual outline of the mirror itself. The mounts are all plain cut brass in the new dull finish. This piece is unusually attractive, so is the price, if we might suggest it.

ALLEN REUNION

Descendants of Wm. Allen the Planter, One of the Original Proprietors of the 400 Acres of Jeffries Creek, Manchester, Meet at Tuck's Point — 150 Present — Interesting Papers

The descendants of William Allen, one of the original planters of the Massachusetts Bay colony at Cape Ann in 1623, at Salem in 1626, and one of the original proprietors of the 400 acres at Jeffries's Creek (Manchester) in 1636, gathered together at Tuck's Point, Manchester, Wednesday, to commemorate his memory. From various parts of the country to which the branches of the tree has extended, came members of the big family and a jolly good time they all had. From St. Louis, New York state and all over Massachusetts came members of the family especially for the reunion.

There were about 150 present, — a greater part of whom were from Manchester, Beverly, and immediate vicinity. (A complete list of those who registered will be found in another page.) Among those present were Deacon Albert E. Lowe, Manchester's grand old man, who signed his name to the register "without glasses," as he wrote. His age is 97 years, 10 months. Probably the youngest Allen present was George Lockhart Allen, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. Allen, D. L. Bingham of Manchester, the Nestor librarian of the state, was also present. It was to be regretted that George Forster Allen, who lacks only two months of being 80, and is one of the 7th generation, and is a descendant of the planter on both his father's and mother's side, was unable to be present. He was kept at home as the result of a fall last week.

The reunion was held under the auspices of the Old Planters' society of which Col. Thos. Wentworth Higginson is president. He was not present, but Dr. F. A. Gardner of Salem, vice president, was present and took an active part in the gathering. Mrs. Lora A. (Woodbury) Underhill of Boston, registrar of the society, Miss Lucie Gardner of Salem, secretary, Dr. Ralph Sprague of Charlestown, one of the council, were also present.

The reunion was a grand success in every way. The weather was ideal and the older people were able to get out and enjoy the occasion.

MANCHESTER

The flowers from the recent flower show of the N.S.H.S. were sent to the following places: Addison Gilbert hospital, Gloucester; Beverly hospital; Salem hospital; Sunnyside nursery, Beverly Farms; the W.C.T.U., Boston; City hospital, Children's hospital and Emergency hospital, Boston. Also to the Congregational, Baptist and Catholic churches, Manchester, to be distributed among the sick.

Miss Annie L. Knight, sister of Mrs. E. S. Knight of this town, will spend the summer vacation in a tour of England and the continent. She sails from New York today on the Minnehaha of the American line.

The efforts of the street department have been directed toward North street the past week, the macadamizing of this just being completed.

The monthly meetings of the fire companies will be held next Monday.

During July, August and September the meeting nights of the local S. of V. will be the last Tuesday in the month, and the regular weekly meetings will not be resumed till October.

An American slicing machine has been attracting much attention in Sheldon's market the past few days. The machine, one of the few installed in this section, will slice any kind of boneless meats, bacon, cooked ham, dried beef, etc., of a thickness varying from one-eighth to one-half of an inch.

The second in the series of band concerts was given on the Common Wednesday evening, and a big crowd was on hand for the music. Not only from along the shore, but from Magnolia, Gloucester and Beverly Farms many came to spend the evening. Few of those who heard the music knew that the first selection, "Frenzied Finance," was composed by Chester D. Cook, one of Manchester's young men. Mr. Cook, it will be recalled, composed the "Col. Woodbury March," played here on Memorial Day. His compositions have been put on the market by a New York publishing house, and the latter in particular is taking quite well. The Salem Cadet band includes it in their program at Wonderland.

Mrs. George A. Seaver of West Townsend is a guest of Mrs. Anna Phillips. Mrs. Seaver was born Jennie Vennard. Mrs. Alden Bradford of Hyde Park was a guest of Mrs. Phillips Thursday. Mrs. Bradford was born Hattie Symonds. Both were born and brought up in Manchester.

Miss Eleanor Andrews has been spending the past few days in Beverly Cove, a guest of her uncle, Benjamin Huntoon.

John Keenan, the hairdresser in Postoffice block, has the barber shop at the Masconomo House for the summer and will conduct it in connection with his other shop. William H. Perry will have charge of the new acquisition.

Nelson Cook and Miss Barbara Smith spent Sunday in Rockport, guests of the latter's aunt, Mrs. William Josephs.

E. Wallace Stanley attended the sessions of the grand lodge in Boston Tuesday and Wednesday as delegate of the North Shore lodge, A.O.U.W.

Andrew Standley of Beverly Farms spent Sunday in town a guest of his son, Horace Standley.

William Gillis of Boston is spending a fortnight's vacation in town, renewing acquaintances.

Tree Warden Wm. Young attended a large gathering of moth suppression superintendents and workers in Melrose Wednesday.

Engagement

The engagement has been announced of Miss Grace E. Barclay of Roxbury and Edmund Ketchum of Lowell. Miss Barclay is teacher of sewing in the Manchester schools and Mr. Ketchum is the supervisor of drawing. The announcement of their engagement will be a surprise to their many friends and associates in Manchester.

Claude Wilkinson was badly shaken up Monday evening by being thrown from his bicycle on the Gloucester Cut. In some way his wheel broke and he was thrown headlong, badly bruising and cutting his face.

A large crowd was out Wednesday evening to the stereopticon lecture on Italian cities and Italian life given by Rev. Mr. Libby. About $35 has been cleared on the three lectures given this month. There will soon be a series of stereopticon lectures given on Life of Christ in the Village church Sunday evenings.

Rev. Markham Stackpole will preach tomorrow at the Village church both in the morning and evening. A communion service will be held at the close of the morning service.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ardmore of Gloucester spent Sunday here guests of Mrs. Eldridge Knight.

"The Spinster's Return"

"The Spinster's Return," a most interesting sequel to "The Old Maids' Convention," given in the Manchester town hall some months ago, attracted a large audience to the hall Thursday evening, and a program of a novel and very interesting nature was greatly enjoyed. The play was enlivened by the introduction of several musical numbers, including solos by Mrs. J. W. Lee, piano solo by Miss Ethel Stanley, reading by Miss Brewster, and selections by the "Bobolinks" of Beverly. The stories told by each of one-time old maids as they meet was bubbling over with fun.

The various characters were represented by the following: Mrs. Charlotte Brown, Mrs. Wm. Follett, Mrs. M. C. Horton, Mrs. Abbie Bullock, Miss Libby Nunn, Mrs. Isabell Stidstone, Mrs. Geo. Jones, Mrs. Eliza Crombie, Mrs. R. A. Mitchell, Mrs. E. L. Rogers, Miss Emma Prest, Mrs. Hattie Perkins, Mrs. E. W. Baker, Mrs. J. W. Lee, Miss Sadie Noyes, Mrs. Hannah Tappan, Mrs. Harlan Preston, Alice Tappan, Mrs. Chas. Lucas, Raymond Noyes, Harry Tappan, Harold Nathan, E. P. Stanley and Herman Swett.

"Tiny Short Van Tassell's Children" were represented by Effie Stidstone, the two Brooks girls, Horace Temple,

Society Notes

Among the arrivals at the Masconomo, in Manchester, are Mrs. B. L. Bouyer, New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Koshland, Miss May Koshland and Miss Ethel Koshland, Boston; William Henry Miller and M. E. Wooster of New York.

Mrs. Theodore Frothingham, Theodore Frothingham, jr., Huntington W. and Bainbridge Frothingham of Philadelphia, are located at the Gables, one of the Oceanside cottages at Magnolia.

Among the arrivals at the Masconomo hotel are William Henry Miller, the general manager of the Press Bureau of New York City, and M. E. Wooster, the assistant general manager. Messrs. Miller and Wooster intend remaining several weeks along the North Shore in the interest of the Press Bureau of which the Honorable Charles Emory Smith is president. Mr. Smith was formally U. S. minister to Russia and was Post-Master General during the McKinley administration and is the editor of the Philadelphia Press.

Mrs. C. F. Emerson of Titusville, Pa., has hired one of the Aborn cottages, Magnolia, for the summer.

The beautiful summer estate of Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner M. Lane at Manchester proved a delightful spot for the "grads" of 25 years ago to celebrate their anniversary Monday. More than 100 members of the class of '81, of Harvard, were Mr. Lane's guests on that day. The party came to Manchester in a train of five parlor cars, being driven from there to Mr. Lane's summer home by way of the Essex County Club, where many stopped to play a few holes at golf. Lunch was served at 12.30, after which a number of the party enjoyed the fine bathing at Dana's Beach. The beautiful Italian gardens on the estate, just completed, were a matter of much attention in looking over the grounds. Governor Guild was in the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Goodrich of Manchester and Boston sailed on the Deutschland a few days ago to spend the summer in Europe.

Included among the arrivals at the Oceanside, Magnolia, this week are: Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Kemble, Phila.; Miss Mary Southerland, Washington; Curtis Guild, Miss M. C. Guild and Miss S. L. Guild, Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dodge and family have taken rooms at the Oceanside, Magnolia, for the season.

Mrs. Otto Kahn came on from her country estate in New Jersey by special train yesterday afternoon, and is now located at the Charles Head estate at Manchester for the summer. Mr. Kahn is in Europe at present, where he was called some weeks ago by the serious illness of his mother. Mr. Kahn's brother, Felix Kahn, will come to Manchester in a day or two.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Head have gone to their estate at Westport, Lake Champlain, for the summer. Their daughter, Mrs. Russell, is at the Col. H. E. Russell cottage at Manchester Cove for the summer.

"Parramatta," the beautiful summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Peabody on Corning street, Beverly Cove, was the scene of a brilliant reception Thursday afternoon and evening in honor of the recent marriage of the host and hostess. Scores of guests were present from Boston, Brookline, Newton, Roxbury, and from along the North Shore.

The Eben D. Jordans arrived at their West Manchester estate yesterday for the season.

Houghton & Clark, who opened their stores at the Colonnades, Magnolia, some days ago, have a choice lot of bay and box trees and palms which they are offering for sale.

Henry Clay Frick's magnificent estate at Pride's Crossing, one of the show places of the state, will be known as "Eagle Rock," the name being selected as typifying the location of the mansion house on what was known as Eagle rock, in the days when the point was a landmark and summer cottages unheard of along the North Shore. Two great eagles done in limestone, with wings outstretched, watch from a post on top of the great columns of the massive gate, while in the mansion house there are several eagles carved into the fireplace mantles and one of the ceilings will be decorated with a painting of America's national bird. The mansion house is now practically ready for occupancy.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Treat Paine,

2d, returned from their short trip abroad last Sunday and are now located at their pretty cottage on Coolidge's Point for the summer. Mr. Paine's mother, Mrs. Wm. Paine, also moved down from Boston the early part of the week.

The John D. Rockefeller, jr., are expected to occupy Pitch Pine Hall, Beverly Farms, next Tuesday.

The arrivals at the Aborn, Magnolia, this week include: Miss E. McKee, Miss J. McKee and Miss Sara C. Ashen of St. Louis, Misses Emily and M. P. Gray of Cambridge, Miss A. M. Brown, Miss J. M. Beers of Boston and Arthur Raymond Brown of New York.

Miss Probasco of Cincinnati has been a guest this week of Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, 2d, at Manchester Cove.

The naval attache of the Russian embassy and Mme. Nebolsine have closed their house in Washington, and are to be at Coolidge's Point, near Ambassador Rosen, during the summer.

At "Roseledge" the delightful summer home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Reed Anthony at Beverly Farms, Thursday, Mrs. Anthony entertained the "Mother's Club" of Boston, some 60 ladies coming from town in a special car attached to the noon train.

The Misses Edwards of Brookline, who have leased Mrs. Reece's cottage at Manchester for the summer, are expected next Monday. They will not close their town house.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Whitehouse have returned from a cruise along the coast to Portland in their auxiliary yacht "Seaster." Mr. Whitehouse's nephew, Henry Whitehouse, is their guest at present.

Ross Blair of New York who has recently returned from the Philippines, was a guest at L. L. Hopkins, West Manchester, this week.

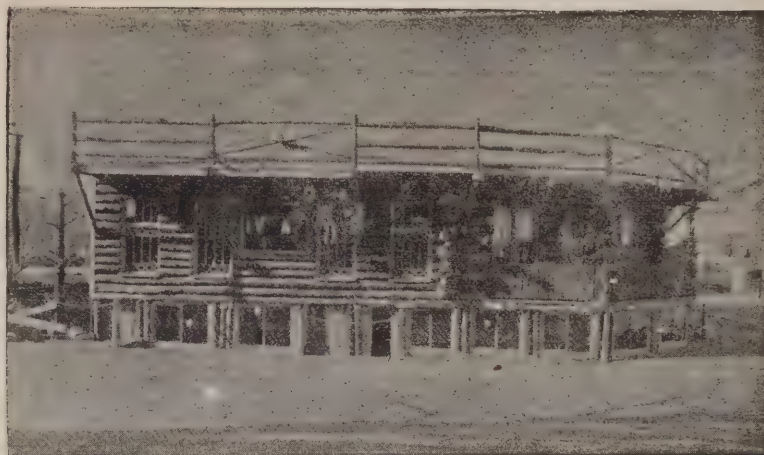

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wood of New Bedford, entertained Mr. and Mrs. John Wood and Master Allen H. Wood at dinner Tuesday. They arrived in the former's Cadillac car and spent a most enjoyable evening at the New Magnolia.

Miss Abbie C. Brown and sister, Miss R. W. Brown of Boston, are registered at the New Magnolia for the season.

Dr. T. H. Lawson, one of Baltimore's noted dentists, is registered at the New Magnolia for the season. This makes Dr. Lawson's fourth season at this North Shore resort and he enjoys the beautiful and rugged scenery as much as ever.

Mlle. Marie Gauthey of Suisse, Switzerland, and Miss Gertrude Whiting, New York City, have taken rooms at the New Magnolia for the season.

Among the arrivals at the New Magnolia are: John A. Stewart, Phila., Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Dickinson, Brookline; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Dickinson, Paris, France; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bradshaw, New York City; W. M. Curtis and wife, Boston; N. Wooster, New York; William H. Miller, New York; W. H. Fern-Croft Cabin, Marblehead

The most unique dining place on the North Shore is that in quaint old Marblehead, at the terminus of the trolley line near Fort Sewell. It is unique in that it is a LOG CABIN, built on the edge of the water. It is conducted by Mr. E. M. Bevins, who has a wide reputation in the restaurant business at some of the famous places along the shore, and is known as FERN-CROFT CABIN. It has been built and designed by the same man who designed and completed all interior and exterior improvements at Ye Olde Fern-Croft Inn, Danvers. A specialty made of a Combination Chicken and Fish Dinner, $1.00. The famous Fern-Croft Chicken Dinner $1.50, and the Fern-Croft Fish Dinner $1.00,—the best to be found anywhere. THE SUMMER HOTELS

The New Magnolia hotel which is favorably known for its social affairs, gives promise of out-doing its previous successful efforts in that respect. A large number of the former guests have signified their intention of returning, and these guests together with the new bookings, will make the social life at this resort one of its pleasant attractions. The principal feature of the opening last week was the annual convention of the Massachusetts State Pharmaceutical association which made the New Magnolia hotel its headquarters for three days. During this time, over 400 guests were registered, and at one of their meetings they manifested their approval of the hotel, its management and service, by a unanimous vote to again convene beneath its hospitable roof next year.

Among the other arrivals at the New Magnolia last week were Mr. F. Foxcroft of Cambridge, who was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Esther, and by Miss Arnold of Chicago. Mr. Foxcroft is well known as the editor of the "Living Age Magazine."

Senor A. Alvarez Calderon, Washington, D. C., secretary of the Peruvian Legation to the United States, is again registered at the New Magnolia where he takes a prominent part in the social activities. He will remain as usual during the whole season.

Mrs. Orlando Tompkins and Miss I. E. Bennett of Boston arrived at the New Magnolia Friday last, for the season.

Last season the New Magnolia made an enviable record in catering to select automobile parties, and from the present outlook so early in the season, this year will find this hostelry the Mecca for touring cars on the North Shore.

Prominent among the auto parties at the New Magnolia was A. H. Rogers of Pasadena, Cal., who was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Brainard and child, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Callery and child, of Pittsburgh. Mr. Rogers just completed a trip across the continent in his new Mercedes touring car and was enjoying the beautiful scenery and fine roads along the North Shore.

Sunday found several auto parties registered at the New Magnolia where they enjoyed either lunch or dinner. Among these were John J. Kennedy of Boston, who had as his guests, Mrs. D. F. McDonough and Mrs. W. M. Cuniff of Brookline. Also Wm. J.

Rogers of New York, who entertained at dinner J. F. Taylor of New York and G. W. Bentley of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Clark of Boston had as their guests for lunch at the New Magnolia Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Farnsworth of New York and Mr. R. A. Millar of Boston. They made the trip from Boston in a Thomas automobile and found the scenery and country a pleasing change from the city.

Mrs. Edward S. Grew, who went abroad some weeks ago and was to meet her son, Joseph Grew, and Mrs. Grew in Paris, sailed for home a week ago yesterday and is expected to join her family at "Glass Head," West Manchester, today. Mr. "Joe" Grew, by the way, is to be transferred from the government station which he is holding at Cairo, Egypt, to Mexico, and the very time his mother was on the way to Europe to meet him he was crossing the Atlantic for a visit to Washington in connection with the change. He returned to the Orient a fortnight ago, after a visit at Manchester.

Passengers on the same steamer with Mrs. Grew are Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Bradley, who will come at once to their pretty estate at Prides Crossing opened some weeks ago in anticipation of their arrival.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pratt McKean of Philadelphia and Prides Crossing sailed a week ago Thursday with their two sons to make an automobile trip through England and Scotland, returning in September, when they will spend the early fall at their North Shore villa.

William J. Daley

William J. Daley passed away Tuesday while being taken in the ambulance from his home on North street, Manchester, to the hospital at Gloucester.

Mr. Daley was an employee of Samuel Knight & Sons, and was taking a heavy load of lumber toward Magnolia. As he was driving through the Cove woods, near the Coolidge farm house, he fell from his seat. Though the wheel probably passed over one arm, breaking it, death was not due to this, but was caused by an internal hemorrhage, resulting from a fall. He was brought to his home on North street and was there attended by Rev. Fr. Powers and Dr. Glendenning. The ambulance was called and he was taken part way to the hospital in Gloucester, but he died before reaching there.

He was a native of Ireland, but for almost ten years he has been in the employ of Samuel Knight & Sons. He was about 33 years old. He leaves a young son, 2½ years old, and a widow, who was Miss Annie Terries of Salem.

Funeral services were held at the Sacred Heart church Thursday morning at 9.30, Rev. Fr. Perry officiating. Burial was in Salem. A number of beautiful flowers were sent by friends of the deceased.

I have just taken on a choice selection of Souvenir Postal Cards, with Manchester and North Shore scenes. Beach street café. *

Summoned to Court

A warrant was issued Tuesday by Judge Sears, summoning Lawrence McKinnon to appear in court at Salem Wednesday, the charge being "indecent exposure." The case was called in court Wednesday morning, but at the request of counsel for the defendant it was continued till this morning.

The charge against Mr. McKinnon is of no small import. The date of the alleged act was June 18, and the two young daughters of Joseph Leary and James Cooney are the chief witnesses. One of these gentlemen called for immediate action on the part of the police, but not till Judge Sears had been apprised of the facts by the father of one of the children was any move made. Chief Peabody got out a warrant Tuesday, about a week after the case was first reported. Lawyer Quinn of Salem is handling the case for the prosecution and U. G. Haskell for the defendant.

Senator Crane was a guest over the week-end at "Wyndeclyffe," the beautiful summer home of the W. J. Boardmans at Manchester, but he returned to Washington to attend to official duties Monday. The Misses Boardman have joined their parents on the shore. The wedding of Miss Josephine Boardman and Senator Crane is to take place week after next.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Bradley have been spending part of the week with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Putnam at Manchester. Though they have let their own house at Manchester to the Horace Brocks of Philadelphia for the summer, their own plans are not settled. The Brocks are expected next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry DeFord are to spend the summer at West Manchester, having leased the Walter Cabot house. They were among Thursday's arrivals. Last season the DeFords had Mrs. G. D. Howe's place at Smith's Point.

Count Hatzfeldt, the second secretary of the German embassy at Washington, is spending the summer on the North Shore. He has been at the Masconomo for a week and is to spend the rest of the sea-

A Novel Dining Place.

The picturesque Fern-Croft Cabin at Marblehead promises to be one of the most interesting spots on the North Shore before the season is over. Those who have been to historic Fern-Croft Inn in Danvers have only a slight idea of the way the new inn, which, by the way, was constructed by one of the owners of Fern-Croft at Danvers, is conducted. It is on the very edge of Marblehead harbor, at the end of the street railway line, and quite near Fort Sewell. Constructed of logs it presents quite a unique appearance. Mr. E. M. Bevens, the proprietor, is making a specialty of fish and chicken dinners. Already many automobile parties from along the North Shore have discovered the spot.

A MOST GLORIOUS FOURTH

Planned for the People of Manchester. Water and Field Sports in the Forenoon; Baseball Game and Patriotic Lecture in the Afternoon and a Grand Electrical Illumination on Land and Water in the Evening.

"Let the Eagle Scream" is the watchword of the committee appointed by the town of Manchester programme is somewhat different than has heretofore been the rule, for instead of the usual band concert and ball game or other sports the scene of the celebration will be the Town hall, where at 3.30 there will be a grand patriotic lecture by Rev. Peter MacQueen of Charlestown whose fame as raconteur, author, lecturer and newspaper correspondent is well known.

The music for the afternoon's steam yacht, the Velthra, which will be resplendent from stem to stern in electric lights, a private plant being installed on the yacht. The Commodore has issued an order also for the yachts of the club to rendezvous about his yacht in the inner harbor and it is safe to say the harbor will be fairly alive with small craft handsomely decorated. The spectacle on the whole will be something Manchester folk have not yet had the privilege of witnessing in this harbor.

From the band stand on the Common Teel's Military band of Boston will offer one of the choice concerts in the evening.

The sports and prizes will comprize :

REV. PETER MACQUEEN

to provide a Fourth of July celebration for this year, and the large advertising posters which they have distributed the past week is headed by that suggestive ejaculation.

That she will scream is no doubt; for the Manchester small boys are never lacking when it comes to making a noise on the Fourth. The programme which the committee has mapped out is one that will be suitable to all. The sports in the morning will be of much interest to the boys, the lecture in the afternoon will attract the older ones more, perhaps, and the grand illumination in the evening will be of interest to all, and many will be attracted here from out of town.

Though it is not part of the programme to have a bonfire this year it is not improbable that there will be something of this kind at the Beach street park shortly after midnight Wednesday morning.

The afternoon feature of the programme in the Town hall will be furnished by the Nevin Male quartette of Boston, the personnel of which is: Edward E. Bullock, 1st tenor; Arthur F. Tucker, 2d tenor; Frederick A. Varney, baritone and accompanist; George E. McGowan, basso. The selections will be of a patriotic nature. The quartette is considered one of the best in Boston.

There will be a baseball game on the Brook street grounds at 2.30 by local players—the Clerks and Overalls.

The prettiest and most enjoyable event of the day for most people will be the spectacular electrical land and inner harbor illumination. The whole centre of the town will be alive with hundreds of vari-colored electric lights, and many of the stores will be decorated in addition to what the committee has in hand. In the harbor will be anchored Commodore Bremer's handsome large Miss Statira Macdonald was on to Manchester over the week-end visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Macdonald. She returned to New York Wednesday and will spend the summer there engaged in social settlement work.

Walter Spencer, one of Bullock's popular drivers, was in Nashua, N. H., over Sunday visiting friends.

The picnic grounds at Tuck's Point is getting to be quite the popular place now. Besides the Allen reunion there Wednesday, the Wm. Pert family had an outing Thursday and Amos Bennett family had planned for an outing yesterday.

Miss Barbara Smith has accepted a position at the Grande Maison de Blanc, the Colonnades, Magnolia, for the summer.

Miss Ethel Stanley is the new bookkeeper at Robert Allen's market for the summer.

Miss Etta Murray Taylor of Manchester was one of the graduates in the two years' course at the Salem Normal School Tuesday.

Lations' carriage shop in Depot square continues to be rushed with work, there being much more work than usual for this concern this spring. An office has just been installed in connection with the business and Mr. Lations has hired a bookkeeper for the summer.

There was a flurry of excitement in Central square last Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock when a large touring car owned by A. R. Bangs, a summer resident at Magnolia, skidded on the hard road bed as it was being turned around and before young Mr. Bangs could control the machine it had dashed into a carriage standing in front of Cheever's Drug store in which N. S. Bartlett and Miss Bartlett had just been sitting. Fortunately no one was injured, though the rear wheel to the carriage was demolished. Officer Lomasney was in the square at the time and had grabbed the horses' bridles before they dashed away in their fright, thereby overcoming any additional trouble.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lucas had as their guests over the week-end Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Simmons and family of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hale and Clayton Holt.

Jeremiah Toomey, coachman for Mr. Wyman at West Manchester, was thrown from his horse near the W. Manchester station recently, injuring his knee quite severely.

The commencement exercises of the class of 1906, Beverly High School, took place on Tuesday evening at City Hall before a large audience. The hall was beautifully decorated with laurel, and the class colors, navy blue and gold, with here and there a flag and a class pin to give even more pleasing effect. The graduating class and a portion of the undergraduates were seated upon the stage, while the remainder of the undergraduates occupied the gallery. The music was pleasing and under the direction of Prof. George F. Wilson, director of music in the public schools, the High School Orchestra assisted. The class parts were well taken by the following graduates, Salutatory essay, "Silas Marner," Miss Avis Carleton; Oration, "Wit and Humor," Scott Bradstreet Putnam; Prophecy, Miss Marjorie Cleora Woodbury; Validictory essay, "Benjamin Franklin," Miss Florence Miller Mitchell. The diplomas were presented by Mayor Joseph A. Wallis who delivered a fe-

Rev. and Mrs. L. William Adams gave a pleasant "at home" to the members of the Avenue Methodist church at the parsonage on Thursday afternoon and evening. The particularly notable event was the twentieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Adams.

Mrs. Charles P. LeFavour gave a farewell party to the school teachers who have been guests at her home during the past year on Monday afternoon, and it proved a most pleasant occasion. Of the number Miss Bowden will enter matrimony, while Miss Evelyn Coombs has accepted a lucrative position in the Baltimore schools.

The Essex Sunday School Union met in convention at the First Universalist Church on Wednesday afternoon. Dr. V. E. Tomlinson of Worcester made an address in the afternoon on "The large growth of the Sunday School," while in the evening Rev. F. W. Sprague of Boston spoke on "The Work of the Sunday school."

Mrs. Elbridge C. Sawyer is entertaining Mrs. Abbie Folsom of Lakeport, N. H., at her home on Summer Street.

Percy Varney Norwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbridge Norwood, took his degree from Harvard this week. Mr. Norwood will follow teaching as his profession.

Among the graduates of the Salem Normal school on Tuesday were the following from Beverly: Olive Mary Adams, Gertrude Josephine St. Clair, Margaret F. Herlihy, Martha Eva Bradstreet, Elizabeth P. Martin and Mary Russell Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy C. Richards have been enjoying a ten days' outing at Hanover, N. H., where Mr. Richards attended the 10th anniversary of his graduation from Dartmouth College.

Mrs. Charles W. Trask entertained the teachers of the Prospect Hill School at her home on Corning Street Monday afternoon at a lawn tea party.

Work on the Highland Chambers on Railroad Avenue is progressing rapidly and the rooms will be ready for occupancy before many days. A large piazza has been added to the southern side of the house.

Dr. Frederick A. Webster has been elected secretary and treasurer of the Essex County Homeopathic Society.

The picnic season is on.

A "bigger, better, busier" BREEZE is indicative of a "bigger, better and busier" North Shore.

How delightfully refreshing are the North Shore breezes evenings after the heat of the day!

Rev. Dr. George M. Bartol, who died a week ago Wednesday at his home in Lancaster, was a brother of Dr. C. A. Bartol, for so many years one of Manchester's dearly beloved summer visitors and one of the benefactors of the town.

What a relief to alight from the train at any of our North Shore stations these days after a few hours spent in sweltering Boston!

The new automobile law—Chapters 353 and 421, Acts of 1906—approved by the governor May 24, went into practical operation last Monday.

There will be plenty a-doing in Manchester and Beverly Farms on the Fourth—next Wednesday—not only to keep everybody in town, but to bring visitors among us.

WHISPERINGS

We might whisper to Young America as the Fourth approaches, that if his funds should run low or should he fall short of firecrackers, our genial Town Treasurer Stanley will be the one to call upon for additional supplies. At least, he said in town meeting some months ago when the matter of an appropriation for July 4 was being discussed that he liked to get out with the boys and make a noise, and if there were any boys who didn't have anything with which to make a noise, to come to him on the Fourth and he would relieve their wants. Now boys if you want any firecrackers call around and receive of his proffered hospitality.

HELD AT MANCHESTER

Summer Meeting of the Gloucester District of the Mass. Sunday School Association Convened Tuesday

A large number of delegates and workers from all the Sunday schools in the Gloucester district of the Mass. Sunday School association, totaling 22 schools, attended the summer meeting of the association, which convened at the Congregational church, Manchester, Tuesday afternoon and evening. The session was called to order at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and the program as printed two weeks ago was carried out.

It was a very interesting meeting, and the speakers were all listened to with rapt attention.

ROSE SHOW

Annual Exhibition of the N. S. Horticultural Society Held in Large Tent on Essex County Club Grounds Wednesday and Thursday. A Grand Success.

Both in point of flowers exhibited and as regards the attendance and general interest manifested, the Rose show of the North Shore Horticultural society, held in a large tent on the lawn, at the Essex County club, on Wednesday and Thursday of this week was far ahead of rose shows of previous years.

Coming as it did on the opening day of the series of band concerts at the club, a goodly number of the society folk were on hand and took in the show.

The large tent, its sides covered with greenery, and with a beautiful floor of soft velvet of green grass, offered a pretty setting for the long rows of tables and stands filled with beautifully colored and sweetly perfumed flowers. In the evening the tent was lighted by Nernst lights, which gave a natural tone to the colors.

Among the largest exhibitors were: Mrs. R. C. Hooper, Mrs. James McMillan, Miss Mary F. Bartlett, Mrs. Geo. E. Cabot, Mrs. H. L. Higginson, the Spaulding estate, Mrs. W. Scott Fitz, Mrs. G. S. Curtis, Mr. S. V. R. Crosby, Mrs. Philip Dexter, Miss A. G. Thayer and others.

The silver medal for the best display of roses arranged for effect, filling one society table, was won again by Mrs. H. L. Higginson (Jos. Clark, gardener), while Mrs. James McMillan won the bronze medal. Mrs. McMillan took the bronze medal in this class last year, also.

For the second time Mrs. Jas. McMillan (Fred Brasch, gardener), won the silver cup offered by J. H. Troy Common Lane and Greenwood avenue have been resurfaced and "fixed up" generally the past two weeks by Messrs. Connolly Bros., who have left it in much better condition for driving.

It was a most delightful party of young people that gathered at the home of Miss Nellie Preston on Hart street, last Saturday evening, and gave Miss Preston a complete surprise on the occasion of her 21st birthday. A chafing dish and tray was presented the hostess by her guests, and earlier in the week she has been presented with an upright piano from her mother. She was also presented with two large birthday cakes, in which were the proverbial thimble, ring and ten-cent piece. A pleasant evening was passed by the 25 or more who called.

The pupils of H. Clinton Besom gave a pleasing recital at the Rantoul house on Lothrop Street on Monday evening before a good sized audience of parents and friends. The young artists displayed the result of careful and painstaking instruction in technique and execution.

Mr. and Mrs. Newell E. Goodhue and son Albert have been the recent guests of friends in Newton.

Henry B. Wallis & Son have received the contract to build the new four-room addition to the South school building at Hamilton.

The Hargraves Circus will show on the Common July 7. It being Saturday, with the large crowds that usually congregate on the streets at the attraction of the band, the added feature of the circus will bring a large crowd into town.

Chisholm-Doucette.

At the parochial house in Beverly Thursday evening at 7.30 the marriage of Miss Minnie Doucette of Beverly and Robert Chisholm of Beverly Farms was solemnized by the Rev. Fr. Curran. An informal reception followed at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Fred Patch, 157 Hale street, Beverly, to which were invited a few of the most intimate friends of the couple. The bride is a nurse and is well known in Manchester and Beverly Farms, and the groom is very well known in the latter place, having been employed for a number of years with Connolly Bros., the contractors.

BEVERLY FARMS

The graduation exercises of the class of 1906 of the Beverly High school was witnessed on Tuesday evening by a large party from the Farms. The following Beverly Farms young people were among the graduates: Sophia F. Bennett, Alice G. Bolam, Mary J. Dwyer, Gertrude H. Connolly, Elizabeth A. Toomey and George S. Day. On Wednesday evening at the reception in City hall even a larger number from the Farms attended the closing event.

Edward Whyte, a well known character who has at intervals made the Farms his headquarters, wandered into the village on Thursday and from his incoherent and rambling talk soon convinced Officer Williams that "Eddie" was needed elsewhere and he was taken in charge and will probably be sent to a proper institution for the insane.

Hot Corn Muffins, 6.15 A. M., at Parker's. *

A party of Beverly Farms young ladies have formed a club called "The Sunlight and Shadow Club" for the purposes of sociability, and they intend at intervals to have picnics, outings, entertainments and parties. The first event given under their auspices was a whist party and dance in Neighbor's hall, last evening, which was attended by a goodly number of people, and a good time was enjoyed. The floor was under the charge of the young ladies themselves and Long's orchestra furnished the musical program.

A number of friends and neighbors called upon Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hawkins on Friday evening and joined with them in the observing of the second anniversary of their marriage.

Try a home-made squash pie, at Parker's, 12c. Money back if you are not satisfied. *

Miss Alice Preston this week concluded her duties for the school year at the Shurtleff school, Chelsea, and is at her home in East Wenham. Later on Miss Preston will resume her classes in summer tutoring and will in September again resume her position in the public school of Chelsea.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Pike and Mrs. Marshall T. Larcom have enjoyed the past week at camp, Conomo Point, Essex.

The Ladies' Sewing circle connected with the Baptist church held its annual fair and sale at the chapel Thursday. The event was well patronized by a large gathering, including a goodly number of the summer residents. A splendid supper was served at 6 p.m., and in the evening an excellent entertainment was given. A substantial sum of money was realized, and this will be devoted, as in former years, to the purchasing of fuel and light for the church.

The residents on Everett street are being made happy over the splendid job being done there by the street department, under the direction of Supt. Lovett, the street being treated to the macadamizing process, drainage and otherwise put in good condition.

Officers Stone and Bray one night this week made a descent upon a "hobo" camp in a piece of near-by woods and scattered the campers in double-quick time.

Wonderland's Winning Shows.

Wonderland's popularity evidently knows no bounds. Indeed this million-dollar pleasure realm at Revere beach has inaugurated a new era in amusement enterprises, not alone for Boston and Greater Boston, but for all New England. All that was needed to insure this extraordinary patronage was fair weather and the closing of the schools for the summer vacation, thereby accentuating the juvenile attendance, which this week shows a very marked increase. Saturdays, Sundays and holidays hitherto have been the banner days for Wonderland ever since the opening. So doubtless they will continue to be, but the patronage on other days is already far in excess of anticipations, averaging anywhere from 15,000 to 20,000 people. Last Sunday was a record-breaker in point of gate receipts, the returns showing over 50,000 patrons, a large proportion of whom were children and young people. The delight exhibited by the juvenile patrons of Wonderland is unbounded, and so infectious is their joy that everybody is glad the boys and girls now have their eagerly anticipated opportunity to participate in the pleasure of the "City Beautiful."

"The Man from Now" a Big Hit.

Success of no mean order has crowned the efforts of Harry Bulger in Henry W. Savage's production of the new musical fantasy, "The Man from Now," at the Tremont, which is enjoying an unusual vogue for this time of the year. But the heat is not worrying the playgoers, for the Tremont is one of the coolest theatres in America, as it is assuredly the coolest theatre in Boston. The story of "The Man from Now" is brief and simple, though at the same time it is absolutely original and extremely unique. It concerns the adventures of a college professor who seeks to peer into the future. He invents a machine which propels himself and three associates into the year 2906, and the adventures the trio go through are enough to take all the wrinkles from the brow of tired man. Mr. Bulger is happily fitted, and he will unquestionably remain at the Tremont throughout the entire summer. Matinees are given Wednesday and Saturday.

Before lunch a reception was in order and a temporary Allen Family association was formed, with the choice of R. C. Allen temporary president, Miss Etta Rabardy secretary, and Samuel Knight, treasurer. Dr. Gardner explained the Old Planters' society.

A basket lunch was enjoyed at noon, coffee and lemonade being furnished by the local committee, and the crowd posed for their picture.

The afternoon program was opened at 2 o'clock by invocation by Rev C. A. Lincoln. R. C. Allen presided.

A HYMN FOR OLD PLANTER'S DAY

ALLEN REUNION

JUNE 27, 1906

Not alone by cloud and flame,
Israel out of bondage came;
God, alike in every age,
Guards and guides man's pilgrimage.

Strange and dark to feeble sense
Seem the ways of Providence,
Yet his hand upholds and saves
Though it lead through Red Sea waves.

Here our fathers, brave though few,
Built better than they knew;
Here by toil and suffering tried,
In faith they lived, for truth they died.

Thou who didst our fathers lead,
As old thy chosen seed,
Make our purpose stern and grand,
Make our land thy Promised Land.

Vain their prayers, their tears, their toil,
Vain our wealth, or tainted spoil,
Vain our ranks in battle set
If we forget! If we forget!

J. A. TORREY.

ALLEN REUNION

William Jeffries.

Frank A. Gardner, M. D., of Salem, vice-president of the Old Planters society, made an address on William Jeffries of Jeffries Creek. He said:

"The first English settler in this charming spot and the one for whom it was originally named was William Jeffries, a gentleman of education. He was born at Chuddingly Manor, County Sussex, England, and matriculated July 7, 1603, as sizar of Caius College, Cambridge. He took his degree of B. A. at graduation in 1606, and his M. A. four years later. His father, who was a merchant in London, died in 1161, and his mother then moved to London.

"The exact date of the arrival of William Jeffries in America is not known, but as he was at Weymouth in September, 1623, he probably came about that time with the Robert Gorges party. Waters states that in 1630 he was reckoned one of the principal men of that hamlet. Just when he went to Cape Ann we do not know, but the theory of the speaker is that, as he was engaged extensively in fisheries he, while still a resident of Weymouth, had flakes or other appliances connected with the fishing industry at Cape Ann, Jeffries Neck (at Ipswich), Jeffries Creek (Manchester), and the Isle of Shoals, as Phippen mentions. Waters speaks of him as the first Englishman whose name has been preserved at Ipswich, although it is not known that he was ever a resident there. Great Neck was called Jeffries Neck from the very beginning, and we shall see that as late as 1666 he claimed ownership of this property and his claim was sustained.

"According to the Massachusetts Bay Records of April 21, 1629, William Jeffries, gent. and "William Blaston," Cler. were "authorised to putt John Oldham in possession" of land granted to him on the banks of the Charles River. (v. I, p. 398.)

"At the time when the staid New Englanders were shocked by the revelries at Merry Mount, Morton wrote the following letter to William Jeffries:—

"My very good gossip! If I should commend myself to you, you would reply with this proverb, propria laus fordet in ore, but to leave impertinent falutes and really proceed, you fhall hereby understand, that altho' when i was firft fent to England, to make complaint against

Ananias and the brethren, I effected the bufinefs but fuperficially (thro' the brevity of time). I have at this timetaken deliberation, and brought the matter to a better pafs, and it is brought about, that the king hath taken the matter into his own hands, The Maffachufetts patent, by an order of council, was brought in view, the privileges therein granted well fcanned, and at the council board, in presence of Sir Richard Saltonstall and the reft, it was declared, for manifold abufes therein difcovered, to be void. The King hath re-affumed the whole bufinefs into his own hands, and given order, for a general governor for the whole territory, to be fent over. The commiffion is paffed the privy feal, I faw it, and the fame was fent to my Lord Keeper, to have it pafs the great feal, and I now ftay to return with the governor, by whom all complainants fhall have relief. So that now, Jonas being set affhore, may fafely cry, Repent ye cruel fchifmatics, repent, there are yet but 40 days. If Jove vouchfate to thunder, the charter and the kingdom of the feparatists will fall afunder.—My lord of Canterbury, with my lord privy feal, having caufed all Mr. Craddock's letters to be viewed and his apology for the brethren particularly heard, protested against him and Mr. Humfries that they were a couple of impofturous knaves, so that, for all their great friends, they departed the council chamber in our view with a pair of cold shoulders. I have ftaid long, yet have not loft my labour. The brethren have found themselves frufrated, and I fhall fee my defire upon mine enemies.—Of thefe things I thought good, by fo convenient a meffen-ger, to give notice, lyft you fhould think I died in obfcurity, as the brethren vainly intended I fhould. As for Ratcliffe, he was comforted by their lordships with the cropping of Mr. Winthrop's ears, which fhews what opinion is held amongst them of king Winthrop with all his inventions and his Amsterdam and fanatical ordinances, his preachings, marriages and other abusive ceremonies, which exemplify his detef-tation of the church of England, and contempt of his Majesty's au-thority and wholefome laws. I reft your loving friend,

"Thomas Morton.

"May 1, 1634.,

"When Morton returned to New England in 1643, this letter was used against him and he was fined 100 pounds, which he was unable to pay, and only his age saved him from the whipping post.

"Morton's attempt to show that he and Jeffries had been good friends is negatived by the fact that when Morton was banished in 1628, Jeffries and Mr. Burslem contributed two pounds towards the expense of the banishment.

"Jeffries was among those old planters who transferred their interests from Cape Ann to Salem in 1626, as he styled William Jeffries, Gentleman, in a letter of instruction dated April 21, 1629, this letter being sent to Salem.

"April 1, 1626, he had a legacy from his mother's will, of two houses and bake house and ale house "with sign of Cordelyon," etc., all anciently known as Flower de Luce, in Southwark. He married in 1640, Mary Gould, daughter of Jeremiah and Priscilla (Glover) Gould.

"He was one of the commissioners (marriage) of Weymouth in June, 1641. He evidently did not confine himself in the matter of raiment to the sober colors of many of the Puritans, as he is mentioned as the onetime owner of a damson colored "sute of cloth" which he had purchased of Mr. Easton. So Jo Godfrey testified March 28, 1648. (Water's Ipswich, p. 499.)

"He had applied for admission as freeman in Oct. (19th) 1630, and was sworn as such May 18, 1631. In 1636 he had a legacy from his brother-in-law, Hugh Evans, of London, of 10 shill. to buy a ring. May 14, 1649, the General Court ordered that Jeffrey's Creek be called Manchester. The exact date of his removal to Newport, R. I., we do not know, but in 1654 he was one of a committee of four persons of that town who wrote a letter for Newport to the towns of Providence and Warwick. March 27, 1654, he sold Lawrence Turner and Tobias Saunders, land at Newport, measuring 67 by 57 rods. He was made freeman there in 1655, commissioner in 1661 and deputy in 1664. May 16, 1654, he is mentioned as a witness in a divorce case. (Mass. Bay Records, v. IV, pt. 1, p. 190.)

"He claimed 'Jefferay's Neck' 'nere' Ipswich as his property and was given liberty to make good his plea before the whole court, May 31, 1660. He was successful and

Oct. 16 of the same year the General Court of Massachusetts granted him 500 acres 'to be a final issue of all claims by virtue of any grant heretofore made by any Indian whatever.' The location of this land was given the Mass. Bay Records as 'on the south line of our patent.' He sold this land to William Hudson, who petitioned the General Court that Lieut. Fisher be appointed to lay it out. (Mass. Bay Rec. v. IV, pt. 11, p. 302.)

"May 14, 1667, he was appointed on a commission to make a rate for a levy of 150 pounds for the prison, pound and stocks and mounting of great guns. He died Dec. 8, 1674. His will was proved 1675 (Jan. 9). Daughter Mary executrix and his wife's brothers, John and Daniel Gould, overseers with his son-in-law, John Greene, to assist them. He provided for the maintenance of his wife Mary and to his eldest daughter Mary, wife of John Greene, of Newport, he left land lying in Blackman street near the city of London, of a rent of 18 pounds, which was given him by will of his mother Audrey, late of Chittingleigh. To his son Thomas he left houses and tenements in England, except what Mary had. To his daughter Sarah, wife of James Barker, 5 pounds in silver, 50 shill. whereof James Barker hath already. To daughters Priscilla and Susanna, 25 acres in Newport. To daughters Priscilla, Mary and Susannah, the rest of his estate after the death of their mother.

"He was buried in Newport cemetery. His tombstone bears the following inscription:

"Here lyeth interred the body of Wm. Jeffray, Gent., who departed this life on the 2nd. day of Jany., 1675, in the 85th. year of his age."

"Since every tomb an epitaph can have, The Muses owe their tribute to this grave, And to succeeding ages recommend His worthy name who lived and died their friend;

Being full of days and virtues, love and peace,

God from his troubles gave him a release, And called him unto the celestial place,

Where happy souls view their Creator's face.'

"Vivit post funera Virtus."

Address of Welcome

Fred K. Swett, chairman of the board of selectmen, himself possessing some Allen blood, welcomed the visitors to the town. He said in part:

"It is my good fortune this afternoon to attend these exercises, both as a member of the Allen family and as an official of Manchester.

"I am reminded of the proverb, that a prophet is not without honor save in his own country and in his own house; so that although an Allen, I must come out from among you and be separate, lest my official capacity suffer detriment.

"It is with great pleasure that I bring to you the greetings of our fellow-citizens and heartily welcome you to our hospitality, and in keeping with the custom of ancient times, when the key of the city was presented to the visitors of rank, I extend to you the freedom of Manchester-by-the-Sea, the pearl of the North Shore, whose wooded hills touching the ocean edge, give to it a grandeur that is without equal.

"I sincerely regret that many of you who are with us today will have so little opportunity to view some of the points of interest in connection with the history of our own and the original settlers. We, who are citizens of Manchester, are proud of its history, which dates back to the days of Winthrop and Jeffrey, and the day when the keel of the Arbella ploughed the waters of our harbor, bringing the first band of settlers to our shores 250 years ago. We would be pleased to show you the Baker house on Pine street, built previous to 1690, and the oldest house standing today. Also the plot of ground used as a camping place by the Virginia Riflemen on their march to join Washington's army in 1777, and now crowned by a magnificent granite library, gift of our townsman, the Hon. T. Jefferson Coolidge; the powder house on Powder House hill near the water stand pipe, once the centre of patriotic interest in the war times of 1812; Masconomo Hill, named for the famous Sagamore John or Chief Masconomo, who sold the land comprising our township for the exorbitant sum of rising $15.00, and which has an assessed valuation today of about $11,000,000, and beyond the hill lies our famous Singing Beach and its equally noted Eagle Head.

"Some of the older houses along our streets have never known the tread of but one family, as was illustrated this past year in the death of one of our citizens at the age of 84 years. She was born, married, lived and died in the same homestead. You can readily imagine how sacred such a hearthstone must be to the group that afterwards gathers about it. A recent instance that has come to my notice during this present administration, shows the regard that is held for old homes. The town in laying out a highway had planned to move or destroy an old house built in 1785, when a vigorous protest was made in public town meeting by the owners, with the outcome that the town voted unanimously to give them a generous sum to pay for moving the building back on the same lot and ready again for their occupancy.

"It is then a joyful sign that so many of New England's children love the shadow of the family tree, and this you have shown when you come here today to rejoice in the possession of a common heritage.

"In behalf of this beautiful town of Manchester I again bid you welcome."

Letter from D. F. Lamson

The following letter from Rev. D. F. Lamson was read:

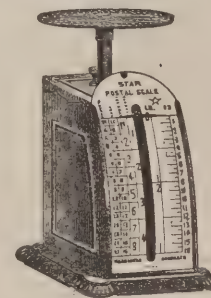

To the Old Planters Society, meeting at Manchester:

I find at this late hour that I shall not be able to be present at your gathering tomorrow, and fill the part assigned me in the programme. It will be a noteworthy and every-way interesting occasion, one of those celebrations that not only preserve and perpetuate history, but help to make history as well. We do well in these rushing times to pause occasionally, and recall the memory of the fathers and founders of our towns and our commonwealth, and try to gain some new instruction and inspiration from the past wherewith the better to serve the present, and transmit the virtues of our ancestors to those who shall come after us. The worthy deeds of past generations are an incentive to higher thoughts and nobler living. Macaulay says, "A people which takes no pride in the achievements of remote ancestors will never achieve anything worthy to be remembered with pride by remote descendants."

William Allen is said to have been "an influential and enterprising citizen"; what few memorials of him remain show him to have been a man of intelligence, thrift and energy, a man who could bring things to pass and one to whom his neighbors would naturally look for light and leading. He was a religious man, being one of the original members of the First church in Salem. He was evidently a man of mark in the little community at Jeffreys Creek, one of those men who leave their impress on coming generations. He belonged to a race much misunderstood and maligned in certain quarters, but which is coming to its own—the Puritans; men who were builders of empire and founders of commonwealths, men who in their strenuous and splendid conscientiousness, "Travalled in pain with the births of God, And planted a state with prayers."

What Hamlet would be with Hamlet left out, what Jewish history would be without Abraham and Moses and Joshua, that, we may almost say, would Manchester be without the Allens. Their name is "writ large" among the makers of the town.

May their shadow never be less.

With best wishes, etc.,

June 26, 1906.

An interesting paper on "North Yarmouth," so-called, by George Forster Allen, was read.

North Yarmouth.

In the easterly part of the Town of Manchester is the village called

"North Yarmouth." Although mentioned in many very early deeds and papers and occasionally in the Town records the writer has never been able to learn the reason of its naming. It was early settled and consisted of seven families, five of whom were Allens—descendants of William Allen.

The topography of the neighborhood is a small basinlike valley, bordered on the north and east by hills once covered by a heavy growth of splendid timber; on the south by a lower range of hills, and on the west by a fairly level stretch once called "Poplar Plain." The soil is comparatively fertile and productive.

With such attractive natural advantages as these, with the surrounding hills lending shelter and protection from the storms and picturesqueness and beauty through the changing seasons, it is not to be wondered that these early settlers chose this spot to found their households.

The writer has no positive knowledge as to the names of the first Allens settling at North Yarmouth. It is, however, more than likely that they were the grandsons of William. It is quite certain that as early as the middle of the eighteenth century there were living there five families of Allens. They were: Azariah, Jacob, Isaac, Malachi, and one called the "Governor," whose Christian name seems to have been lost. These men and some of their descendants lived and reared their families in this little hamlet.

Azariah lived in a house near Cat Brook. The house has long since been but a tradition, but the cellar is still to be seen by any one who is willing to brush aside the bushes and briars.

Nine children were born to Azariah in this house, among whom were Captain Richard Allen, the father of Henry P. and Samuel P.

Allen; and Capt. John Allen, familiarly called "Bos'n John," and the grandfather of the present Captain John. "Bos'n John" built the brick house on Washington street in which his grandson now lives. Azariah was one of a family of nine supposed to have been born in this old house.

Jacob lived in the house nearest the woods in the northeastern part of the village and but lately torn down. He was the son of Jonathan, one of twelve children, and a man of considerable dignity and force. Acting as a sergeant in the French war, his military tendencies led him with his son Isaac to the battle of Bunker Hill and many of the later engagements. For forty years he pitched the tune in the old meeting house on the landing, Sabbath days, without pay. He was the father of seven children, the youngest of whom was Nathan Allen, Deacon in the Orthodox church for 35 years. A daughter, Bethiah, became the wife of Aaron Lee, for many years clerk of the town. Deacon Nathan lived in the house his father lived and died in, and was the father of ten children, one of whom, John Perry Allen, was for many years a prominent man of affairs in the town, and an extensive manufacturer of furniture.

Isaac was an older son of Jacob and lived in a house near Nathan's on land now belonging to the County club. He is said to have been a man of great physical strength. The story is told that he was able to seize a horse by the mane while on the run and throw himself upon his back. He reared a family of nine children but none of his children are now living in Manchester. The Galloupes and others in Beverly are descendants.

Governor Allen owned and occupied the house with the sloping roof recently torn down by Philip Dexter, who is the present owner of Governor Allen's land. Included in the land owned by Governor Allen are Governors Pond and Governor's pond and Governor's hill. His homestead was noted in his day and later as having a ponderous and somewhat ornate gate at the entrance to his front yard. This Allen does not appear to have left any family who remained in town. Family tradition has it that he was a man of considerable pretension, assuming a leadership in affairs which his contemporaries did not always recognize, and it is generally understood that the title "Governor" was given him for this reason. This house was among the oldest in town, and not unlikely was built by Jonathan Allen, grandson of William. The estate passed from the name of Allen for several years and was owned by the Lees, until about 1820, when it was purchased by Nathan Allen, Jr., son of Deacon Nathan.

Malachi Allen was the son of Malachi and a nephew of Jacob above. He was known as "Skipper Malachi" and lived in the house which stood on the site now occupied by the house formerly owned by Wm. H. Allen, and now owned by the County club. This house was a large one for those days, with a gable roof in front sloping back to within a few feet of the ground. It was a very old house with a great chimney a large square room in front and a long, narrow one in the rear. The writer well remembers the large white floors, neatly sanded; the hemlock brooms; the great fire place with its crane and hooks, and the mammoth oven from which he received many a savory dish. It was taken down in 1846 or 1847.

It is reasonable to suppose that all the houses mentioned were built by Jonathan Allen or his sons, three of whom are known to have owned property and lived there, namely, Jacob, Azariah, John and probably Malachi the first who had four children and Malachi his son who had eleven. The younger Malachi was a stern man of the Puritanical type of strict integrity. Just prior to the Revolution when the Constable was the collector of His Majesty's taxes and was required to imprison those who could not or would not pay, he refused to serve and paid his fine for his refusal; a no mean sum for those days. A monument to him and to his wife, Ruth Edwards, daughter of John Edwards and a woman of sterling worth, has been placed in the old cemetery on Washington street by three of his great grandchildren.

In one of these old houses Master Moore, an old school teacher, taught navigation, an important training for these early settlers who were obliged to eke out their farming by fishing trips to the banks and elsewhere.

Thus North Yarmouth seems to have been a peculiarly Allen settlement. In those early days they seem to have been a hardy, adventurous set, many being lost at sea; a number being killed in encounters with Indians along the Maine coasts and in the Indian wars; and some migrating to New Hampshire and then to Vermont settlements.

To-day no trace remains in the old village to more than faintly suggest the pleasant little settlement just described, but the traditions which cluster around it are very interesting to those whose fathers lived there, and reared their families in simple faith, and among many privations and hardships.

Rev. E. H. Brewster of the Baptist church made a few informal remarks, speaking of the influence of such a community as this has on the Commonwealth. He said he himself was of the 9th generation from Elder Brewster who was the founders of that family on this side of the water.

Others who spoke briefly were Isaac West of New Orleans and Manchester, D. L. Bingham and Dea. Jos. A. Torrey who read a hymn for Old Planters' Day. Mr. Torrey was one of the committee in charge of the reunion and to him is due a great deal of the credit for the success of the gathering.

John H. Linehan is out this week with his new Pope-Toledo car.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis G. Williams were host and hostess to a party of friends who called upon them on Friday evening, which evening was selected as it was the second birthday of their daughter Dorothy.

Much to the gratification of the large number of people who use the West Beach pier, and especially the bathers and owners of boats, the second large float was taken from its winter storage on the upland and placed in position at the end of the pier on Friday. Owing to the considerable expense necessarily incurred the board of directors were for a time undecided as to the advisability of this move.

Fred Williams and family, after the past few months spent at Pride's Crossing, moved to their Hart street home, Beverly Farms, the first of the week.

Miss Lida Pierce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Pierce, Hart street, is out again, after a severe illness with appendicitis.

The school year of the Beverly Farms school came to a close on Thursday.

Mr. F. P. Gaudreau, the well-known tonsorial artist of Beverly Farms, will keep his place of business open until 11 o'clock p.m. July the 3d, so everybody will have an opportunity of getting their work done. His shop will be closed all day on the Fourth. *

A worthy task of a prominent Central square business man is that of forming a club of 30 or more Farms residents, who are waited upon once each week for a donation of 25 cents, making up a total sum sufficient to keep the wolf from the door of a mother and a number of small children, whose father is sick in the hospital, and is likely to be confined there for some time yet to come.

Residents living in the vicinity of the bell which has been rung on certain holidays have entered a protest, and as it seems to be the general sentiment of the community at large that this form of celebration is not appreciated, it is very likely that it will be dispensed with.

Driver John Morgan of the West street engine No. 3 is drawing the reins over a new horse, one of the old pair being transferred to more suitable work on the street department.

Hale street, in the vicinity of Lee's Crossing, has been treated to a resurfacing of macadam. The improvement is much appreciated by the traveling public.

The estate at Preston Place formally occupied by Mr. Bryce J. Allen as a summer residence, has been leased by out of town parties who will shortly open up a first-class summer hotel. There seems to be no doubt of the success of the venture, as the house, stable and other buildings, as well as the location, is an ideal one and the demand for accommodations of this kind at Beverly Farms are much in evidence.

The horse events scheduled to commence at West Beach at 3 p.m., on the afternoon of July 4th is being looked forward to with much interest and a large number of entries have already been listed. A pleasing feature will be the pony jumping competition, ridden by children. The other events are the horse race, pony race and horse high jumping and pony high jumping. The chairman of the committee is Bernard J. Woods, the athletic instructor, whose connection with it is a full guarantee of its complete success.

The Friends' Bible class had their annual picnic and outing at West Beach, Wednesday. The large boat house was thrown open for their use and with the weather all that could be desired, the pleasure of the day will long be remembered.

The crowds who constantly gather in front of the large show window of a local store in Central square, is a matter of some wonder to the casual passer-by, but is soon explained—inasmuch as the window is wholly devoted to the display of prizes to be given away to winners of the different events on July 4th. The collection is certainly a splendid one and much credit is due to the committees in their good judgment in making up the list of trophies in which are both useful and ornamental.

The popularity of the West Beach property these days is much in evidence. Daily the place is thronged with people who find pleasure and enjoyment there and it is the popular spot to find the cool breezes.

Thomas J. McDonnell the Central square plumber, has joined the ranks of the local yachtsmen, making an addition to the fleet anchored off West Beach by a trim and speedy knockabout.

"Oh, My It Is So Hot, Don't Seem as Though I Ever Suffered So From the Heat"--

Suppose you said this yesterday same as lots of other people did—probably will say it a good many times before this summer's over.

It's going to be a hot one, just you wait and see! Wasn't it predicted? Hardly any one has looked for it, but it's come and come to stay. Not prepared for it I suppose. Probably had to bring out some of the chairs from inside yesterday, to take care of the overflow. Made you feel a little ashamed, I'll wager. Well, now, don't get caught again. Unheard of prices in straw mattings or linoleum carpets will be found on a visit to E. K. Banks' shop at 5 Hale street, Beverly. Mr. Banks was very fortunate in being able to secure some of these goods at amazingly low prices, and he is offering the public great bargains now as a result.
